Ten New Faculty Members Join Staff for 61st Year

Ten new members of the faculty began their duties here as the College opened its 61st year, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced.

Five will fill vacancies created by former faculty members who left the College or who are on leaves of absence. The remaining five will occupy new positions created as a result of the expanded enrollment, Dr. Baugher added.

The new faculty members include:

Clyde K. Nelson, associate professor of history. Currently a candidate for the Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania, he comes to Elizabethtown from Montclair State College, N. J., where he taught social studies. He holds degrees from King's College, Eastern Baptist Seminary, and the University of Pennsylvania. He succeeds Dr. Wilhelm Reuning as chairman of the History Department.

Dr. Henry G. Hood, assistant professor of history. He holds his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania and the M.A. degree from Harvard University. He taught last year at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and succeeds Dr. Mary Adams.

Henry M. Libhart, instructor in English. Formerly chairman of the English Department at Elizabethtown High School, he earned his A.B. degree at Franklin and Marshall College in 1949. He is taking graduate work at Pennsylvania State University.

Miss Zoe G. Proctor, instructor in Chemistry. A '56 graduate of Elizabethtown College, she is taking graduate work at Bucknell University. She succeeds Dr. James Berkebile, now on leave.

Jeff D. Swinebroad, associate professor of business. A graduate of the University of Tennessee (A.B., 1926) and the University of Colorado (M.A., 1939) he taught last year at Davis and Elkins College, W. Va. He succeeds Prof. W. W. Holland.

Robert D. Bowers, instructor in business. Currently a graduate student at Pennsylvania State University, he earned his B.S. degree at Albright College in 1956. He taught as a graduate assistant at Pennsylvania State.

R. Lee Byers, instructor in physics. A graduate of Juniata College and Carnegie Institute of Technology, he is currently a graduate student at the University of Rochester.

Irvin L. Bossler, assistant professor of Mathematics. Formerly on the faculty at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, he holds degrees from Ursinus College (B.S., 1949) and Purdue University (M.S., 1951). He succeeds Prof. Carl Heilman, now on leave.

Dr. Carl W. Zeigler, assistant professor of sociology. A '31 graduate of Elizabethtown (B.S. "magna cum laude"), he earned a B.D. degree at United Theological Seminary in 1947. He was granted an honorary doctorate by Elizabethtown in 1951. Dr. Zeigler served as pastor of the Lebanon Church of the Brethren prior to joining the faculty here.

Ed Crill, director of Student Personnel Service. A graduate of Manchester College (A.B., 1946) and Johns Hopkins University (1953) he was formerly director of Youth Work for the Church of the Brethren.

Women's Auxiliary To Equip Darkroom

The Women's Auxiliary of the College has donated $500 to the College to equip the darkroom in the Gible Science Building.

The Auxiliary undertook the darkroom project after completing payment of the second floor lounge in the New Women's Residence Hall.

Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, Rexmont, Auxiliary president, said her organization decided to equip the darkroom to provide needed photography facilities on the campus. The facilities will be used primarily by the staffs of the ETOWNIAN and CONES-TOGAN.

A College spokesman hailed the move as a "definite forward step for campus publications."

Facilities to be housed in the darkroom will enable the publication staffs to take, process, and develop their own photos, which will enable them to get more and faster service at a lower cost.

Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, chairman of the Chemistry Department, is working with the publication staffs in procuring the necessary cameras and equipment.

675 Students Expected As College Opens Year

A NEW YEAR DAWNS . . . Someone once said that a college is nothing more than a collection of books. These freshmen are probably in complete agreement. They are (l. to r.) Judy Good, Barry Arndt, and Linda Eshelman.

Charter Day Convocation Scheduled for September 22

Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania, will deliver the feature address during the 61st annual Charter Day Convocation at Elizabethtown College Tuesday, Sept. 22.

he program will be complete with an academic procession by members of the faculty and Board of Trustees.

Dr. Harnwell and Dr. Stanton Belfour, secretary of the Pitcairn-Crabbe Foundation, Pittsburgh, will receive honorary degrees during the program, which is scheduled for 10 a. m. in the College Auditorium-Gymnasium.

Dr. Harnwell will be granted an honorary Doctor of Science of Pedagogy degree. Dr. Belfour will receive an honorary doctorate of Commercial Science. The degrees will be conferred by Dr. A. C. Baugher, College president.

For his address, Dr. Harnwell has chosen the topic "Choosing to Learn."

Born in Evanston, Ill., Dr. Harnwell earned a B.S. degree at Haverford College in 1924. He took his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Princeton University after a period of study at Cambridge University, England.

He taught Physics at Princeton from 1929 through '38, when he became chairman of the Physics Department at the University of Pennsylvania. He was named president of the University in 1953.

Dr. Belfour, a native of Crafton, N.J., is currently a professor of physics at the University of Pennsylvania. He was named president of the University in 1953.

255 Frosh Arrive; Campus Facilities Filled to Capacity

By Joyce Miller

A record enrollment, new courses, changed living conditions, and other innovations will greet Elizabethtown College students as they converge on the campus this week.

An estimated 255 freshmen are scheduled to take part in the frosh orientation program. About 40 transfer students are expected to register this week. The total enrollment is expected to be approximately 675, a record high.

Enrollment at the start of last year was 640.

Freshmen began their orientation this morning with a meeting in the gymnasium. Aptitude tests, conferences with advisors, vespers, meetings with Student Government representatives, and recreation will mark the orientation period during the first few days of the week.

Registration for freshmen is scheduled for tomorrow. Upperclassmen will register Wednesday. Classes start Thursday.

The new students include three National Merit Scholarship winners. Eighteen states are represented, as well as the foreign countries of India, Egypt, Persia, Turkey and French Morocco.

Seven of the new students are from one high school, Haddonfield, N.J.

Several new courses are being offered to enhance the students' interests. They include linear algebra and logic.

In addition, there is a new program in accounting whereby two courses are offered in cost accounting, one an introduction course for non-accounting majors.

Cafeteria Changes Made, Two Seatings At Dinner Scheduled

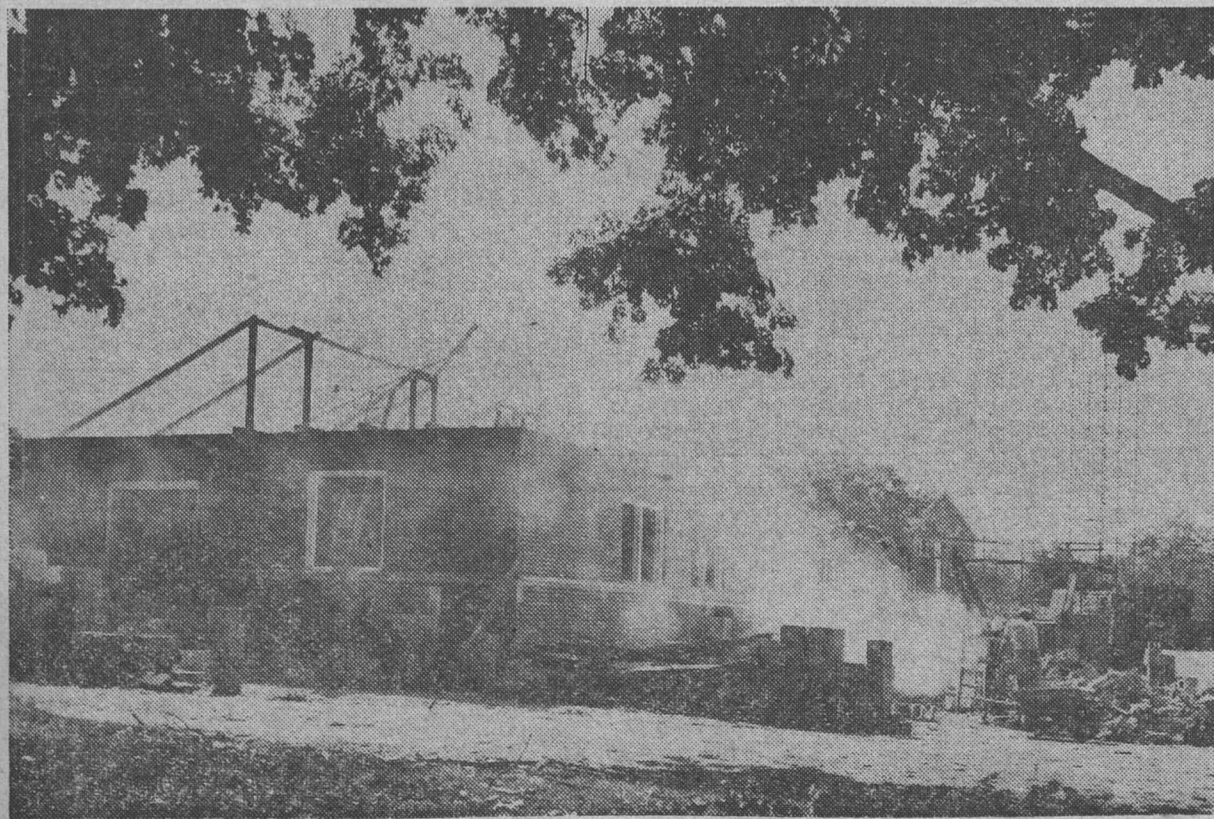

Two seatings for the evening meal in the cafeteria have been scheduled for the 1959-'60 school year because of the increased number of boarding students, the cafeteria committee and student personnel directors have announced.

The new schedule will go into effect Monday, Sept. 21. All on-campus men and women except residents of the new women's dormitory will eat at 5:45 p. m., and all off-campus men and new women's dormitory residents will dine at 6:30.

The two-seatings arrangement will be in effect Mondays through Thursdays. The weekend formal meal schedule is as follows: Friday, 6 p. m.; Saturday, 5:30 p. m.; Sunday, 12:30 p. m.

Special eating arrangements have been made for boarding students this week. Freshmen will eat with the faculty at 6 p. m. in the cafeteria tonight (Monday).

The evening meal Tuesday through Saturday will be cafeteria style from 5:30 to 6:30, with Wednesday and Saturday dinners to be held at the outdoor fireplace. In case of rain, they will be held in the dining room.

ONE DORM GOING UP . . . One of the two wings of the New Men's Residence Hall begins to take a definite shape as workers complete the brick facing of the first story. The foundation for the other wing (right in background) has been laid. Dormitory is scheduled for completion in July, 1960. The three-story structure will house 230 men.

"As We See It" Step Out With Pride

Author S. Flemming, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet, uttered some words which caused a lot of hearts to beat a bit faster during his campus Commencement address here in June.

He said:

"Elizabethtown College has made and is making a major contribution to the development of a better understanding of the significant role that a Christian liberal arts college can play in the field of higher education.

"This college, by emphasizing, in season and out of season, the role of the Christian religion in the field of education, is making a major contribution to the strengthening of our Nation's spiritual foundations.

"I am deeply indebted to the faculty and trustees of this college for making it possible for me to become an honorary member of an academic community that has the respect of all who are acquainted with the field of higher education."

His address was a fitting climax to the College's 60th Anniversary Year.

With the knowledge that the program of the College is recognized as worthwhile and successful by a man of Secretary Flemming's stature, all of us can step out with pride as we move into the 1959-60 academic year.

Vol. LVI, No. 1

A new school year, a new ETOWNIAN—for you, the students, faculty, alumni and friends of Elizabethtown College.

This is the first of 18 issues of the ETOWNIAN to be published during this school year for 7,000 readers. We, the staff, realize the responsibility and challenge involved in making it a newspaper of which we all can be proud.

Our aim in presenting each semi-monthly edition is to give immediate, thorough and accurate coverage of all newsworthy campus and alumni activities. We hope to print a newspaper which will encourage constructive thinking, serve as the sounding board for college-sponsored campaigns and achievements of all sorts and be enjoyable reading for all.

Another goal before us is to publish 18 newspapers which can be called products of good journalistic practices and teaching.

In order to accomplish these objectives, we need the cooperation of each of you. We need your help in making news, reporting news, meeting deadlines, reading the printed results and praising and/or criticizing those results. We need your encouragement and advise, and we welcome it.

Remember, this is your college newspaper. It takes your contributions and talents and your reading. It takes our time, efforts and talents. Together, we can make it a good product of Elizabethtown College.

Gone, Not Forgotten

Gone but not forgotten is Dr. Wilhelm Reuning, who made so many friends during the seven years he served with the History Department here. Students and faculty members alike wish him Godspeed as he begins his new duties as Dean of Susquehanna University.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

CAN'T VOTE SELVES RICH

Americans Appear Too Security Conscious, Need More 'Struggle' to Meet Challenge

The great common denominator that seems to tie all Americans together these days is the universal hunger for "security."

While there are many things to be said in favor of having a secure life, many feel that we Americans have carried our quest for it to such extremes that we appear to be losing the individual enterprise, the willingness to compete that, in the long run, has made our Nation great.

Samuel B. Pettengill, former Congressman from Indiana, writing in Human Events, referred to the problem in these words:

"The illusion of the age is that people can vote themselves rich. It is a superstition that 'social security' depends on the promises of politicians, not on the character, competence, and courage of men. It is a fable and a fraud that the output of society can be greater than the input of individuals.

"It is a universal complaint that nobody wants to work any more, or only enough to 'get by.' Employers are frantic for dependable employees.

"Labor unions have the laudable desire to improve the position of their members, but they overplay their hand when they say 'Stretch it out. Take it easy. Do no more than enough to stay on the payroll.'

"When young people apply for their first jobs, they ask, 'When will I begin to draw a pension? How many coffee breaks in a day? How many paid holidays? How long and frequent are paid vacations?'"

Pettengill's prime point is that our lives are becoming meaningless because we've lost the ability to struggle.

He added:

"No man was ever greater than the difficulties he overcame. Great difficulties, great men, small difficulties, small men. From struggles comes strength—and physical and mental health.

"It is only struggle that calls forth hidden powers we do not know we have. The great psychologist, William James, said said the average person does not put forth more than ten percent of his potential."

President's Letter Welcomes Students, Cites Privileges of College Admission

Dear Student:

There are two distinct reasons why you who are enrolled in Elizabethtown College for the year 1959-1960 are a highly privileged group.

The first is the fact that you are one of the more than 3,000,000 young men and young women who are privileged to go to college this fall. The number of youth who have the opportunity of a college education is constantly growing. In 1900 the number in college in the United States was only 114,372, in 1924 it was 726,124, in 1954 it was 2,116,440, and in 1958 it was approximately 3,200,000.

mates that by 1965 the college enrollment will reach 4,000,000, and that it will continue to rise to a total of approximately 7,000,000 by 1975.

Each student in college this fall should regard it as a high privilege to have the opportunity now to prepare for significant service for the next ten, 20 and more years ahead.

A second reason why you should consider it a privilege to attend college is that the college in which you are enrolled is an accredited, strong, liberal arts college. Nearly 20,000 students

ARNOLD

ATTENTION, ANTIQUE LOVERS!!

Real Collectors' Items Now For Sale In Campus Store; Rare Scenes Offered

Lovers of the antiquated and unusual will find a rare treasure, in fact several of them, in the College Store. It is truly amazing that no one has found them prior to this time. Perhaps they have but failed to recognize the unique value of the articles.

We're referring specifically to several of the antique post cards offered for sale at a ridiculously low price on the revolving rack.

Several of the cards contain views which are no longer available on the campus.

Take, for example, the photo of the Library and the Gible Science Building without the new wing. Or there's the shot of the College avenue entrance looking up over the campus to where the New Women's Residence should be but isn't.

Then there's that wonderful, head-on view of Fairview Hall, which is listed on the card as a "boys' dormitory." That, of course, was true in '58, but not now. The women have taken over.

The point is this:

These cards are collectors' items in the full meaning of the term. Once they're gone no others like them will be available. They're a bargain at any price.

At least, the Store personnel think so.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER (FROM FIRST PAGE)

have preceded you. Many of these are now serving in important positions in practically all vocations throughout the world. Among the leading fields are: business, teaching, ministry, the healing arts, and industry. Elizabethtown College regards high character, a worthy vocation, strong family life, and a devotion to the Church as the high water mark of Christian education.

Our wish and hope for each of you is expressed in the words of a noted architect:

"Make no little plans; they have no magic to stir men's blood and probably themselves will not be realized. Make big plans; aim high and hope and work, remembering that a noble, logical diagram once recorded will never die, but long after we are gone will be a living thing, asserting itself with ever-growing insistency. Remember that our sons and grandsons are going to do things that would stagger us. Let your watchword be order and your beacon beauty."

The motto of Elizabethtown College is "Educate for Service." It is our hope that our students will adopt this ideal for their lives.

He served as an administrative officer at the University of Pittsburgh from 1928 through '42. He was commissioned as a naval officer during World War II.

Since the war he has lectured on recent American history at the University of Pittsburgh and served as an official of various foundations.

Nurses Join Staff

Two new student nurses have joined the staff of the College to help care for the general health of the student body, according to Pres. A. C. Baugher.

They are Miss Louise E. Miller, Newport, and Miss Lucy Clemens, Abington. They will be housed in the New Women's Residence Hall.

Bulletin For All Freshmen

Deans' parties have been planned for this evening (Monday) for all freshmen.

The Brinser Lecture Room in Gible Science Hall will be the meeting place for Dean Crill's frosh charges at 7:30, while the women will meet with Dean Hackman in Rider Memorial Chapel at the same time.

Following the meetings, the class as a whole will gather in the lounge of the New Women's Residence for refreshments and a social hour.

Information, fun and food are on the agenda, so plan to attend.

FIC Members Plan Initiation Program

The traditional initiation program for freshmen, conducted by the Student Senate, will be held during the week of Sept. 21.

Twenty-two upperclassmen have been named to the Freshman Initiation Committee, better known as the FIC. According to William Hoar, Student Senate president, the committee has made "unique and interesting plans" for the program.

Members of the committee include: David Higinbotham, William Bair, Loy Garber, David Carroll, Fred Buckendorff, George Lott, Gary McPherson, Thomas Wilson, James Todd, Ray Springfield and William Kendig.

Also, Ruth Risser, Carol Bush, Barbara Schlickemaier, Kay Tauscher, Jane Barsumian, Robin Bonier, Jean Zettlemoyer, Penelope Boyer, Joyce Taylor, Martha Reese and Mona Wyles.

English Exam Thursday

An English Competency Test is scheduled for all juniors, transfer students and seniors who have not yet taken it.

The test will be given Thursday, Sept. 17, at 4 p. m. in the Brinser Lecture Room, Gible Science Building.

jors and the other a full-year course for majors.

Economic problems will be offered as a third-semester economics course. For the first time, two sections of first and second year French and German will be taught.

The men students find themselves "out in the street," so to speak, as 254 women fill all campus dormitories except North, South, and Center Halls. Fairview Hall has been renovated. New desks and bureaus are to be found there.

Among other changes that were made during the busy summer months was the relocation of several faculty offices.

The student activities office, Headquarters for Miss Vera Hackman and Ed Crill, is now on the ground floor of Alpha in the spot previously occupied by the admissions office.

The latter office, that of D. Paul Greene, dean of admissions, is adjacent to Dr. A. C. Baugher's office on the first floor of Alpha Hall. The development office has been moved to Room C, on the ground floor of Alpha.

For the snack-time crowd, there are several new vending machines located in the College Store which provide sandwiches, hot soups and hot spaghetti.

New books in the library, a soon-to-be-completed photography dark-room located in Gible Science Hall, the construction of the new men's dormitory and a new parking facility program are yet other additions and changes greeting the freshmen and upperclassmen as they begin a new school year.

- OFF THE -

BEATEN TRACK

Hi gang, welcome back to another year of study, fun and more fun at Elizabethtown College. After a three-month lay-off (was it that long?) we hope it doesn't take too long to break into the study routine once again.

Dr. Reuning Becomes Susquehanna's Dean; Two Profs on Leave

Dr. Wilhelm Reuning, former chairman of the History Department here, resigned during the summer to accept the position of Dean at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pa.

Two other faculty members—Dr. James Berkebile and Prof. Carl Heilman—were granted leaves of absence pending their return to duty here.

Dr. Reuning, who joined the faculty in 1951, earned his A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Pennsylvania. He indicated he left "with regrets" but with anticipation for his new administrative duties.

Dr. Berkebile is serving with the International Cooperation Administration at Taipei, Formosa, as a consultant for the public school science program there.

Prof. Heilman is on indefinite leave to work as a consultant for the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction. He will assist in coordinating modern mathematics programs in both elementary and secondary schools.

Arthur S. Flemming Addresses Graduates

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for Pres. Dwight Eisenhower, urged the Class of '59 to follow a life of service in his address during the 57th Commencement exercises in June. (See editorial, page 2).

Dr. Flemming was one of three men who received honorary degrees at the exercises. The others were Dr. Walter W. Eshelman, an alumnus who is president of the National Education Association, and Dr. M. Guy West, pastor, First Church of the Brethren, York.

A total of 107 students were granted bachelor degrees and 16 others earned two-year certificates in secretarial courses.

The graduation exercises were held in the Alumni Gymnasium in the light of threatening weather, which forced abandonment of plans for an outdoor program in the dell.

Parking Policies Posing Problems

A final campus parking policy was still being molded as the ETOWNIAN went to press.

Treasurer Earl Kurtz, Parking Committee chairman, announced that the administration was considering hiring a deputy to patrol the campus and eliminate parking violations.

"We've made no definite decision on auto registration fees or reserved areas. We hope to have our parking program complete early this week," Mr. Kurtz said.

Name Residence Head

Mrs. Ethel L. Heaton, Johnstown, will join the staff of the College as head of residence in Fairview Hall, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced.

A native of Pleasantville, Mrs. Heaton took studies in residence management at Purdue University in preparation for her work here.

But that's enough of the serious side. Let's look at all the bits of "Off the Beaten" news which filtered into this office over the summer months, some good, some humorous and some a little on the sad side.

Wishful thinking on the part of some folks wasn't enough to make a major catastrophe out of a mattress fire in South Hall during the summer sessions. It was extinguished without difficulty, reports Prof. Snowden.

We hear that Dr. Hood, of the History Department, is quite the bag-pipe fan. In fact, while teaching at Trinity College, Conn., he organized a bag-pipe band. That must have been a spectacle!

Good news for all victims of the Alpha Hall outside steps on wet days! They're getting around to fixing them so we won't be so prone to bumps and bruises. The one set of steps has been furnished with rubber mats, but they're waiting for a testing period to decide if it's worthwhile to fix the others. Shall we tell them?

Bob Hollinger was the center of attention last week as the announcement of his engagement reached the College staff. We wish he and Marialice Myers the best.

Still on the romantic side, it's said that Dr. McAuley was really in his glory as he tied the knot at his secretary's wedding Sept. 5. Miss Hixson and Jon Singer couldn't have gotten off to a better start.

Old Man Wind certainly was tearing up this campus one weekend in August, so we hear. When the staff returned to work Monday, Aug. 24, they found that a freak wind storm had strewn branches, window screens and other debris to the far corners. But our worthy janitors soon had the situation under control!

This first issue being printed as early as it is, we couldn't dig up too many other skeletons, but if you're curious about summer experience of other students and faculty, don't be shy, be nosy. Ask them how they managed to survive.

WINNING YEAR EXPECTED

Soccer Nucleus Back, But Key Men Missing

Faced with the loss of several first-line performers via graduation, the Blue Jay soccer team will move into the 1959 season with a solid nucleus from the '58 squad and high hopes for another winning year.

Coach Ira R. Herr refused to go out on the proverbial limb in discussing his team's chances during a recent interview.

"It's too early to say much at this point. We have some good men returning and I look for some help from freshmen. Just say we'll have a normal year," he said.

If the last two seasons can be taken as "normal," the Blue Jays should do well in '59. Over the past two campaigns the Jay booters have won 16 of 20 starts.

KEY MEN GONE

Key men lost from last year are Halfback Gene Wise and Fullback Earl Mellot, who were graduated, and Goalie Lance Strayer, who goes to Penn State to continue his engineering program as scheduled.

Back to do business at the same old stand are forwards Fred Zimmerman, Carroll Hershey, Bill Hoar, Manny Tejada, Herb Spanuth, and Bob Lash. Returning halfbacks are Jerry Reber, Ellwood Kerkeslager, Russ Glazier, and Bill Kendig. Warner Cheeks is returning to handle a fullback slot.

Herr is also counting on other returnees, such as Bob Krebs, Ira Lauer, Hank Osborn, Lynn Saylor, and Ron Shubert.

Asked about incoming freshmen candidates, Herr indicated there were several promising performers but refused to go into detail.

Schedule-wise, the Blue Jays will face the same teams as in '58. The only difference being that three of the tougher games will be on foreign soil. They are the battles at Drexel, West Chester STC, and East Stroudsburg STC.

Offensively, Herr's crew should do well. The three top scorers from last year are back again. They are Hoar with 14 goals, Tejada, 12, and Hershey, 9.

As a team, the Jays rang up 55 goals last year, an average of 5.5 per game. They held the opposition to 16.

IRA R. HERR
"Wait'll I see 'em."

Soccer, Cross Country Practices Thursday

All candidates for the soccer and cross country teams are invited to meet Coach Ira Herr on the athletic field Thursday afternoon. No experience is necessary.

Cross country aspirants will meet Coach Herr between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. Soccer men will report between 4 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Managers for both sports are needed, Coach Herr reported.

Blue Jays Capture Pa. Baseball Title

Elizabethtown College won the District 30 (Pennsylvania) baseball championship of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) for the second time in three years last spring. The Blue Jays edged Lock Haven STC, 3-1, for the title.

Coach Ira Herr's squad rolled up 14 wins in 18 starts to rank as one of the finest baseball teams in the history of the College.

Top hitters on the squad were Warner Cheeks (.431), Carroll Hershey (.356), Gene Wise (.338), Bob Teufel (.320), and Bill Pensyl (.317).

Sheldon Dent topped the pitching staff by winning seven, losing one. Bob Geiger won four games without a loss. Glenn Crum (3-2) struck out 50 to lead the Jays in that department.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

This is the time of year when those of us who are close to collegiate athletics like to look out over the broad expanse of the budding year and do a bit of forecasting on the success our teams should enjoy prior to next June.

We may not always be correct in our predictions, but the fact that they count as much as those of the next "expert" is a great lubricant for our egos. Besides, we're committed to fill this column.

Looking first at soccer, we can hardly contain ourself as we envision the string of wins the Blue Jay Booters should rack up this fall. Over the last two years our soccer teams have won 16 of 20 games. We see no reason for anything except blatant optimism this year.

Coach Ira Herr has a veteran squad back. He loses a big man in Gene Wise, but the returnees and reports on incoming freshmen serve only to amplify our prediction. The Blue Jays should really roll.

(That loud moan you just heard was Coach Herr trying to get off the spot.)

Turning to cross country, we again see some cause for optimism. Bernie Thome, a truly fine harrier, is gone, but Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart is still around. He's one of those guys who usually comes in so far ahead of the field that he can take his shower and be half way to the dining hall by the time most of the opposition come out of the woods in their final leg.

The big question in cross country this year is depth. But we have high hopes.

We see no reason for gloom in checking women's field hockey, either. Coach Julia Risser will have Jean Anne Rogers, a stalwart who graduated in June, back to assist her in coaching the Jaygals. Losses were heavy. However, Miss Risser has made a habit of fielding good teams.

Then, looking further ahead, there's basketball. Bill Pensyl's gone. But Bob Geiger, Bruckhart, Ed Harnly, Martie Hefferan, and Gene Kerns are back. And some of the freshmen bring good reputations with them. We're hopeful, but let's postpone further comment.

Wrestling is a question mark. Period.

Women's basketball? . . . well . . . we had a losing season last year. Let's wait a while on this.

Baseball hopes are high, although Coach Herr, ever the cautious pessimist, likes the safe, conservative "I'll believe it when I see it" attitude. He won a state championship last year. However, he lost some key men through graduation.

Tennis? As of now, there's nothing to cheer about.

The overall sports picture for the year is bright but not without a few uncertain dull spots. But, after all, it's uncertainty that makes life interesting.

FACE TOUGH SCHEDULE

Jaygals Seeking Defense, Forwards for New Season

The building of a forward line and the molding of a deep defense are the biggest problems confronting the College field hockey team this year, according to Coach Julia Risser.

JULIA RISSE
"We're not bad off."

The Jaygals lost six starters from last year's squad; three forwards, two fullbacks, and the goalie.

But, with it all, Coach Risser doesn't seem to be overly concerned, despite the fact that she refers to this year's schedule as "the toughest we've ever had."

"Actually, we're not as bad off as you might suppose at first glance. But we will lack depth."

"We've got our three halfbacks intact, barring unforeseen circumstances. And we've got some experienced performers returning who didn't play regularly last year. They should help," she said.

LIST RETURNEES

Listed to fill halfback slots are Carol Bush, Jo Ann Robinson, and Judy Pearce. Returning from last year's forward line are Kay Jones, Ginger Horton, and Eloise Gichner.

Among the other returnees being counted on are Ruth Tice and Martha Eppley, both goalies; Pat Usinger, a halfback; Janet Myers, a halfback, and Carol Beard and Linda Wagner, forwards.

Miss Risser was hesitant to talk about incoming freshmen. She named Lois Herr and Linda Eshelman, both of Elizabethtown, but added that she knew little of the others.

Coach Risser escorted some members of the squad to the Poconos to attend a hockey camp over the weekend.

The Jaygals open their season with an exhibition against the Blue Ridge Hockey Club of Harrisburg here September 26 at 10 a. m.

Name Jean Anne Rogers Assistant Hockey Coach

Jean Anne Rogers, Royersford, a member of the Class of '59, will act as assistant to Coach Julia Risser in handling the women's field hockey squad, Pres. A. C. Baugher reported.

Miss Rogers, who starred as a halfback for the Jaygals for three years, is a teacher in the Elizabethtown Elementary School. In addition to her hockey exploits, she captained the cheerleading squad and managed the women's basketball team.

She helped initiate the Women's Athletic Association.

Cross Country Team Hoping to Repeat Fine Record of '58

Fresh from the most successful season in the three-year history of cross country here, Coach Ira Herr's harriers will be out to equal or better their 6-2 record of last year.

Coach Herr admits there is some cause of optimism but cautioned that the squad lost a top runner in Bernie Thome, who was graduated.

Returning, however, are Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart, who finished first four times and second in three other meets, Wilbur Gible, Helmut Baer, Don Hosler, Jon Springer, Ray Springfield, and Tony Oskam.

Adhering to his policy of being noncommittal about freshman candidates, Herr refrained from commenting on the frosh aspirants until he sees them in action.

Bruckhart, of course, stands out as the Jays' number one man. But Thome's number two spot is up for grabs. Wilbur Gible appears to have the best chance of filling it. He will have plenty of opposition.

Most observers feel that if the Jays can get enough depth behind Bruckhart, they will do well in '59.

Homecoming Day Program Set Oct. 17

Changes in the election of the Homecoming Queen and the activities of the alumni during the afternoon have been made to promote this year's Homecoming Day at Elizabethtown College, to be held Saturday, Oct. 17.

The Homecoming Queen election is being conducted by the Student Senate this year. Previously, an alumni committee selected her from among student-elected candidates.

The new procedure for the election will be as follows: On Wednesday, Sept. 30, after chapel, each student will nominate one girl from his class. Final nominees will be determined on the basis of percentage received of the total class vote.

Following chapel Wednesday, Oct. 7, the classes will elect one of these nominees as their candidate for queen. An all-campus election in the College Store Friday, Oct. 16, will determine the queen, who will be crowned at the Homecoming dance that night.

She and her three attendants will reign over Saturday's events, which will include sports events, the annual tug-of-war and cheering contests, informal fellowships among alumni and students in the afternoon and the Sock and Buskin dramatic presentation Saturday evening in the College auditorium.

The activities of the day will begin at 9:30 a. m. when registration will be conducted under the elm in front of Alpha Hall. A hockey game will take place at 10 a. m. between the women's teams of Elizabethtown and Lebanon Valley colleges.

The tug-of-war between freshman and sophomore men will be conducted at 11 a. m., as will the cheering competition between the women of those classes.

Following lunch in the College dining hall, alumni and friends of the College will witness a cross-country meet between E-town and Albright, and a soccer game between Gettysburg and the Blue Jays.

The Women's Auxiliary of the College has planned alumni and parent fellowship for 4:30 in the afternoon.

As a finale to the day's events the Sock and Buskin dramatic club will present Stage Door, a three-act play, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium.

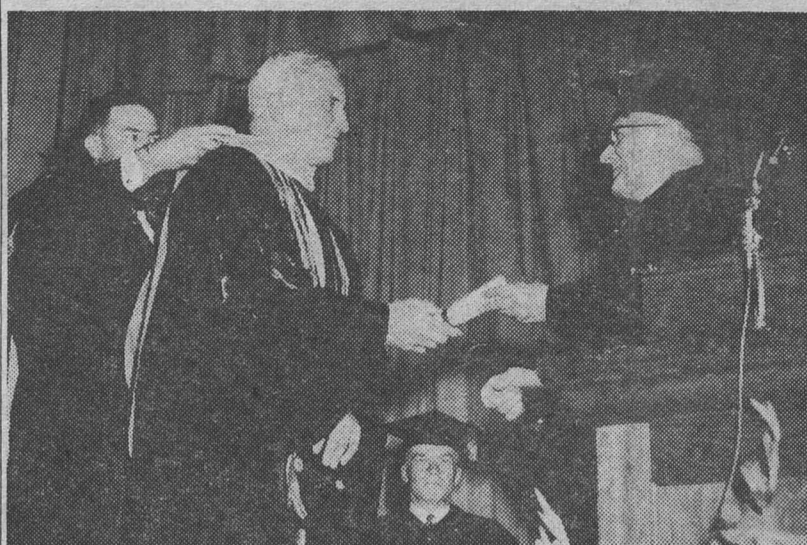

New Parking Area Obtained by College

Use of the northeast portion of the Church of the Brethren parking lot has been made available to Elizabethtown College to help alleviate the parking facility problem.

The administrative parking committee announced this change last week as students poured on campus to register.

Students were required to register their cars and pay a fee of $3.00, in addition to displaying a decal on the windshield, and were told they could park student cars in any parking space except areas marked in yellow. The latter are reserved for administrative use.

The church lot which has been obtained may be used only Monday through Friday.

Gershwin Musicales Scheduled For First 'Cultural' Program

The first of a series of Community Cultural programs will be held Thursday, Oct. 1, at 8 p. m., in the College Auditorium-Gymnasium when the Gershwin Musicales will be presented.

Favorite music from George Gershwin's various collections will be included in the program, which is sponsored jointly by Elizabethtown College and the Patton Masonic Institution for Boys. Students will be admitted with activity booklets.

Three of the top artists in the entertainment field today compose this group.

The combination of the three artists, Levern Hutcherson, Lucia Hawkins, and Avon Long, have to their credit a total of 15 or more Broadway productions such as Porgy and Bess, Bloomer Girl, Carmen Jones and many others. "Flower Arias," from Porgy and Bess, "Stand Up and Fight," from Carmen Jones, "Freedom Song" from Bloomer Girl, and Gershwin's "Someone to Watch Over Me" are scheduled on the program.

The Gershwin Musicales originated as a summer replacement program, and now finds itself in the position of having made five tours in the last year and a half before enthusiastic audiences throughout the United States.

The group has repeated in those five tours approximately 25 percent of its dates, due to audience requests.

Parking stickers must be placed on the top center of the windshield. Anyone violating this rule will receive a warning followed by a fine for subsequent violations. Yellow lined parking spaces are "off-limits" to students' cars.

Student parking facilities are not restricted weekends and after 5 p. m. on weekdays.

College of the Air TV Series to Begin

"Careers and How to Plan Them" will be the topic of discussion for Elizabethtown College as it joins with seven other area colleges in the 1959-60 College of the Air television series over WGAL, Lancaster.

Beginning Tuesday, Oct. 6, this College will conduct weekly half-hour sessions, from 9 to 9:30 a. m., with various professors and Alumni participating.

"Careers in Business" will be the topic for the first Elizabethtown College program Oct. 6, with Dr. Albert L. Gray, chairman of the business department of the College, making the presentation.

James L. M. Yeingst, director of public relations for the College, is co-ordinator for the "Career" series.

Other area colleges participating include Lycoming, Shippensburg and Millersville State Teachers Colleges, Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, Lebanon Valley and Wilson Colleges.

Convocation Opens 61st College Year

Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania, pointed out that education begins with the asking of questions in his address during the 61st annual Charter Day Convocation program here Tuesday.

Dr. Harnwell and Dr. Stanton Belfour, secretary of the Pitcairn-Crabbe Foundation, Pittsburgh, were granted honorary degrees during the program, which took place during an all-student assembly in the College auditorium.

In his address, entitled "Choosing to Learn" Dr. Harnwell compared students and educators to pilgrims "who are always venturing into the new and unknown."

"Those who question the orthodox have been persecuted through history. But strong men have always had the courage to hold their positions," Dr. Harnwell said.

He referred to science as the "cultural triumph of our time" but added that decisions in the humanities or social sciences were more difficult to make.

Turning to the philosophy of American education, he stated that "our virtues lie in our variety of educational opportunities."

Dr. Harnwell, who received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science of Pedagogy, was cited as "one of the outstanding nuclear physicists of our country."

His citation was read by Dean Roy McAuley. Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, of the Sociology Department, adjusted the academic hood.

Dr. Belfour was granted the honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree. He was recognized for his work as a teacher and administrative officer at the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. N. Franklin Stump, of the Psychology Department, read the citation. Dr. Charles Rahter, of the English Department, adjusted the hood.

Both degrees were conferred by Dr. A. C. Baugher, president of the College.

Other faculty members taking part in the program were Dr. Albert L. Gray, Jr., Dr. Carl Zeigler, Dr. Robert Byerly and Prof. Nevin W. Fisher. A student mixed octet provided special music.

The program was highlighted by an academic procession by the faculty and members of the Board of Trustees.

Nine Professors Raised in Rank

Nine Elizabethtown College faculty members have been promoted in rank for the new academic year, according to Dr. A. C. Baugher, College president.

Two of those promoted—Dr. Bessie D. Apgar and Dr. Robert A. Byerly—were upgraded from associate professor to the rank of full professor. Dr. Apgar, who joined the faculty in 1946, teaches Biology. Dr. Byerly is Chairman of the Bible Department and Director of Religious Activities. He came to the College in 1951.

Promoted to the rank of associate professor was Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, chairman of the Department of Sociology. He joined the faculty in 1958 and formerly held the rank of assistant professor.

Promoted from instructor to assistant professor were Hubert M. Custer, Mrs. Austin Fellenbaum, Mrs. Elinor B. Neumann, Armon C. Snowden and Bruce M. Tyndall.

Custer, who came to Elizabethtown in 1953, is chairman of the Physics Department. Mrs. Fellenbaum, a member of the Education Department, joined the faculty in 1957.

Mrs. Neumann, who came to the College in 1946, teaches German and English.

Snowden, a member of the Bible and Philosophy Department, joined the faculty in 1957. Tyndall, who came to the College in 1957, is a member of the Mathematics Department.

Mrs. Emily C. Rahter was promoted from assistant librarian to librarian. She joined the College staff last fall.

AS WE SEE IT

Frosh Year Not Grade 13

"Colleges must attempt to prove (to freshmen) very early that the freshman year is not a high school grade 13. The successful student finds out quickly that college is a place for adults, not an advanced school for children."

Those are the words of Dr. John W. Shainline, dean of students at Gettysburg College. They are his answer to the question of why one out of three students who enter college fail to graduate.

He pointed out in a recent newspaper interview that there are many reasons why students leave college, including finances, the draft, poor health, and "personal" factors.

Dr. Shainline continued:

"But the principal concern of colleges is the withdrawal of students who have the potential to graduate, but who simply fail.

"All college deans . . . would agree . . . (that) the major problem of the college freshman is that of adjusting to a new kind of life in which he is expected to behave like an adult.

"What happens to a student in college during the first year or two depends on whether he or she is ready to grow up, ready to understand what college is.

"In school, it seems, boys and girls are taught something about how to pass courses in order to get a school diploma. In college, on the other hand, they are required to learn to think, to handle complex intellectual problems on their own.

"Intellectual independence, the first college requisite, is often a distinct shock to a freshman."

To frosh who have been going through the rigors of orientation, this may seem a bit repetitious. They've heard it all before.

But there are some things which bear repetition. This is one.

Book-Worms Beware!

Dinks have been donned, registration is over and classes have begun. Now the word is study, study, study. But is it only that?

Did we come to college only to study? True, an academic degree is our goal, but we also must have particles of recreation and extra-curricular activity in our daily routines. Some variety is necessary or we'd all go bug-eyed!

We're sure not many students, whether they be frosh or upperclassmen, will have trouble finding activities to fill their leisure hours. One of the most popular of these is the campus club program.

Interested in dramatics, science, politics, foreign languages? E-town College has these and many other clubs lined up to keep us alert and happy. How about participating in one or more of them?

Our campus clubs give us unlimited opportunities to expand our academic or other interests; they provide fellowship, recreation and talent outlets of all sorts. They're a refuge haven on those cold winter nights when studying seems unbearable or you've just received a discouraging mark.

The campus clubs welcome you, frosh, and you, upperclassmen who are not yet members of our extra-curricular family.

LOVE WILL FIND A WAY

'ELECTRIFYING OVERTURES'

Most Spectacular Peace Movement Ever Promised by Reds as Key to Triumph

No one likes to look into the future and see two armed camps facing each other as Communism and the Free World jockey for position and perhaps survival on the world's stage.

Such a future can only mean uncertainty, tensions, frustrations, and expenditures of vast amounts for defense which could better be used for the welfare of mankind.

Nevertheless, unpleasant as they may be, realities must be faced.

It was in 1931 that the following words were spoken before the Lenin School of Political Warfare in the Soviet Union:

"War to the hilt between Communism and Capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in 20 or 30 years.

"To win we shall need the element of surprise. The bourgeois will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record. There will be electrifying overtures and unheard of concessions.

"The Capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to cooperate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends.

"As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with our clenched fist."

The author of those words was Dimitry Z. Manuisky, who was later to be the presiding officer of the UN Security Council in 1949.

With both sides apparently aware of the terrible holocaust that can result from total nuclear war, the smashing with the "clenched fist" may have to be modified because the smasher would also be smashed.

But the basic idea behind Manuisky's words, that of the victory of Communism over a relaxed, sleeping Democratic world, has not changed one iota. Only the method has been altered in the light of modern times.

Military preparedness, of course, is essential. However, there are other factors in our total defense which must be guarded.

They include inflation of currency, moral decadence, and the spreading idea of letting the other guy do what we, as individuals, should do.

All of these factors contribute to the weakening of our way of life and may, if carried too far, pave the way for the triumph of Communism through Democratic default.

Just A Thought

"The first panacea for a mismanaged nation is inflation of currency; the second is war. Both bring a temporary prosperity; both bring a permanent ruin. But both are the refuge of political and economic opportunists."

—Ernest Hemingway

Library Adds Books, Reduces Fines, Keeps Same Hour Schedule

New books and policies have been added to the College library for the fall term, Mrs. Charles Rahter, librarian, has announced.

Several hundred new books have been added to all sections of the library, including the main reading room and the stacks.

The hours during which the library is open are as follows: Monday through Thursday, 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. and 7 to 10 p. m.; Friday from 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Saturday, 8:30 a. m. to 12 noon and Sunday, from 2 to 5 p. m.

All books from the stacks are loaned for a one-month period, subject to recall after two weeks if needed elsewhere. Reserve books, if loaned overnight, are due between 7:30 and 8:30 a. m. the following morning.

A 25-cent fine is charged for the first hour a reserve book is overdue, with five cents per hour for each succeeding hour. For regular loans the fine is three cents for each overdue day.

Mrs. Rahter also announced a gift to the library in May of this year from the Alumni Association of the College. The organization presented five volumes of Will Durant's "Story of Civilization" in memory of the late Eby C. Espenshade, former director of admissions.

Final Enrollment Overflows to 685

Total enrollment at Elizabethtown College has reached the all-time high of 685, according to Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar.

Men are still in the majority with 379 students as compared to 306 women students. Miss Engle further classified the record enrollment into 110 seniors, 144 juniors, 169 sophomores, 260 freshmen, and 2 special students.

Four foreign students will be observing and learning on the college campus this semester. Miss Ruby Carim, who is being sponsored by a family in Hershey, recently arrived in the United States from India.

Yoorik Avakian, hails from Egypt and is living with Dr. Robert Byerly. Returning this year are Sung Ho Hahn from Korea and Albert Yamada from Japan.

After an absence of one or two years, five other students have returned to the college. They are Barry Boyer, Henry Brilinger, John Dudwitt, Jean Elizabeth Heisey, Dale Varner and George Rickert.

STANDARD ATTIRE? . . . Miss Ruby Carim (right), student from India, looks somewhat askance as she checks the name tag of Freshman Naomi Lucabaugh, York. Some of our customs must really amaze her. Take, for example, the frosh who were forced to go without stockings as part of orientation last week.

FRANK AND FRIENDLY

Indian Student's Talents Bridge Languages, Sports

She speaks English fluently, reads ancient Arabic, and is acquainted with several Indian dialects other than her mother tongue, Urdu.

She plays field hockey well enough to have captained a team back home. She also holds her own very well in basketball and badminton.

She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Osmania University, Hyderabad, in south-central India.

She possesses a quiet grace and self-confidence.

That, in essence, describes Miss Ruby Carim, a young native of India, who is taking several courses in sociology here prior to beginning graduate studies. After completing her education, it's back to India to become either a university lecturer or a social worker.

Miss Carim is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Kishpaugh, Hershey, who knew Miss Carim's father, M. A. Carim, in India.

Interviewed recently about conditions in her homeland, Miss Carim insisted that atheistic

Communism will never triumph in India.

"Religion is basic in India. The people cannot live without it. That's why we don't want Communism," she pointed out.

Asked about the recent Chinese Communist encroachment across India's northern border, she expressed her belief that the dispute would be settled without force.

"We are a peace loving, non-violent people. We have an army, but only for defense. I think Mr. Nehru, our prime minister, will be able to negotiate a proper settlement with the Chinese."

"If not, however, we will fight," she added.

Miss Carim said she thought the recent Chinese aggression was sparked by India's decision to give refuge to Tibet's Dalai Lama, who fled when the Chinese overran his country.

"We couldn't refuse to shelter the Dalai Lama," Miss Carim said. "It's human nature to help. The Chinese would kill him if we handed him over to them."

A devout Moslem, Miss Carim is hopeful that her country can continue its industrial and agricultural development.

"We're still a young nation, but we're making progress. We use five-year development plans in agriculture and industry."

She added that the caste system has been abolished as a social structure in India.

Turning her attention to Prime Minister Nehru, Miss Carim described him as a man "with so much on his hands."

"He is a man of genius and great personal courage. If we should lose him, India would really be shaken. We have no idea as to who would succeed him."

Miss Carim arrived in the United States a little more than a month ago. She said she is impressed with the friendliness of the people.

"I have never felt homesick here," she said.

Campus Clubs Plan Opening Meetings; All Engaged in Membership Campaign

Many Elizabethtown College clubs are currently planning and scheduling for the school year, while others have already begun their activities. All are preparing for imminent membership drives.

Dramatic Workshop gave freshmen a glimpse of E-town dramatic activities with a special production of "Mr. Bell's Invention," one of six one-act plays presented last year, on September 18. The cast of the comedy included Galen Young, Martha Reese, Janet Stout, Joyce Hepplein, Joe Wagonseller and Fred Burnhart.

Shirley Lantzy, president, introduced the play with an original monologue. Other club officers are Fred Zimmerman, vice-president, and Polly Grubb, secretary.

A special devotional period was introduced by the College Christian Association (ECCA), according to Charles Denlinger, president. Every evening, Monday through Thursday, from 10 to 10:30, student volunteers will play the organ in the Rider Memorial Chapel. Students may come and go as they wish.

At the first ECCA meeting members will discuss the play Demas, which the club plans to present during the first semester. The play concerns a man who is mentioned only once in the Bible, and dwells upon his possible relationship to the apostle Paul.

Prospective members of Eta Gamma Kappa will be introduced to the club at the first meeting Wednesday, and plans for the year will be formulated, according to Fred Zimmerman, president. Other officers are Wilbur Gible, vice-president, and Ilse Langer, secretary-treasurer.

German Club will meet Oct. 13 to meet prospective members. Officers for this year are Donald Zellner, president; Harry Bell, vice-president, and Virginia Wills, secretary-treasurer.

A panel discussion on the exchange visits of Khrushchev and Eisenhower will highlight the first Political Science meeting Tuesday, according to Dorothy Hyde, president. Other officers are Kenneth Lease, vice-president; Belva Cassel, secretary-treasurer, and Richard Spangler, ICG chairman.

Student Education Association (SEAP) officers Richard Merritt, Janice Ferster and Lonny Thomas attended a word conference at Allenberry yesterday and today, with Prof. Elmer B. Hoover. Further plans are not definite.

Emory Stouffer, a local Shakespearean authority who has done extensive research on the subject, will address Sock and Buskin at its first meeting Nov. 1. The club is currently rehearsing Stage Door, which will be presented at Homecoming.

Varsity E Club is planning its first meeting for Monday Sept. 28, according to Fred Zimmerman, president. A general business meeting is scheduled.

Freshman Chosen "Miss Lanc. Co."

Eleanor F. Johnson, Rheems, a member of the freshman class, was chosen "Miss Lancaster County, 1960" Thursday evening in Ephrata.

Miss Johnson, a graduate of Elizabethtown High School, is enrolled in the liberal arts curriculum here. The nine contestants, including Miss Kay Burkholder, Lintz, also a freshman here, were judged on the basis of beauty and talent.

College Programs Resume on WEZN

Elizabethtown College will resume its regular broadcasting schedule in October on local radio station WEZN (1600).

The College produces three programs each week: Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 2:05 p. m. to 2:30 p. m. Only one weekly program was aired during the summer.

Music by the College choir and news of campus activities are featured Tuesday and Thursday on the program "From the Elizabethtown College Campus." Friday's program, presented in cooperation with the American Chemical Society, is entitled, "Headlines in chemistry."

Faculty Elects Officers At Allenberry Retreat

Prof. Hubert M. Custer, chairman of the Physics Department at Elizabethtown College, has been elected president of the College Faculty Club.

Mrs. Kathryn Herr was chosen secretary.

Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, head of the Sociology Department, was named treasurer.

The election was held during a recent faculty-trustee retreat at Allenberry. Featured speaker for the retreat was Dr. Morris Schaeffer, dean of the Dickinson Law School.

"Make It a Habit"

Voice--- from the Sidelines

A couple of guys got to talking recently about the merits of a football team for Elizabethtown College.

All of the conversationalists thought it was a commendable idea because it would boost morale, give the College added status, give the alumni something more to cheer (or jeer, depending on the team's success), etc.

However, those willing to look at the other side of the picture weren't so sure that a Blue Jay football team would be such a good idea. Their arguments were primarily financial in nature.

First, they said, Elizabethtown has no home field and would have to play off campus on a rented gridiron.

Second, small college football is far from being the most successful sports enterprise these days. Good players are hard to find and their scholarship wants are too steep for the average small school to meet.

Add to these reasons the cost of coaches, equipment, training, and traveling plus the fact that there is a mighty limited audience for small college football and you can see where E-town would have a rough time.

A sign of the times was seen in the bleak report that only 23 candidates turned out for the first practice session at Franklin and Marshall this year. F. and M. has a student body of well over a thousand and a sound football reputation. Yet, only 23 men were ready for practice this year.

Although nothing is ever said publicly, it has been reported that several area small colleges would like to drop football. Alumni pressures, however, make it an unwise move.

E-town doesn't have a football tradition, a fact which would make the recruiting of players an extremely difficult task. It's tough to sustain a small college football team nowadays, let alone initiate one.

Does all this mean that Elizabethtown won't ever have a football team?

Well, "ever" is a mighty long time. Who can tell what will happen in the next 20 years?

The fact is that the College can't support a football team at present because of the expense involved in building dormitories, classrooms, and other buildings the campus needs. And it's almost certain that a football team here wouldn't support itself.

The choice, then, resolves itself to either providing needed facilities to better the educational offerings of the College or fielding a neophyte football team that would only be a financial headache, at least at the outset.

But, like many of those who are associated with E-town, we keep looking forward to the time when we can afford a team.

Gene Kerns Signs Phillies' Contract For $25,000 Bonus

Gene Kerns, who played both basketball and baseball last year as a freshman, has signed a contract with the Philadelphia Phillies with a bonus of $25,000.

Kerns, 19, a native of Hancock, Md., is signed to a contract with Williamsport, a Philadelphia affiliate in the Class A Eastern League.

Following a conference last week with John Quinn, Phils' general manager, Kerns indicated that he would either go to spring training with Williamsport or report to the Phillies' rookie school in Florida.

He was the only freshman to make the varsity basketball team here last year. He also won the shortstop job for Ira Herr's baseball team and appeared in all 18 games played by the Jays. He bats left, throws right. He hit .213 for the Jays.

Kerns ended his collegiate athletic career with the signing of the professional contract. In addition to the Phillies, he was approached by Baltimore, Detroit, Pittsburgh, and the Chicago White Sox.

Asked about his plans for completing his education, Kerns, a sophomore majoring in secondary education, indicated he hoped to finish his studies on a semester plan here, if possible.

Coach Herr pointed out that Kerns "started slowly with us last year but improved steadily as the season progressed."

"I'm naturally happy for him and hope he makes good," Herr added. "We're all pulling for him."

Kerns appeared to take the whole affair in stride.

"The thing to do now is get to the majors and justify the confidence that the Phillies have in me," he said.

Jaygals Face Blue Ridge Today, Dickinson Wed.

A scrimmage session today against the Blue Ridge Hockey Club of Harrisburg opens the 1959 season for the Jaygal hockey team, with predictions for the regular season being held back until Coach Julia Risser sees her team in competitive action.

Harriers Bearing Down for Moravian Meet Here Oct. 7

With the first meet of the season less than two weeks away, the Blue Jay cross country team is bearing down with daily workouts in an attempt to get off to a winning campaign.

Coach Ira Herr's harriers open against Moravian here October 7. The Jays nipped the Greyhounds, 27-28, last year.

In taking a projected look at his squad's chances, Herr admitted that Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart, lanky junior from Palmyra, stood out as his top man. Bruckhart's record of last year bears out Herr's confidence. He finished first four times and was second in three other meets in '58.

For the depth that is mandatory for a successful cross country team, Herr is counting on the likes of Wilbur Gible, who looked promising as a freshman last year, and such veterans as Helmut Baer, Don Hosler and Lloyd Nyce.

Bryon Seese, a junior out for the first time, may help, Herr said.

Joe Moore, Lancaster, and Ted Bond, Springtown, are freshmen making a determined bid.

Blue Jays Have Speed, Spirit and Ball Handlers For New Soccer Season

"We've got good ball handlers, good speed, enthusiasm, and indications of good team play, which, I think, will be the essence of our success."

With those words Coach Ira R. Herr summed up his impressions of the Blue Jay soccer squad as the team rounded into shape for the opening battle with Bucknell here October 10.

Senate Nips Profs In Softball Game

Hampered by a lack of pre-game practice, a fine faculty nine dropped a close 17-5 decision to the Student Senate in last Saturday's softball encounter on the campus diamond.

The final score was a point of disagreement because official statistics were inadvertently lost during the game. The faculty, who thought they had won by a 7-5 score, graciously allowed the Senate to list their score as official.

Final statistics:

Senate: 17 runs, 2 hits, 12 errors.

Faculty: 5 runs, 1 hit, multiple errors.

Next game: Senate vs. Faculty, basketball, sometime in March.

While refusing to name a starting team at this point, he did intimate that returning lettermen had the inside track on most of the positions. However, still up for grabs are a fullback spot, a wingman's post, and the goal tending chores.

He listed Sophomores Bob Lash and Jack Lantz, and Freshman Ed Goodhart as top prospects for the wingman's post. That would seem to indicate that the remaining line positions will be filled by Carroll Hershey, Manny Tejeda, Bill Hoar and Fred Zimmerman, all lettermen. Herb Spannuth, another returnee, may push hard for a starting berth.

Herr has three lettermen on hand to fill his halfback slots: Ellwood Kerkeslager, Jerry Reber and Russ Glazier. Gerald Botdorf, a freshman from Millersville, and Fred Seltzer, frosh from Annville, are other possibilities.

Seltzer is also being given a shot at the open fullback post beside Co-captain Warner Cheeks.

Bill Kendig, who was a halfback last year, is also gunning for the second fullback post along with Hank Osborn and Paul Leicht.

A two-way battle for the goalie's job is being waged by Senior Bill Pensyl and Freshman Ray Diehner.

Pensyl, who is making his first stab at collegiate soccer, starred for the Jays in basketball and baseball. Diener, 6' 4" prospect from Fredericksburg, was an All-Lebanon County goalie during his high school days.

In talking about his team's prospects, Herr wore his usual cloak of cautious, guarded, pessimism. However, in spite of himself, beams of optimism were evident.

He pointed out that the new men must make the transition from high school to college soccer, but all are apparently willing to learn.

There is little question that the Jays will have good depth in all positions.

With a goodly amount of talent on hand to knock heads during the practice sessions, the only big question still to be answered is who starts.

And that may not be settled until the team takes the field against Bucknell two weeks hence.

200 Students Hit By Flu Bug Here; Epidemic Fading

Nearly 200 campus students have been hit by the flu virus that has been making the rounds here during the last two weeks, according to a report from the College nurses.

The nurses—Louise Miller and Lucy Clemens—reportedly treated 191 students since Sept. 23.

"But that's not all because others went directly to a doctor and others simply borrowed their roommate's pills," Miss Miller said.

Asked about the spread of the epidemic, Miss Miller said she believed it had reached its peak in the number of people afflicted.

"I think we'll have fewer cases from now on. But it seems that those who are getting it of late have more serious symptoms, such as higher fevers and more dizziness," Miss Miller added.

The Administration urged students to limit physical activity and get plenty of rest as one means of limiting the affects of the epidemic.

A bulletin from Dean Roy McAuley suggested that extra-curricular activities be kept at a minimum. Members of the faculty were asked to re-schedule, if possible, regular class and laboratory assignments to prevent too heavy demands on students during the course of the flu seige.

Dean McAuley requested that students be given "every consideration while this epidemic is in progress."

The Open Houses scheduled for this weekend were cancelled.

The College nurses are working closely with residence heads to help students already stricken. The infirmaries in the New Women's Residence and Fairview Hall are in constant use.

In addition, the guest room in the New Residence has been pressed into emergency service for students requiring infirmary care.

Miss Betty Holsinger, College dietician, is providing special liquid diets for those who have contracted the "bug."

Campus Management Club Organized by Business Students

The Society for Advancement of Management, a newly-organized club on campus, will hold its charter meeting Thursday, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p. m. in Rider Memorial Chapel.

Guest speaker for the program will be Prof. Harold Fischer, of the Lancaster chapter of the national organization. He will present the charter to the club.

According to Dr. Albert Gray, adviser to the club, over 40 persons have joined as SAM's charter members. Stan Meyer is president of the group.

Other officers include Norman Bitterman, vice-president; Ruth Carroll, secretary; and Charles Groff, treasurer.

The SAM's objectives are to bring together executives in business and students preparing to go into business, to serve as an effective medium for the exchange of information on problems and methods of industry and management, and to provide students with the opportunity to participate in the organizing, directing and controlling of the activities of such an organization, Dr. Gray said.

Planning to meet once a month, the club here will schedule field trips, conferences, films and other activities during the school year.

E-Town Senior Was Observer At Russian Youth Festival

"Bridges between the East and West" were available to at least one member of Elizabethtown College's student body this past summer, and Fred Zimmerman, a senior, took advantage of all the bridges he could find.

For him the bridges were located in Europe—Vienna, Austria, to be precise—at a Church of the Brethren-sponsored peace seminar and later at the Seventh World Youth Festival, unofficially sponsored by the Communist countries.

Zimmerman, although not a delegate to the youth festival, took advantage of the opportunity to observe several seminars in session as well as to visit various cultural exhibitions presented by the participating nations.

This was the first time the festival had been held this side of the Iron Curtain, and Zimmerman felt that this was a unique opportunity for people in the West to try to understand the youth from behind the Iron Curtain.

He remarked that it was good to see that a large number of the youths were not dedicated Communists but were individuals who wanted to make known the problems of their particular nations.

Queried as to the reported anti-Communist riots in Vienna during the festival, which was held July 26 through Aug. 4, Zimmerman said he believed some exaggerated and erroneous statements were given out by the press.

For instance, he remarked, the so-called riots were only minor demonstrations.

The seminars conducted during the festival were discussions on such topics as science, contemporary literature and music, according to Zimmerman. He said

Homecoming Activities To Feature Tradition, Inovations Next Week

by VIRGINIA WILLS

Homecoming weekend will incorporate tradition and innovation starting Friday evening (Oct. 16), according to Miss Vera Hackman, spokesman for the Special Events Committee.

The formal start of the weekend's activities will take place with the crowning of the Homecoming Queen Friday evening during the Homecoming Dance at the Hershey Golf Club.

Preliminary balloting has narrowed the list of candidates to four, one from each class. The final election will take place Friday. The winner will be announced at the dance.

The four finalists are Senior Sidney Pegram, Junior Elizabeth Forrer, Sophomore Linda Wagner and Freshman Priscilla Jay.

The queen will be crowned by Carol Rees, last year's queen. The '59 queen will reign during the dance and the full day's activities next Saturday, which has been designated Homecoming Day.

Preparations for Saturday include the erection of displays at all entrances to the campus. Registration of alumni and parents will take place in front of Alpha Hall under the direction of C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary.

The Student Senate is working with the faculty's Special Events Committee in planning and implementing the various activities Saturday. Members of the Senate will assist in the registration and coordinate the displays at the campus entrances.

A full program of sports is scheduled for Saturday beginning at 9:30 a. m., when the Blue Jay field hockey team meets Lebanon Valley. A cross country meet with Albright is set for 1:30 p. m. The E-town soccer team takes on Gettysburg starting at 2:30 p. m.

The Women's Auxiliary of the College will conduct a bazaar from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the lounge of the New Women's Residence Hall.

The traditional tug-of-war between the men of the freshman and sophomore classes will take place at the Lake Placid starting at 11:30 a. m. Arrangements for the tug are being made by the Senate's Intramural Committee and Coach Don Smith.

Miss Julia Risser and the Women's Athletic Association will supervise the cheering contest for Women's Auxiliary Homecoming Bazaar Set for New Dorm

Home-made food, gifts for all occasions, and items for the coming Christmas holidays will be on sale during the Homecoming Day bazaar sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the College.

The bazaar will be staged in the lounge of the New Women's Residence starting at 10 a. m. Proceeds will be used to purchase equipment for the College, according to Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, Auxiliary president.

The Auxiliary has previously furnished the second floor lounge in the Women's Dormitory, provided the College's silver service, and purchased equipment for the campus darkroom.

In charge of arrangements for the bazaar are: Mrs. Clifford Hoffman, Mrs. Arlene Kettering Bucher, Mrs. Esther Papson, Mrs. Ruth Baldwin, Mrs. Shirley Uhaze, Mrs. Paul Grubb, Mrs. John Minnich, Mrs. Stanley Dotterer, Mrs. Joseph Lehman, Mrs. Charlotte Garman, Mrs. Walter Mellinger, Mrs. Henry Hackman, Mrs. John Hershey, Mrs. Franklin Cassel, Mrs. A. C. Baugher, Miss Vera Hackman, Miss Ann Shwenk and Mrs. Henry Musser.

Sock and Buskin To Stage Comedy

A large cast and a laugh-provoking plot will combine next Thursday and Saturday nights to bring Elizabethtown College alumni, students and friends a three-act comedy, Stage Door. The play is being produced by the Sock and Buskin Drama Club.

Written by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman, a Pulitzer Prize winner, Stage Door will be presented as a final highlight of the Homecoming Day activities in the College auditorium at 8 p. m.

Joyce Wenger, Sandra Lutz, Harry Bell and Dennis Dougherty are cast in the leading roles of the comedy, which concerns a group of young girls who went to New York to study acting and find jobs.

The other female cast members include: Jane Barsumian, Linda Wagner, Sandra Reifsteck, Carol Heilman, Penny Boyer, Carol Bush, Elizabeth Forrer, Joyce Hepplein, Carol Rees, Elizabeth Peacock and Sylvia Santee.

Joan Lank, Marsha Graham, Dorothy Zlobik, Kay Tauscher, Robin Bonier, Mary Feaser, Marion Gilchrist and Henrietta Kohr complete the female cast.

Male cast members in addition to Bell and Dougherty are Dick Merritt, Galen Young, Lonny Thomas, Donald Zellner, James Heckman, Richard Falstick, Kenneth Kreider, Park Millott and Claude Foreman.

Mrs. Clarence Enterline, dramatics adviser, is director of the play, assisted by Marsha Graham. Albert Yamada is stage manager.

Anniversary Discs For Sale In Store

Twelve-minute recording of highlights of the College's 60th anniversary year (1958-'59) are now on sale in the College Store.

The records contain excerpts from such activities as the Founders Day address by Dr. Ralph Sockman, the Baccalaureate sermon by Dr. M. Guy West, and the Commencement address by Dr. Arthur S. Flemming.

The recording is a condensed sound history of the Academic year.

Alumni interested in ordering copies may do so through Mr. Wilbur Weaver, Store manager. The cost per record is one dollar.

Trustee Board Meeting Today

The annual meeting of the College Board of Trustees will be held today in Room 168 in the Library.

The agenda for the meeting includes adoption of a budget for the College for the year, hearing of the President's report, discussion of the general program of the College, and election of officers.

Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, chairman of the Board, will preside during the all-day session.

Senate Advocating Used Book Exchange

Plans to establish a used book exchange program on campus are "in process," according to Bill Hoar, president of the Student Senate.

Under the proposed program, the Senate would create and maintain a center where students could buy, sell, or exchange text books they no longer need or want.

A committee composed of William Bair, Nancy Baugher, and Barbara Jones is working on the book exchange program.

In another move, the Senate outlined a plan to bring professional and business men to campus to interview students and answer questions about their fields. Galen Young and Joseph Wagoner are heading this project.

The Senate is also coordinating the erection of entrance displays on the campus for Homecoming Day.

Hear ye, hungry students! You're about to be fed—via vending machines, but at least it's food.

Not that our worthy kitchen staff doesn't do a superb job. It's just that snack times on the campus could be quite dismal without the College Store additions. At last we have facilities along the nutriment line which should keep us nourished enough to prepare our lessons long into the night.

Now available to us are machine-issued coffee, hot chocolate, hold and cold sandwiches and pastry. What more could we ask, except a student union building fully equipped with a snack shop?

We are sorry to hear that further plans for the College Store petered out in the pre-opening rush of preparations, but we also are thankful for what has been provided. Tables and booths which soon will be installed in the room near the vending machines will help the situation greatly, too.

We think the students will agree that further improvement also has been made concerning the store hours. And with the automatic cafeteria open every day, even the weekends, from 7 a. m. to 10:15 p. m., we really can't complain.

So let's give Prof. Weaver a cheer for his efforts and accomplishments, which may be the difference between E-town College weaklings and healthy musclemen during the school year ahead! Who knows?

We're Proud of It

A comment was heard the other day expressing the true beauty of the Elizabethtown College campus. In fact, it was the president of our Student Senate, Bill Hoar, who exclaimed that seeing the beautiful lawns, clean buildings and freshness of atmosphere surrounding the campus really made him proud to be a part of this College.

We're certain he was the spokesman of us all. We also are sure that without our fine janitorial staff, the campus would not look so regal.

Much credit goes to them, but let's not forget our own duty to keep the campus beautiful by walking on pavements only and discarding scraps in proper containers. Let's keep our campus regal-looking!

Musicale Was Excellent

If "The Gershwin Musicale," presented Oct. 1 in our College auditorium, is a sample of the quality of programs to be offered Elizabethtown College students and friends this year through the Community Cultural series, we certainly have something to look forward to.

There was a good audience in attendance—for once—both in number and responsiveness. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the program and the only criticism which could be given is that it ended too soon.

Let's be grateful for the cultural series available for our enjoyment, and show the same or better response when the next Community Cultural program comes to our campus.

VITAL SOURCE OF STRENGTH

American Newspapers Have Earned Right To Solicit the Support of All Citizens

(Ed. Note—The following is carried in recognition of National Newspaper Week, Oct. 15-21.)

Few people, even those who are familiar with American history, can readily identify Benjamin Harris, a printer who lived in Boston during the latter part of the 17th century.

But Harris is responsible for the planting of a seed which grew into an institution that has shaped and is shaping the American way of life.

Benjamin Harris established the first newspaper in this country and thus spawned American journalism.

Newspapers have always played a prominent role in the development of the United States. They have been called the "engines that started the flames of the American Revolution from uncertain embers." They formed the prime battleground for the political theorists who shaped our form of government after independence had been won.

The press expanded westward with the pioneers and grew in maturity and sense of responsibility as the 19th century passed into history.

Our history is studded with the names of men who gained their fame in the development of the American press. They include Benjamin Franklin, John Peter Zenger, Joseph Pulitzer, Charles Dana and Horace Greeley, among others.

There are 669 newspapers purchased every second of every minute of every hour of every day in the U. S., when the total daily circulation of 58 million copies is averaged out over a 24-hour period.

Newspapers are a vital source of strength in our society, but, like all of our freedoms, the rights of the press must be guarded by all responsible citizens. The "freedom of the press" embodied in the Constitution has been challenged in many ways at many times.

Excessive and at times ridiculous government classification of information has thrown up formidable barriers against the press and thereby robbed the people of their inherent "right to know."

As National Newspaper Week is observed starting Oct. 15, the words of Author Edith Bartow are especially appropos:

"When Americans no longer trust their newspapers they will no longer concern themselves with the freedom of the press. And once the foundation of all American freedoms is delegated, surrendered, or abandoned, all Americans will lose their only means of protection against wrongs that will inevitably be inflicted by elected or appropriated power. . . ."

Campus Prayer

O God, grant that we in our calling as students, may apply our hearts and minds to the joyous but laborious task of learning, for it is thy will that we discover truth, that our minds continue to grow, that we become all you intend us to be. Prud us when we are tempted to take our studies casually or to use our time and our bodies irresponsibly. Shake us loose from our content just to "get by" and from our false standards of conformity; for Christ's sake, Amen.

Profs' Philosophy Revealed in Part By Quotation Poll

By JOYCE MILLER

"Take the advice of a faithful friend . . ." are wise words which say a lot. Such welcome counsel can be found in several of the favorite quotations of professors on campus.

Mrs. Clarence Enterline recalls a quotation that has helped her time and time again: "No ill can harm the happy man; he wears golden charm around his heart."

Dr. Robert A. Byerly offers some sound advice to freshmen, not to mention upperclassmen, when he quotes: "Blessed is he who taketh notes for he is more likely to pass my examinations." Psalm 151:1.

The philosophy of Mr. James L. M. Yeingst can be summed up in part by Henry Ward Beecher's statement: "A man without mirth is like a wagon without springs."

Many times Dr. O. F. Stambaugh calmed a befuddled, would-be analytical chemist with his famous words, "Keep your head screwed on!"

"College is a swinging stride towards the portals of maturity," is the sentiment of Dean Vera R. Hackman.

"What I aspired to be and was not, comforts me." These wise words of Robert Browning are favorites with Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser. Also he finds a great deal of meaning in the quotation by the same author: "A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a Heaven for?"

Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh likes to paraphrase George Bernard Shaw with: "It's a shame that college is wasted on the collegiate."

Varsity E to Give Hollinger Memorial

The Varsity E Club has moved to create a John Hollinger Memorial Award to be given to the "outstanding" member of the College wrestling team, Club President Fred Zimmerman reported following a meeting last week.

Details of the award are being studied by a committee, which will report in the near future, Zimmerman said.

In addition, the club is investigating the possibility of offering life memberships to all former Blue Jay letter winners.

Zimmerman announced that a meeting of all those interested in the life membership program will be held following the soccer game on Homecoming Day. He added that the prime purpose of the life membership is to "give former athletes an opportunity to boost the College athletic program through the Varsity E Club after graduation."

In other actions, the club expressed interest in forming a male pep band and named a committee to prepare mimeographed programs for free distribution at all future home soccer, hockey and baseball games.

little politicking was done, but the Communists influence could not be mistaken.

The cultural exhibitions were the main point of interest and proved to be the best means of propaganda for the particular countries presenting them.

The main objective of Zimmerman's trip to Europe was participation in the Vienna Peace Seminar, which was sponsored by the Church of the Brethren. Prior to attending that he toured six European countries on a 25-day trip with other American students.

Theme of the peace seminar was "Bridges between the East and West."

A feeling of sensitivity to both Communist and Western propaganda was realized by Zimmerman.

"World issues became real and not just words on a printed page," he said after living in the international atmosphere for several weeks.

The opportunity to see and hear things not available to regular European tourists will not soon be forgotten, he remarked.

I hope everyone by now has realized that the traffic jams on campus have reached the serious state. If you don't believe it, just look for the figure in blue who is here to curb the congestion.

Seems like everyone who parked in the triangle to the east of Alpha received a ticket the other day. It proved just one thing—everyone can be wrong at times, even the "strong arm" of the law. They were all acquitted!

The soccer team has asked us to invite each and everyone of you to the bonfires and pep-rallies prior to each home soccer game this year. Let's get some good solid tradition around this place and lend our full support!

Another item that was brought to the mind of your writer is the line at lunch. It's no worse than waiting for a penny sale at Stacy's Department Store except there isn't as much to come away with. Hope something can be worked out; we're sure they're doing their best.

Scotch and law officers don't mix! Scotch plaid and bagpipes, that is. Dr. Hood, dressed in unique Scottish kilts and bagpipes, staged a one-man concert at the College picnic the other week. Seems the law didn't appreciate it as well as the students did. Congratulations to Dr. Hood for a job well done.

Sick, sick, sick—but not of studies, yet! This time it's the real thing. And the fellows have found a clever way to get into the New Women's Residence—via the men's infirmary.

Then there are those hockey girls. When will they learn not to crash fraternity houses on the Dickinson campus? To the victors go the spoils, sure, but wow! What spoils!

College TV Series To Feature Careers

Careers in accounting and secretarial work will be discussed during the next two College-produced programs in WGAL-TV's "College of the Air" series. Prof. Edgar Bitting and Dr. J. W. Kettering, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will discuss accounting opportunities Oct. 13. The following Tuesday's program will feature Miss Elinor Eastlack and Prof. Wilbur Weaver in a discussion of secretarial work.

The programs are telecast each Tuesday from 9-9:30 a. m. Last week, Dr. A. L. Gray discussed Business Careers.

College Choir Starts 25th Anniversary Year; Personnel Named After Auditions

Forty-one members of the College choir have been selected after auditions as the choir begins the observance of the 25th anniversary of its founding, according to Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, choir director.

The choir, which is scheduled to sing in Chapel Oct. 21, will spend the first semester rehearsing for a series of concert tours starting early next year.

In addition to announcing the choir personnel, Prof. Fisher reported that membership in the large College chorus is now open to all students. Chorus rehearsals will be held Monday evenings in the Brinser Lecture Hall. More vocalists are needed for the chorus, Prof. Fisher said.

Members of the College choir were announced as follows:

Nancy Baugher, Marilyn Brubaker, Jean Elfe, Janice Ferster, Ruth Ann Geiselman, Mary Gladfelter, Marcia Graham, Judy Haldeman, Lucille Hendricks, Susan Hertzog, Carol Hess, Linda Hollinger, Henrietta Kohr.

Carroll Kreider, Shirley Lantzy, Joan Leatherman, Jeanne Leber, Betty Markley, Judy Nesbit, Donna Ness, Sandra Reifsteck, Lynne Roudabush, Sylvia Santee, Evelyn Strauss, Allegra Yohe.

Edward Beardslee, Glenn Buckner, Wilbur Gible, Asher Halbleib, Robert Heffley, Frank Ingham, Dale Kilhefner, Kenneth Kreider, William Lincoln, Richard Lytle, Larry Smith, Lony Thomas.

Dale Varner, Donald Willoughby, Carl Rishel and Philip Shank.

Betty Markley will serve as accompanist for the choir. Mrs. E. G. Meyer, piano instructor, will accompany the chorus.

WIN STREAK ON LINE

Jays Face Bucknell Here Today in Soccer Opener

What could be a solid indication of the quality of the '59 Blue Jay soccer team may be forthcoming here this afternoon at 2 p. m. as Coach Ira Herr's crew takes on Bucknell University in the first test of a 10-game schedule.

The Jays will be working on a five-game winning streak that they started during the final half of the '58 campaign. E-town will field a veteran team with good depth and balance and a fine crop of newcomers.

Elizabethtown lambasted the Bisons, 6-2, at Bucknell last year. Bucknell ended the '58 season with a record of three wins against seven setbacks.

This year, however, the Bisons opened with a surprising 2-1 victory over Penn State, the first time Bucknell has beaten State in 24 tries. State clobbered the Bisons, 7-1, last year.

Bucknell Coach Hank Peters has a veteran squad headed by Halfback Steve Flamhaft and Fullback Roger Mackey, both of whom were second team All-Middle Atlantic Conference selections last year.

Meanwhile, the Blue Jays have tuned up gradually for the opener. They have had more than three weeks of practice sessions, including two informal scrimmages.

Despite the fact that he has a veteran unit on hand, Herr may open with several freshmen in the lineup. Leading frosh starting possibilities include Fred Seltzer, Annville; Gerry Botdorf, Millerstown; Ed Goodhart, Millersville; and Ray Diehner, Fredricksburg.

Returnees expected to be in the starting array include Bill Hoar, Manny Tejada, Carroll Hershey, and Fred Zimmerman on the forward line; Woody Kerkeslager and Jerry Reber at halfback, and Warner Cheeks at fullback.

Senior Bill Pensyl may get the call for the goalie's job against the Bisons.

Almost certain to see action are such veterans as Herb Spannuth, Bill Kendig, Russ Glazier, Hank Osborn, Paul Leicht and Bob Lash.

The Jays will be led by Co-Captains Bill Hoar and Warner Cheeks.

Other games on the immediate docket include an encounter Tuesday at La Salle and the Homecoming meeting next Saturday against Gettysburg here. Lycoming is here Oct. 21.

Jays Use Police Dog to Improve Harriers' Time

We don't know if this is supposed to be kept quiet or not.

But the story leaked out last week that the Blue Jay cross country squad has a poor man's version of the Hound of the Baskervilles, made famous by Sherlock Holmes.

Two Jay harriers, Glen Bruckhart and Wilbur Gible, finished their daily practice tour of the local cross country course and reported that, as usual, they had been chased by a huge police dog, who apparently lives somewhere along the route.

Coach Ira Herr admitted that the dog shows up regularly to greet his runners.

Bruckhart attested to this and added that he had the dog's teeth marks to prove it.

It's no wonder that the Jays have been turning in some fine times in practice. They have that extra something to speed them on their way.

Now you know what they're looking for when they finish a race glancing anxiously over their shoulders. It's not the opposition they're worried about.

Intramurals

The Men's Intramural Football League opened with four games this week.

In the season's lid-lifter, North Hall's defending champions continued their winning ways by downing Harrisburg, 13-0. Touchdowns by Marty Hefferan and Barry Stevenson turned the trick for North.

Fraternity opened with a convincing 15-0 triumph over Off-Campus as Bob Teufel and Carroll Hershey racked up touchdowns.

Harrisburg bounced back from the North Hall defeat to bump West Hall, 19-0, on the strength of touchdowns by Joe Fiedler, Bob Rosenberger and Ken Fasick.

Two touchdowns by Ed Harnly and one by Bill Elston gave South Hall a 20-8 win over West Hall. John Sabbi scored the lone West TD.

Hockeyites Bump LVC Thur.; Boost Season's Log to 2-1

The varsity field hockey seasonal record advanced to two wins, one loss Thursday as the Jaygals whipped Lebanon Valley, 6-1, at Annville.

In the first half Linda Eshelman scored two goals, Lucy Clemens gained one and JoAnn Robinson made one.

Herr's Harriers Top Moravian, 21-34, As Bruckhart Wins

Capturing the first two places, the Blue Jay cross country squad opened the '59 season successfully by downing Moravian here last Wednesday, 21-34.

Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart loped home first with a clocking of 25:05 for the four-and-one-half mile course. He was followed by Freshman Ted Bond, whose time of 25:58, was more than a minute better than that of Moravian's top man, Jim Worman, who finished third.

Junior Don Hosler, shaking off the effects of the flu bug, finished fifth.

Sophomore Wilbur Gible and Junior Helmut Baer finished in the virtual deadheat for sixth place for the Jays.

Looking ahead, the Blue Jays will meet Dickinson at Carlisle Wednesday in what promises to be one of the biggest hurdles of the season for Coach Ira Herr's harriers.

Final results:

1. Bruckhart (E), 25:05; 2. Bond (E), 25:58; 3. Worman (M), 27:04; 4. Fiegel (M), 27:16; 5. Hosler (E), 27:43; 6. Gible (E), 28:09; 7. Baer (E), 28:09; 8. Grammas (M), 28:10; 9. Durn (M), 28:23; 10. Rinker (M), 28:39.

Linda scored again in the second period with Kay Jones making the final tally.

Kay, a left inner, is the only girl on the squad to have scored once in every game this season.

The Jayvees won their first game at Lebanon Valley, 2-0. Molly Moerschbacher and Jean Latimer each scored one.

Drop Tight Game

The Jaygals ran out of steam in the late stages of the encounter with East Stroudsburg STC last week and dropped a tight 2-1 decision in their first home game.

An early tally by Junior Kay Jones gave Coach Risser's crew a lead that held up until the final five minutes of the game, when the visitors banged home two quick goals to earn the decision.

The Jayvees went down to a 7-0 defeat in Saturday's second game.

Drub Dickinson

In their first game of the regular season the Jays buried Dickinson, 4-0, at Carlisle with a flurry of three late goals.

Kay Jones opened the scoring to give E-town a 1-0 edge at half-time. Then with the final minutes ticking away, Sophomore JoAnn Robinson rapped home a goal, and Freshman Linda Eshelman pushed through two fast tallies to seal the verdict.

In a pre-season exhibition game, the Jaygals nipped the Blue Ridge Hockey Club of Harrisburg, 2-1.

Basketball Starting

All men interested in playing basketball are asked to report to the College gymnasium Thursday, Oct. 15, at 4:15 p. m. Coach Smith announced that managers should also report at that time. No experience is necessary.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

Remember the old chestnut about the bridesmaid who never quite became a bride?

Well, when you stop to think about it, that same idea can be used in describing the Blue Jay soccer squad over the past two years. The Jays have gone into battle 20 times and returned victorious on 16 occasions over the past two campaigns.

That's a good record no matter how you slice it, but the big apple, the promised land, eluded the Jays' clutching grasp in each of the seasons. We're talking about the unbeaten record.

The Jays stumbled twice in both '57 and '58 and each time over the same obstacles: Drexel and West Chester. Coach Paul Greene's '57 outfit almost turned the trick. The '57 Jays led both Drexel and West Chester only to fade and fall into defeat late in the game.

But this is '59, a new year, another chance. And the Jays have the horses to go all the way.

The forward line of Bill Hoar, Manny Tejada, Fred Zimmerman, Carroll Hershey, and either Herb Spannuth, Bob Lash or Ed Goodhart should be able to ram home more than enough goals to turn the trick.

Woody Kerkeslager and Jerry Reber at halfbacks are as good or better than anything we saw on the field for the opposition last year. And no one can move as well as Warner Cheeks at fullback.

Cheeks is a wonderful competitor with a wealth of physical tools. He's rugged, extremely fast, and capable of thinking straight under pressure. You can't beat that combination.

Among the newcomers, we like what we've seen of Fred Seltzer, Charlie Ashenfelter, Bob Botdorf and Ray Diehner.

Seltzer should team very well with Cheeks to give the Jays a really sound deep defense.

Ashenfelter moves well, and Botdorf reportedly has one of the heaviest foots on the squad. Diehner, now in contention with Bill Pensyl for the goalie's job, handles himself very capably in the nets.

Then there are the likes of Bill Kendig, Russ Glazier, Ron Shubert, Lynn Saylor and Paul Leicht, among others.

Talent? Speed? Experience? Depth? Spirit?

The Jays have more than their rightful share of each.

It's true that they have a rugged road ahead. Drexel, West Chester and East Stroudsburg, regarded as the biggest hurdles, must be met on foreign soil.

But, as we said before, the Blue Jay booters have enough of what it takes to go all the way.

We just missed the mark in '57 and '58.

But this is '59.

900 Parents and Old Grads Here for 55th Homecoming; Libby Forrer Named Queen

Blessed by perfect weather, over 900 parents and old grads descended upon the E-town campus last Saturday to take part in the College's 55th annual Homecoming Day program, C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary reported.

College Given $170 Thousand In 1958-'59

Elizabethtown College received nearly $170,000 in gifts last year, according to Dr. A. C. Baugher, president of the College.

Pres. Baugher reported that the total of giving amounted to $169,453.24. This includes the contributions of industry, alumni, parents and friends, and the Church of the Brethren, with which the College is affiliated.

Giving by the Church of the Brethren amounted to $47,758, Pres. Baugher reported.

The College's Development Program realized $64,441 in gifts during the year, according to the report of J. Albert Seldomridge, Development Director.

Other gifts, including alumni funds, bequests, and support from the Foundation of Independent Colleges, totaled $57,254.

The contributions of business and industry amounted to $17,517, which was given through the Development Program and the Annual Giving Fund Campaign initiated last year. A total of 48 businesses and industries gave financial aid to the College during the year.

Dr. Horace E. Raffensperger, Elizabethtown, chairman of the College's Development Advisory Committee, thanked all those who supported the College in his annual report. He added: "The increased awareness of independent higher education and the expression of this awareness through giving are both rewarding and challenging."

Appreciation was also expressed by Samuel R. Jones, Elizabethtown, chairman of the Annual Giving Fund Committee for the College.

The Homecoming activities actually began the night before, when Elizabeth "Libby" Forrer, junior from Stuarts Draft, Va., was crowned Homecoming Queen during a dance at Hershey.

Miss Forrer was chosen queen in an all-campus election. Her aides were Sidney Pegram, senior from Lancaster; Linda Wagner, sophomore from Haddonfield, N. J., and Priscilla Jay, freshman from Glenn Riddle, near Philadelphia.

The queen reigned during the full day's activities Saturday.

The sophomore men had a pleasant day for their dip in Lake Placid as the freshman stalwarts won the annual tug-of-war with apparent ease.

However, the sophomore women salvaged some class prestige by winning the cheering contest against the freshman coeds. The sophomores were dressed as Indians. The frosh garbed themselves as "hicks from the sticks."

In the day's intercollegiate athletic events, E-town's soccer and cross country teams were victorious over Gettysburg and Albright respectively, but the women's field hockey squad had to settle for a tie with Lebanon Valley (see sports).

Members of the Women's Auxiliary sponsored a bazaar, which reportedly nearly sold out of gift items, holiday decorations, and homemade foods.

Displays depicting various phases of college life were erected at a number of points on the campus under the supervision of the Student Senate.

An audience of over 600 crowded the auditorium-gymnasium in the evening for Sock and Buskin's production of the three-act comedy, Stage Door. (See page 2)

The Faculty Special Events Committee, Prof. Wilbur Weaver, chairman, arranged the Homecoming activities with the cooperation of the Student Senate.

Campus Religious Emphasis Being Broadened This Year

by POLLY GRUBB

A new approach to religious emphasis on the campus—one designed to expand the stress on spiritual values throughout the year—is being initiated this year, according to Dr. Robert A. Byerly, director of Religious Activities.

All-College Hayride Planned by Senate

An all-College hayride has been planned by the Student Senate for Halloween Eve, Friday, Oct. 30, Miss Vera Hackman, of the Student Activities Office, has announced.

Students will wear Halloween costumes to dinner at 6 p. m., she added, with seniors planning to sit at designated tables as a class.

Wagons for the hayride will appear in front of the New Women's Residence at 7 o'clock. A stop for refreshments will be made before returning to the College at 12 o'clock.

All those who plan to go on the hayride are asked to sign the lists that will be posted on the bulletin boards. This will enable the Senate Social Committee to make appropriate plans for refreshments and number of wagons.

AT ANNUAL MEETING

Trustees Seeking Names for Dorms

The New Women's Residence and the men's dormitory now under construction may soon have formal names as a result of action taken by the College Board of Trustees during their annual meeting here two weeks ago.

Following a recommendation by Pres. A. C. Baugher, the trustees appointed a committee to suggest names for both buildings. The committee will report its suggested names to the Board next May.

There has been a growing concern expressed by some members of the student body who wanted a formal name for the women's dormitory rather than the cumbersome "New Women's Residence Hall."

The Trustees also acted to plan the future development of the campus by approving the drawing up of a master campus plan. The plan would include the relocation of the athletic fields and the site for future buildings, including a student union-field house building, a classroom building, and a chapel-auditorium.

The Student Union building was designated as the next major project to be undertaken as part of the development program. Next in line will be a classroom building, according to the Trustees' action.

The operating budget for the 1959-'60 year was set at $907,258, an increase of nearly $107,000 over last year.

In another action, the Board expressed thanks to the Alumni Association for the cancellation of a note for $20,500, which the College had owed to the Association.

Thanks were also expressed to the College Women's Auxiliary and to the Men's Fellowship and Women's Fellowship of the Eastern District of the Church of the Brethren for financial support.

Finally, the Trustees moved to petition the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren for the use of the Church sanctuary to hold the weekly College chapel services. Pres. Baugher indicated that the campus auditorium-gymnasium is "inadequate" for the chapel hours.

Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, was re-elected chairman of the Board. Others re-elected were Noah S. Sellers, Lineboro, Md., vice-chairman; John G. Hershey, Lititz, secretary, and Earl H. Kurtz, Elizabethtown, treasurer.

Enrollments Jump 61% in Last Six Years

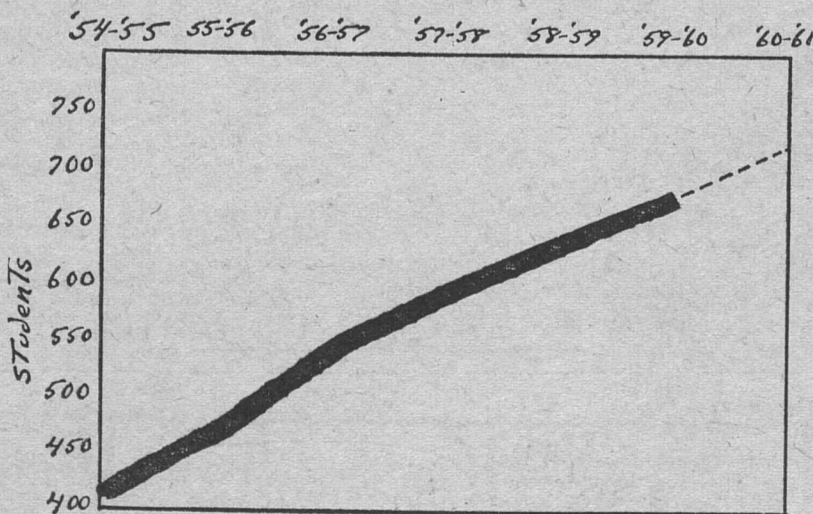

The exploding enrollment of Elizabethtown College has jumped 61 percent in the last six years, according to figures released by Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar at the College.

Miss Engle revealed that the current student body numbers 677, an increase of 258 over the 419 students enrolled for the 1954-'55 academic year.

Growth of the student body has been steady. The biggest increase took place prior to the start of the 1956-'57 year, when the enrollment jumped from 470 to 546, an increase of 76 students.

The smallest increase—41 students—took place prior to the start of the 1958-'59 year. The average increase over the last three years has been slightly under 43 students.

The number of women in the student body is increasing at a faster rate than the men. Coeds currently represent approximately 45 percent of the total enrollment compared to less than 40 percent in 1954-'55.

The sharpest increase in the enrollment is in the number of boarding women. There are 242 women resident students this year. There were only 133 during the 1955-'56 year, according to Miss Vera Hackman, dean of women.

If the present rate of growth continues, the student body next year will number approximately 720.

The swelling enrollment is a source of concern on the part of the Administration. The dilemma involves a lack of classroom and dormitory space in the face of an ever-growing number of students applying for admittance to the College.

D. Paul Greene, director of Admissions, pointed out recently that an increasing number of applications are being received from out-of-state students, particularly from New Jersey.

Scheduled for appearances later in the year are Dr. Sheridan Bell, pastor, Grace Methodist Church, Harrisburg; Dr. Ross Stover, pastor, Messiah Lutheran Church, Philadelphia; Dr. Ernest Campbell, pastor, First Presbyterian Church, York; Rev. Earl Fike, pastor, Chicago Church of the Brethren, and Dr. Edward K. Ziegler, moderator of the 1960 Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren.

ETOWNIAN Given 1st Class Rank

The ETOWNIAN is one of 12 papers of its type across the nation to receive a First-class ranking by the Associated Collegiate Press.

The ACP award covers issues published during the second semester of the 1958-'59 academic year.

In making the award, ACP judged the ETOWNIAN on editorial content, areas of coverage, and make-up. Kenneth Bowers, Landisville, was editor of the newspaper last year.

SAM Club Receives Charter Thursday

Prof. Harold Fischer, Lancaster, was guest speaker Thursday night at the charter meeting of the Society for the Advancement of Management, newly-organized business club on campus.

Commonly known as the SAM, the club received its charter from Prof. Fischer, who is national vice-president of the organization.

Club President Stanley Neyer presided over the ceremonies.

Other SAM officials present at the meeting included Hans Eric, York, president of the Lancaster Senior Profession SAM chapter, who presented the membership cards to the 53 members; and Charles Peters, Manheim, regional director of the SAM.

During the ceremony, the club's officers were installed. In addition to Neyer, they are Norman Bitterman, vice-president; Ruth Carroll, secretary, and Charles Groff, treasurer.

Dr. Albert L. Gray, head of the Business department here, serves as adviser of the club, which is one of more than 150 branches of the organization in the United States.

AS WE SEE IT

At Last??

A man without a country, a dormitory without a name. No matter how one looks at it, there is definitely a similarity in these two phrases.

Just as a person cannot really identify himself if he has no national ties, so the residents of the "New Women's Dormitory" have felt these almost three years now, waiting for the Administration to wake up to the fact that dorms are made to be named.

The students will be glad to hear that they've finally gotten around to thinking about naming it; the board of trustees, at their annual meeting October 10, appointed a committee to suggest names to be presented at the spring session.

It's a start, at any rate. Maybe the women of the class of '64 will have the good fortune to be able to say they live in "such and such" a dormitory, completed in January of 1957! We hope so, because the class of '60 is rather disappointed that they didn't have the opportunity to say the same.

The Flu Has Flown

Now that the flu bug has departed from our campus, perhaps a word of praise is due the Administration for their efforts in restraining its damage.

Certainly the nurses did an admirable job in treating the students, considering the massive "turnout" and the fact that they were attending classes themselves.

The cafeteria staff worked overtime in preparing special liquid diets for the ill and convalescing students. Miss Betty Holsinger, the dietician, is to be praised for her untiring efforts in this capacity.

In asking the students to cooperate in limiting their activities and in getting plenty of rest the Administration did what they could to curb the spread of the epidemic.

Yes, they deserve praise . . . but why they ever held the chapel service that week, whereby the students were crammed into a stuffy, crowded auditorium, we'll never know. That could be one reason why the virus lingered so long midst students and faculty alike!

We're Losing Something

Ho! Heave! Ho! And the Sophs went in . . . Lake Placida, that is! But what was it all about? Was there any significance behind the act of the tug-of-war on Homecoming Day? We wonder.

Sure, the frosh won the tug, which is supposed to mean they need not wear their dinks any more. But did they wear them at all after Initiation Week? Few and far between, maybe, but no more.

It seems as though tradition is being lost, and tradition can make or break the fun in college. Keep it in mind, Frosh, next year when you're the authorities over the lowly Class of '64!

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

ON THE WHOLE, 'GOOD'

'Stage Door' by Sock and Buskin Ranks High in Acting, Low in Special Effects

by VIRGINIA WILLS

Stage Door provided a surprise climax to Homecoming Day last Saturday. Students and visitors were pleasantly surprised to enjoy a dramatic evening in the secular vein.

The play, written by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman, concerned the goings-on at a house for actresses in New York. It centered in particular on the decision young actresses have to make between the hard life of the stage which lasts and the quick money, fame and forgetfulness of the movies.

The 32 members of the cast overcame the difficulties imposed by the flu epidemic to put on an excellent performance. There was no lapse in action and no apparent difficulty in dialogue.

An excellent job of casting was done. It seemed almost as if Edna Ferber and George Kaufman had viewed the actors in their natural habitats and written the plays expressly for them. The actors who had character parts played very convincingly.

An especially fine job of acting was turned in by Joyce Wenger, who played the lead. She and the other major characters received sound support from the rest of the cast. The acting seemed natural and uninhibited.

The set itself was attractive and fairly well balanced, although few people place pianos in front of fireplaces nowadays. The color scheme added little to the total effect. Considering that most of the actors supplied their own costumes, it is remarkable that no one clashed with the scenery.

Sound and lighting effects left much to be desired, although a neon light flashing outside the window was convincingly presented.

As a whole, the play was excellent. It could have been shorter, but this was not the fault of either the actors or the director.

Today's Students 'Soft, Unwilling'

"We are not silent, but we are soft. We are not beat, but we have never really tried. We are not ignorant, but we are unwilling, largely unconcerned."

Those are the words of Robert R. Riley, 23, a graduate of Notre Dame University and president of the National Student Association. He spoke them during the recent 12th National Student Congress at the University of Illinois.

In essence, he called for more "student responsibility in the educational process." He also urged his fellow students to "demand education quality in addition to, or in spite of, an increased quantity of education."

Campus Prayer

Almighty God, we pray Thy blessings upon our schools, colleges, and all our institutions of learning. May our professors possess a keen appreciation of their great opportunity to help us students to make the most of our mentality. May we students as seekers of knowledge understand that education is not complete unless pursued in the school of God as well as in the school of the world. Reveal Thy truth unto us that "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." Grant us, in all doubts and uncertainties, the grace to ask what Thou would have us to do, that the spirit of vision may save us from all false choices, and that in Thy light we may see light and in Thy straight path may not stumble; through Christ Jesus our Lord. AMEN.

ARNOLD

- OFF THE - BEATEN TRACK

Ed Crill, who handles the sometimes thankless job of Dean of Students, was chuckling the other day.

It seems that a student who either owns or has access to no less than three cars was bragging long and loud about how he was fooling the College parking authority by illegally parking his multiple cars on the campus.

"The guy bragged too loud," Crill said. "Now we've got all of his cars pegged."

Park Mellot, a stage hand for the Sock and Buskin production of Stage Door, took a leaf from the story of Adam and Eve by eating of forbidden fruit during a staging of the play last week.

Mellot, it seems, got hungry and ate the fruit that was used as a prop on the stage.

Result: when Harry Bell, a member of the cast, was scheduled to pick up an apple during the performance, he found himself looking at the hollow confines of an empty bowl.

The guy who wore the Blue Jay costume during the Homecoming Day soccer game had better put on a little more weight. The suit was first designed for Hank Osborn, who's a pretty husky fella'. With Hank on the soccer squad, his smaller stand-in donned the costume.

He turned out to be the first Blue Jay we've ever seen with baggy knees. Ya' gotta' admire his spirit, though.

Dean Roy McAuley has a problem, depending on which way the wind blows when he opens his office window.

Reports filtering through to us indicate that the Dean is a bit disturbed when the coeds living in the upper floors of Alpha shake their mops out of the windows because the dirt sometimes blows into his office enroute to the ground.

While we're thinking about what comes out of the Alpha dormitory windows we might caution those who frequent the area around the building.

The girls of Alpha sometimes use their window ledges as refrigerators. One of these days some poor soul is going to have a falling soft drink bottle bounce off his noggin.

And what happened to the sophomores in the tug-of-war? Tired blood?

Education Careers To Be Discussed

Representatives of Elizabethtown College will discuss careers in elementary and secondary education on WGAL-TV's "College of the Air" series Oct. 27 and Nov. 3.

Mrs. Austin Fellenbaum, of the Education Department, and Dr. Caleb Bucher, an elementary principal in the Manheim School System, will outline the vocations in elementary education next Tuesday.

The following week, Dr. Galen Kilhefner, supervising principal of Elizabethtown Area Schools, and Pres. A. C. Baugher will discuss secondary education careers.

Faculty Club Plans Picnic

A picnic outing for faculty members and their families is scheduled for next Saturday at Camp Chester, near Lawn. The affair will be sponsored by the Faculty Club, according to Prof. Hubert Custer, club president.

Festivities are scheduled to begin at 4:30 p. m. Light refreshments will be served.

ECCA Preparing Play For Church Groups

Demas, a one-act religious drama by Dorothy Elderdice, will go on tour Oct. 25 under the sponsorship of the Elizabethtown College Christian Association, Dorothy Zlobik, student director, has announced.

This play, whose title character is a man mentioned only once in the Bible, has been cast as follows: Paul, Claude Foreman; Claudia, Jean Apgar; Demas, Harry Bell, and Julius, Kenneth Kreider.

After its initial campus appearance before the Student Christian Association Oct. 21, the itinerary as arranged by Dr. Robert Byerly, director of religious activities, includes presentation in the following Churches of the Brethren:

Oct. 25, North Baltimore; Nov. 8, Salunga; Nov. 15, Mt. Olivet and Spring Creek; Nov. 22, Akron and Lititz; Jan. 3, Fredericksburg, and Jan. 30, Palmyra.

The performance for the Elizabethtown church is as yet unscheduled.

Graduate Study Aid Applications Listed

Applications for post-graduate fellowships and scholarships offered by the Danforth Foundation and Institute of International Education respectively are now available to seniors.

The Danforth Foundation offers fellowships in the fields of natural and biological sciences, social sciences, humanities and all fields of specialization found in the undergraduate college.

November 1 is the deadline for applications for Fulbright scholarships, which provide for study or research in 28 countries. The scholarship covers tuition, maintenance and round-trip travel.

Seniors interested in applying for either or both of the post-graduate financial aids should contact Dean Roy McAuley.

Two Men's Dormitories Join Campus Facilities

Two more residences have been added to the College's facilities for men students, according to Ed Crill, dean of men.

Witmer Hall, located on College Ave., houses 15 students including Guy Kessler, proctor.

The other dormitory is Cedar Hall, situated at the corner of Mount Joy and Cedar Sts. James Lineweaver is proctor of this hall, which houses ten men. It was bought by the College during the past summer.

Stumps at Inauguration

Dr. N. Franklin Stump, of the Psychology Department, and Mrs. Stump represented the College at ceremonies marking the inauguration of Dr. William S. Litterick as president of Keuka College, N. Y., earlier this month.

Dr. Stump was chairman of the Psychology and Education Department at Keuka from 1929-'43.

Students Split Regarding Merit Of 3-Year Course

by POLLY GRUBB

The ETOWNIAN recently conducted a campus opinion poll on the question, "If the students had the opportunity to complete college in three years (winter sessions, only), would they take it and why?"

Following are the replies of those students questioned:

Jean Apgar, '62: No. In the first place it's not possible for me to take more than 18 hours per semester. Secondly, I'd rather have as normal a college career as possible.

Barry Arndt, '63: Providing that I can keep my marks and still find time to work in developing myself physically, mentally and socially, I would rather complete college in three years. It would save both time and finances.

Joanne Bixler, '63: I wouldn't have enough time to spend on each study and still attend extracurricular activities.

Jerry Bufis, '62: I have a tendency to say that I would not prefer an accelerated three-year curriculum because college not only develops the academic portion of a student's make-up, but is also concerned with his social and cultural achievements. On the other hand, those students possessing exceptional ability should not be hampered by strict adherence to a four-year college program.

Linda Itzoe, '62: If you're able to handle it, it would be good. A bad point is that you would not be able to give as much time to your individual courses and would have less time for outside activities.

Priscilla Jay, '63: I wouldn't because college is supposed to be more than a place to cram thoughts in your mind. It should also be a time of adjustment to adult life.

Kay Jones, '61: I don't think I would go through in three years because I like school too much. I also like to play sports.

Nancy Karlheim, '63: I don't believe I would. In the first place, I'm commuting from Harrisburg and this takes approximately two hours per day. Secondly, I would like to enjoy outside activities and yet have the proper amount of time to devote to each subject.

Larry Krick, '62: I really don't think I would approve of it because of extra-curricular activities, both on campus and off. I think a person has to grow in other than intellect. As a day student, I feel that life within the community should not be excluded.

Ilse Langer, '62: I would, in order to have more time for graduate studies.

Joan Lank, '61: I feel that there are too many courses I couldn't get by taking only three years.

Bob Miller, '62: I wouldn't. I couldn't take more hours per semester.

Philip Shank, '63: If I could complete school in three years I would have an extra year in which to work and save money for the raising of a family.

Second Record Hop Set for November 6

The second of the monthly record hops being sponsored this year by the Student Senate will be held November 6 from 8 to 11 p. m. in the gymnasium.

Miss Vera Hackman, the Senate's faculty adviser, announced that nearly 250 attended the first hop earlier this month.

TO EXPRESS CREATIVITY

English Prof Makes Hobby Of Writing and Painting

With paint brush and pen Professor Henry Libhart expresses his creative talents. The newest member of Elizabethtown's English Department is known to many in the area as a writer and painter as well as a teacher.

PROF. HENRY LIBHART
Beyond the Classroom

While at Marietta High School, Mr. Libhart took up painting as a hobby which he continued at Franklin and Marshall College. During this time he also began writing as an adjunct to his major in English.

Following his graduation from Franklin and Marshall, he went to Penn State on an assistantship, teaching English Composition and taking graduate work in English.

After a year of teaching English at Solanco High School, Mr. Libhart joined the faculty at Elizabethtown High School, where he spent five years.

He started teaching at Elizabethtown College this summer with a course in English Composition. He now teaches three sections of composition, one of Survey of English Literature, and a course in English novel.

During this time Mr. Libhart continued his writing and painting. He has written many short stories, a three-act play, and three one-act plays, one of which, Portrait of Sibyl, was presented on campus last spring.

Recently he held a purchase exhibit of his paintings, mostly still life, at the Phillips Gallery in Philadelphia. It was the first time his works had been shown there, having before been exhibited through the Little Studio in New York City.

Mr. Libhart says he has had "no formal training, but plenty of practice" in art.

When asked about the transition from high school to college teaching, Mr. Libhart said that the difference was not in his "approach to teaching, but in the way the students receive what you teach."

Most college students, he feels, are in school because they want to be, and therefore have a more positive attitude toward learning than do many high school students.

SECOND TIME IN '59

Bruckhart Sets Record; Harriers Edge Albright

The one-two punch of Glenn Bruckhart and Ted Bond dealt a knockout blow to the cross country course record here last Saturday as the Blue Jay Harriers edged Albright, 26-33, before a Homecoming crowd of about 400.

Both Bruckhart and Bond broke the previous course record of 25:05 for the 4.5-mile run, which Bruckhart set earlier this year against Moravian. Bruckhart's winning time was 24:06, the new record. Bond finished in 24:58.

The Albright win gave Coach Ira Herr's harriers a 2-1 record on the year. In all three meets Bruckhart and Bond finished 1-2 for E-town.

Helmuth Baer finished fourth in the Albright meet with Don Hosler and Joe Moore coming home in seventh and eighth respectively to give the Jays the points needed to win.

LOSE AT DICKINSON

Traveling to Dickinson last week, the Herrmen were unable to muster enough depth to back up Bruckhart and Bond and lost a tight 27-29 verdict to the Red Devils.

Wilbur Gible was seventh and Don Hosler eighth as the Jays placed only four men in the first ten.

The Jays next see action Thursday against Muhlenberg and Temple in a triangular meet.

Their next home meet will be against Juniata November 6.

Intramurals

A tight race shapes up as the Intramural Football League rushes into the remaining week of action with three teams, North and South Halls and Fraternity, still undefeated.

North Hall gained victories over Off-Campus, 33-0, and West Hall, 22-0, with "Shorty" Archer, Gene Gordon and Barry Stevenson scoring in the first game, and Marty Hefferan garnering all three TD's against West.

Fraternity rolled up wins over West Hall, 20-6, and Off-Campus, 15-0, with Bob Teufel, Carroll Hershey, "Pepper" Frank and Gary Kise scoring for the victors.

John Sabbi scored the lone tally for West.

South Hall and Fraternity battled to a 14-14 deadlock with Ed Harnly and Ted Wohnseidler scoring for South and Don Rutt adding both Fraternity tallies.

Harrisburg forfeited games to both South and Fraternity, and then fought to a 6-6 tie with Off-Campus.

Dan McKiernan plunged across for Off-Campus while Bob Rosenberger scored for Harrisburg.

50 Candidates Open Basketball Practice

Approximately 50 candidates have reported to Coach Don Smith as the first practice sessions for the coming basketball season opened last week.

Smith is very pleased with the turnout. He calls it "the best in the six years I've been here."

The squad includes six returnees with varsity experience: Bob Geiger, Glenn Bruckhart, Ed Harnly, Martin Hefferan, Gene Gordon and Barry Boyer.

Commenting on his first impressions of the squad, Smith said:

"We've got some height, including a couple of 6'5" boys. The spirit seems good. Right now we're working on fundamentals and trying to give everyone a chance. But, with the large number of candidates in our relatively small gym, practice for all can be a problem."

Intercollegiate athletics began here in 1928 with the organization of a College basketball team. In the first game Elizabethtown defeated Millersville STC, 27-22.

Blue Jays Lace Lycoming, 6-0, As Unbeaten Streak Reaches 9; Next Two Foes Big Challenges

"Well, I guess that's the last time he'll chase a loose soccer ball down here. Pick up your bounty in Miss Risser's Office."

OFFENSE SPUTTERS

Jaygals Face Millersville Wed.; Tie LVC, Lock Haven

Forced to settle for ties in their last two games, the Blue Jay field hockey forces will be gunning for a clear-cut victory over Millersville STC here Wednesday in the final home game of the season.

Game time Wednesday is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

Coach Julia Risser's forces had to battle back in the late stages of last Saturday's Homecoming Day game against Lebanon Valley to earn a 2-2 deadlock.

In last Tuesday's action with Lock Haven STC, the Jaygals took a 2-0 half-time lead and then came off the field with another 2-2 draw.

The hockeyites' seasonal log now stands at two victories, one defeat, and two ties. The last two games were characterized by fine defensive play. However, the Jays were unable to mount a consistent, balanced attack. Linda Eshelman, a freshman, scored three of the team's four goals in the LVC and Lock Haven games.

Goals by Kay Jones and Miss Eshelman put the Risserites in front in the Lock Haven tussle. However, the picture reversed itself in the second half as the Teachers rammed home the two markers needed to earn the tie.

In the Homecoming rematch with Lebanon Valley, the two Eshelman goals were all the Jaygals could muster. The second marker erased a 2-1 LVC lead in the second half.

On the jayvee scene, E-town dropped a 3-1 decision to Lebanon Valley in the second game Homecoming Day. Janet Espenshade's second half goal averted a shut-out for Coach Jean Anne Rogers' squad.

Coach Risser took her squad to Juniata College this morning to participate in a "hockey play-day." Teams from a number of area colleges are expected to take part in the program. The Jaygals are scheduled for two informal scrimmages against area teams during the day.

Apparently under a full head of steam after tight battles with La Salle and Gettysburg, the Blue Jay soccer team ripped Lycoming here Wednesday, 6-0, to boost their season's record to three wins and a tie.

As a result, Coach Ira Herr's crew ran their streak of unbeaten games to nine. But two serious challenges loom large as the Jays take on East Stroudsburg STC today and Drexel Tuesday, both on foreign fields.

Despite the absence of injured Co-captain Warner Cheeks, the Jays romped to a 3-0 lead in the first quarter against Lycoming and were never in serious trouble.

Co-captain Bill Hoar and Carroll Hershey each booted two goals, while Herb Spannuth and Ron Shubert scored one each.

NIP GETTYSBURG

Before a Homecoming Day crowd of 800 last Saturday, the Blue Jays picked up three quick first-half goals and then fought off a determined Gettysburg attack to earn a 3-2 victory.

Fred Zimmerman led the Jays home with two goals. Carroll Hershey picked up the third marker.

Both goalies — E-town's Ray Diehner and Gettysburg's Steve Cox — turned in commendable jobs. Cox turned back 22 scoring thrusts by the Jays. The game was marked by a great deal of rough contact by both teams.

TIE LA SALLE

Playing for the first time without the injured Warner Cheeks, the Jays ran into unexpected opposition in Philadelphia last week and had to settle for a 2-2 double-overtime tie with La Salle.

Fred Zimmerman's first-period goal gave the Herrmen a brief lead, but this was wiped out by Al Delpino's second-quarter score. Bill Hoar's clutch kick gave the Jays another lead in overtime, but again Delpino knotted the count.

BLAST BUCKNELL

The Blue Jays swarmed over a visiting Bucknell squad two weeks ago to rack up a convincing 8-2 triumph in the season's opener.

Three first-quarter goals gave the Jays all the punch they needed to salt the game away.

Bill Hoar and Manny Tejeda led the scoring parade with three goals each. Carroll Hershey booted home the other two.

The Jays are at East Stroudsburg today and at Drexel next Tuesday.

Ruth Risser Heads Cheerleading Squad

Thirteen, usually an unlucky number, is a lucky number for the girls who were chosen cheerleaders for the 1959-60 season.

On the varsity squad are Ruth Risser, captain, Carol Beard, Carol Kreider, Linda Wagner and Judy Nesbit.

Cheering for the junior varsity are Priscilla Jay, captain, Kay Butler, Janet Bauser, Kay Burkholder and Georgiana Eggesites. Substitute girls are Jackie Davis, Judy McKenzie and Renee Saunders. Miss Julia Risser is sponsor.

The girls were chosen for poise, pep, confidence, voice, and coordination by Judges Ruth Risser, Bill Elston, Marty Hefferan and Bruce Tinglof.

44 Senior Education Majors Set for Practice Teaching Experience in Area Schools

by BETTY DORR

Forty-four students will begin their eight-week term of practice teaching on Nov. 16, according to Prof. E. B. Hoover, director of teacher training.

Prof. Hoover and Mrs. Edith H. Fellenbaum, elementary education supervisor, recently completed the placement of these

Helen L. Ward Joins Staff of Library

Miss Helen L. Ward has joined the College staff as a library assistant to Mrs. Emily C. Rahter, librarian, according to Pres. A. C. Baugher.

A graduate of Syracuse University, Columbia University and the Pratt Institute Library School, Miss Ward comes to Elizabethtown from Girard College, Philadelphia, where she was librarian since 1957.

Prior to that she served as librarian at McCaskey High School, Lancaster, from 1956-'57, and at the Newark, N. J., Public Library from 1952-'54.

She is a member of the Special Libraries Association and the American Association of University Women.

In addition to her library training, Miss Ward studied art at both Syracuse and Columbia, and was an art teacher in the public schools of Newark, N. J., from 1942-'49.

She is a graduate of Lebanon High School in 1929.

student teachers in 11 cooperating schools. Exactly half of the teachers are elementary education majors.

"The greatest adjustment which a student must make in his entire education career comes when he leaves the college campus and starts to participate in the teaching process as a student teacher," said Prof. Hoover.

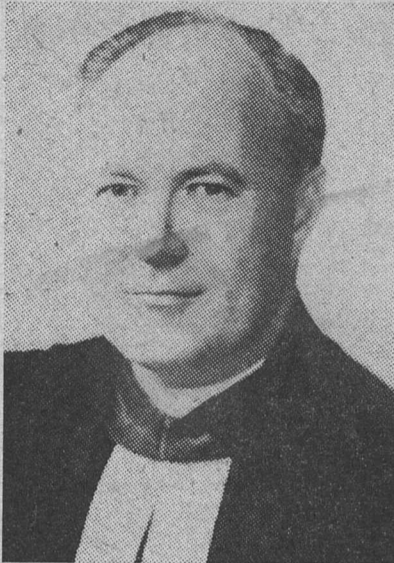

"The relationship established between the cooperating teacher and the student teacher must be one of absolute understanding; frankness and open-mindedness are the chief assets," he added.

Each week the supervisors will visit and evaluate student teachers while they are conducting a class. Personality traits, preparation, presentation, and teaching effectiveness will be considered in the evaluation.

"Economical use of class time is one of the most difficult judgments for the practice teacher," stated Mrs. Fellenbaum. She also stressed the importance of pointing out relationships and creative planning and organizing of material.

College Founders' Day Set, Dr. Edward Elson to Speak

DR. EDWARD L. R. ELSTON
Positive Protestantism

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, President Eisenhower's pastor at the National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C., will be the featured speaker for Founders' Day exercises here Friday, November 13.

The services are scheduled for 7:45 p. m. in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren. Preceding this a church-College dinner will be held in the fellowship hall of the church.

Senate Considers Plan to Revise Demerit System

In a move to obtain approval for their revised plan for a stronger and more effective Committee on Men's Affairs, members of that group recently attended a meeting of the Student Senate.

The primary purpose of the revision of the committee's constitutional powers is to change the demerit system, so that it, rather than fines, would be used when a student is disciplined.

The demerits would be carried over from one semester to another, and would be lowered 50 percent every 20 weeks, according to the revised plan.

Other changes sought in the constitution are as follows:

The chairman or an appointed member of the Committee on Men's Affairs shall attend the administration conferences when a disciplinary action is taken against a student.

The Committees on Men's and Women's Affairs shall hold joint meetings when action must be taken against students of both sexes.

In other Student Senate moves, President Bill Hoar said plans are progressing for a used book exchange program on campus. Also, the Senate has outlined a plan to bring professional and business men to the campus to interview students and answer questions concerning their vocational fields.

Yearbook Progress Reported by Editor

Dorothy Hyde, editor of the 1960 CONESTOGAN, reports that the theme for this year's book has been chosen by the staff. Efforts are now under way to carry the theme throughout the book.

Student pictures have been taken and faculty shots, which will be informal this year, are well under way, according to the editor.

The actual mechanics of the book have been discussed with the yearbook publisher, and a format has been set up for working out the details of "putting the book together."

Pictures of students and activities will be taken throughout the year on campus and at College events, with Kerry Rice and Albert Yamada doing most of the photographic work involved.

Plan Banking Lecture

Glenn Forney, a member of the Class of '54, will speak to the class in money and banking, Nov. 20, according to Dr. A. L. Gray, head of the Business Department. Forney, cashier of the First National Bank and Trust Company, Mt. Joy, will speak on bank loans and investments.

Pres. A. C. Baugher and D. Paul Greene, director of admissions at the College, will be speakers at the dinner, which will have as its theme the student recruiting program.

The exercises will mark the 59th anniversary of the first formal class sessions of the College, November 13, 1900. The College was chartered in September, 1899.

The evening service will feature, in addition to Dr. Elson's address, a brief resume of highlights in the history of the College presented by Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Baugher will preside at this service.

Dr. Elson, who has served as pastor in his Washington charge since 1946, is an author and a vigorous supporter of united Protestant action in modern society. He was named "Clergy Churchman of the Year" in 1954.

In addition to President Eisenhower, a number of cabinet officers and other figures in national government are or have been members of his congregation.

Among his published works are One Moment With God and America's Spiritual Recovery. He won a Freedoms Foundation Award for sermons in 1951 and 1957.

During World War II he served as a chaplain with the rank of Colonel in the European Theatre. Among other decorations he holds the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, French Croix de Guerre avec Palme, Lebanese Order of Merit and the Jordan Silver Star.

His sermon topic for the Founders' Day service will be "The Church-Related College and the College-Related Church."

Music for the service will be provided by the College choir, directed by Prof. Nevin W. Fisher.

Other program participants will include Dr. J. Herbert Miller, Hershey; Chester H. Royer, York; Dr. Galen C. Kilhefner, Elizabethtown, and Dr. Roy McAuley, dean of the College.

Mathematics Majors To Be Given Tests

All mathematics majors are now required to take the Graduate Record Examinations in their senior year, according to Prof. Bruce M. Tyndall, chairman of the College Mathematics Department.

Prof. Tyndall related that the results of these standardized tests will assist both the students and the College. Good scores in the tests will make it easier for a student to be accepted into graduate school.

The tests will provide measures for comparing students here with those in other colleges, as well as one year's class against another. They also will show any deficiencies in the mathematics course here.

Published by the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, N. J., the tests will be administered on campus by the Mathematics Department.

HIGH CLASS WORMS . . . Roberta Graham, a freshman, proudly displays a handful of her hybrid earthworms to Barry Stevenson, a senior who is obviously intrigued by the thought of a caste system among the worm family.

HERE'S A WORMY STORY

Squirmin' Worms Help Coed Earn Way Through College

by JOYCE MILLER

Here is an interesting fact to store in the files of the mind just in case they ever resurrect big money TV shows: the horsepower of an earthworm is .00000000019498.

This figure is the result of the efforts of a little girl from Littlestown who had a big idea for big money. She is Roberta Graham, a freshman whose unique hobby and business is raising earthworms.

Roberta started the whole thing three years ago when she was looking for a biology project and was enticed by a magazine ad that stated: Make $1,000 a month by raising worms. Although she admits she doesn't do quite that well, it still is profitable and she went into it hook, line, and earthworm.

She sent off for the worms and soon the "Majestic Worm Farm" was doing a squirming business. These majestic worms are a hybrid, domesticated species, a cross between a red worm and an orchard worm.

Roberta states they are quite pretty and are far better for bait than other varieties for they wiggle and stay on the hook longer.

If you're looking for a cheap pet that requires very little care, this is just for you. All you need

Parking Committee Lists Car Violations

Difficulties in collecting fines on student parking violations was voiced at a recent meeting of the Administrative Parking Committee.

The failure to settle the fines voluntarily will mean they will be considered legitimate charges against the student incurring them, and must be settled in full before final exams can be taken.

The Committee pointed out that the parking violations are as follows: failure to display College decal properly, parking in space reserved for faculty and staff, and parking at places other than within white lines.

In spite of the difficulty in collecting some of the fines, the Committee—consisting of Prof. Hubert Custer, Ed Crill, dean of students, and Prof. Earl Kurtz, and Student Members Fred Zimmerman and Jerry Estock—said the students are to be commended on their cooperation.

An invitation to talk over any concerns which students might like to express was extended by them.

Development Office Gets Giving Fund Under Way

The second Annual Giving Fund Campaign, which is part of the development program of the College, is now in process, J. Albert Seldomridge has announced.

The campaign is divided into six areas: Elizabethtown, Lancaster, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, York and Lebanon. A mail campaign will be carried out later this year for other alumni, and a parents' committee will be formed.

Funds received from the fund will be used for laboratory equipment, library needs and faculty salaries.

AS WE SEE IT

Continued Next Week

We are the leaders of tomorrow; we must awaken to our responsibilities in carrying out a better democracy and a better world. We are the generation with a cause; the effect will be peace or destruction.

Does this sound familiar? If it doesn't, then you have been asleep during the chapel services this semester. For it is just what we have been told almost every week, with little variation as to theme and only slight difference in presentation.

It's not that we don't want to hear a good sermon on our responsibilities; we need it once in a while. But when we have only one opportunity per week to hear a speaker, why can't there be some variation in topic?

Surely there are distinguished persons who would welcome the chance to orate on the world situation, or some intellectual aspect, or even just a sermon relating to anything but our generation's responsibilities. We'd welcome them!

Why the Need?

Elizabethtown College this year has a unique and interesting figure on campus in the way of our auto policeman. He stands as the authority on parking and other policies concerning faculty and student cars.

Thus far this semester he has given out violation tickets for parking other than between white or yellow lines, for not having the regulation stickers displayed on the windshield, and for other minor violations.

He has done a good job, as far as we know. And the need for a recognized authority has been shown, by the disbanding of the Student Parking Committee last year because of lack of control, and by the drivers' lack of obedience to the regulations.

Still, it doesn't quite make sense that the students and staff should have to answer to the summons of a blue-clad officer without being capable of voluntarily abiding by the rules set up.

College students and personnel are supposed to have the intelligence and common sense that others may follow their example. We shouldn't need a campus cop!

A Murder Every Hour

Crime in the United States increased 9.3 percent in 1958 as compared with 1957.

According to the Associated Press, there was a murder every 64.2 minutes, a forcible rape every 36.1 minutes, a robbery every 7 minutes, a car stolen every 1.9 minutes, and a burglary every 46.4 seconds.

Sociologists have presented a number of reasons for the increased crime rate: the expanding population, the over-emphasis on sex in our society, the failure of churches, schools, parents, and law enforcement agencies to take corrective measures, etc.

Whatever the reasons, these figures should alarm us and stir us to action. As interested citizens, church members, current or future parents, we can first keep our own lives in order and then help those around us.

If a crime wave can spread, there is no reason why an anti-crime wave cannot flow in the opposite direction.

LET THE 'EXPERTS' DO IT

American Protestants Allow Minorities To Speak for Church, Ike's Pastor Says

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, President Eisenhower's pastor and the speaker for Founders' Day services here Friday, is convinced that American Protestantism has not yet learned how to speak to the nation.

Writing in a recent edition of Christianity Today, Dr. Elson said:

"Protestantism gives the general impression that it is anti-Washington, anti-government, sometimes even anti-patriotic. Rarely does it voice affirmation or approbation."

This impression, he added, "vitiates the true meaning of Protestant, which is 'to speak for,' 'testify to,' or 'in behalf of.'"

Dr. Elson, whose pastorate in the Nation's capitol has covered seven Congresses and four presidential terms, pointed out that when Christian men come to Washington, they are "spurred to deeper dependence upon God and tend to an accelerated growth in spiritual understanding."

He continued: "What they miss, and what Protestantism has not learned to convey, is the shepherding word of love and concern."

"What I lament is that the Church is too often regarded as simply another secular pressure group, and is so evaluated because she does not speak the higher word of the eternal Gospel and the word of pastoral care."

Dr. Elson indicated that much of the trouble that besets the modern Church is rooted in what he called a new "fundamentalism," under which the average Church member is content to let "experts" express the Church's stand on social, economic, and political concerns.

"It is not difficult . . . to see how the views of a committee or small group of 'experts' to whom a project has been delegated can become the expressed views of major groups or whole denominations."

As a case in point, Dr. Elson referred to the declaration of the National Council of Churches which called for UN membership and US recognition for Communist China.

He said the declaration represented "the thoughtful considerations of some 600 persons" and did not agree with the views of the vast majority of Protestant people.

It was, in Dr. Elson's words, a "colossal tactical blunder."

Christians have a "patriotic stewardship" to know what is said, by whom, for whom, and to whom in the name of the Church, he added.

He concluded:

" . . . it seems to me that when anybody or any group speaks in the name of the Church, the message must issue from an unmistakable spiritual base and that base must be erected and maintained by constant pastoral attention long before the Church speaks on the controversial theme."

Campus Prayer

Our Father, remove from us the sophistication of our age and the skepticism that has come, like frost, to blight our faith and to make us weak. Bring us back to a faith that makes great and strong, a faith that enables us to love and to live, the faith by which alone we can walk with Thee. We pray for a return of that simple faith, that old-fashioned trust in God, that made strong and great our ancestors who built this good land and who in building left us our great heritage. This we ask in Jesus' name. AMEN.

ARNOLD

- OFF THE - BEATEN TRACK

The biggest news scoop ever to hit E-town College has been reported.

The story in question got national coverage on the network newscast of Paul Harvey, made the New York Times, and the wire services.

It received more coverage than the "name" speakers who came here for convocation, honorary degrees, and other outstanding events.

Apparently it all happened when an unknown little pooch chased Coach Herr's harriers around the cross country track. Most of you remember the story of the affair that was carried in the ETOWNIAN sometime back.

Well, that dog has gone further, news-wise, than any person or thing connected with the College in quite some time.

We will all admit that the parking problem on campus has not been fully solved, but is there any reason for John Dudwitt to park his car on campus beside the science building during the recent trick or treat night?

Not only are there pre-fab houses, convertible auto tops, and stereo record players, but there are also portable "half moons," more commonly known as outhouses. One recently turned up in front of the New Women's Residence.

Keep your ears peeled for interesting incidents beginning this week. The group of student teachers is beginning to take their positions. Good luck!

Alumnus Speaks Here

Charles C. Walker, '41, secretary of the National Fellowship of Reconciliation, discussed the instability of evil in a chapel address here Wednesday. He was the first in this year's series of speakers to be invited here under the expanded program of campus religious emphasis.

Naval Officer to Visit

A Naval officer will visit the campus on Thursday, Nov. 12, to provide interested students with information concerning the many varied officer programs available in the Navy.

is a place to put them, such as any dirt filled pit, and feed them anything organic from garbage to dead cats and manure.

From there on they take care of themselves. Roberta's business thrived so well that she now has an ad in a national sports magazine and receives orders for thousands of worms from bait dealers. She, her mother, and her sister, sort of a family corporation, count out the worms for the orders.

For three years Roberta's worms presented a never-failing source for biology projects.

The first year she presented how they were raised and their life history. Then the following year her project was soil analysis.

She contrasted earthworm soil to regular soil and also did some work with organic farming. Tomato plants grown in the excretions of worms can reach a height of 10 feet and produce huge, juicy tomatoes.

Her most interesting project was measuring the horsepower of a worm. She attached a string with a 0.25 gram weight strung over a pulley to the worm. Then she shined a flashlight on it to encourage it to move a measured distance while she timed how long it took.

Ten worms were used in the experiment. After arriving at the horsepower, she figured that it would take a worm 484 years to pull the weight one mile!

That just goes to show there is more to a worm than what meets the hook!

They are: Jolene Bair and Sandra Johnson, commercial; Maurice Blose, biology; Harvey Bortner, chemistry; Susan Durhan, Shirley Lantzy and Barbara Ulmer, English; Richard Lantzy and Larry Rentschler, math; Gary Miller and Bruce Tinglof, social studies; Melanie Swingler, French and English.

Other secondary education majors will teach as follows: Elizabethtown—Asher Halbleib, science; Louise Horning, math; Sidney Pegram, biology; and Sylvia Santee, commercial.

Middletown—Dottie Hyde, social studies; James Raber, social studies; Gary Zimmerman, biology; Carroll Kreider, commercial; and William Elston, English. Londonderry—Richard Palstick, English.

Special Education Topic for TV Show

The College of the Air series, sponsored as a public service by WGAL-TV, will continue its discussions on careers and vocations on Tuesday, Nov. 10, with a talk on "Careers in Special Education," given by Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger and Dr. Roy McAuley.

Miss Wenger is president of our Women's Auxiliary at Elizabethtown and is a member of College Board of Trustees. Dr. McAuley is Dean of Education here.

The following Tuesday, "Careers in the Ministry and Social Work" will be discussed by Dr. Robert Byerly and Dr. Donald Vosburgh.

Dr. Byerly is the chairman of the Bible Department here, and is also director of Religious Activities. Dr. Vosburgh is chairman of our Sociology Department.

Faculty Club Families Attend Social Events

An informal social gathering at Camp Chester was held last Saturday evening, October 31, by the College Faculty Club.

Among activities of the evening were a supper, group singing and selections by a barber shop harmony quartet called the "Roosters." The quartet was composed of Prof. Clarence Enterline, Wilbur Weaver, Irvin Bossler and J. Albert Seldomridge.

A tall story contest showed the ability of some to tell a whopping untruth. Participants in this event included Prof. Bossler, Dean Roy McAuley and Dr. O. F. Stambaugh. Prof. Bossler won the contest.

Problems concerning the College life were discussed in small groups during the evening.

Prof. Hubert Custer, president of the club, said approximately 60 persons, including children, attended the event.

Elizabethtown College was founded in 1899. It is one of six colleges affiliated with the Church of the Brethren.

Campus Drama Club Hears Local Scholar

Mr. Willard G. Stauffer, local authority on Shakespeare, spoke at the first Sock and Buskin meeting this year on Sunday, November 1, in Alpha Hall Lounge.

Mr. Stauffer related some of his experiences as a Shakespeare scholar at Stratford, Conn., and in England and shared with the club records of performances of several of Shakespeare's plays.

A report was given by the six students who attended a performance of John Van Druyten's Voice of the Turtle at Allenberry Playhouse, Saturday, October 31.

The group discussed a proposed newsletter to be sent to Sock and Buskin and Dramatics Workshop members and to several nearby college dramatic organizations. Some plans also were made for a trip to New York February 27 and 28.

On Tuesday, November 17, a meeting of Sock and Buskin and Dramatics Workshop will be held to choose the play to be given in February. Students now are reading plays to review at this meeting.

The next scheduled Sock and Buskin meeting is an initiation, July 4, in Rider Chapel.

Microfilm Reader Bought for Library Facilities

A Recordak microfilm reader was purchased recently for the College library, thus adding to the modern facilities.

With the use of this instrument, books, magazines and newspapers can be read by viewing 35 mm microfilm.

The New York Times newspapers since 1938 are on film at present. To aid in research work, the Times annual indexes, listing material by subject, date and page of paper, are available.

The purchase of the reader has provided more space in the library, since bulky stacks of back issues could be discarded and replaced by several small boxes.

Tryouts for Play Set

The annual Christmas play to be presented by the Sock and Buskin Club December 17 has been chosen, with tryouts planned for November 11 after chapel and from 2 to 4 p. m.

"Christmas: A Mystery," by Henry W. Longfellow, will be given.

4 WINS, 3 TIES, 1 LOSS

Hockey Team Earns Winning Year By Beating Shippensburg, MSTC

Victories over Shippensburg STC and Millersville STC and a tie with Gettysburg gave the Blue Jay field-hockey team another winning year as the regular season ended Tuesday.

Coach Julia Risser's Jaygals start competition in the Central Pennsylvania Hockey Tournament at Wilson College today.

Harriers Headed To Winning Year

Apparently headed for another winning season, the Blue Jay cross country squad scored two impressive victories recently as Glenn Bruckhart and Ted Bond led the way.

The harriers were meeting Juniata in the sixth race of the season as the ETOWNIAN went to press. Going into the Juniata race the Jays had won four and lost one.

Coach Ira Herr's runners completely dominated a triangular meet against Muhlenberg and Temple at Muhlenberg as they took five of the first seven places. The final score was Elizabethtown 22, Muhlenberg 52, Temple 54.

Bruckhart ran second to Muhlenberg's Dick Ochs with Bond third and Wilbur Gible a strong fourth. It was the first time in five meets this year that Bruckhart failed to lead the pack home.

Helmuth Baer ran sixth and Don Hosler seventh for the Blue Jays. Other Jay runners in the top 20 were Joe Moore (12), Ken Barrett (16), and Lloyd Nyce (18).

Swamp F & M

Bruckhart won his fourth consecutive race two weeks ago as the Blue Jays drubbed Franklin and Marshall, 19-42, here. The Jays took six of the first seven places. Bruckhart's time was 24:57.

Bond dropped behind in the home stretch to finish third. He was followed in order by Gible, Hosler, Baer and Moore. Barrett ran 10th.

The final seasonal log was four wins, three ties, and one defeat.

This is the fifth consecutive winning year for Miss Risser. Her overall record now stands at 27 wins, 6 losses, and 5 ties.

Linda Eshelman, freshman forward, led the Jaygals in scoring with 11 goals. Juniors Kay Jones and Lucy Clemens, both forwards, each tallied six. Sophomore Halfback JoAnn Robinson scored twice during the year.

As a team, the Risserites racked up 25 goals and allowed 10. Three of their victories were shutouts.

Stop Shippensburg

Lucy Clemens banged home three goals as the Jaygals swamped Shippensburg STC, 6-0, Tuesday at Shippensburg. Linda Eshelman had two markers and Kay Jones one as the Jays won going away in the season's last regular game.

The E-town Jayvees also ended on a winning note by white-washing the Teacher understudies, 2-0.

Tie Gettysburg

Unable to hold a 3-1 half-time lead, the Jays had to settle for their third tie of the season at Gettysburg last Saturday. The final score was 3-3.

Two goals by Lucy Clemens and one by Kay Jones gave Miss Risser's crew an early lead, but the Jays were unable to hang on to it.

Edge Millersville

Linda Eshelman's first-half goal proved to be decisive as the Jays nipped Millersville STC, 1-0, here two weeks ago. Goalie Ruth Tice threw up a defense that the Teachers could not crack.

The MSTC jayvees, however, jolted the Blue Jay understudies, 5-1.

National Honors Hang in Balance For Soccer Team

What shapes up as one of the biggest soccer games in the past several years, if not in the history of the sport here, is set for Tuesday, when the unbeaten Blue Jays collide with unbeaten West Chester STC at West Chester.

Both teams are ranked among the 24 "serious contenders" for the national soccer championship, according to the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Other contenders from the Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Delaware Region of the NCAA include Temple, Rider, Stevens and the University of Pennsylvania.

The Blue Jays enter the West Chester fray with an unbeaten streak that has reached 12 straight games. Coach Ira Herr's squad has racked up six victories and a tie so far this year.

Carroll Hershey leads the scoring parade for the Jays with ten goals. Close behind are Bill Hoar with nine, Fred Zimmerman with eight, and Manny Tejeda with six.

Team-wise, the Blue Jays have booted 39 goals while allowing only eight in their seven games to date.

Lambast Lock Haven

Zimmerman and Hoar scored two goals each in leading the Jays to an easy 8-2 win at Lock Haven STC Tuesday. The Herrmen broke the game wide open by piling up five goals in the second half.

Jerry Reber, Bob Lash, Tejeda and Hershey also scored to give the Jays their sixth win of the campaign.

Whitewash Wilkes

Goalie Ray Diener rang up his third consecutive shut-out last Saturday as the Blue Jays smothered a determined Wilkes team, 7-0, here.

Held to a 1-0 margin through the first half by George Gache, Wilkes' gritty goalie, the Jays ran wild to tally three times in both the third and fourth quarters.

Hershey booted two goals while Zimmerman, Hoar, Tejeda, Ron Shubert and Gerry Botdorf each scored once.

Drub Drexel

The Jays gained sweet revenge by dumping Drexel, 5-0, at Philadelphia two weeks ago. Drexel was the last team to defeat the Jays as they won a 4-2 verdict here October 18, 1958.

With Zimmerman and Hershey scoring twice to lead the way, the Blue Jays moved to a 3-0 lead in the first period. Tejeda scored the other goal as the Jays won going away.

The game with East Stroudsburg STC, scheduled for October 24, was postponed because of bad weather and may be re-scheduled for mid-November after the Lincoln game.

are Fairview II, headed by Linda Simpkins and Alpha-Memorial, captained by Ruth Geiselman. New Dorm II, Barbara Schlickemaier captain, is last with three straight losses.

Alpha-Memorial, captained by Kathy Weller, is leading the pack in the Women's Soccer League with a 4-1 mark. Fairview, with Janet Dahms at the tiller, is next with 3-2. Trailing is New Dorm, Lucky Hendricks captain, at 0-4.

Women's tennis was dropped for lack of interest.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

Tuesday is make or break day for the Blue Jay soccer team.

At least that's the way a number of local fans view the battle with West Chester STC.

Actually, while the West Chester game is "the big one" for the Jays this year so far, the fine record compiled by Coach Ira Herr's crew has already assured them of a berth in a post-season tournament, if they want it. That's the NAIA tourney at Slippery Rock. There's a national title at stake there, too.

The importance of the West Chester encounter is three-pronged.

First, a win means a better chance for a bid to the NCAA soccer tourney in Connecticut. This, frankly, has more prestige attached to it than the NAIA play-offs, which take place at the same time.

Second, a win means a much better chance for winning the northern division title in the Middle Atlantic Conference. If we should win in the north, the title game with the southern division champ would be played right here.

Third, West Chester has rubbed our noses in the dirt for two years and, with Drexel, has deprived us of unbeaten seasons in both '57 and '58. We ran over Drexel earlier this year. West Chester represents some unfinished business.

From reports filtering across our desk we gather that the Blue Jays will have plenty of support at West Chester. At least three faculty members plan to make the trip, and, rumor has it, a goodly number of students will show up at game time (2 p.m.).

With all the hue and cry over our soccer fortunes the success of the Jaygals' field hockey squad has sometimes been neglected. A story elsewhere on this page gives a wrap-up of the season. We'll content ourselves here to say simply and sincerely "well done" to Coach Risser and her aggregation.

Jays Offered Bid To NAIA Tourney; 2 Others Pending

The Blue Jay soccer team has received a firm invitation to take part in one post-season tournament and is in serious contention for two other titles.

Coach Ira Herr's crew has been invited to represent Area Two of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) in a tournament November 27-28 at Slippery Rock STC.

Acceptance of the NAIA bid is being considered by the Administration.

Meanwhile, the Jays are leading the pack in the northern division of the Middle Atlantic States Conference and are among the top contenders for a bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Conference (NCAA) Tournament in Connecticut later this month. As of October 28, E-town led the MAC northern division with a 4-0-1 record, which has since been boosted to 5-0-1. Stevens and Lehigh followed with records of 3-0-1 and 4-1-0, respectively.

Washington (5-0-1) and Temple (5-1-0) were running one-two in the southern division.

Intramurals

North Hall swamped arch rival South Hall, 55-0, last week to win the Intramural Football League championship for the second consecutive year.

Leading the North romp were Gene Kerns, with four touchdowns; Barry Stevenson, with two; and Loy Garber and Lorenzo "Shorty" Archer, each with one.

In other games, West Hall broke into the win column by nipping Off-Campus, 7-6. North dumped Fraternity, 14-0. Off-Campus forfeited a game to South.

Lists are now posted for men interested in signing up for the Intramural Basketball League, which gets under way in the near future, according to Co-chairmen Marty Hefferan and Glenn Bucher.

In Women's Intramurals, New Dorm I, captained by Jeanne Leber, is setting the pace with a 3-0 record in the Volleyball League. New Dorm III, Sandra Swanger captain, and Fairview I, captained by Mara Znotens, are deadlocked for second with 2-1 logs.

Tied for third with 1-2 records

Thanksgiving Break Starts Tues., 5 P.M.

With Thanksgiving Day, the first official College vacation period, to begin Tuesday at 5 p. m., the College campus is showing signs of holiday planning and enthusiasm in the way of special programs and a Thanksgiving dinner.

A special worship service was presented Wednesday evening by the ECCA, campus Christian association, when Dr. Carl W. Zeigler spoke.

Holiday vesper services in the dormitories Monday night will stress the importance of the season with the aid of special music and readings.

A Thanksgiving dinner complete with "all the trimmings," will be featured Monday evening, according to Miss Betty Holsinger, dietitian. The menu will include the traditional turkey, filling, corn and pumpkin pie. (Cranberry sauce is not being served because of the chemical scare).

DORMS CLOSE

Dormitories will close for the vacation at 5 p. m. Tuesday, November 24, when classes are dismissed. They will reopen Sunday, November 29, at 3 p. m., with classes to be resumed Monday at 7:40 a. m.

The last meal to be served in the College dining hall will be Tuesday lunch, with Monday breakfast scheduled as the commencement of meals on campus.

Reports for the first-quarter marking period of the year should be in the hands of both students and parents prior to the vacation, which undoubtedly will mean renewed vigor and interest toward academic studies following the holiday.

ETOWNIAN Survey Profitable to Staff

In surveying the results of an ETOWNIAN Readership Survey recently conducted on campus, it was learned that students here particularly enjoying reading the sports page, "Off the Beaten Track" and "frank" editorials, while they praise the newspaper for its complete coverage and up-to-date news.

The students also said they think the paper is well-balanced and contains honest appraisals of campus situations.

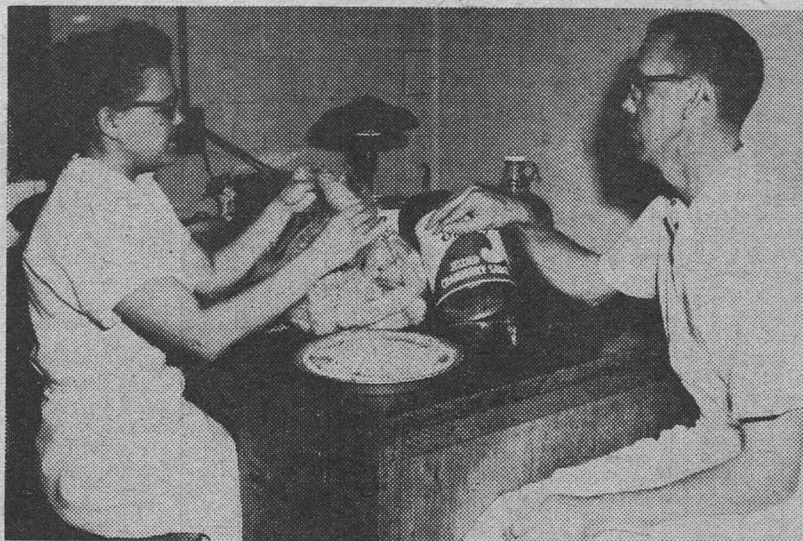

As for complaints, they stressed the desire for weekly editions if it would be possible, and asked for a campus humor column. That the alumni should receive the paper sooner than they now do was also expressed.

The survey revealed that students read most of the paper thoroughly.

A desire for more articles on students and professors was shown, as was more club news and better coverage of campus happenings. Several students asked for more constructive editorials.

Questions used for the survey were prepared by the ETOWNIAN staff and advisor, and distributed to all the students. Honest and thoughtful answers were asked of the participants, of whom about 100 responded.

The survey was conducted to find what the students like and dislike about the ETOWNIAN, thus helping the staff to realize where improvements can be made.

ABOUT THESE CRANBERRIES . . . Moyer Craighead (right), a member of the College kitchen staff, can't quite decide whether or not to include cranberries on the menu of the Thanksgiving meal in dining hall. Betty Holsinger, the dietitian, seems happy with the frozen corn-on-the-cob that will definitely be served. The decision on the berries was negative.

MEN OUTNUMBER COEDS

Enrollment Survey Presents Statistics On Student Body

In case you're wondering, there are more men than women on the campus, the average class numbers about 26 students, and the most popular career among E-town students is teaching.

Those are a few of the findings revealed in an analysis of the student body by Miss Emma R. Engle, College registrar. She presented her findings during a recent faculty meeting.

Specifically, she pointed out that men outnumber women, 373-304, according to current statistics.

Classes conducted by the History Department average 38 students in size, highest on the campus. The Biology Department comes next with an average class size of 36 students. Psychology ranks third with an average of 34.7.

The overall average for the College is 25.8 students per class, a slight drop from the 26.6 average for the first semester last year.

A tabulation of the vocational choices of students revealed that 228 plan teaching careers. Accounting is next with 69. Then comes business administration, 44; medical secretarial science, 36; engineering, 32; chemistry, 30, and the ministry, 26.

Moving to geographic distribution of the student body, Miss Engle reported that the largest number (182) come from Lancaster County. Dauphin County has 79, York County 67, and Lebanon County 42. A total of 68 students come from New Jersey, the largest state representation other than Pennsylvania's 537. Ten come from Maryland, eight from Delaware.

Thirty religious denominations are represented among the student body. Church of the Brethren students rank first in number with 124. Lutherans are a close second with 117. Following are Presbyterians, 74; Methodists, 70; Evangelical United Brethren, 61; United Church of Christ, 57, and Roman Catholics, 27.

Turning to the Freshman Class, Miss Engle pointed out that more than 57 percent of the frosh were in the top 40 percent of their high school classes.

Engineering Talk Set

"Careers in Engineering" will be the topic of discussion on the December 1 College of the Air TV program. It will be presented by Prof. Robert Byers and Prof. Hubert Custer, members of the physics department here.

Mr. James L. M. Yeingst is coordinator of the Elizabethtown College presentations, centering this semester around "Careers and How to Plan Them."

Hymn Commentary On Church Written By Professor Here

Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Music Department here, is co-author of a commentary on Church of the Brethren hymns that was published recently by The Brethren Press, Elgin, Ill.

Working with Prof. Fisher in the compilation of the book was Mrs. Ruth B. Statler, novelist, historian, biographer and poet from Johnstown.

The book includes commentaries on 50 Brethren hymns and biographical sketches of 39 Brethren composers.

It is designed to supplement The Brethren Hymnal, published in 1951, by interpreting hymns, giving information on the composers, and offering suggestions for making maximum use of the hymnal in all Christian churches.

Prof. Fisher, a graduate of the Peabody Conservatory of Music, taught at McPherson College, Kansas, and Bridgewater College, Virginia, prior to becoming head of the Music Department at Elizabethtown in 1951.

He has written several hymns and was co-editor of The Brethren Hymnal.

Two Students Selected To Attend 4-H Congress

Two students of Elizabethtown College have been selected to be among 29 Pennsylvania representatives to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Donald Hosler, a junior, and Fred Bernhard, freshman, were chosen to attend the week-long congress, to be held from Nov. 27 to Dec. 4, with all expenses paid, because of their fine achievement records in the 4-H. They were selected from 50,000 4-H Club members.

The program will involve travel, education and various other experiences. About 1600 of the top 4-H Club youths of the nation will be the guests of a score of large business corporations who sponsor this event.

They will be featured on national television and radio programs, and will have the opportunity to hear some of the top statesmen of the nation.

Ike's Pastor Says

Church Colleges Need More Help

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, President Eisenhower's pastor in Washington D. C., pointed out that the church-related college can do much to narrow the gap between lagging modern moral development and swift technical progress in a Founders' Day address here last week.

'J. B.' Cast Selected, Christmas Play Set

The cast for a reading of J. B., by Archibald MacLeish, has been announced by Mrs. Mildred Enterline, dramatics advisor.

Included in the cast are Sandy Lutz, Don Zellenger, Joan Lank, Barry Stevenson, Ed Schopf, Marsha Graham, Elizabeth Peacock, Joyce Hepplein and Robin Bonier.

The reading will be given for the Elizabeth Hughes Society, a local organization, November 20.

Christus: A Mystery, by Henry W. Longfellow, has been selected for the Christmas drama on campus, according to Mrs. Enterline. It will be presented December 17 in the local Church of the Brethren.

Staff members of the Christmas play include Don Zellner, assistant director; Albert Yamada, stage manager; Ed Schopf and Bill Elston, staging; Joan Lank, Claude Foreman, Susan Dunham, costumes; Richard Falstick, lighting, and Carol Bush, make-up.

Traffic Policeman Notes Improvement

"They're all the same, wherever you are!" With these words Patrolman Clyde E. Coble, College traffic officer, summed up his impressions of Elizabethtown College drivers.

Coble, in affirming his remark, said that drivers always take advantage of any situation, and that only some recognized authority will prevent them from parking in the most advantageous spot, regardless of restrictions.

"A student late for class will tend to forget that his car has no sticker on it, and will park and run," he said. For this reason, Coble feels that as soon as his employment on this campus ends, the situation will return to its original state.

He believes the traffic situation has improved greatly since his duties began this semester.

A member of the Elizabethtown police force for 25 years, Patrolman Coble now is on temporary traffic duty here, a job which he says he enjoys.

Ken Kreider to Conduct European Friendship Tour

A 1960 European Friendship Tour via KLM Royal Dutch Airlines is being planned by Ken Kreider, a junior here.

Kreider, who will conduct the tour, said it will involve a 46-day trip, from July 6 to August 20, and will include visits to eight countries.

Co-director of the 62-person Brethren Heritage Tour of 1958, Kreider has traveled in 22 foreign countries and has had experience in working with the peoples of those countries, both as a Brethren Service Volunteer and as an organization leader in the development of HELP refugee resettlement farms on the island of Sardinia.

Speaking before 250 students, faculty members and friends of the College in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, Dr. Elson said:

"We know a lot about economics, and yet worry over depressions. We know a lot about psychology, but more folks go to pieces now than at any other time in history. We know much about sociology, but have not achieved a world free of recurrent wars."

As a solution, Dr. Elson urged a greater emphasis on spiritual values, particularly in the education of young people.

"We need not worry too much about excessive religion or an over dose of spirituality or even fanaticism. The raw, untamed spirituality of early consecrations will be blunted soon enough to the rough and tumble of life," he explained.

Delving into the role of the church-related college, he pointed out that the atmosphere of the campus should be "unabashedly Christian."

He added that the church-related college "need not have the sustained mood of a summer church conference in order to have an emphatic Christian spirit."

Underscoring the importance of religious training in education he stated:

"If a student should graduate from one of our colleges without discovering that this is a moral universe—that there is such a thing as moral law (which is) as relentless as physical law—he has not arrived at wisdom."

Dr. Elson stressed the fact that the church-college relationship should be two-way with the church giving proper support to the college's program of Christian education.

"We need church-related colleges and college-related churches," he remarked.

Pres. A. C. Baugher presided during the service, which also featured a review of the recent history of the College by Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Music was provided by the College choir.

A dinner for College representatives in area churches was held in the church basement prior to the service to discuss various aspects of the student recruiting program.

Order Class Rings December 10

Class rings, according to Dean Ed Crill, may be ordered on Thursday, December 10. A representative from the company which sells us these rings will be in the College Store on that day, from 10:30 a. m. to 2:00 p. m., to take orders.

A $10 deposit will be required upon the ordering of a ring.

To Speak in Chapel

Dr. Carl W. Ziegler, of the Bible and sociology departments here, will be the chapel speaker Wednesday, December 2. His topic has not been announced.

AS WE SEE IT

Great While it Lasted

Such enthusiasm we'll probably never see again, but it was great while it lasted!

Naturally, we're referring to the support the students gave our soccer team before, during and after their big game at West Chester STC Tuesday a week ago. It was a quality and quantity of support which never before has been shown toward our soccer team, but which we hope may develop into the "natural thing."

As has been shown by the Letter to the Editor printed on this page, the team members really appreciated it. Those students who attended the game actually saw what enthusiasm on the part of the fans can do for morale,

Even though the Blue Jays didn't bring home a victory, that tie was rather important for our undefeated team, and we're sure those streamers, decorated cars, the pep band and verbal support contributed positively toward the result.

If this enthusiasm continues through this year and in future seasons, maybe our three winning athletic teams of this fall will do even better!

Just Another Day?

Tuesday at 5 p. m. begins the first vacation period of the 1959-'60 school year at Elizabethtown College. We have been granted this vacation to celebrate Thanksgiving Day, an annual observance which seems to have lost its true meaning over the years.

We wonder how many people actually take time out to consider their blessings on that day. Certainly, it's a day of rest and relaxation and feasting, but it also should be much more than that.

As our forefathers showed their appreciation for the new land of freedom and its riches, so we should show our gratitude for material and spiritual blessings many times more abundant than theirs.

When Wordsworth asserted that "The world is too much with us," he seemed to make a statement that is as true now as in his day. We have accepted our enrichments without a second thought, and without taking time out for a word of thanks to our God.

On the Sardonic Side

An announcement of an essay contest being sponsored by the Student's League of the University of Havana, Cuba, came across our desk the other day.

In the light of what the Castro regime has done in Cuba to strangle free speech and to attack the United States, the suggested titles of the essays are a bit sardonic.

They are "Freedom," "The Future of Democracy," and "The Future of Hemispheric Cooperation."

We Appreciate It

An expression of appreciation is due the administration for cancelling classes after 2 p. m. yesterday so that students could attend the all-important championship soccer game played on our field.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HE NOT ONLY GIVES A LOUSY LECTURE - BUT HE EXPECTS YA TO TAKE NOTES ON EVERYTHING HE SAYS!"

President's Pastor Depicts Eisenhower As Ideal Churchman

What kind of a church-goer is President Dwight Eisenhower?

His pastor, Dr. Edward Elson, of the National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C., gave some off-the-cuff insight into Eisenhower, the churchman, in an informal discussion here following his Founders' Day address last week.

He said: "The President is a faithful steward of the church. He knows the Bible well and periodically stops to clarify a passage of Scripture following a service."

"He is familiar with the soloists in our choir and is well acquainted with the numbers of his favorite hymns in our hymnal."

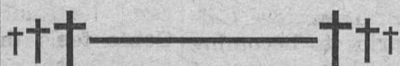

"He makes it a point to attend church regularly and takes an active interest in the affairs of the congregation."

Just A Thought

"A man said to the universe: 'Sir, I exist!'"

"However, replied the universe, 'The fact has not created in me A sense of obligation.'"

—Stephen Crane

Campus Prayer

Heavenly Father, Thou knowest the weakness and cowardliness of our hearts. Thou knowest how much we care for the opinion of men. Help us, we beseech Thee, to care more for what will please Thee. Make us strong and courageous that we may never be afraid to do our duty. Give us grace and courage to speak when and as we should. Let us never betray Thee, O Christ, our Lord and Saviour, either by word or act.—AMEN.

LETTERS to the Editor

(Ed. Note: The ETOWNIAN reserves the right to reject or condense. All letters must be signed, although names will be withheld upon request.)

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank all the students through your paper for the support they gave the soccer team on Tuesday at the West Chester game. Nothing inspires a player more than knowing that the students are behind him. I would like to thank individually the pep band and cheer leaders for a fine job. Everyone on the soccer team agreed that the student support was a great boost to the team morale.

Thank you,
A member of the squad.

Dear Editor:

Although "Quiet Please" signs do not appear in the library, we should certainly be mature enough to realize that this is the basic and most important rule in any library. I don't believe anyone who uses the library can say they are completely guiltless of talking at all, but in the last few weeks it seems to be getting out of hand.

If you are lucky you can get some peace and quiet at the desks in the stacks. However, I believe, these are for reference use and shouldn't be used for studying. Some libraries are equipped with partitioned cubicles to be used by students who feel they must study together, but unfortunately we do not have these. We do have the small conference room on the first floor and the larger class room in the basement, that can be used by students who feel they must study together.

I don't think we, as college students, should have to have a librarian or an assistant watching over us and reminding us to be quiet. We should be a little more polite and considerate of the other students trying to study and "keep it down to a dull roar."

Philadelphia-Camden Areas Consider Reorganization

Alumni in New Jersey have occasionally expressed the opinion that a sufficiently large number of E.C. graduates are in the state to justify the formation of a separate club. Approximately 70 students are currently enrolled in the College from New Jersey. According to alumni records, 110 alumni are scattered through the state.

The Philadelphia area (including Delaware) has 235 alumni. These figures suggested great possibilities for two active club areas.

John Speidel, president of the Philadelphia-Camden area, has circulated a questionnaire to determine the interest in the organization of separate clubs. Definite action toward reorganization will be taken after the questionnaires are returned.

Current officers are: John Speidel, president; Dr. Gerald Weaver, vice-president; Janet B. Speidel, secretary. Mr. and Mrs. Speidel reside at 264 Mather Road, Jenkintown, Pa.

ARNOLD

E-town Prof Adviser On Formosa

"I've eaten in all kinds of Chinese restaurants, slept in good and bad hotels, and seen some of the most gorgeous scenery in all the world."

With those words, Dr. James Berkebile described his early impressions of life on Formosa, where he is working with the government of Nationalist China to improve the science program in secondary schools.

Dr. Berkebile, a member of the College Chemistry Department, is on a two-year leave-of-absence to carry out his work on Formosa under the sponsorship of the U. S. International Cooperation Administration (ICA). He went there with his family last summer. His son, Ray, is a sophomore here.

Working with the Chinese Ministry of Education, Dr. Berkebile is currently helping to establish 14 experimental centers for science education in various parts of the island.

"We've flown, traveled by car, traveled by night train, and also by narrow gauge railroad on inspection tours," he said.

"I'm particularly impressed with the quality of the men and women who are heading the education program here. They are brilliant, top-grade personnel. If they had finances they would really go places," he added.

Dr. Berkebile mentioned that the maintenance of educational buildings and grounds is a prime problem for the Chinese.

"The amazing thing is that the literacy of Taiwan (Formosa) is the highest in the Far East. However, higher education has reached fewer people because of the lack of personnel and facilities."

He added that he is surprised at the large number of Chinese who speak English.

The Berkebiles are living in Taipei, the capital, in a house surrounded by a tall concrete wall topped by three feet of barbed wire. Most of the houses have such walls, Dr. Berkebile reported.

He describes Taipei as "a typical city of the Far East with all forms of traffic from pedestrians, bicycles and ox-carts on up to the largest buses and trucks."

"The most obvious things one will see is the large number of pedicabs and the high concentration of people on the vehicles."

Dr. Berkebile was struck by the great contrasts in the geography of Formosa.

"You can go from the deep purple sea shore of the Pacific to the high mountains in less than three miles," he said.

Meanwhile, he keeps in touch with the College through letters from faculty members and by reading the ETOWNIAN.

Campus Clubs in the News

LSA

LSA members will attend the Fall Gettysburg Area Conference December 5 and 6 at Millersville STC.

Regular meetings will be held twice monthly at 8:30 on Sunday evenings. Program planning committees are being appointed.

SOCK AND BUSKIN

On November 17, plays were reviewed in preparation for the February production. The meeting was held in Room 241.

ETA GAMMA KAPPA

The members attended a fall retreat on October 30 and 31 at Camp Swatara. For the last meeting, the club visited the Harrisburg Mental Hospital and heard a lecture by one of the directors.

VARSITY E

The club activities on Homecoming Day were successful, according to Fred Zimmerman, president. Refreshments sold well; also, 150 "mums" were sold. Programs for the athletic events were printed and distributed.

Orders are being taken for Varsity E jackets and blazers. The club is now soliciting ads for the basketball game programs.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

A film on Communist China was shown at the meeting held November 17. A brief discussion followed.

At the December 1 meeting, Loy Garber, '61, will talk on the methods of problems faced in putting an artificial satellite in orbit. He will demonstrate with his model satellite and space ship.

ECCA

Fred Zimmerman showed his slides of Europe at the November 11 meeting. At the next meeting on December 2, Yoorik Avakian will speak. Mr. Avakian is a special student here from Tehran, Iran.

PHI BETA CHI

Initiations are now going on. The prospective members have taken their entrance tests and will give their five-minute speeches at the next meeting.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, like the German Club, had to reschedule their program when two films did not arrive on time. Film

- OFF THE - BEATEN TRACK

It's a little early for the baseball season to start, but some people are getting their arms in shape by pitching chow in the dining hall. As long as we're on the subject, the pea-throwing champ is Manny Tejeda, while the king of the grape throwers is Mike Daniel.

The hunting season is in full swing now, and our hunters have been bringing back their share of pheasants, rabbits and squirrels. The hot plate in South Hall has been in constant use frying the game.

Speaking of hunting, Ron Nicarry almost brought home a real prize. Ron, Tom Kramer and Frog Wagaman were hunting, and Ron went ahead to try to flush out a bird. He came face to face with a calf and panicked. He raised his gun stammered, "Got to shoot it, Frog." He didn't though, but Frog hasn't taken him hunting since.

The story is making the rounds about the faculty member who went to the president's office only to find a pair of brogans sticking out from behind the desk.

Upon checking further, the faculty member found that the shoes belonged to a member of the janitorial staff, who was busily trying to pry open the president's desk with a file.

Apparently noticing the rather shocked expression of the faculty member, the janitor grinned and explained that college presidents are human. Dr. Baugher locked the desk and lost the key.

If anyone notices extra servings on the tray of George Lott, mark it up to the fact that he's dating one of the cooks. He is.

One of the great unsolved questions on the campus: Will there be cranberry sauce with the Thanksgiving meal?

Ice Follies Ticket Rates Reduced for Students

The Student Activities Office announces that discount tickets are available for the 1960 edition of the Ice Follies, which will be presented at the Hershey Sports Arena November 24 through December 3.

Tickets for all performances except the November 25 presentation are reduced as much as $1. Interested students should contact the Student Activities Office for further information.

Attends Alumni Session

Prof. C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary for the College attended a meeting of 15 area college alumni representatives Monday at Lebanon Valley College. The main discussion theme was "How To Work With Tomorrow's Alumni."

strips from the library were used in place of a feature film.

SPEA

At the November 12 meeting a panel of upperclassmen gave "unwritten" advice to underclassmen. The advice was concerned mainly with class scheduling.

The December 8 meeting will be a short Christmas party. Plans are still indefinite.

Membership is better this year—105 against last year's 89.

SEASON OPENS HERE DEC. 2

Rebounding Poses Big 'If' for Court Team, Offense Appears Good

With the start of a 22-game schedule less than two weeks away, the Blue Jay basketball squad is bearing down in nightly workouts, which Coach Don Smith hopes will solve what appears to be the Jays' major problem: rebounding.

Earlier this week Smith took a long look at the Jays' chances this year and made these observations:

"The boys have wonderful spirit and hustle. They seem determined to better last year's record (11-10).

"As I see it, our big problem will be rebounding. Our height problem hasn't been completely remedied. We're trying to compensate for our lack of height by depending on speed, position, and the fast-break.

"We're spending a lot of time on defense, and I'm glad to say that the boys are conscientious about this. They realize the great importance of defense.

"So far we're shooting well as a team. Our offense should be well balanced. Our scrimmages have looked good.

"I don't like to make predictions on what we'll do this year because we don't know what the opposition has.

"The nucleus of our team will come from returnees, but some of the freshmen might help a lot if they keep developing. They have a lot of desire."

Co-captains Bob Geiger and Glenn Bruckhart will lead the Jays in the opener here December 2 against Rutgers of South Jersey. Geiger is 6'3", Bruckhart 6'4". Both are juniors.

Geiger averaged 16.5 points-per-game last year, second to Bill Pensyl for team scoring honors.

In addition, Juniors Ed Harnly (6'1") and Marty Hefferan (5'11") and Sophomore Barry Boyer (6') are returnees who are certain to see action.

Boyer, out of school last year, averaged 13 points-per-game over the last five games two years ago. Harnly, a rugged rebounder, can out-jump bigger men on the boards.

Other veterans who could earn varsity berths include Sophomores Sam Gruber (5'10"), Jack Lantz (6'), Ted Wahnseidler (6'3"), and Bob Teufel (5'10").

Leading possibilities among the freshmen include Bob Weimer (5'10"), Bill Bechtold (6'), Gerry Kern (6'), Dan McKiernan (6'5"), Joe Holubek (6'6"), and Charlie Ashenfelter (6'1").

In talking about the freshmen, Smith admitted that several are more ready for college ball than the others.

"They all have ability, but one or two must develop more aggressiveness and others must learn to play a different type of game than they did in high school. It all comes with experience," he said.

3 Frosh Harriers In MAC Meet

Three freshmen — Ted Bond, Ken Barrett and Joe Moore—are representing Elizabethtown in the Middle Atlantic Conference cross country run at St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia. The race was being run as the ETOWNIAN went to press.

Upperclassmen on the Jay cross country squad decided not to compete because of the press of studies.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

With the regular season finished, the Blue Jay soccer team is looking forward to the post-season activities, which include a trip to Slippery Rock STC for the NAIA tournament and the playoff game for the Middle Atlantic Conference championship here.

The bid to the NCAA tournament in Connecticut is still a possibility as of this writing, however, the chances are that E-Town will not accept because NCAA rules prohibit the use of freshmen in the playoffs. There's a move afoot to change that, but it probably will not go into effect this year.

The Jays would be foolish to accept the NCAA bid knowing they couldn't use Ray Diener, Fred Seltzer, Ed Goodhart, Gerry Botdorf, or Bruce Moyer.

Looking back at that West Chester game, there are a lot of orchids to be thrown in the direction of the Jays' defensive forces, who did a tremendous job in containing the Teachers' precision, polished offense.

Halfbacks Jerry Reber, Russ Glazier, and Woody Kerkeslager were in the middle of everything. They never stopped running.

The same goes for Fullbacks Warner Cheeks and Fred Seltzer and Bill Kendig, who shuffled from half to full in the backfield.

Basketball season opens here in less than two weeks, and advance predictions on the Blue Jays' chances are brighter than many expected.

Bill Pensyl, the Jays' top scorer and rebounder last year, is gone, but we see little cause for singin' the blues in looking at the team's future.

Bob Geiger, Glenn Bruckhart, Ed Harnly, Barry Boyer, and Marty Hefferan are back and looking good in workouts. And several of the freshmen should really make Jay fans sit up and take notice.

Our prediction: a good year with every possibility of a better record than last year's 11-10 log.

Intramurals

The Women's Athletic Association, under the leadership of President Ruth Tice, is actively planning a year of fun in sports.

To stimulate interests in intramural sports the club has instituted a dorm trophy. Dorms will receive points according to the placing of their teams in each tournament.

Jeanne Leber's new Dorm I team took first place in the volleyball tournament Monday night by defeating Sandra Swanger's New Dorm III, 39-37.

New Dorm III's loss and a forfeit to Linda Simkins' Fairview II team by Mara Znotens' Fairview I girls caused a three-way tie for second place.

Alpha-Memorial, captained by Ruth Geiselman, defeated Barbara Schlickemaier's New Dorm II girls to put the losers in last place and themselves in a solid

Howard First Foe in NAIA

Word received late yesterday indicated that Elizabethtown will meet Howard University, of Washington, D. C., in the first game of the NAIA soccer tournament next Friday afternoon at Slippery Rock STC.

The winner of the E-town-Howard game will play the winner of Friday's second game for the NAIA championship Saturday.

The second game Friday will feature New Bedford, Mass., Institute vs. either Pratt Institute, of Brooklyn, or Newark College of Engineering.

Jaygals' Coach, Halfback Get All-East Honors; 6 Hockeyites on Regional Team

Patricia Usinger, a halfback on the Jaygals field hockey squad, and her coach, Julia Risser, will compete next week in the National Hockey Tournament at Washington, D.C., after being named to the All-East team last Saturday at Chambersburg.

Miss Risser was selected to the All-East first team at center-forward. Miss Usinger was named to the second team at left halfback.

Ruth Tice was given honorable mention as a goalie for the All-East squad.

Miss Risser and six members of the Jaygal hockey squad were named to either the first or second all-star teams following the Central Pennsylvania Tournament at Chambersburg two weeks ago.

First team honors went to Miss Risser and Miss Usinger.

Named to the second team were Linda Eshelman, Virginia Horton, and Lucy Clemens, all forwards; Lois Herr, fullback; and Ruth Tice, goalie.

In team competition at the Central Pennsylvania Tournament, the Jays defeated Lock Haven STC, 4-1, and tied the Blue Ridge Club (0-0) and the Keystone Club (1-1). Miss Risser is a member of the Keystone Club.

The All-American Hockey team will be named following the competition at Washington, D.C., which is scheduled for November 26-29.

The tie for second place, played off Tuesday evening, was broken when New Dorm III defeated Fairview II to put Linda's team in fourth place. Sandra's team then was defeated by Fairview I and so retired to third place.

Marty Epply announced that the intramural ping-pong tournament will be started after Thanksgiving vacation. Any girls who are interested in participating and have not yet signed up are asked to do so by Monday, November 23, according to Sandy Reifsteck, sport manager.

OFF TO SLIPPERY ROCK

Jays Seek NAIA Title Next Week

The Blue Jay soccer team will be gunning for a national championship next weekend at Slippery Rock STC as they compete in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament.

The Jays were riding the crest of a streak of 14 unbeaten games as they faced Washington College here for the Middle Atlantic Conference championship as the ETOWNIAN went to press. E-town won the MAC Northern Division crown, while Washington took the Southern Division title.

The NAIA tourney is the first of its kind. Four teams were invited to represent areas where soccer is a prominent sport. E-Town will represent Area Two, which includes Georgia, Florida, the Carolinas, and Pennsylvania. Coach Ira Herr's team ended the season with an overall record of seven victories and two ties.

The game with East Stroudsburg STC was cancelled because of the post-season playoffs.

Tie West Chester

The big battle at West Chester STC last week saw the Jays rise to new heights as they came from behind in the final regular period to tie the unbeaten Teachers, 2-2, in double overtime.

Halfback Woody Kerkeslager's 30-yard boot early in the second period gave the Jays the lead. It was Kerkeslager's first goal of the year and the longest scored by Ira Herr's crew all season.

Then, late in the same period Dick Dietrich, left inner for West Chester, rammed home a 10-yard shot that just managed to penetrate the Jays' nets in the extreme left corner. E-Town's goalie, Ray Diener dove desperately and grabbed the low, hard boot, but couldn't stop it short of the goal line.

In the third period the Teachers moved into the lead when Winger Bud Woolley lifted a high kick from 12 yards out that Diener got a hand on but could not deflect.

Mid-way through the fourth quarter the Jay's center-forward, Bill Hoar, took a short pass from Inner Fred Zimmerman and blasted home an 8-yard boot to earn the tie.

In booting the two goals, the Jays equaled the total of goals scored by seven WCSTC opponents prior to the E-Town invasion. The Teachers had given up single goals to Penn State and Lycoming and had three straight shutouts going into the Jays game.

Lambast Lincoln

With Co-captain Bill Hoar leading the way with three goals, the Jays closed out their regular season here last week by smothering a hapless Lincoln team, 8-1.

Other E-Town goals were chalked up by Carol Hershey, Russ Glazier, Ron Schubert, Ed Goodhart, and Bruce Moyer. The lone Lincoln tally came on a penalty kick in the second period.

next man home for E-town. Then came Bond, sixth; Baer, seventh; and Hosler, eighth.

Lose to Juniata

Taking six of the first ten places, Juniata jolted the Jays here two weeks ago by taking a 23-34 verdict.

Bond and Bruckhart tied for second behind the Indians' Don Lehman. Gible ran eighth and Baer was ninth for E-town.

Women's Basketball Drills to Start

All women interested in varsity or junior varsity basketball are urged to check notices in the women's locker room in the gymnasium for information concerning try-outs and practices, according to Coach Julia Risser.

Cross Country Team Picks Up 5th Win To End Good Year

The Blue Jay cross country squad wrote finis to the '59 campaign Saturday by placing second in a triangular meet following a close win at Gettysburg and a thrashing here at the hands of Juniata.

Overall, the Jay harriers won five of eight meets to chalk up their second consecutive winning year.

At Chester last Saturday Pennsylvania Military College captured a triangular meet with Elizabethtown second and John Hopkins a distant third.

PMC took the first two places, and Hopkins captured the third spot as the Jays took the fourth, fifth, eighth, and ninth positions.

Glenn Bruckhart, who won five of the Jays' eight races, finished fourth with Freshman Ted Bond fifth. Wilbur Gible and Helmut Baer ran eighth with Don Hosler ninth.

The final tally was PMC, 27; Elizabethtown, 36; Johns Hopkins, 61.

Nip Gettysburg

Bruckhart set a new course record at Gettysburg last week as the Jays nipped the Bullets, 27-28.

The new mark of 22:54 is 11 seconds better than the previous record.

Gible, who ran fifth was the Seniors Top First Dean's List; 17 Students Named

Seventeen students — six of them seniors — have been named on the Dean's List of Honor for the first half of the first semester, according to Dean Roy McAuley.

The six seniors represented the highest class representation on the List. In addition, there were five sophomores, four freshmen, and two juniors.

Those named to the List were: Seniors—William L. Adams, L. David Cassel, Kenneth M. Diefenbach, John S. Hench, Stanley R. Neyer, and Frederick Zimmerman.

Juniors — Mona Wyles and Anna F. Yoder.

Sophomores — Martha Eppley, Janet Espenshade, Francis Hurley, Kay Tauscher, and Jean Zettlemoyer.

Freshmen—Virginia Colley, E. Paul Dick, Lois K. Herr, and Katharina Stephan.

In order to be named on the Dean's List, students are required to earn at least a 3.5 quality point average for the marking period. A perfect average is 4.0.

The total of 17 is below the number of Dean's List students for this marking period for the last two years. There were 21 on the List in 1958 and 23 in 1957.

Cast for Christmas Production Listed

Cast members for the Christmas play, Christus: A Mystery, by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, have been announced by Mrs. Mildred Enterline, dramatics adviser to the Sock and Buskin Club, which is sponsoring the production.

The play, to be presented December 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the local Church of the Brethren, is written in the style of a medieval mystery.

Eleanor Johnson has been cast in the role of Mary while Jesse Lowe will portray Joseph. The angel Gabriel will be played by Helen Brubaker. Kathy Lawshe and Park Mellott will take the roles of Elsie and Prince Henry. The wise men, Caspar, Melchior and Belshazzar, will be portrayed by Claude Foreman, Ralph Johnson and Sung Ho Hahn.

Doris Weir, Joy Goodwin, Susan Hertzog and Pat Johnson will play the angels Mercy, Justice, Wisdom and Love, while the angels of the planets will be Margo Jones, Elsie Woodward, Faye Welcomer, Linda Cubberly, Molly Moerschbacher, Donna Ranson, Ann Olson and Gladys Neal.

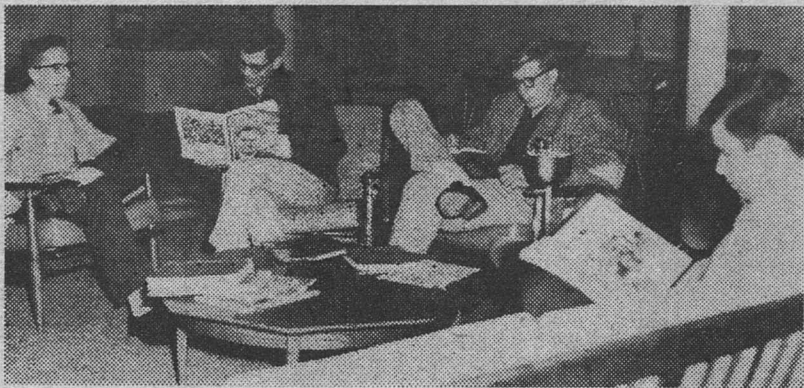

Student Recital Set for Monday

A student recital in piano, voice and organ will be held Monday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, in the Rider Memorial Chapel.

The voice students are under the direction of Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, the piano students are supervised by Mrs. E. G. Meyer, and the organ students are instructed by Mr. J. Atlee Young.

Singing solos on the program will be Betty Markley, soprano; Mary Gladfelter, soprano; Sylvia Santee, contralto; Fred Landis, bass; Dale Kilhefner, baritone, and Asher Halbleib, baritone.

Students and faculty members are invited to attend.

College Choir and Chorus in Rehearsal For Joint Christmas Concert Next Week

The Elizabethtown College choir and chorus will combine their talents in a concert of Christmas music, to be presented in the College auditorium next Sunday evening, December 13, at 7:30 o'clock.

The concert will be under the direction of Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Department of Music.

Featured soloists for the program will include Sylvia Santee, contralto; Betty Markley, soprano, and Asher Halbleib, baritone. Mrs. E. G. Myer, piano instructor here, will accompany the chorus, while Miss Markley is scheduled to accompany the choir.

Among other numbers, the 100-voice chorus will sing "And the Glory of the Lord," from the Christmas section of Handel's "Messiah," and "Gloria in Excelsis," from the Twelfth Mass, by Mozart.

The choir, consisting of 41 members, will present "Glorify the Lord," by the 16th century composer, Sweelinck, and "Love Lighted a Fire on Every Hearth," from the Christmas cantata, "When the Christ Child Came," by Joseph W. Clokey.

The two groups also will sing English, Ukrainian, French, Austrian, German and Sicilian Christmas carols.

Previous to this concert, the choir will offer a Christmas selection during the chapel service Wednesday.

The public is invited to hear the Christmas concert.

Used Book Exchange To Be Initiated Here By 1st Semester's End

by BETTY DORR

A system of buying and selling used books will be in operation on the campus by January 18, according to Prof. Wilbur E. Weaver, College Store manager.

Upon the recommendation of the Student Senate, the administration has accepted the responsibility of operating such an exchange, and will supply the initial capital for it.

Senate committee chairman, Bill Bair, believes that this plan will be of benefit to many students, especially the seniors.

"Books may more readily serve their purpose several times and also provide some cash in the bargain," he stated.

During the week of final examinations, students may sell their used books to the store for cash. These used books will be displayed with the new texts for the next semester. Students may then purchase either the used or new texts at the designated prices.

Senator Bair and his book exchange committee are now working with Prof. Weaver on the prices of the used texts, distribution of profits, and other details. Next Thursday, Prof. Weaver will present an itemized plan to the Senate for its approval.

Other members of the committee include Nancy Baugher, Barbara Jones and Ross Ricketts.

The idea for a used book exchange, which has been considered by the administration for some time, was initiated by the Student Senate this fall. Now, through the cooperation of the administration and the Senate, the plan is on the way toward realization.

Change Final Exams Schedule

The final examination schedule for first semester has been changed to assist both students and professors, according to Dr. Roy McAuley, dean of the College.

The examination period will begin Monday, January 18, and continue through Wednesday, January 27, thus giving an extension of three days.

Students will then have a legal and enforced vacation January 28 and 29, before returning to the campus for second semester registration, which will be conducted Monday and Tuesday, February 1 and 2. The dining hall and dormitories will be closed during the vacation.

An extension of the final examination period was given by the administration in order that students would not have three exams in one day. It also will allow the professors more time in which to grade the papers, thus easing their schedule somewhat.

Chapel Program Set

Dr. M. R. Zigler, internationally known leader in relief and rehabilitation, will be guest speaker during the chapel service Wednesday, December 9.

High Quality Students Applying Here; Number Running Ahead of Last Year

by VIRGINIA WILLS

High quality students comprise the majority of applicants seeking admission to Elizabethtown College, according to D. Paul Greene, director of admissions.

Forty-nine percent of the applicants for next year's freshman class to date rank in the upper tenth of their high school classes, he explained during an interview last week.

The processes involved in getting into college are in a state of flux, Greene related. New trends are becoming increasingly evident in the admissions' picture.

For example, there is a greater stress on making early application to colleges. On-campus interviews with prospective students and their parents are now common place, whereas they occurred only sporadically until recent years, he added.

"Any college admissions director lives an adventurous life," Green grinned. "He never knows how many applications to expect from one month to the next. It could be a feast or a famine."

"Whether we like it or not, we are the victims of the student's whims."

"We counsel them and urge them to apply early. Then we sit back and wait until they decide to act."

Greene pointed out that applications for next fall are running about 25 percent ahead of last year. But he added that much of this is because of the increased pressure from high schools to have their students seek early acceptance from a college.

As usual, Pennsylvania applications are in the majority with the bulk of these coming from Lancaster County.

There is, however, an unusually large percentage of applicants from New Jersey, especially the Haddonfield area. Applications have also been received from Rhode Island, New York, Ohio, Indiana and Washington, D. C., Greene continued.

"Out-of-state applications are increasing yearly," he reported.

As Greene sees it, his prime objective as Admissions Director is to solicit the better grade of student.

"We can pick up 'C' students any time," he said.

In his quest for the quality student, Greene has visited 30 high schools this year in connection with "College Night" programs. Counting personal and written contacts, he has made connections with over 180 high schools in Pennsylvania and surrounding states.

In his personal contacts with potential students, Greene stresses the importance of a personal visit to the campus by the student and his parents.

"These people owe it to themselves to visit the campuses of the colleges in which they're interested in order to sample the environment. Four years of college is a long time to hate something."

Junior Class Sets Banquet, Show Dates

The junior class has named a committee and is now in the preliminary stages of planning the junior-senior banquet, according to Herb Spannuth, president of the class.

The banquet will be held Friday, May 6, at Hotel Yorktowne, York. Members of the committee planning it include Sandy MacLaughlin, Joe Wagenseller, Lee Conner, Mara Znotens and Ruth Risser.

Spannuth also reported that the junior show committee, consisting of Joan Lank, Claude Foreman, Carol Bush, Sandy Lutz, Galen Young and Elsie Woodward, is making progress with the show plans.

Date for this annual affair will be Friday and Saturday, March 25-26, 1960.

A "beatnik party" was sponsored by the class as a social function for the students Friday, November 21. Over 75 class members and guests attended the party which included a bagpipe presentation by Dr. Henry G. Hood.

Senior Class Selects Clock as Memorial

A campus clock has been selected by the senior class as its class memorial to the College.

Voted upon at a recent class meeting, it was chosen over two other possible memorials, a trophy showcase and a ceremonial vase.

Class President William Kendrick said a committee is working with the administration in making final decisions on the placement of the clock.

AS WE SEE IT

Are Grades Squeezed?

Competition becomes more keen, standards are raised, adjustment to college takes time. . . . These have been cited as primary reasons for the fact that only 17 students at this College were named to the Dean's List for the first half of the first semester!

Congratulations are extended to those 17 students, but in spite of the explanations listed above, there should have been many more than that number to achieve the academic honor list.

This College has an enrollment of 666 students, a record high. The number of Dean's List students is a record low, at least for the last three years.

It could well be that grades are being caught in a squeeze with higher academic standards on one side and expansion on the other.

Each year the freshman class here is composed of a higher caliber student than the previous year, in an attempt to raise the standards of the College. Yet only four out of 252 frosh were named to the list. Five sophomores, two juniors and six seniors complete the distinguished group.

A partial explanation is available for the number of seniors who hold an academic average of 3.5 or better—practice teachers are not graded for their eight credits until the end of the semester. But this does not explain the lack of underclassmen on the list. Just what the reason is can only be speculated.

The answer to the problem may lie in the projected comments listed above. But there may be other reasons also. What they are and what can be done to remedy the situation are problems for students and faculty alike.

Both groups should become introspective and seek the cause. The effect has been shown.

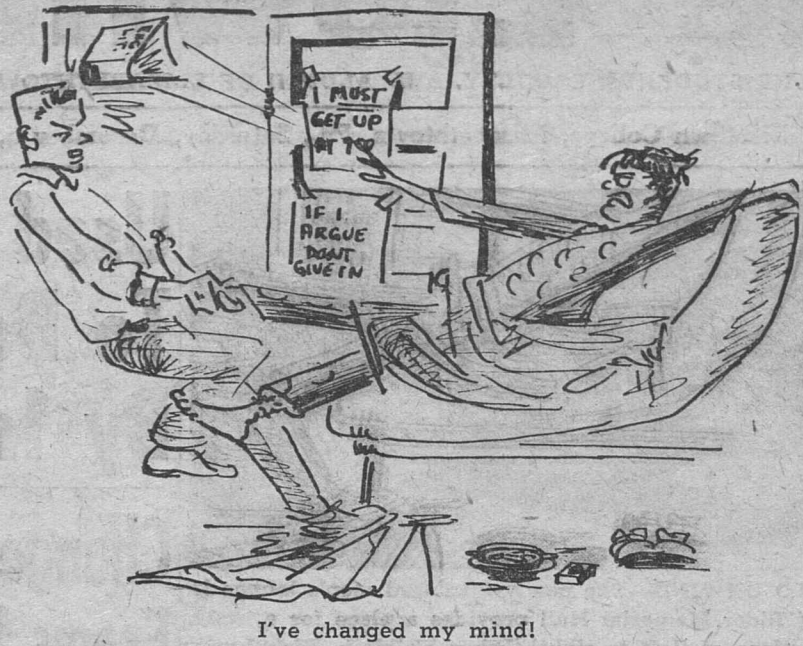

A Job Well Done

One season closes, another begins, and excitement is once again renewed for the athletic campaigns at Elizabethtown College.

But before the basketball season gets under full steam, much praise and recognition certainly is due our tremendous soccer team for its outstanding championship season. This College really has something of which to be proud, if for no other reason than that an athletic team could do so well when so little emphasis is placed along that line.

Coach Ira Herr and his squad are to be congratulated upon their excellent season of sportsmanship, ability and performances. We're especially glad to be able to say it wasn't a one-man effort, as is evidenced by the fact that so many members of the squad tallied goals. Each player contributed his share toward the victorious season which is behind us.

The Middle Atlantic Conference championship is not to be taken lightly, and although the Jays lost in the finals of the NAIA play-offs over Thanksgiving vacation, they certainly should not feel it to be a great loss. Other seasons are ahead of us and other championships are in the offing.

IN MANY WAYS A PARADOX

Russian People are Sold on Communism; They Share a Common Aim to Catch U. S.

Seated behind a table, five recent visitors to the Soviet Union offered their candid impressions of life in Communism's heartland, during an area educators' meeting. The five included an educator, a lawyer, a minister, a newspaper editor, and a teacher who was born and educated in Russia.

These are some of their observations:

"The Russian people are always doing something. They cannot, for example, comprehend how an American woman can be 'only a housewife.' They have a burning desire to overtake the United States in production, and everyone in Russia seems to take part in the effort.

"The Russian people do not hate Americans, but they have a genuine fear that the U. S. government plans to attack them. This fear has been nurtured by the Kremlin's propaganda in all phases of communication.

"The Russian people will not revolt against their government because it has given them a higher standard of living than ever before. They have great faith in their leaders and accept the dictates of the Kremlin's Central Committee without question.

"The Russians are great lovers of culture. Even on the beach at Yalta, a resort comparable to Atlantic City, the sunbathers always seem to be reading.

"They want to know more about America and Americans. They were anxious to talk to us. Many of the students know more about our literature and history than the average American.

"While they have faith in their government, they know that not everything that the Communist press says about the U. S. is true. Many think for themselves.

"Only about three percent of the population are Communists. But, for the average Russian citizen, membership in the Communist party is the paramount ambition and desire because party members are the aristocracy.

"Many Russians believe religion is for the uneducated. They cannot comprehend how an intelligent person can believe in God. Communist indoctrination in this area has been most successful.

"The Russians are a paradox. They can hit the moon with a rocket but cannot build a decent, dependable elevator. They have modern airliners, but many of their major airfields have gravel runways.

"Generally, Russians are friendly, courteous, inquisitive people who take pride in their achievements. They share a common desire to better their lot and the status of their country as a world power."

Campus Prayer

We look unto Thee, O Word of Words, for the encouragement to seek as never before the peace that would be ours in doing Thy Will. Hold before us the Torch of Higher Learning that we might see the need in our confused world, thereby better preparing ourselves to meet that need. Help us to see also our own need. Jolt us out of the doldrums of self-glorification into the real world of service. We humbly ask that we might see in Thee the relation between our needs and the needs of others. Not for our own sake, but for the sake of others and Thy an "iceberg of indifference" in

Relations to South Need Our Attention

President Eisenhower is now in the midst of a nine-day diplomatic mission that will see him visit 11 countries and the Vatican, travel 22,000 miles, and make 30 speeches in the short space of nine days.

The trip, designed to bolster the Western alliance prior to the forthcoming summit conference, has been called "the most ambitious venture in personal diplomacy ever undertaken by an American President."

It stands as a prime example of the importance our government gives to better understanding on the part of our Allies.

At the same time, however, American foreign policy to the south has come under more heavy fire.

Student to Serve As Accounting Aid

William Kendig, senior business administration student here, will serve as an accounting intern with Price Waterhouse and Co., New York City, December 14 and 15.

According to Dr. Albert L. Gray, Jr., chairman of the business department, Kendig will be engaged at that time in the actual auditing of financial records of several large corporations.

Price Waterhouse and Co. is the world's largest firm of public accountants.

Dr. Gray will speak at the 28th annual meeting of the Eastern Pennsylvania Council of Industrial Management Clubs in Lancaster, today at 9 a. m. in Hotel Brunswick.

During the Christmas holiday Dr. Gray and Prof. Robert Bowers, also of the business department, will attend the annual meeting of the American Economics Association in Washington, D. C., scheduled for December 27-30.

Choir To Tape Music

A program of Christmas music sung by the College choir will be presented over a network of radio stations in northern and central Pennsylvania on Christmas Day, according to Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, director of the choir.

The music will be tape-recorded by the Capital Broadcasting Corp., Harrisburg, then sent to various stations in the broadcasting network, including Bloomsburg, Lebanon and Elizabethtown.

ALMOST UNDER ROOF . . . Workmen are pushing ahead in their attempt to get the two wings of the New Men's Dormitory under roof before winter weather sets in. The wing to the left is already under roof and ready for work inside. The dormitory, scheduled for completion in July, 1960, will house 230 men and will include lounges and infirmary space.

Scholarships Offered In Selective Fields

A number of new announcements concerning scholarships and fellowships has been received by the College in recent weeks, according to Dean Roy McAuley.

Johns Hopkins University offers assistance in its Master of Arts in Teaching program — a program designed for liberal arts graduates who have not majored in education and who do not have teaching certificates.

The National Science Foundation has a number of fellowships for graduate work in the fields of science.

Other announcements have come from Columbia University, Chicago University, The University of Denver, Cornell University and The University of Wyoming.

Foundations offering graduate aid include the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, The General Electric Foundation, the British Marshall Scholarship Foundation, and the Rockefeller Brothers Foundation.

Announcements are posted on the bulletin board outside the Dean's office. Alumni and seniors are invited to make further inquiry.

Philosophy Club To Discuss 'Blur'

"The Oblong Blur" will be the topic for examination at the second meeting of the philosophy discussion group, to be held Sunday, December 13, at 8 p.m. at the home of Prof. Armon Snowden.

This group, which held its organizational meeting Sunday, November 22, has been formed by Prof. Snowden for the benefit and interest of those students on campus who enjoy philosophical study of various topics.

It is not an organized club as yet. Such topics as existentialism, positivism and the "beat" generation have been listed as tentative discussions for future meetings.

At the first meeting 14 students were present to begin an analysis of the various concepts of God. Prof. Snowden reported it to be a highly successful meeting, conducted in an informal fashion.

He explained that the discussion group is open to all interested students.

Business Students Tour Phila. Banks

Forty Elizabethtown College business administration students visited banking institutions in the Philadelphia area yesterday, according to Dr. Albert L. Gray, chairman of the Business Department.

The trip included tours of the Philadelphia National Bank and the Federal Reserve Bank. Students who made the trip are enrolled in the class in money and banking at the College.

Dr. Gray and Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, of the Business Department, accompanied the students.

College Trustee Named Bulova Watch Director

David C. Stambaugh, Queens Village, N. Y., a member of the College Board of Trustees, was recently elected to the Board of Directors of Bulova Research and Development Laboratories, a subsidiary of Bulova Watch Company.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the board for Bulova, made the announcement. Mr. Stambaugh joined Bulova in 1934.

We don't know for sure whether the love bug or the turkey took the bigger toll on campus over the weekend, but we're reasonably satisfied that Bruce Tinglof and Jerry Reber didn't miss the old goblin too much. Bruce became engaged, and Jerry "pinned" his steady.

Incidentally, the soccer team wants to express its appreciation to Happy Harry Heisey, the campus caretaker, who followed the squad all the way to Slippery Rock. Whatta' fan.

The faculty has a new fad, so we're told. This time it's a bowling team comprised of such stalwarts as "Ten Pin" Greene, Dr. A. L. Gray (who boasts an average score of 100, which is comparable to batting .050 in baseball), "Fingers" Weaver, "Body English" Enterline, and "Gutter Ball" McAuley.

Several other faculty members say they're going along, too, but only for laughs.

Small game season has opened in the barracks and is now in full swing with the "take" being rather large. At last report, ten mice had been done in by various safaris armed with shoes, sticks, and other gear for the hunt.

No license is required.

Strange things happen when viewing the beautiful sunset. A living witness to this fact is the house mother (from Fairview), who, completely captivated by the gorgeous spectacle, reportedly split a telephone pole in half with front of her car.

Careers in Law and Civil Service to Be Discussed

"Careers in Law and Civil Service" will be the topic of discussion during the College of the Air television program scheduled for Tuesday, December 8.

Mr. C. G. Enterline, College alumni secretary, and Mr. Henry Gingrich, part-time instructor in law, will conduct the discussion.

4-H Students Here Take Honors at Chicago Meet

A blue ribbon performance was turned in at the 38th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Tuesday, December 1, by Fred Bernhard and Donald Hosler, both students here.

The two Lancaster County youths composed Pennsylvania's 4-H Livestock Conservation Demonstration team at the congress. They captured the reserve award in a 13-state competition.

Their presentation was entitled, "Control and Eradication of Catle Grubs."

Hosler and Bernhard were state delegates to the congress during the entire week. Hosler also is a recent second place winner of the annual 4-H conservation essay contest sponsored by the Lancaster Kiwanis Club.

Jays Win MAC Title, Lose NAIA Finals

Washington Easy Victim Of Blue Jays

The Blue Jays captured the soccer championship of the Middle Atlantic Conference last week by easily defeating Washington College, 6-1, here before an estimated 600 fans.

Elizabethtown represented the MAC Northern Division, while Washington carried the Southern Division colors into the playoffs.

Co-captain Bill Hoar led the Jays' romp by scoring three goals. Carroll Hershey, Fred Zimmerman and Jerry Reber also scored for Coach Ira Herr's team.

Washington averted a shutout in the final two minutes of the game, when forward Art Roemer's high boot slipped away from Jay Goalie Ray Diener.

Hoar opened the Jays' assault by booting a five-yard goal late in the first period after taking a pass from Hershey.

What proved to be the deciding goal was scored early in the second quarter as Halfback Jerry Reber lofted a high, arching boot from the sidelines. Mickey DiMaggio, Washington's fine goalie, leaped high but could not stop Reber's kick.

Hoar cashed in a penalty kick late in the second period to give E-town a 3-0 half-time lead.

Winger Hershey rammed home a three-yard shot in the third period after taking a pass from Zimmerman.

Midway through the final period, Zimmerman took a pass from Hoar and booted a ten-yard goal.

The Jays' final tally came late in the game on an eight-yard blast by Hoar following a pass from Reber.

Washington's vaunted defense failed to stand up in the face of the E-town attack. The "Sho-men" had won eight, tied two, and lost only one during the regular season. Defensively, they had allowed only 10 goals in 11 games and never more than two in any one contest.

The Summary

Elizabethtown --- 1 2 1 2-6
Washington --- 0 0 0 1-1

Saves: Elizabethtown 6, Washington 27.

Scoring Sequence:
First Period—Hoar assisted by Hershey (E), 21:45.

Second Period—Reber (E), 5:30; Hoar (E), (Penalty kick), 16:05.

Third Period—Hershey assisted by Lash (E), 7:40.

Fourth Period—Zimmerman assisted by Hoar (E), 9:45; Hoar assisted by Reber (E), 16:05; Roemer (W), 20:10.

Soccer Team Names All-Opponent Squad

Eight teams are represented on the Elizabethtown College soccer team's 1959 All-Opponent squad.

Two colleges — West Chester STC and La Salle—each placed three men on the squad. Drexel Institute placed two, and Washington, Bucknell, Wilkes, Gettysburg and Lycoming each had one representative.

The full team follows:

Name	College
Mickey DiMaggio, G.	Washington
Roger Mackey, RF	Bucknell
Lou Davis	Wilkes
Fred Mischler, LF	La Salle
Joe Onyschuk, RH	West Chester
Connie Youse, CF	Gettysburg
Tom Scanlon, LH	La Salle
George Sawchak, OR	Drexel
Aldo Delpino, IR	La Salle
John Guzek, CF	Drexel
Dick Dietrich, IL	West Chester
Dave Travis, OL	Lycoming
Chris Jones	West Chester

Voice--- from the Sidelines

Though it closed on what could be considered a dull note that seemed out of harmony with the pleasant chorus of victories this year, the '59 soccer season must stand out as the most successful in the history of the College.

No other Blue Jay team captured a Middle Atlantic Championship. No other E-town squad carried our colors to the brink of a national championship.

And that Pratt outfit that nipped us in the overtime NAIA championship game was quite a team. The Brooklynites won 12 and tied two during the regular season. Among others, they defeated Long Island U. (10-2), Fordham (7-2), Drew (6-0), Adelphia (11-3), Kings (5-2), and Columbia (3-1).

The soccer squad brought the College a rich bounty of recognition in the area press. One writer—Paul Beers of the Harrisburg Patriot-News—coined the Jays' high-scoring line "The Flying Five" and called it one of the best in the East.

Beers knows his soccer, too. He played the game for Wilkes several years ago and, in fact, opposed the Jays during his college days.

There'll be some familiar faces missing as the Jays face the 1960 campaign. Forwards Bill Hoar, Fred Zimmerman and Manny Tejada, and Backs Bill Kendig and Jerry Reber won't be around.

The first four are seniors and will be graduated. Reber, perhaps the most unappreciated player on the squad, is an engineering major and will transfer next year under the cooperative program the College has with Penn State.

But, in taking a sneak preview at next year, the Blue Jays could well be in the thick of things again with a solid core of veterans returning. In addition, it's reported that several top high school players are headed our way.

Looking back, it struck us that Ray Diener, the Jays' lanky freshman goalie, must have felt the pangs of frustration at times during the season. His chances to show his stuff were few because of the solid defense thrown up by the E-town backs.

Diener could double for the guy in the tooth paste commercials who stands behind that "invisible shield" of protection.

Women's Basketball Drills Get Started

Women's basketball practice began Wednesday, but there is still time for interested candidates to come out for the squad, according to Coach Julia Risser.

Although the initial practice has taken place, Miss Risser "encourages anyone to come out." She went on to say that "experience does help but the amount is not an indication of a girl's potential in college ball."

According to Miss Risser, there should be these three ingredients in a girl in order for her to gain the greatest amount of her potential as a player.

"She should have a little ability to build on, a desire to learn and be willing to put in the time and the necessary hard work."

There is no class limit for the prospective Jaygal. Freshman, sophomore, junior or senior, are all welcome.

But Miss Risser did say that she "would just as soon have a girl when a freshman in order to work with her and get the most of her capabilities over a four-year period."

JAYS DISPLAY FINE BALANCE

Rutgers, S.J., Swamped, 94-57, In Court Opener

Taking the wraps off a new and balanced attack, the Blue Jays placed five men in double figures Wednesday night as they swamped Rutgers of South Jersey, 94-57, here in the opener of the a 22-game basketball campaign.

Wrestlers Open With Juniata; Hershey Hopeful

Led by co-captains Bill Kendig and Jim Weaver, the Blue Jay wrestling team opens an 11-meet season this afternoon at Juniata. The first home meet is Wednesday evening against Dickinson.

Coach Dick Hershey calls the squad's potential "promising" but added that the degree of success over the season depends on the team's ability to avoid injuries and scholastic difficulties. The Jays lack depth, he explained.

Kendig, a senior, and Weaver, a sophomore, shape up as the most likely point-getters this year. Weaver made an impressive debut as a freshman, and Kendig was E-town's number one man last year until an injury put him on the shelf for the final part of the season.

Other returnees who are expected to open against Juniata are Juniors Larry Hetzel and Bryon Seese.

Hershey admitted that his squad of freshmen is "the best looking crop of newcomers seen here for some time."

Among the top frosh prospects are Ted Bond, Joe Moore, Gary Ellinger, Jay Martin, Galen Lehman, Larry Brown and Charlie Junkins.

Hershey said the following lineup would probably open against Juniata:

123-lb.—Ted Bond.
130-lb.—Joe Moore.
137-lb.—Bill Kendig.
147-lb.—Jim Weaver.
157-lb.—Larry Brown or Gary Ellinger.
167-lb.—Larry Hetzel.
177-lb.—Galen Lehman.
Hwt. —Bryon Seese or Charles Junkins.

The Jays take on Dickinson at home tonight in the Elizabethtown High School gym. Jayvee action starts at 6:45. The varsity game is listed for 8:30.

Co-captain Bob Geiger, a 6' 3" junior, was top man in the E-town attack with 20 points in the Rutgers encounter. But he had plenty of help from Sophomore Barry Boyer, Juniors Marj Hefferan and Ed Harnly, and Freshman Bill Bechtold.

Boyer had 18 points, Hefferan 13, Harnly 12, and Bechtold 14, 11 of which came in the second half as the Jays pulled away steadily to a 41-point lead at one stage.

Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart, the Jays' other captain, had nine points. He sat out most of the second half to rest his injured ankle.

Rutgers was in the game only through the first ten minutes. The Pioneers pulled to within one point, 21-20, midway through the first half, but after that it was all Elizabethtown.

In the preliminary game, Jim Baugher's E-town JV's lost, 70-61, in overtime to the Rutgers understudies.

Top men for E-town were Charlie Ashenfelter with 15 points, Bill Clarke with 12, and Dale Good with 11.

Loss to Pratt Snaps Streak; Defeat Howard

Playing the first game in a sea of mud and the second on four inches of snow, the Blue Jays fell one step short of the promised land in the first annual N-A-I-A soccer tournament last weekend at Slippery Rock STC.

Coach Ira Herr's crew dumped Howard University, 5-2, in the opening round. However, they failed to hold an early lead and dropped a 4-3 decision in overtime to Pratt Institute, of Brooklyn, in the championship game.

The Pratt defeat snapped a streak of unbeaten games that had reached 16.

Humble Howard

Bob Lash, who had scored only one goal during the regular season, led the Blue Jays in the semi-final triumph over Howard University, of Washington, D. C.

Lash scored two goals as the Jays piled up an early lead and were never seriously threatened. Other E-town markers were tallied by Carroll Hershey, Bill Hoar and Russ Glazier.

The Jays dominated the early portion of the game, which was played on three to four inches of mud.

Howard went on to defeat New Bedford, Mass., Institute, 2-0, in the consolation game.

Lose to Pratt

After leading through the first three periods, the Jays dropped behind early in the fourth period of the championship game against Pratt.

Bill Hoar's goal midway through the fourth period knotted the game. However, Pratt Inner Irenius Harasymyak booted what proved to be the winning goal in the last minute of the first overtime period.

Manny Tejada and Lash each scored for E-town in the first period, and the lead held until Pratt Halfback Bob Offerman rammed home the tying goal at 2:50 of the fourth period.

The Summaries Semi-Finals

Elizabethtown --- 1 2 1 1-5

Pre-Holiday Activities Here Will Include Concert, Play, Dorm Parties and Caroling

by POLLY GRUBB

Gaily festooned trees and holly wreaths, along with the first snow of the season, brought to the College campus this week the hint that ol' man winter has arrived and vacation is only seven days away.

With this news, holiday festivities began Friday, December 11, as the Winter Whirl, a semi-formal dance sponsored by the Student Senate, was held at the Iris Club, Lancaster.

To further the Yuletide spirit, the College choir and chorus will combine for a Christmas concert in the College Auditorium Sunday, December 13, at 7:30 p. m. Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Department of Music, will direct the group of 141 members.

Tuesday evening has been designated for the women's dormitory parties, while Wednesday, from 2:30 to 5 p. m., the All-College Yule Bowl will be held in the New Residence.

The last three events highlighting the pre-vacation activities begin Thursday evening with the annual Christmas dinner, which will include the traditional turkey. Christus: A Mystery, by Henry W. Longfellow, will then be presented at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the Church of the Brethren.

Eleanor Johnson and Jesse Lowe have been cast in the leading roles of Mary and Joseph. Mrs. Mildred Enterline, dramatics adviser for Sock and Buskin, is director of the production.

At 9:30 p. m. Thursday, students and faculty are invited to Christmas carol about the town. Refreshments will be served in the New Women's Residence after the caroling.

Dormitories will close at 5 p. m. Friday, December 18, and will reopen Sunday, January 3, at 3 p. m.

The last meal to be served in the College Dining Hall before vacation will be Friday, Oct. 18, lunch and the first upon return in the new year will be Monday, Jan. 4, breakfast.

All members of the College faculty and staff and their families have been invited to a dinner Friday evening, December 18, at Aunt Sally's.

TV Program to Present 'Careers in Medicine'

Dr. Charles Apgar, biology professor here, and Dr. Franklin Cassel, Lititz, will be the featured speakers Tuesday, December 15, on Elizabethtown College's "College of the Air" television program.

To be presented over WGAL-TV, Lancaster, at 9 a. m., the program will be a discussion of "Careers in Medicine."

The next to last program of the semester, scheduled for Tuesday, January 5, will present Dr. C. J. Bryer, Jr., Gap. He will discuss "Careers in Veterinary Medicine."

Chapel Speakers Named

Dr. Sheridan Bell, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Harrisburg, will speak to the students here during the chapel service Wednesday, December 16.

The first chapel service of the new year, January 5, will feature the Rev. W. M. Wagenseller, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Harrisburg. "What My Vocation in Life Should Mean" is his sermon topic.

NOW FOR THE DECORATING . . . Six residents of the New Women's Dormitory, apparently brimming with the Yuletide spirit, drag the dorm's Christmas tree inside prior to setting it up in the lobby. Maybe the season's first heavy snow put them in the mood for their labor. They are (left to right): Kathy Lawshe, Martha Epply, Patricia Jackson, Gail Loman, Barbara Schlickemaier and Carol Hess.

COMING EVENTS

Dec. 13—Christmas Concert, 7:30 in Auditorium

Dec. 15—Dormitory Parties, 9 p. m.

Dec. 16—All-College Yule Bowl 2:30 - 5 p. m. New Residence Lounge

Dec. 17—Christmas Dinner Play: Christus, A Mystery 8 p. m., Church of Brethren 9:30, Christmas Caroling

Dec. 18—5 p. m., Vacation Jan. 4—7:40 a. m., Classes Resume

Club Plans Initiation

Initiation of new members will be held during the winter meeting of the Sock and Buskin drama club January 4 in the Rider Memorial Chapel.

All members are expected to be present.

Local Bank Places Magazines in Dorms

Racks containing magazines for students have been placed in three dormitories and the men's day student lounge in Rider Memorial Hall through the courtesy of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Elizabethtown.

The bank purchased the racks and four-year subscriptions to the various magazines. The racks are located in North Hall, Fairview Hall, and the New Women's Residence as well as the Rider lounge.

Seven magazines will be provided for each rack. The periodicals cover news, fashions, sports, religion, homemaking, hobbies.

Ezra O. Brubaker, cashier of the bank, explained that magazines are being supplied as a good will gesture toward students.

Starting Wednesday

Chapel Services Moved to Church

Beginning Wednesday, December 16, College chapel services will be held in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, located adjacent to the campus, Dr. Robert A. Byerly, director of Religious Activities, announced early this week.

Choir Schedules Radio Broadcast On Christmas Day

The Elizabethtown College choir will be featured on the Tenth Annual Festival of Music concert Christmas Day on four radio stations in the south-central part of Pennsylvania.

Directed by Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, the choir will present a half-hour program of Christmas music for the Festival, which is produced by the Capital Broadcasting Corporation.

The program will be broadcast from 2:00 - 2:30 p. m. December 25 on the following stations: WEZN, Elizabethtown (1600); WKBO, Harrisburg (1230); Lewistown (920); and WCNR, Bloomsburg (930).

Pre-Registration For 2nd Semester Begins January 4

Tentative schedules for the second semester should be arranged during pre-registration, Jan. 4-15, Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar, recommended this week.

Lists of advisors and advisees will be posted on the College bulletin boards Jan. 4. All students should consult their advisor or for an appointment immediately, Miss Engle said.

At the selected time all registration forms should be completed. Seniors should have their rating sheets carefully checked to see that all course requirements will be met for graduation.

Students with limited semester hours restriction should sign up for only 15 hours. If permitted additional hours may be added when registering Feb. 1 or 2.

All students that neglect to pre-register will be fined $10 and will not be allowed to complete final registration with those students who have completed a tentative schedule with advisors, Miss Engle added.

Religion, Sociology Majors Visit Hospital

Members of the social problems and psychology of religion classes here, in addition to sociology majors, in cooperation with the Eta Gamma Kappa Club, recently toured the Harrisburg State Hospital.

Arrangements for the visit were made through the hospital chaplain, Dr. Myron Klinkman, who showed the students through parts of the hospital.

Many facilities and functions of the hospital were demonstrated to the 16 students making the tour.

The announcement was made after church officials approved a request by the College to use the sanctuary each week.

"We're pleased about the move because we were unhappy about the environment for services in the gym," Dr. Byerly said. "Now, we can achieve an atmosphere that is more appropriate for a worship service."

The Church organ and chimes will be used during the services, he added.

Ed Crill, dean of students, commented that there are still a few minor details to be completed in making the transition.

He pointed out that there will be no change in attendance regulations.

"We will continue to take attendance on the basis of the signed chapel programs turned in after the service," Dean Crill announced.

There will be no special seating arrangements in the Church, although students will be asked to fill up the front pews first.

Students may enter the Church through the North side doors or the front door.

"The move has several benefits for us in addition to providing a better location for services," Dean Crill continued.

He pointed out that the gymnasium will no longer have to be set up with chairs, which must be taken down immediately after the chapel program.

"There is no organ in the gym, and there was always a heating problem," he said.

Members of the Student Senate will be asked to serve as ushers for the services in the Church.

Cultural Arts Tour Of Europe Planned By College, Center

Elizabethtown College and the Harrisburg Area Center for Higher Education will cooperatively sponsor a 42-day cultural arts tour of Europe next summer, according to Dr. Roy McAuley, dean of the College.

The tour, scheduled from June 16 through July 27, will include stops in 13 countries to visit places and activities of cultural interest.

Ray P. Firestone, instructor in art at the Harrisburg Center, will act as director of the tour program. Study credit for those making the trip will be available through the College.

Countries on the tour itinerary include Austria, Belgium, England, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Monaco, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg, San Marino, Scotland and Switzerland.

The itinerary was set up to take in various activities in the field of cultural art, including drama, architecture, music, painting, sculpture, folk customs and religion.

The tourists will see a Shakespearian play, the famous Oberammergau Passion Play, and the leading points of geographic interest in the countries to be visited.

Total cost for the tour will be $1,029, Dean McAuley reported.

Brightest holiday
greetings to all

3-Act Play Tryouts Scheduled by Club

Tryouts for the comedy "Arsonic and Old Lace," to be presented by the Sock and Buskin dramatic club, will be held the first week after Christmas vacation, Mrs. C. G. Enterline, club advisor, announced.

Any student interested in earning a role is invited to try out in Room 241, Rider Memorial Hall, Monday or Tuesday, January 4-6, from 4 to 5 p. m., or Friday, January 8, from 2 to 3 p. m.

Political Science Club Schedules Speaker

Howard Bailey, a member of the Young Republican Committee in Lancaster, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Political Science Club, set for Tuesday, December 15, at 7:30 p. m. in Alpha Hall, room D.

According to Dottie Hyde, club president, Bailey will defend the Republican party platform for 1960, and also present a comparison of presidential candidates Richard Nixon and Nelson Rockefeller.

AS WE SEE IT

"...For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord."

LUKE—2:11

Make Christmas Safe

It would be interesting to discover, in this era of motivation research, what the word "holiday" means to most people. What is the first thing that flashes to mind when the word is mentioned?

Time off from work? A trip? An excuse to celebrate? A tragic accident toll?

Unfortunately, truthful answers probably would place all of those higher on the list than the true meaning of the holiday. And it's especially unfortunate that holidays must have an association with high accident tolls.

Christmas, with the deepest spiritual significance, is the deadliest holiday of all, according to the National Safety Council. Ironically, it achieves this terrible distinction precisely because we want it to be such a wonderful occasion.

It is a sentimental holiday. People will drive long distances for the traditional family reunion, undaunted by the worst weather. More travel—especially winter travel at high-way speeds—means more accidents.

It is a convivial holiday. The joyous spirit of the occasion is too often sought in liquid form. This deadly conjunction of the throttle and bottle has dimmed the true radiance from the star of Bethlehem.

The National Safety Council has asked for church leadership during this Christmas season to point out that accident prevention is practical religion, and that good will toward men can find no finer expression than behind the wheel of a car.

Resolutions Needed

Anyone for some New Year's resolutions? The students here have probably not given them a thought yet, but it wouldn't be a bad idea to start the mind working in that direction.

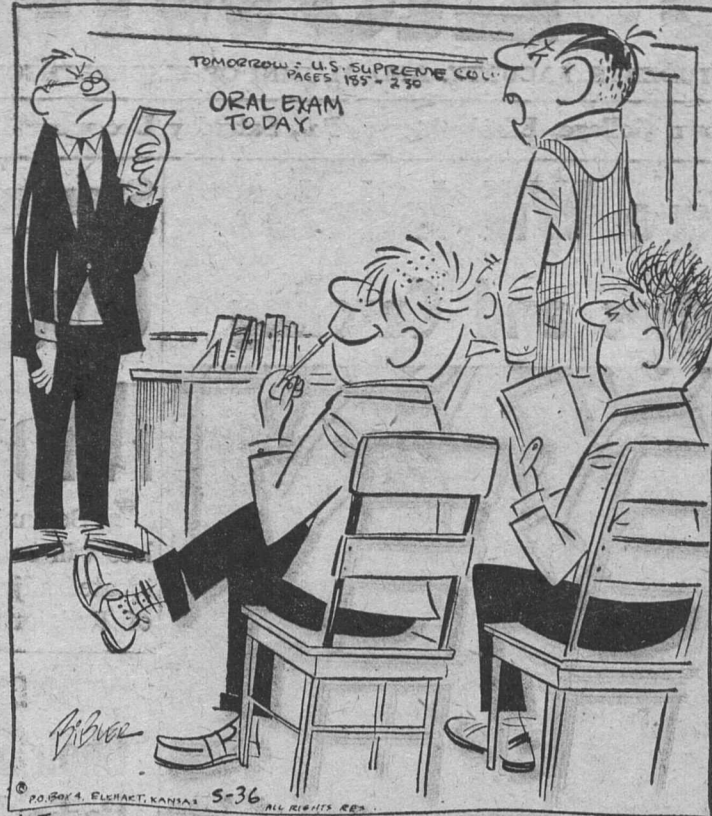

New Year's resolutions really can be a great help to everyone, even if they are not kept for more than a few days or weeks. They get one started off in the new year on the right foot, and that's most important!

Take, for instance, a resolution to study more earnestly and to be more serious in all one's College endeavors. Certainly, a look at the academic records for the enrollment as a whole finds that a mighty lot of students had better do just that.

There were only a few students who earned a Dean's List distinction for the marking period just past, but the list of students at the other end of the rating scale is even more appalling!

A New Year's resolution along the line suggested could do wonders toward making this school year the best ever. Determination in other directions also can be used to the student's advantage, if he would only put forth a little more effort.

American 'Degree Mills' Award Diplomas To Anyone for a Price as Low as $150

In a recent report, the American Council on Education pointed out that 200 "degree mills" in 37 states are annually awarding diplomas to any student, qualified or not, who can pay a fee as low as $150.

The report is contained in a book by Robert H. Reid entitled American Degree Mills.

Author Reid describes the "degree mills" as "certain institutions calling themselves colleges or universities which confer 'quick way' usually mail-order, degrees on payment of a fee."

He goes on to say that these "colleges" award bachelor's, master's, or doctor's degrees "without requiring the labor, thought, and attention usually expected of those who earn such degrees."

The Council on Education estimated that as many as 750,000 "students" annually, many in foreign countries, pay a total of $75 million for the bogus degrees.

As a result, many foreigners are beginning to question the integrity and quality of all American education. U. S. prestige has suffered accordingly, the Council related.

The Council's report added: "Degree mills advertise openly in this country and abroad in certain popular magazines of wide distribution. The 'student' who responds does not have to say much about his educational background . . . so long as he can pay the fee."

How can these fraudulent institutions flourish?

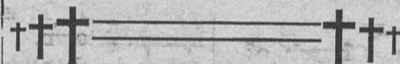

Because, in the Council's words, "The U. S., unlike most other countries of the world, has no ministry of education. State laws chartering institutions of higher education are not uniform and are actually quite lax in controlling educational malpractice."

In short, the U. S. has no single, uniform yardstick for accreditation of its colleges and universities.

The Council has called for "concerted action by the states leading to the adoption of uniform legislation which sets minimum standards for the licensing and operation of all institutions of higher education with special control of degree-granting privileges."

This business of "licensing" educational institutions has ugly overtones, but perhaps such action is needed in order to protect us against the worthless "degrees" being awarded to anyone who can pay the price.

Campus Prayer

Eternal God, as we approach the Christmas Season, may we be reminded of Thy gift to mankind which was an outpouring of Thy great love toward us. As we hear the familiar singing of the carols and look upon the familiar sights of Christmas, help us to appreciate more fully that which is beyond the limits of our human understanding. Create in us the spirit of love toward all peoples, irrespective of race, color, or creed; whether they be friend or foe. Help us to overcome our selfish attitudes and be willing to give of ourselves, so that others might be benefitted; that they might be given the same opportunities which Thou hast given to us. Help us to seek the truth in whatever we study, and peace not only among ourselves, but throughout the world, so that we might rejoice in praising God, and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." —AMEN.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Rev. Harold Z. Bomberger, '43

President, Alumni Association

As Christmas comes once again to our uneasy and complicated world, it helps to remind us of the value of little things. That first Christmas so many years ago came at a time when the might of Rome loomed as life's most overwhelming fact.

Living in a police state and subjected to continuous terrorism, the people found it difficult to realize that a baby born of obscure parents in a stable would eventually change this world more profoundly than any emperor who ever ruled.

Of course, a few with eyes of faith—some shepherds, some Wise Men and a thrilled but silent mother—had a dream that this precious baby was destined for a life which would transcend even the might of Rome. And how their faith and dream were justified:

Today the Roman Empire is what we study about in the ancient past; Caesar Augustus, its emperor when the baby was born and whose striking image was once stamped on every coin, is all but forgotten. But the name of Jesus is revered in most places on this planet and his Church still grows. His followers are innumerable.

This Christmas, with exciting plans for travel through outer space, the world fearfully on a nuclear powder-keg, a few nations with fabulous economic, political and military power and others whose millions are undernourished, let us take the time to appreciate life's less spectacular but more enduring gifts: the joy of sharing, the power of a good life, the satisfaction of a closely-knit family, the strength of a Christian college, the opportunity in a land of freedom, the influence of the Church, the presence of the Christ who guides, strengthens and enriches our pilgrimage, and the calm confidence that the values of our faith shall triumph over the more sordid and spectacular of our day.

May God bless us all as we, with our loved ones and neighbors, attempt to discover the deeper realities of Christmas.

Harrisburg Center Has Culture Course

Enrollment in the Elizabethtown College first semester undergraduate program of the Harrisburg Area College Center has reached a total of 272, Miss Emma Engle, local registrar, has announced.

The 123 male and 149 female students comprise 15 classes, held Monday through Thursday evening of each week.

English Composition appears as the course most in demand. For, in addition to the ten sections on the Elizabethtown campus, there are four sections of first semester and one section of second semester at the Harrisburg Center.

Elizabethtown faculty members teaching there are Dr. Robert A. Byerly, the Bible and modern problems; Mrs. Mildred H. Enterline, speech; Dr. Roy A. McAuley, world literature; and Dr. Levi Ziegler, teaching of social studies.

Newly established this year is an adult education class in culture which the center presents bi-monthly at the State Museum with lectures furnished by the State.

Henry M. Libhart, Elizabethtown English instructor, serves as coordinator.

Future lectures will include "The Moravians in American Culture," Dr. Paul A. W. Wallace, associate state historian; "An Archaeologist at Work," Fred Kinsey, III, anthropologist, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission; "Pennsylvania's Plain People," Dr. Maurice Mook, professor of anthropology, The Pennsylvania State University; and "The Life and Culture of the Pennsylvania Indian," John Witthoft, chief curator, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

Lecture dates are November 18; December 2 and 16; January 5 and 20; February 3 and 17; March 2, 16 and 30; and April 13 and 27.

The public is invited.

Faculty Members Plan To Attend Conference

Mrs. Mildred Enterline, of the English department, will read a paper on the "Development of the Pageant" at the Pennsylvania State Education Association convention, to be held December 30, in Harrisburg.

Dr. Albert L. Gray, Jr. and Prof. Robert Bowers, both of the business department, plan to attend the annual meeting of the American Economics Association in Washington, D. C. on December 27-30.

FACULTY OPINIONS

Profs List Varied Reasons to Explain Low Number of Students on Dean's List

by VIRGINIA WILLS

A group of professors, when asked to express their opinion as to why there was such a small percentage of students on the Dean's List for the first half of the first semester, gave these answers:

Dean Roy McAuley: "I am also concerned and puzzled by this subject. I am calling in each freshman in difficulty to find out why he is in difficulty, as I have found that freshmen have the most difficulty during the first half of the first semester, while they are still adjusting. One third of our student body is freshmen, and many of these are still deciding if they should be in college."

"I don't apologize for the standards of this school. They are the same now as they have been. There has been no change. We must keep our standards high in order to give our diploma some meaning. We can't give a student a diploma merely because we like him."

Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh: "A large number of the problem people are freshmen. They have the problem of adjustment from high school standards to college work. It all amounts to the fact that the student body as a whole isn't applying itself to the extent of its ability. Maybe they're judging performance on the basis of past experience, and maybe we're getting more severe in our demands."

Prof. Armon Snowden: "The faculty in general are interested in upping the academic standard. This is not so much a conscious effort to keep people off the Dean's List as it is an unconscious effort to raise the level of work required. In the end this will help the students' standing and prepare them for graduate school work. It would be interesting to have a student-faculty forum on this subject."

Dr. Oscar Stambaugh: "This is mostly a matter of less personal attention. You can't give the students in a class of 50 the same individual attention as the students in a class of 10. Five or six years ago, we didn't have the social life or the extracurricular program we do today. I am not saying that these are bad, but they cut off the time that could be used for study. I don't think students are any poorer today, but there are other demands. You can do only so much in so much time."

Dr. Charles Rahter: "I think that the students are not living up to their potential. Many things enter into this, and I can't put my finger on the source of the problem."

Dr. Albert L. Gray: "There is no acceptable way to judge the number or percent who should be on the Dean's List. Therefore the 'few' who were honored this mid-semester appears low only in the light of past years and cannot be compared with a non-existent standard. The professional training and the academic degrees obtained by the present faculty are the highest and finest in the history of the school. It should not be surprising that they demand much from the student body."

"Grades are subjective judgments and are by far the most difficult part of teaching. Of all the wild statements we professors make, the grades we give are the least capable of justification."

Mrs. Austin Fellenbaum: "Perhaps the recent evaluation by the Middle States Association has re-emphasized standards. However, I am more inclined to think that the students, especially the freshmen, even though they have a great deal of general knowledge, fail to have any conception of the term mastery in the learning process."

Prof. Clyde K. Nelson: "A short Dean's List, particularly at mid-term, might suggest that there has been a slump in student effort. A continuing reflection of lack of attainment should stimulate a search for causes but not until a trend is apparent."

- OFF THE - BEATEN TRACK

by BILL HOAR

I used to have a pet habit every Christmas 'til last year; that was, saving and pinning up the little Yuletide scenes on the front page of the newspaper that boldly announce, "Only eight more shopping days 'til Xmas."

I would begin cutting them out a month ahead, and each day, eagerly await the paper so I could subtract another 24 hours.

Last year, one of my friends asked me what Christmas meant to me. Well, right then in utter disgust I tore down my small collection, because I had to reply, "Five more shopping days to go."

I wonder how many of us really feel the same way. Undoubtedly, we count and dwell on the gifts we are to receive. We are disappointed if a Christmas Eve party invitation doesn't find its way to our mailbox. And we must receive a card of greetings from all our friends or we are personally affronted.

Haven't we really missed something as we consider the approaching season?

I believe we are too settled that our Christmas must be a large material thing filled only with tangibles. The small candle is no longer significant. We must make our homes look like a movie marquee, with all the glitter and pomp inside of a premier performance.

A small Christmas seal will no longer secure the paper on a package, but in its stead we tie a large ribbon to hold it firm and paste three or four gaudy bows (that cost us 50 cents at the five and dime) that serve no practical purpose whatsoever.

This year, let's be different.

Extend a sincere greeting to all you know, give Mom that extra little kiss that she needs so much since you are almost a stranger, don't count on the gift, but watch with satisfaction the glow on the face of someone you give a present to, and remember—it's the simple, little things that mean so much.

Your reporter sincerely wishes you a very happy Yuletide season full of thanks and contentment.

College Christmas Greetings

I extend to all our students, parents, faculty, alumni and other friends my kindest wishes for a meaningful Christmas Season and hope for the best in the year ahead.

The Christmas message has profound meanings. To some it suggests a vacation period, or the exchange of gifts and greetings; to others it provides a time for fellowship with families and friends.

Associated with the Christmas story are four distinct types of individuals. The first are the Wise Men who came from the East—the intellectual center of civilization at the time of the birth of Christ. They were seekers of the truth. They sought the child so that they could bring their gifts and worship him. They were wise men indeed.

The second group are the Scribes, who were interested primarily in following tradition and observing the letter of the law. They were not interested in the truth. They were blind to the light of the star and deaf to the song of the angels.

The third group is represented by King Herod. He was afraid of the truth. He was concerned about protecting his vested interest. He attempted to crush and conceal the truth. He was subtle but not smart. He was crafty but not wise. He was afraid of the competition of truth with his way of life.

The fourth group are Joseph and Mary. They guarded the truth with deep affection. They were guided by the truth when they went to Egypt and when they returned to their home. The birth of their son was the beginning of a new age for mankind.

Great truths are to be found deep in the heart of the Christmas message. Today, we have the experience of history to help us interpret the meaning of the birth of Christ. As the Christmas Season comes to us year after year we should be reminded (a) that God is trying to break through mankind's weakness and its clouds of war, hate, jealousy,

INJURIES COULD BE FACTOR

Jays Fix Sights for Battle With Millersville Tonight

After getting an unexpected night off with the postponement of the Juniata game Thursday, the Blue Jay basketball squad focused their sights on tonight's encounter with traditional rival Millersville STC.

Jayvee action starts at 6:45 in the Elizabethtown High School gym. The varsity game is scheduled for 8:30 p. m.

The Juniata game was rescheduled for Saturday, February 27, after a flu epidemic hit the Juniata campus, according to Athletic Director Ira Herr.

Coach Don Smith's Jays split two games this week by defeating Dickinson here Saturday and losing to Pennsylvania Military College at Chester Tuesday.

Co-captain Bob Geiger, displaying a good shooting eye, is leading the Jay scorers with 67 points in three games.

Freshman Bill Bechtold, whom Coach Smith describes as "a top prospect," is next with 53. Barry Boyer has 40, Co-captain Glenn Bruckhart 37, Harnly 28, and Marty Hefferan 21.

LOSE AT PMC

Smith was concerned about ankle injuries following the PMC game. Hefferan and Harnly were both limping around on game legs. Harnly might see action tonight, but Hefferan's status is extremely doubtful.

Trailing virtually all the way, the Blue Jays dropped their first game of the year Tuesday at Pennsylvania Military College, 91-79.

The Cadets, driving well for inside shots, maintained a seven-point advantage throughout most of the game. They out-scored E-town from the floor and the foul line.

Geiger's 25 points was the top scoring feat for both teams. Bruckhart and Bechtold each had 20. Dick Mills was high for PMC with 19.

DEFEAT DICKINSON

With four men in double figures the Blue Jays pulled away from Dickinson in the final eight minutes to earn an 81-73 decision here last Saturday night before 550 fans.

Geiger again led the Jays with 22 points. Other top scorers for Smith's crew were Bechtold with 19, Boyer with 17, and Harnly with 11.

The Jays had a 33-30 halftime advantage, but the lead changed hands several times in the second half before E-town took command with an 11-point spread near the three-quarter mark.

Marty Hefferan's second-half play-making sparked the Jays' offense.

E-town Jayvees Have 1-2 Record

The E-town Jayvees will be out to balance their early season basketball log tonight as they take on the Millersville understudies at 6:45.

Coach Jim Baugher's squad broke even in two games this week after losing to the Rutgers of South Jersey JV's, 70-61, in overtime.

DEFEATED AT PMC

Despite a 20-point effort by Charlie Ashenfelter, the JV's dropped a 79-71 decision at PMC Tuesday.

Joe Holubek and Bill Ehrhart, with 15 and 14 points respectively, helped, but the Jays trailed consistently.

TAKE DICKINSON

Reversing the score of the PMC encounter, Jim Baugher's squad moved out to a 9-point halftime lead, 40-31, and held on to defeat the Dickinson understudies, 79-71, here last Saturday.

Lanky Dan McKiernan led the Jays with 25 points. Gerry Co-baugh had 14, Ashenfelter 12, and Dale Good and Bill Clarke each 10 for E-town.

Jaygal Courtsters Boast Good Height

"There will be no high-heeled sneakers necessary for this year's Jaygal basketball squad," said Coach Julia Risser after looking over her 18 newcomers.

"The height of this team is better than it's been during my five years of coaching at E-town," she added.

The Jaygals have plenty of depth to back up returnees from varsity and JV squads of last year.

Back again are varsity forwards Carroll Kreider, Pat Usinger and JoAnn Robinson along with guards Ruth Tice, Kay Jones and Barm Schlickemaier.

JV returnees include Pat Williams, Barb Jones, Linda Elliot, Sandy Reifsteck and Janet Myers.

Managers Marty Eppl and Sandy MacLaughlin will put in their second year behind the scenes.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

If the winter and spring athletic teams can maintain the pace set by the three fall sports, this could be perhaps the winningest year in the history of intercollegiate sports on the campus.

Overall, counting ties as half a win, the soccer, cross country, and field hockey squads had a combined record of 18 victories, five defeats, and five ties. That's a percentage of .732. Any major league team with a performance like that could win a pennant hands down.

The biggest under-the-surface worry plaguing Coach Don Smith these days is the condition of several of his players' ankles.

"Stretch" Bruckhart and Bob Geiger came down with ankle injuries within ten minutes of each other during a pre-season session. Several other boys on the squad have weak ankles. One of them must have his heavily bandaged before every practice.

As Smith explained it, ankle injuries are the most common injury on the basketball court.

"It's easy for a man to twist his ankle while jumping for a rebound in a mass scuffle under the basket," Smith said. "If he happens to come down on another man's foot his weight is thrown on the ankle, and that could result in a severe sprain."

Smith is one guy who is thinking basketball almost all the time. For example, during the Christmas vacation he is planning to see a couple of high school prospects perform in New Jersey.

Though they lost that first meet to Juniata, the wrestling team has a good chance to better their 1-10 record of last year. Bill Kendig and Jim Weaver, both apparently in top shape, appear set for good years.

And Freshman Ted Bond could be the answer to Coach Dick Hershey's search for a good light man. If the Jay grapplers can come up with a creditable showing in the heavier weights, they should be okay.

Barring injuries, the matsters should improve steadily as the year progresses. This is essentially a young squad in need of seasoning that can only come in match competition. Let's back 'em.

From all reports, Millersville doesn't have as much as in past basketball seasons, but the Marauders could be specially inspired for tonight's traditional rivalry with the Blue Jays.

The Lancaster press toasted MSTC Coach Dick DeHart earlier this week. The Marauders may

Grapplers Looking For Victory; Lose First Two Meets

Beaten in their first two meets of the current campaign, the E-town wrestling team saw their losing streak reach 12 straight. As a result, Coach Dick Hershey's perpetual grin began to droop just a bit.

Nipped by one point in the opener at Juniata, the Blue Jay matmen were convincingly trounced by Dickinson here Wednesday evening, 31-2. Only a draw by Freshman Ted Bond in the 123-lb. class prevented a shutout.

The summary:

125-lb. — Bond (E) and Mancuzzi (D) tied.

130-lb. — Hughes (D) pinned Moore (E) (7:32).

137-lb. — Ayres (D) def. Kendig (E).

177-lb. — Ainsworth (D) pinned Hetzel (E) (5:88).

Hwt.—Green (D) pinned Junkins (E) (1:37).

OPEN WITH LOSS

Losing the last four matches, the Jays dropped a heart-breaking 16-15 verdict at Juniata last Saturday in the season's opener.

Victories by Ted Bond, Bill Kendig and Jim Weaver, and a draw by Joe Moore gave Hershey's grapplers a 15-2 lead, but the Indians came back to shut out the Jays in the heavier classes to earn their first intercollegiate meet in two years.

The summary:

123-lb. — Bond (E) pinned Parks (J) (2:16, 2nd period)

130-lb.—Moore (E) and Keiser (J) tied.

137-lb.—Kendig (E) def. Harcom (J).

147-lb. — Weaver (E) pinned Reimer (J) (1:14, 2nd period).

well be out to give DeHart a prestige-building win.

And then there's the area sportscaster who took in the E-town-Dickinson game. He called the PR Office a couple of days later to report that several things impressed him during the action.

They included the Jays' balanced offense, the individual efforts of some of the boys, and a blond coed in a purple sweater seated in the stands.

The Men's Intramural Basketball League opened Tuesday night with four games.

North and South Halls, both perennial powers in the league, were upset in the lid-lifters. The 60's nipped North, 34-33, while the Vets bounced South, 48-36. Bill Hoar, with 11 points, led the 60's. Dave Yost was high for North with 9.

Gene Kerns and Bill Pensyl, 16 and 14 points respectively, led the Vets' romp. Bill Longenecker's 12 points topped the South's scorers.

In other games, the Cloverly Colts, with Bill Franks' 15 points showing the way, drubbed West Hall, 42-33. Jerry Morris was high for West with 11.

Club 16 bumped the Commuters, 34-28. Carroll Hershey was top man for the winners with 13 points, while David Myers led the Commuters with 12.

The Women's Ping Pong Tournament is under way with the second round to be finished before vacation starts. No new tournaments will be started until second semester begins.

College Initiates 3rd Graduation Exercise Here

There will be three graduation exercises per year at Elizabethtown College beginning this semester, according to a new policy set up by the administration recently.

In addition to the customary Commencement in June, there will be January and August graduation exercises, similar to the one in June but on a smaller scale.

The first January Commencement will be held Wednesday, February 3, in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

Previously, students could receive their baccalaureate diplomas only in June or at the end of summer school in August. The change has been made so that students completing their requirements in January could begin teaching or any other position with diploma in hand, and not have to accept a lesser salary or position because of lack of a degree.

The January and August Commencements will be upgraded, with outstanding speakers and honorary degrees awarded. The students graduating then will appear in academic regalia, as will the participating officers of the College.

Those students eligible for January or August Commencements will have the option of delaying their degrees to the June exercises if they wish.

Graduate Record Exams Required Of English Majors

Senior English majors will be required to take the graduate record examinations early in April with the mathematics and chemistry majors. This is an innovation for the English and math departments and the second year for the chemistry department.

These exams will test each student in his major field. Their purpose is similar to that of the college boards: to provide a norm on the basis of which graduate schools may judge applicants.

As the test is administered nationally and marked uniformly, it will eliminate the uncertainties caused by the dissimilar marking systems at different colleges.

According to Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, students who desired to take this test previously had to travel to Franklin and Marshall College and pay for the test. The administration therefore decided to administer the test to all majors in the fields involved with no charge to the students.

The mathematics, chemistry and English departments are all planning to excuse those students making satisfactory grades in these tests from the final in their major.

Dr. Louise Kelly, chairman of the English department, feels that both students and teachers will profit from these tests. "The test ought to reveal to the department the deficiencies and excellencies of the courses." She also commented that both teachers and students will be able to evaluate their work more objectively by this comparison with other colleges.

PLANNING THE DETAILS . . . Prof. Wilbur E. Weaver (center), College Store manager, gets together with Bill Bair, Senate book exchange committee chairman, and Bill Hoar, president of the Student Senate, in working out final details of the used book exchange program being readied for initial use January 18 here on campus. Hoar, in following up with his election platform of last March, got the program under way with the administration. It should be of much benefit to students in the buying and selling of used books come the semester's end.

Pre-Registration in Progress; New Courses Ready for Students

Pre-registration, which started January 4, is now in progress until January 15, according to Miss Emma Engle, College registrar.

"A student who fails to pre-register will not be permitted to register on February 2 or 3 and will therefore be requested to pay a late registration fee of $10," Miss Engle remarked.

"An early appointment will be to the student's benefit and will help in the completion of pre-registration," declared Miss Engle.

The registrar stated that several new courses have been added to the schedule. These include aesthetics and Old Testament literature which are additions to the Bible and Philosophy Department, and higher algebra, which will enhance the Mathematics Department.

Miss Engle mentioned that other subjects are being offered which have been omitted for several years. These subjects are creative writing, educational sociology and techniques in biology.

"If a student has a question about the assignment of an adviser, he should see me. If a student's average grade has been below 'C', it is recommended that he pre-enroll for only 15 semester hours. An additional course may be added at final registration time, if the 'C' average is attained," she reported.

'60 Yearbook Headed For May Delivery

The 1960 CONESTOGAN is well on its way to completion, according to Dorothy Hyde, editor, with the first proofs of copy recently returned to the College.

Miss Hyde reported that over 75 per cent of the copy, in addition to the advertisements for the yearbook, have been sent to the printer. The covers have been bound and are now awaiting the completion of the copy, she added.

"I am especially pleased with the cooperation of the literary staff, who have so far done their job adequately so that the layout staff can now begin working," the editor remarked.

As for the photography staff, Miss Hyde feels that the shots of the buildings along with the precise action shots are a credit to their excellent work.

The recipient of the yearbook's dedication has been selected, but the choice will not be disclosed prior to publication.

Prof. Recovering From Heart Attack

Dr. N. Franklin Stump, chairman of the Psychology Department here, is recuperating in St. Joseph's Hospital, Lancaster, after suffering a heart attack before Christmas. Reports indicate he is gaining strength and is apparently enroute to recovery. There was no announcement as to when he will return to his teaching duties.

Chapel Speaker Set

Mrs. Inez Long, Lancaster, will be the guest speaker during the chapel service next Wednesday, January 13. She will speak on "The Person in Personal Honor." It will be the last chapel service of the semester.

FROM ALPHA, TO RIDER, TO GYM, TO CHURCH

Chapel Services Held Many Places as College Grew

by JOYCE MILLER

Another mark in the growth of the College has been noted with the new arrangements for Chapel services in the sanctuary of the local Church of the Brethren.

Although the response from both students and faculty has been quite favorable, old-timers on the campus may look back nostalgically to the early days of the College when the enrollment was small enough to maintain an intimate, vesper-like quality to chapel services.

Miss Martha Martin remembers the chapel services as a daily devotion for inspiration and devotions in the Alpha Hall living room. The services were mainly student-conducted with faculty members as speakers. Very few outsiders came in to speak; therefore, when missionaries were in the area, it was a special treat to have them come.

When Rider Memorial Hall was built in 1906, plans for a chapel were taken into consideration. The chapel was built for a capacity of 200, which probably seemed like a goodly number then. Each student was assigned a certain numbered seat and the services were held for a half-hour three times a week.

Book Raymond Massey For March Program In Campus Culture Series

Raymond Massey, distinguished actor of stage and screen and television, will present a literary concert concerning great Americans as the featured Community Cultural program of the school year here Saturday, March 5, at 8 p. m. in the College auditorium-gymnasium.

The announcement of Massey's appearance was made by Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Cultural Program Committee, which is made up of representatives of the College and the Patton School for Boys.

Prof. Fisher related that Massey is one of the biggest "names" to ever be scheduled to come to the campus for the cultural series.

One of the most distinguished stars of the theatre world, Mr. Massey, a native of Canada, now lives in New England. He has been in show business for 40 years, working in England and the United States in various positions: acting, directing, producing, making pictures and doing radio, television and recordings.

He recently has added writing to his efforts, and his play, "The Hanging Judge," was successfully produced in London and on the "Climax!" television program here.

Mr. Massey is best remembered for his stage roles in "Spread Eagle," "Five Star Final," "Ethan Frome," "The Doctor's Dilemma," "Pygmalion," "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," and "John Brown's Body."

Of the 60 and more pictures in which he has appeared, Mr. Massey's favorites are "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "East of Eden," and "The Naked and the Dead," the latter of which will be released to the public in the near future.

READY OR NOT

Semester Exams To Start Jan. 18

Final examinations for first semester courses are scheduled for January 18 through 27.

This year the examination period covers eight days, lengthening by three days the schedule for previous years. The change is an attempt to prevent any student from having three exams in one day and to allow more time for the professors to grade the papers, Dean Roy McAuley reported.

Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar, disclosed only three students reported they had more than two exams scheduled in one day. Their programs have been adjusted to more evenly distribute the tests.

The three two-hour test periods each day begin at 8:00 a.m., 10:15 a.m., and 1:30 p.m. Detailed schedules, listing the room, day, and time of the tests, have been distributed to all students.

Dormitories will close at 3 p. m., Wednesday, January 27, for the inter-semester vacation. They will reopen at 3 p. m. Sunday, January 31. The last meal before vacation will be Wednesday lunch. The first meal after vacation will be Monday breakfast.

SOMETHING NEW—The first students leave campus and head toward the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren for the initial Chapel Service in the Church sanctuary. The move from the gym to the Church has been favorably received, from all reports. Current enrollment fills sanctuary to capacity.

Eventually the student body a corporate unity never before outgrew the little chapel and achieved. And now with services the administration was forced in the church sanctuary the devotionality the services with seniors and juniors required to attend once a week, sophomores twice, and freshmen three times.

This plan was far from ideal, but it has only been in the past three years that a single weekly service for all students in the gymnasium was once again initiated. The longer chapel service held once a week gives

The next big step to be taken will be the building of a chapel on the College campus. This still remains in the future.

As Dr. Robert A. Byerly states, a chapel service "is every bit a part of a liberal arts education, for it affords an opportunity to learn of contemporary religious thought."

AS WE SEE IT

The Loyalty Oath—

Under the terms of the National Defense Education Act, students seeking loans for education expenses are required to sign a loyalty oath swearing allegiance to the United States. The oath has come under fire with a number of prominent colleges and universities refusing to take part in the loan program.

The controversy has drawn national attention.

The loyalty provision has been termed discriminatory in that it, in a sense, sullies the patriotism of students and the academic fraternity. Other government funds may be procured without taking a loyalty oath in many cases.

Those who oppose the oath say that a Communist will never hesitate to sign a statement of allegiance. Hence, the only real consequence of the oath is that it lays the foundation for possible perjury charges should an individual be proven to be the agent of a foreign power.

Our courts need every legal weapon to combat Communist infiltration in all phases of our society. The loyalty oath gives the courts another tool to put an exposed Communist agent where he belongs.

Hence, the only ones who really lose by taking the loyalty oath are those who swear falsely.

President Eisenhower, speaking at a recent press conference, said he will seek to soften the law's provisions at the next session of Congress. However, he said, as a loyal American, he is personally ready each morning "to take an oath that I am not a Communist and that I am loyal to the United States."

As we see it, the whole controversy is a bit too academic to merit the attention it has received. Discriminatory or not, why should any loyal American have qualms about taking an oath and swearing his solemn allegiance to his country?

Mistake Wil Happen

Oh, the joys of being a newspaper editor! Nothing is more thrilling to him than seeing the finished product come off the press—the result of long hours of hard, concentrated work and worry.

Why worry? Because every editor likes to see his paper come off the press just as he saw it in blueprint form—no mistakes, no blurry pictures, etc. And it sometimes takes worrying to just get it off the press!

Then the real joys come. . . . The editor opens his paper hoping just this once to have a perfect edition. He is about to take a sigh of relief when—oops! He sees an error. It happens almost every time, no matter how careful he tries to be. It may be the fault of the proofreader, the editor or the printer, but regardless of the person at fault, the mistake is still there.

Take, for example, the issue of November 21, when a letter in one of the major sports headlines fell out of place while the paper was on the press. Hence, the word "Rebounding" came out "ebounding."

Well, we're still trying to publish a newspaper free of errors, and we may succeed before Edition 18 comes up. We hope so!

Dean Outlines Sure-Fire Procedures For Flunking All Final Examinations

by Dean Roy McAuley

We all need motivation: the alarm clock in the morning, the stop sign on the way to the College, the noon whistle. They all motivate us to acceptable life adjustment.

Final examinations are motivations to learning. Examinations are educational tools, and not guillotines of judgment and reprisal, or the monsters of professors Frankstein. I mention this because one of the greatest determinants of your success or failure in an academic examination is your attitude toward it.

Here is a legitimate part of the learning adventure, and it should be approached as such.

Actually, most of your study for finals has already been done. It has been done (or not done) in your daily preparation and class attendance. At this period of the game you are not going to improve your final score greatly by cramming.

A re-reading of important portions of the text, a review of class notes and outlines, and discussion with classmates over important topics all assist in organizing your store of information. If the information is not currently present then there is nothing to organize.

If you are looking for a way to ensure a poor performance in a final, I offer the following suggestions:

On the night before the final don't begin to study until there is quiet in the dormitory. If the dormitory is quiet before 1 a. m., try to round up a congenial group and noisy things up a bit. Sometime after midnight boil up a pot of coffee, put your text and notes in front of you and stare at them between catnaps. By 8 a. m. you should be quite cobwebby and in excellent condition to fail any examination.

After all is said and done, realize this—your professors will be happy, too, if you do well.

Religion Professors Prepare Articles For Publications

Three members of the Elizabethtown College Religious Education Department are presently preparing articles for various Church of the Brethren publications.

Contributing to the CBYF Youth Quarterly and Leader are Dr. Robert A. Byerly, head of the department, and Prof. Armon D. Snowden. Dr. Byerly's series of five lessons, appearing January 31 through February 28, deals with the Christian attitude toward various social groups, while Prof. Snowden's unit, "The Church Ministry," is divided into three sections: the ministry of service, peace and reconciliation.

Dates of publication for the latter are August 6, 13 and 20.

Further contributions of Dr. Byerly's include the first four of the Gospel Messenger Brotherhood articles on Discipleship and a unit on "Comparative Religions" for the CBYF Program Kit.

Since 1957 when the Brethren Leader first appeared, Dr. Carl W. Zelger has edited a column entitled "Worship Suggestions." At present he is also engaged as associate editor for a new Church of the Brethren History of Eastern Pennsylvania. This work will cover the period from 1915 to the present.

A past contributing editor of the Gospel Messenger, Miss Martha Martin also looks forward to beginning several articles for publication in the near future.

Campus Clubs in the News

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

The newly-organized Philosophy Club will hold its third meeting Sunday, January 10, at 8 p.m. at Prof. Armon Snowden's new home. The subject, "Desire," will be discussed. Meetings of the group are held once a month, according to Don Kerkelager, the club's organizer.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

A discussion of the 1960 Inter-collegiate Conference on Government will be conducted at the January meeting of the Political Science Club, to be held in Room D, Alpha Hall, at 7:30 p.m. All who plan to attend the regional and state conventions are requested to be present at this meeting.

ECCA

The ECCA reminds students of the meditation hour held each week-day night from 10 to 10:30 o'clock in Rider Memorial Chapel.

PHI BETA CHI

The Phi Beta Chi Club now boasts of 14 new members, recently initiated into the organization. They include: Rosalind Griffin, Mae Taylor, Carrol Hershey, Ellwood Kerkelager, Bruce Eppe, Harry Bell, Marilyn Bucknum, William McCracken, Charles Denlinger, Elizabeth Peacock, Virginia Wills, Terry McAfee, Brenda Craddock and Sandra Prosser.

Last of 'Career' Series To Be Presented Jan. 12

"Careers in Journalism, Radio and TV" will be the topic for discussion Tuesday, January 12, when Elizabethtown College will present its last College of the Air program for the semester over WGAL-TV, Lancaster.

Mr. James L. M. Yeingst, instructor in journalism here, and Mr. Paul Rodenhauer, production manager of WGAL-TV, will be the speakers for the program.

Mr. Yeingst also served as coordinator for the series presented by this College, entitled "Careers and How to Plan Them." A new series will be offered during the second semester.

BEATEN TRACK

What happened to the fans at the Lycoming game the other night? Seems like the proverbial cat had most of our tongues, for a pin could have been heard drop throughout most of the game.

The big fellow on the opposing team who straightened out the net got a bigger hand than most any of our team efforts.

Granted, maybe the team didn't produce as well as we wanted or expected, but let's be good sports about it all and keep our chins high. We have a good school and a good team, so let's be proud of both and show it through some unified school spirit.

Has everyone heard about the bowling marathon sponsored by several of the fellows in the barracks? Following the vacation, they wanted to do something different, so they went on an all-night bowling spree and reached a grand total of 48 games. They hit the sack at 6:00 a. m.

Also on the marathon idea, the boys in the barracks are once more trying to make headlines. Seems as if another college held a basketball marathon that lasted for three days, and quite naturally these men can't be outdone, so next semester they're going for four days.

Your reporter ran into an old-time prospector in the vicinity of the New Dorm the other day. Seems as if there has been such a rash of glittering rocks on the fingers of our pretty coeds, that he intends to strike it rich. Seriously, best wishes to all recipients!

Chemistry majors are well-known about campus for the spirit of congeniality which exists among them. Some might even say they're about as close as "kissin' cousins." At least that's how it appeared when Dr. O. F. Stambaugh and Miss Zoe G. Proctor returned one afternoon to find their office gayly decorated in the holiday mood with red ribbon and mistletoe. Good luck in the finals!

Plan Demonstration On Reading Process

Demonstration of a reading controller and a tachistoscope will be given on campus Thursday, January 14, from 3:30 to 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Mildred Enterline, sponsor of the program.

The demonstration, to be held in Brinser Lecture Room, has been planned by Mrs. Enterline for her class in teaching of language arts. All prospective teachers and instructors in the Elizabethtown Area schools are being invited.

The reading controller to be demonstrated measures the reading rate and comprehension of interest. Mrs. Enterline explained, while the tachistoscope measures eye movement.

International Relations Students Take Trip To New York City

Thirteen students enrolled in the international relations class, taught by Dr. Henry Hood, recently spent a weekend in New York City.

The group visited the United Nations building, saw the off-Broadway show, "Enemy of the People," and toured the American Museum of Natural History and the Hayden Planetarium.

Sight-seeing and a visit to the Radio City Music Hall also were on the agenda for the trip. Before returning to the College, the students visited the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and the Riverside Church.

Jays Nip Lycoming; Face LVC Tonight, Albright on Monday

Back on an even keel following Wednesday night's 69-60 triumph over Lycoming here, the Blue Jays run into two of the better teams on their schedule as they collide with a tough Lebanon Valley team at Annville tonight and then battle Albright here Monday.

Both games shape up as stiff challenges to Coach Don Smith's crew. LVC, with a more potent attack, is greatly improved over last season. Albright is being touted as a prime contender for Middle Atlantic Conference honors.

In addition, the Jays meet Moravian here Thursday and travel to Millersville STC next Saturday night.

TOPPLE LYCOMING

Showing the effects of the long holiday recess, the Jays returned to the court wars Wednesday to dump Lycoming, 69-60, in a sluggish encounter at Elizabethtown High School. The win gives E-town a 3-3 log.

With five men in double figures, E-town paced a nip and tuck game with the Warriors before pulling away to a comfortable 9-point margin in the dying minutes.

Freshman Bill Bechtold topped the Jays with 16 points. Bob Geiger notched 15, Ed Harnly 13, Barry Boyer 12, and Glenn Bruckhart 11.

Jack Boyd led Lycoming with 19. Hal Judis, a fine frosh guard, followed with 16 for the visitors.

JOLTED AT ST. JOSEPH'S

The Blue Jays ran their losing skein to three straight by absorbing a sound 93-69 drubbing at St. Joseph's in the final game prior to the holiday vacation.

Trailing all the way, the Jays were unable to cope with the Hawks' superior height. St. Joseph's grabbed 61 rebounds to the Jays' 28.

Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart, the Jays' co-captain, took the evening's scoring honors with 21 points. Bob Geiger had 16, Ed Harnly 12.

The Hawks, paced by John Egan's 17 points, had five men in double figures.

DUMPED BY MSTC

Unable to get their offense out of low gear, the Blue Jays fell apart in the second half and were smothered, 65-46, in the first encounter with Millersville STC here prior to the holiday vacation.

Trailing 24-21 at half-time, the Jays fell out of serious contention in the third period. They helped seal their own fate with ragged passing and poor shooting in the face of a well-knit Marauder defense.

Geiger's 11 points was Elizabethtown's top offensive effort. Bechtold had 10. MSTC's lanky Jim Bishop, a bear on the boards, led the Marauders with 19.

JV's Drop Decisions To M-ville, Stevens

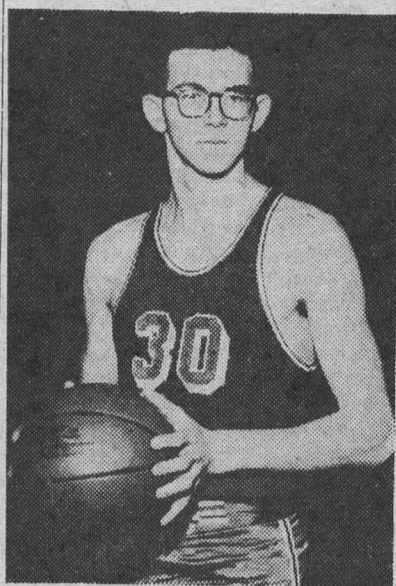

The Blue Jay junior varsity court continued to flounder by absorbing sound thrashings at the hands of their counterparts from Millersville STC and Stevens Trade School.

After trailing by a 40-31 count at halftime in the Millersville encounter, Coach Jim Baugher's squad collapsed completely midway through the second half to go under by a 93-71 count.

Bill Clarke came up with a 19-point performance in the JV's futile effort. Charlie Ashenfelter had 13, Bob Weimer 12, and Dan McKiernan 11.

The same general pattern repeated itself in the Stevens game as the Jays fell behind by 15 points at halftime and eventually took an 87-65 drubbing.

Joe Holubek topped the Jays with 18 points. Weimer had 14, and Jack Lantz collected 9.

Intramural

The Cloverly Colts, led by Pepper Frank's 17 points, trounced South December 15 by a 65-29 score in the men's basketball tournament.

Leading scorer for South was Ed Goodhart with 10 points. The Vets defeated West, 30-24, as Gene Kerns racked up 14 points for the winners, while Jerry Morris paced the losers with 13.

The '60s edged the Commuters by a 27-25 count. High man for the '60s was Bill Hoar with 12 tallies, and the Commuters were led by Carl Myers with 10 points. Club 16 won over North by a score of 47-44.

Ray Deiner led the winners with 10 points, while Milt Smith and Gene Gordon each tallied six for the North cause.

In the games of January 5, South, with Ed Goodhart scoring eight points, squeaked by North, 30-29 in overtime. The North scorers were led by Loy Garber's 11 points.

The Vets took a victory over the '60s, 55-54. Bill Pensyl chalked up 18 points for the Vets, and Charlie Byers led the '60s with 14.

West Hall defeated the Commuters, 36-34. High man for West was Earl Mellot with 12 points, while Carl Myers led the Commuters with 16 tallies. The Cloverly Colts were swamped by Club 16, 50-33. Gerry Botdorf paced the winners with 14 markers, while Pepper Frank tied the Colts with 15.

As for the women's intramural program, Marty Epply, chairman, reports that the ping-pong tournament is still in progress, with no winners as yet declared. The bowling tournament will begin the first week in February.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

A few post mortems:

While the Blue Jays helped to close their own coffin with ragged passing and shooting in that Millersville game here, a lot of credit must be given to the Marauders' defense, which completely frustrated Don Smith's club.

The Teachers, like the Jays, had troubles on offense, but their defense, which kept a tight rein on Bob Geiger, Bill Bechtold and Barry Boyer was something to see.

The Jays were forced to do most of their shooting from the outside. And the Teachers' control of the backboards made most of E-town's offensive thrusts a one-shot-and-done effort. We made only 17 of 63 shots from the floor.

And while we're thinking about that M-ville ambush, you might like to know that the Jays' total of 46 points represents the worst offensive showing for an E-town club in years.

The last time the Jays were so impotent came almost seven years ago to the day, when on December 10, 1952, we dropped a 74-45 game to Gettysburg.

All things considered, the first MSTC game last month is something all of us would like to forget except for the added incentive it might give the Jays in the return match at Millersville next Saturday.

By Kintzer, the WGAL sportscaster, raised the question of why there isn't some kind of formal (or informal) area basketball competition between E-town, M-ville, Lebanon Valley and F. and M.

Such a natural area rivalry would really spark fan interest. Witness the crowd at last month's E-town-M-ville clash. It was the first packed house we've seen in several years at the local HS gym for one of our games.

If each of these teams played the others at least once during a season there would be some sound basis for crowning an area cage champ. There is none at present.

The idea for such area competition has been raised before. However, the schedule-makers have closed their collective ears to all pleas. And this must be a cooperative effort.

Word has filtered through that Carroll Hershey, the Jays' speedy left-winger, has been named to the second team in balloting for the All Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Delaware soccer team for this season. Halfback Jerry Reber got an honorable mention.

While we appreciate the recognition, it appears that once again E-town has been given the business in post-season soccer selections. Maybe we're biased, but we can legitimately ask what happened to Bill Hoar, Warner Cheeks and Woody Kerkeslager, among others.

Who does this voting, anyway?

COACH APPEARS OPTIMISTIC

Jaygals Showing Promise As Court Season Nears

by SANDY MacLAUGHLIN

"The Jaygals are shaping up nicely, but I can't make a definite statement on their strength until the team is put to the test," commented Coach Julia Risser on the 1960 women's basketball squad.

The tests will come Tuesday when the JV's meet the Lancaster Nurses and next Saturday, when the varsity encounters an independent team from Reading.

"The G-burg team with whom we play the opening game will be a tough opponent, besides the disadvantage of playing on a foreign court," added Miss Risser.

The squad appears academically sound. In addition some promising newcomers have looked good.

Forwards Lucy Clemens and Cindy Kratzer are two experienced hopefuls for varsity positions.

Lucy played varsity ball with the Abington Hospital team for three years. In addition she had seen action with Hatfield High School.

East Juniata High School's contribution is Cindy Kratzer. She's had three years varsity ball with her alma mater.

On the guards' side of the court, Nancy Neidlinger looks capable. From Pine Grove Area High School, she played on the first team in the inauguration of their interscholastic sports program in her senior year.

"We should get on the winning side this year," emphasized Coach Risser.

West Chester Names Cheeks All-Opponent

Warner Cheeks, a standout performer at fullback for the Blue Jays, has been named to the West Chester STC All-Opponent Soccer Team for the 1959 season.

Cheeks was the only Jay selected. The Teachers, who tied E-Town 2-2, in overtime, also named four performers from Maryland University, two from Temple, and one each from East Stroudsburg STC, Baltimore, Howard, Bridgeport, and Penn State.

Senate Delays Student Elections Until March

by POLLY GRUBB

Action by the Student Senate has postponed the start of campus elections for approximately a month.

Senate President Bill Hoar explained that the move to delay the elections was made in order to minimize the "lame duck" status of current officers.

New Major Offered In Mathematics

A new major in mathematics for the Bachelor of Science degree is to be available to Elizabethtown students. Prof. Bruce M. Tyndall, chairman of the Mathematics Department, announced that the revised curriculum will be included in the new catalogue.

Several new courses have been added and many of those now taught have been modernized. Statistics, requiring previous studies in calculus, is one of the new courses that will be offered immediately if students show sufficient interest.

The required 128 semester hours remains the same although they have been redistributed. Allowance has been made for increased study in mathematics and the other sciences, while the student is permitted a more flexible choice in the liberal arts courses.

Those students interested in fulfilling the requirements for such a degree should contact Prof. Tyndall.

Health Committee Urges Flu Shots

The College Health Committee has recommended that students become immunized against the flu bug by getting the proper injections from their doctors during the between-semesters vacation next week.

The recommendation was made in the light of previous outbreaks of the flu here and on other campuses.

Miss Julia Risser, speaking for the Committee, said "there is a lot of flu around. It's broken out on the West Coast and here in Pennsylvania. We strongly urge students to get their flu shots during the vacation period."

Anniversary Concert Planned by Choir

Present and former members of the Elizabethtown College choir will get together on campus April 2 for a dinner and joint concert to mark the choir's 25th anniversary, Prof. Nevin Fisher, director, announced this week.

Former choristers are being contacted and invited to attend the reunion. The day's activities include an informal reunion in the afternoon, a dinner, a rehearsal, and an evening concert by present and ex-choir members.

Music for the concert will be forwarded to the alumni, Prof. Fisher said.

Classrooms Planned For Men's Barracks

North, South and Center Halls will undergo renovations this summer, and will be used as classrooms and faculty offices beginning in September of 1960.

The dormitories, which now house approximately 80 men students, will be converted into at least four classrooms, and maybe five, the President reported. Several faculty offices will be located in Center Hall.

The first election to be held under the new procedure will take place either late in February or early in March, when the student body will choose the 1960 Queen of May.

Balloting for the various student government posts will probably start in March, the scheduled date for election of the president of the Student Association. The Association's vice-president and secretary will be chosen a week later, March 18. Members of the Senate will be elected March 25.

Election of the editor of the ETOWNIAN and the editor and business manager of the CONESTOGAN will also take place in March. However, no specific date has been announced.

The Committees of Men's and Women's Affairs will be chosen April 1.

Class officers will be elected following the Easter recess.

Final arrangements for the elections are still unsettled, Hoar announced. He reported that the above schedule might be revised in order to hold the election of a Senate president and vice-president on the same day.

All elections will be by preferential ballot.

A committee to supervise the elections will be named in the near future, Hoar said.

Campaign managers for any prospective candidates are being asked to contact Miss Vera Hackman in the Student Activities Office at least a week prior to the first election.

FOR STUDENT EXCHANGE

Senate, ECCA To Sponsor Campus Chest Campaign

A Campus Chest campaign designed to raise funds for a student exchange program will be initiated here during the second semester.

The drive is a joint project of the Student Senate and the Elizabethtown College Christian Association, according to Bill Hoar, Senate president. It takes the place of the World University Service project of previous years.

Funds raised by the campaign will be used to finance study abroad for an Elizabethtown College student. Hoar indicated that, if the drive is successful, a local student may be able to go abroad next year.

Those selected for foreign study will be chosen by a special Campus Chest committee with academic ability being the largest single factor in judging aspirants.

While details are still incomplete, the second phase of the project involves the study of a foreign student on this campus under an exchange program.

Janice Ferster, a junior, has been named as one of two co-chairmen to head a committee in charge of fund-raising projects. The other co-chairman will be selected in the near future.

Present plans for fund raising include the annual Senate-Faculty basketball game, record dances, and other projects. No general campus drive is anticipated, Hoar related.

DR. ERNEST T. CAMPBELL
Here for Discussion

Dr. Ernest Campbell To Lead Religious Emphasis Sessions

Dr. Ernest T. Campbell, speaker for the first mid-year Commencement, will take part in several discussions on the campus following his Chapel appearance here February 3.

He is one of the several speakers invited to the campus as part of the College's broadened program of religious emphasis, according to Dr. Robert A. Byerly, chairman of the Bible Department.

Dr. Campbell will participate in informal discussions of spiritual topics from 3-4:30 p. m. in the Rider Memorial lounge and in the Brinser Lecture Hall starting at 7:15. Seniors Fred Zimmerman and Barry Stevenson will moderate the discussions. Students and faculty members are invited to both sessions.

Students seeking individual conferences with Dr. Campbell are invited to make arrangements in the Religious Activities Office, Room 251, Rider Hall.

Musical Planned By Junior Class

Detailed plans for the junior class production of "Call Me Madam," a musical by Irving Berlin, are being made for its presentation March 25 and 26.

Tryouts for the musical comedy will be held Tuesday, February 2, from 7:15 to 9 p. m., and Wednesday, February 3, from 2-4 p. m. in the New Women's Residence, according to Mrs. Mildred Enterline, production advisor.

All students are invited to tryout for the approximately 40 speaking parts to be cast. Some vocal talent will be necessary for the major male and female roles as well as some of the bit parts.

Claude Foreman, Joan Lank, Elsie Woodward and Galen Young compose the show committee, and will have charge of the production and early tryouts.

FIRST FOR COLLEGE

Winter Graduation Scheduled Feb. 3

The first winter Commencement program in the history of Elizabethtown College will take place February 3 at 9:45 a. m., in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren. The services will feature an address by Dr. Ernest T. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, York.

Registration For 2nd Half February 1-2

Final registration for the second semester will take place February 1-2 in the Alumni Gymnasium, Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar, announced this week.

Miss Engle emphasized that students who have not pre-registered will not be allowed to complete the final registration until the pre-enrollees have finished their processing.

Following is the registration schedule:

Monday, February 1—(8 a. m.-9 a. m.) seniors in business administration; (9-10:30) sophomores and juniors in business administration; (10:30-11:45) freshmen in business administration; (1 p. m.-2:30 p. m.) seniors and juniors in liberal arts and secondary education; (2:30-3:30) sophomores in liberal arts and secondary education; (3:30-4:45) freshmen in liberal arts and secondary education.

Tuesday, February 2—(8 a. m.-9 a. m.) seniors in elementary education, Chemistry, Biology and mathematics; (9-10:30) juniors and sophomores in elementary education, Chemistry, Biology and mathematics; (10:30-11:45) freshmen in elementary education, Chemistry, Biology and mathematics; (1 p. m.-2:30 p. m.) medical secretarial science students; (2:30-3:30) medical technology and nursing students; (3:30-4:45) secretarial science, pre-forestry and pre-engineering students.

TV Series Stresses Personal Finances

"Problems in Personal Finance" will be the general theme of the Elizabethtown College weekly presentations on WGAL-TV's "College of the Air" series during the second semester.

Members of the College faculty and alumni will discuss topics dealing with family and personal finances, including installment buying, budget making and tax payments. The programs will be carried each Tuesday morning from 9-9:30 o'clock on channel 8.

The first two programs, February 2 and 9, will feature Prof. Edgar T. Bitting discussing the preparation of income tax statements.

AAUW Representative Visits E-town Campus

Dr. Ann Coyner, a member of the Business Department of Central State College, Edmond, Oklahoma, was on the campus here this past week in the interest of the American Association of University Women.

A member of the Higher Education Committee of the AAUW, Dr. Coyner met with members of the administration and faculty, as well as student leaders during her visit.

Five baccalaureate degrees will be conferred upon students completing their academic requirements during the first semester.

Dr. John R. Mumaw, president of Eastern Mennonite College, will be awarded an honorary Doctor of the Science of Pedagogy degree.

Dr. Mumaw, an alumnus of Elizabethtown, was graduated here in 1928.

The exercises will mark the first formal graduation program to be held after the first semester of the regular academic year. Formerly degrees were conferred only at the major Commencement in the spring and at ceremonies in August after the close of summer sessions.

Dr. Campbell, a graduate of Bob Jones University (A.B., 1945) and Princeton Seminary (B.D., 1948 - Th.M., 1953), will speak on the topic "The Christian's Answer to Life's Most Vexing Questions."

He is a member of the Board of Managers of the National Council of Churches. Westminster College granted him an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree in 1958.

Following a formal academic procession by program participants, Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser will pronounce the invocation. Dr. Robert A. Byerly will read the Scripture lesson.

Dean Roy McAuley will present the candidates for degrees, which will be conferred by Pres. A. C. Baugher.

Music for the program will be provided by the College choir, directed by Prof. Nevin W. Fisher and accompanied by Miss Betty Markley.

Mr. J. Atlee Young will play the organ prelude and recessional.

Five to Receive Degrees at Feb. Graduation Program

Five students will be graduated by Elizabethtown College Wednesday, February 3, during the first Mid-Year Commencement.

To receive Bachelor of Science degrees are Stephen Vulich, John Magee, Doris Krieg, Maurice Blose and Edward Schopf.

Vulich will receive a B.S. degree in Science. He majored in Biology.

An accounting major, Magee has earned a B.S. degree in Business Administration. He plans to enter the Armed Forces.

Doris Krieg is an elementary education major and will obtain her B.S. degree in that field.

Blose and Schopf have majors in secondary education, and will receive certification in Biology and social studies, respectively.

Three of the five to be graduated are transfer students from other colleges. Blose coming from Shippensburg State Teachers College, Schopf from Pennsylvania State University, and Magee from Goldey Beacom School of Business.

As we see it...

Time for Reflection...

While we're in the midst of taking semester exams, maybe it would do some good to reflect on the accomplishments we have made thus far in the 1959-60 school year, and to foresee what we might achieve during the second semester.

One of the primary items to be considered is the achievements of our Student Senate since September. Although several new programs have been initiated on campus through this organization, such as the book-exchange program, certainly the social activity calendar could hardly be considered up to par.

For instance, what ever happened to those once-a-month all-college parties originally scheduled to be held in the gymnasium? The only two that were held seemed to be a big success, but they faded out rather quickly. Again, there were several weekends when not one single social activity was listed for the students' enjoyment. Then we wonder why this is turning into the "suitcase" type of institution!

Those are only two examples of the lack of programming during the first semester. There are others, but the important thing to remember is that if this College doesn't offer at least a minimum of activities, we're not going to draw the interests of this year's high school seniors.

Perhaps it wasn't the fault of the Senate Social Committee, but we hope that that group looks into the matter pronto! We need some non-academic activities once in a while!

On Chasing Chipmunks

Ideals that we set for ourselves now may help or hinder us in the years to come, but if they are not too high, they can be of great value in keeping us on the right path through life.

Once ideals are set, we cannot afford to drop them at a moment's notice. They should be before us all the time. An example is given of a dog who started out on a hunt for a fox, but ended up chasing a chipmunk.

Many lives start out that way and end that way. The first enthusiasm is for big things. This dwindles into satisfaction with little things. Life ends at last with a whine, as we dig under stones for chipmunks.

There is nothing so hard in life as to maintain through the whole of it the ideals we had in our youth—to start out for a deer and never to be satisfied until we get it.

There is nothing as dismal as the whine of a man who in middle age apologizes for having given up his youthful ideals, or in old age looks back and is sour about the whole thing. The decline is pathetic—from deer to fox, from fox to chipmunk; from the deep baying of a hound on the trail of something big to a pitiful whimper at the day's end, as a man declares himself satisfied with a chipmunk.

Decline is not inevitable. It occurs because men are satisfied with something less than the best.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Letters to Editor

Editor,
The Etownian:

After reading the recent editorial about loyalty oaths we were quite dismayed to learn that there are people on our campus who feel that academic arguments are a waste of time. We realize that the general public considers academicism passe but we had hoped that the people in colleges and universities would retain faith in abstract thought.

We are aware that the editorial was defending the oath of allegiance and not the disclaimer affidavit but surely this is begging the question since the two have been combined in the laws under consideration. No one entering the present argument is seriously opposing swearing allegiance to the United States. We have all pledged allegiance to the flag as school children and as we approach the end of our eighth year in the Armed Forces we can remember clearly, as we are sure many of you can, the day we swore not only to be loyal to our country, but to defend with our lives, if necessary, our country's liberty.

However, we must not, through apathy, allow the innocence of the loyalty oath blind us to the inherent dangers of the attached disclaimer affidavit. Since the supposed need for the affidavit implies that we are guilty until proven innocent, it will, far from provoking honorable feelings from us, cause only resentment and hostile feelings toward the agency making such insinuations.

There are several moral, philosophical and legal drawbacks to the use of such an oath, not the least of which is the historical fact that oaths of allegiance have been the foot-in-the-door for aspiring dictators since the beginning of time. For a complete picture of the academician's opinion we recommend the report by A. Whitney Griswold, president of Yale University, as published in the December 20, 1959, magazine section of the New York Times.

When the leading thinkers of our society raise a voice of solemn protest, no one should pass it off as an exaggeration of real issues. Especially no one on a free campus, for you are the ones who stand to lose the most.

Respectfully submitted,
Bruce Tyndall.

(Ed. Note — Prof. Tyndall's views represent those of the majority of educators responding to a poll by the Association of American Colleges.)

Others opposed to the affidavit say it is (1) unfair because it places a person in jeopardy for his private beliefs and is "an affront to freedom of belief," (2) superfluous in that a truly disloyal person will not hesitate to sign it, (3) involves government interference in institutional affairs.

Prof. Tyndall points up the discriminatory aspect of the affidavit requirement (Section 1001-f). His point is well taken in that, while many people (teachers in some states, government service, many positions involving public welfare) are required to sign such an affidavit, numerous others receiving federal funds (farmers, for example) are not.

We would suggest that interested parties read the article mentioned by Prof. Tyndall. A copy is in the library.

In buttressing the other side of the argument, the one taken by the ETOWNIAN, we must admit that the act does have discriminatory tendencies. However, the fact that the affidavit and loyalty oath are required is, in a sense, an indication that our government recognizes the unique and vital role education plays in our society.

We are reminded of the old cliché about the influence of a teacher having no end.

And let us not overlook the fact that while the overwhelming majority of educators are citizens with unquestioned loyalty, the Communist menace has found some supporters in the cloistered environs of American colleges and universities.

Finally, we must raise a hand in our own defense. The ETOWNIAN believes strongly in abstract thought as a basic premise of academic freedom. We refer you to the editorial platform in our masthead.)

Arthur Burdett, '54, received his master of science degree in clinical psychology from Highlands University, New Mexico. He is presently enrolled in New York University, pursuing work in vocational rehabilitation.

Life membership cards are now being issued to all alumni. The Alumni Association in May, 1959, voted to declare all alumni in good standing. Consequently, statements for alumni dues will no longer be sent. Emphasis will be put on annual alumni giving.

Are YOU the Answer?

Wanted — Religious educators: secondary school administrator; medical laboratory technician; domestic science teacher; vocational agriculture teacher; elementary and music teacher. Other needs are nurses and skilled mechanics.

One plan involves a volunteer service period of two years. It includes expenses, maintenance, a small allowance and fulfills "draft" obligations.

Another plan involves a three-year agreement during which time workers may decide on a career in religious work.

Still another plan permits assignments of an indefinite nature.

Write for details to Rev. J. Benton Rhoades, Director, Missionary Education and Recruitment, Church of the Brethren, Elgin, Illinois.

Choir Concert Dates Set for Semester

On February 14, the College choir, under the direction of Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, will begin its annual spring concerts, which will end on May 15.

"The concerts will consist of anthems, hymns and Negro Spirituals. A variety will be in evidence in the programs by use of the male and female chorus, and men's, women's and mixed quartets," commented the choir director.

The itinerary is as follows:

Sunday morning, Feb. 14—Mechanicsburg.

Sunday evening, Feb. 14—Springville ("Mohler's") Ephrata.

Sunday morning, Feb. 21—"Mechanic Grove," Quarryville.

Sunday evening, Feb. 21—Florin.

Sunday morning, Mar. 6—"Bermudian."

Sunday evening, Mar. 6—"Conewago."

Sunday morning, Mar. 13—Mt. Alto Methodist.

Sunday evening, Mar. 13—"Codorus."

Saturday evening, Apr. 3—Myerstown.

Thursday, Apr. 7-Tuesday, Apr. 12 (inclusive) — "Western Pa." tour.

Sunday morning, Apr. 24—Mountville.

Sunday evening, Apr. 24—Lancaster.

Saturday evening, Apr. 30—Joint Concert with Juniata College Choir, Elizabethtown.

Sunday evening, May 1—Carlisle.

Sunday evening, May 8—Westminster, Md.

Sunday evening, May 15—Mt. Joy Presbyterian.

Soloists include: Sylvia Santee, contralto; Mary Gladfelter, soprano, and Asher Halbleib, baritone, with Betty Markley as accompanist.

"The concerts will be given mainly to Churches of the Brethren," stated Prof. Fisher.

Survey Reveals Most Students Favor Later Weekday Classes, Not Saturday Sessions

by SANDRA MacLAUGHLIN

With class scheduling problems growing more acute as a result of the expanding enrollment, the possibilities of holding classes later each day or on Saturday morning have been informally discussed by students and faculty.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Film Set for Tonight

Special weekend recreation on campus was planned for last evening and tonight, according to the Student Activities Office.

The movie, "The Private Wars of Major Benson," will be shown tonight at 7:30 in the Brinser Lecture Room. A record hop held last night in the College gymnasium, was termed a "big success."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

To gauge student opinions, the ETOWNIAN conducted a survey in which 40 students were asked to choose either classes until 6 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday or the scheduling of classes Saturday morning.

The vast majority (36 of 40) preferred the later weekday classes rather than Saturday sessions. The main objection to Saturday morning classes was the necessity to remain on campus for weekends.

The following students' comments represent a cross-section of the opinions of the majority: Sylvia Santee, '60—"I prefer the classes until 6 o'clock so I can pack up and go home, since there are few or no social activities here on weekends."

Carroll Kreider, '60—"I would rather put in extra time during the week and have a full free day over the weekend. It isn't worthwhile for a person to go home half a day on Saturday."

Ruth Risser, '61—"All work and no play makes Ruth a dull girl."

Brian Seese, '61—"People who live at a distance can't go home at all."

Bill Baer, '61—"The time between 5 o'clock and 6 o'clock is wasted because you don't do homework anyway, so you might as well be in class."

George Lott, '62—"The weekend is the time to rest, which is a necessity for the student. If they do have Saturday classes they should be just for freshmen."

Diane Corbin, '63—"I want to sleep Saturday mornings."

Those favoring Saturday morning sessions said:

Lynn Saylor, '61—"Classes until 6 o'clock would interfere with practice sessions for intercollegiate athletics."

Carol Rees, '62—"Get rid of all evening classes and reschedule them Saturday morning. It's hard to prepare for a 7:40 a. m. class if you attend class until 10 p. m. the night before."

Linda Eshelman, '63—"I prefer Saturday morning classes because of the sports practices. I would rather be up fresh in the morning and go to class than go all day until 6 o'clock."

The New England states have their "tea houses" as a place of relaxation; Millersville State College even has a place called the "rat-race" where there is a juke box and small snacks; E-town College has none!

Sock and Buskin Readies Comedy

"Arsenic and Old Lace," a popular three-act comedy by Joseph Kesselring, will be produced by the Sock and Buskin drama club February 19-20 in the College Auditorium.

Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline, campus drama instructor, will direct the play. She will be assisted by Marsha Graham, a senior.

Students winning roles include the following:

Shirley Lantzzy, Asher Halbleib, Donald Zellner, Lonny Thomas, Bob Beckman, Carol Bush, Eleanor Johnson, Kenneth Diefenbach, Park Mellott, Dennis Dougherty, Claude Foreman, Ray Berkebile, Dale Good and Richard Falstick.

Rehearsals are now under way.

Rider Men's Lounge Regulations Set Up

The Committee on Men's Affairs has announced the placement of a television set in the new student lounge in Rider Memorial Hall. It will be available to students after 5 p. m. and will be controlled by the Committee.

The lounge is available for use by all men resident and commuting students. During the daytime it is restricted as a place for small group meetings and for study purposes.

Monday through Thursday evenings and over the weekend the lounge may be used by men and women for various student activities.

The "Bucket" is now obsolete for a round of fun-making College students. Of course, we could probably have a hot-plate installed in the "rec-room" with a help-yourself "fix your own hamburger" deal. We could probably do without hamburgers, too.

Seriously though, does anyone know where we can go?

Be on the lookout for a pep rally the night before the LVC game at the beginning of the second semester. If you should hear horns blowing and people yelling, join the crowd for some fun.

Ross Ricketts had an interesting experience the other night. He had just finished a Shakespeare term paper, 18 pages in length; then the fun began. Someone took his original, typed up a duplicate title page and used plain paper for filler.

When Ross was alone, someone went into his room, picked up the fake term paper and ripped it in half before his eyes. Talk about getting "shook up!"

Why is everyone so quiet around here this week, huh?

SOME VITAL WORK REQUIRES NO DIPLOMA

Withdrawal from College Not a Social Stigma Nor Sign of Failure in Life

by DEAN ROY McAULEY

At this time of the year we discover some of our friends are no longer in college. Some have withdrawn of their own volition—others have taken the advice of parents, professors and friends to withdraw. A sincere and open withdrawal from college is not an item of stigma.

My personal thinking was indicated in an article by Professor Jerome Ellison in the January 9 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Among other things he said, "Not everyone—as shown, by a national drop-out rate of 60% in four years—is capable of winning a university (or college) degree. Accepting one's limitations is surely one form of accepting truth."

Surely those honest ones who fail in college have a right to leave there without feeling they have failed in life. Some of the most exalted chapters of human history, they should understand, have been contributed and are still being contributed without benefit of diploma. There is vital work to be done that does not require a college degree.

We wish our friends success and happiness in those areas where their aptitudes and interests lead them.

The first student organization on campus was the Keystone Literary Society, which appeared in 1901.

Jaygals Split Two Practice Scrimmages

The Jaygals worked out their pre-season kinks by playing two practice scrimmages last week. The junior varsity was victorious, but the varsity lost. Both were exhibition games.

The Bluebirds open the regular season February 5 at Gettysburg. They play Millersville here February 9.

Tuesday, January 12, the JV's journeyed to Lancaster to meet the St. Joseph Hospital nurses.

Coming up from behind in the last minutes of the first quarter the girls found their mark and went on to win by a score of 47-28.

High scorers for E-town were Barb Jones with 17 points and Sue Wood, who tallied 15.

Commenting on the JV's, Coach Julia Risser said "Tuesday's game was a good performance for a new team—most of the players never played organized basketball before."

"The girls showed some fine shooting and defensive play. The team looks promising and we should see some good basketball from these understudies" she added.

The varsity dropped a 44-29 decision to an independent team from Reading on the home court Saturday afternoon.

"I substituted freely to give all the players a chance. I was pleased with the performance of Linda Elliot, Janet Myers and Sandra Reifstick, who came up from the JV team of last season to combine with Kay Jones and Ruth Tice, both veterans, Miss Risser said.

"This combination should give us a solid defense, she added. "I am fortunate to have six capable forwards to call upon but the scrimmage game showed their inability to move and shoot well when they were closely pressed in a man-to-man defense. This will have to improve along with our rebounding if we intend to defeat the better teams" she continued.

A promising newcomer, who has looked good in practices, is Linda Simpkins. Linda, a sophomore from Woodstown, New Jersey is playing varsity guard her first year out for the team.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

The performance of the Blue Jay basketball squad has been a prime topic of conversation and consternation here on the campus.

If there is any one word that sums up the Jays' performance so far, that word is "inconsistent."

For example, Coach Don Smith's club held LVC to 17 points in the first half before going on to win a sweet and convincing 71-59 triumph. Several days later the Jays are run into the boards by Moravian, 103-78, on our home court.

Oddly enough, Moravian was beaten at LVC, 71-67, two days after bumping the Jays. Figure that one out.

What's wrong with our club, you ask?

Well, nothing that can't be overcome by a healthy ration of teamwork.

No one expected our guys to go through unbeaten. No team in the area is powerful enough to do that. We did, however, look for a winning year with a better record than season's 11-10 log. We think that's still a good possibility, barring an abnormal amount of injuries, academic difficulties, etc.

The Jays looked fine at LVC and here against Albright. But their performances against Moravian and Millersville last week were wretched, to put it mildly.

In defense of the team, we must point out that meeting LVC, Albright, Moravian and Millersville in an eight-day span is a murderous assignment, particularly with exams in the offing.

If there are personality conflicts on the squad, that's Coach Smith's problem. We certainly are not qualified to discuss them. We must restrict our observations to surface facts.

The biggest of these is the Jays' ragged defense. To date, we have allowed the opposition an average of better than 77 points per game. That's too much for winning basketball.

Offensively, we've maintained good balance with five starters in double figures and a team average of 72 points per game.

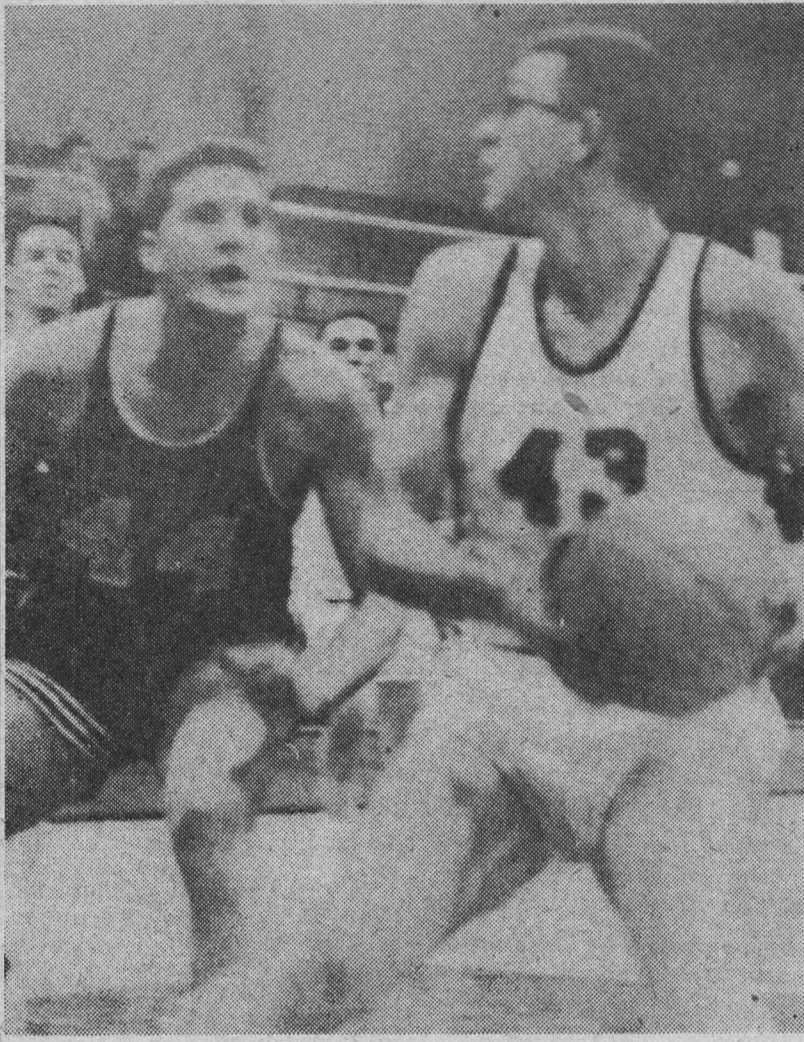

As we see it, the Jays are at the crossroads. They can either come back with a rush after the between-semesters break or they can fall back into the same inconsistent rut and stumble through the remaining games. Fan support will help.

Oh, one more thing . . . Reports have it that some of our "fans" have been baiting the team in general as well as individuals. We see no need for that.

If these students can't pull for the team, we suggest they remember that old adage about silence being golden.

Wrestlers Earn Two Wins; Lighter Weights Show Well

Winners in two of their last three meets, the Blue Jay wrestling team will return to action following the semester recess with three consecutive home encounters on the schedule.

Following the end-of-semester break, the Jays meet Temple (Feb. 3), Albright (Feb. 10) and Ursinus (Feb. 13).

Coach Dick Hershey's grapplers picked up their first win of the campaign by downing Lebanon Valley and followed that up with a victory over Western Maryland before losing a tight

JV's Defeat LVC, Drop Three Games

The E-town junior varsity basketball squad, like the varsity, showed flashes of good and poor form over the last two weeks. Coach Jim Baugher's crew emerged with a well-earned overtime win over the Lebanon Valley understudies and then dropped games to Albright, Moravian and Millersville.

To add to Baugher's woes, reports indicate that Freshman Guard Bob Weimer is out for the year with a broken foot.

Dale Good's 13 points led the JV's in a losing effort at Millersville last week, 59-47. Bill Clarke notched 11, Dan McKiernan and Charles Ashenfelter each had 10.

Unable to hold a lead, the JV's fell behind the Moravian understudies in the final quarter and went on to lose, 64-60, here last week. Jim Baugher's club led 33-27, at halftime.

Never in serious contention, the Jays dropped a 97-70 verdict to the Albright JV's here last week.

In probably their best effort of the season, the Jays earned a rugged overtime victory over the Lebanon Valley JV's two weeks ago at Annville. Nine points in the overtime period gave Baugher's crew a 74-68 win.

meet at Gettysburg last Saturday.

Jim Weaver (147-lb.) picked up the Jays' only pin victory at Gettysburg. Decisions were won by Bill Umberger (130-lb.), Bill Kendig (137-lb.) and Galen Lehman (177-lb.). Losses in the heavier weight classes sent the Jays to a 16-14 defeat at the hands of the Bullets.

Freshman Ted Bond's loss at Gettysburg was the first in five meets to date. Umberger and Weaver have won three matches in a row.

Umberger, still unbeaten, and Weaver have won three consecutive matches. Weaver is 4-1 on the season. Kendig has won three of four matches so far. Lehman has won one, lost one, tied two.

Whip Western Maryland

Victories in the lighter weight classes paved the way for the Blue Jays' 18-15 conquest of Western Maryland last week at Westminster, Md.

Ted Bond and Bill Umberger, both freshmen, gave Coach Dick Hershey's crew a 10-0 lead with pin victories in the 123-lb. and 130-lb. classes. Jim Weaver (147-lb.) and Larry Brown (157-lb.) earned decisions in their bouts, and Galen Lehman drew in the 177-lb. class.

Down LVC

The Jays raced to an 18-0 lead with early victories in the lighter weights and then held on to pick up their first win of the year, 20-13, here against Lebanon Valley two weeks ago.

Pins for E-town were earned by Ted Bond (123-lb.), Bill Kendig (137-lb.), and Jim Weaver (147-lb.). Bill Umberger earned a decision in the 130-lb. bout, and Galen Lehman drew at 177-lb.

The Blue Jay basketball squad, reeling from three consecutive drubbings, will probably use the two-week lay-off between semesters to re-evaluate their stuttering performance, regroup their scattered forces, and revamp their inconsistent style.

Now on the short end of a 4-6 record, the Jays turned in a sparkling performance in downing Lebanon Valley and followed it up with a fine all-out effort in dropping a close verdict to Albright.

However, Coach Don Smith's quintet stumbled woefully against Moravian and collapsed completely at Millersville last week. An inconsistent offense and a leaky defense have combined to place the Jays on the debit side of the won-loss ledger so far.

In the Millersville rematch, the Jays' offense floundered hopelessly as the Marauders ran off with an easy victory, 89-51. Ed Harnly and Marty Hefferan had 11 points each to lead the Jays' futile efforts. Bill Bechtold had 10, Bob Geiger 9.

Skip Benner, 5' 7" frosh, topped Millersville with 17 points, most of them on a devastating fast-break.

Mauled by Moravian

Trailing by a slight 42-37 margin at halftime, the Blue Jays battled a fine Moravian quintet on even terms through the early minutes of the second half and then came apart at the seams as the Greybonds raced to a convincing 103-78 triumph here last week.

Moravian Ducky Potter, an All-ECAC performer, led the winners with 32 points.

Bill Bechtold topped the home forces with 28 points. Harnly collected 18, Glenn Bruckhart, 12, Geiger 10.

Nipped by Lions

The Albright Lions converted 17 of 23 foul shots to earn a last-minute 83-80 verdict over the Jays at Elizabethtown High School last week.

Coach Don Smith's outfit picked up only eight points (on a sparse nine chances) on the foul line, where the game was ultimately decided.

After wiping out an early Albright lead, the Jays battled on even terms until the final minutes, when, in the clutch, the Lions turned on enough pressure to earn the win.

Bill Bechtold led E-town with 25 points. Bruckhart had 20, Geiger 18, Harnly 11. Freshman Tom Pearsall topped the Lions with 28.

Dump Dutchmen

Traveling to Annville two weeks ago, the Jays turned back Lebanon Valley for a surprisingly easy victory, 71-59. A tight Jay defense frustrated LVC in the first half as E-town opened a commanding 33-17 lead. The Dutchmen never could close the gap.

Barry Boyer, scoring on long one-handed stab shots, was top man for the Jays with 20 points. Bechtold had 18, Geiger and Harnly each 12, Bruckhart 9.

E-town controlled the backboards with Harnly and Bruckhart doing the bulk of the rebounding.

TO MARK 30TH ANNIVERSARY

Sock and Buskin Plans 3-Act Comedy Feb. 19-20

"Arsenic and Old Lace," one of the more mirthful comedies of recent years, will be staged by the Sock and Buskin drama club February 19-20 in the College Auditorium. The play, a three-act production, will help climax the 30th anniversary of the founding of the campus drama organization.

To mark the anniversary, the club has sent invitations to all former members asking them to attend the various activities of the weekend. Recognition of past presidents and other activities are being planned.

Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline, club advisor, is directing the production. Her student assistant is Senior Marsha Graham. Mrs. Enterline is carrying on her preparations for the anniversary weekend despite a broken ankle, which she suffered last week.

The play, written by Joseph Kesselring, centers around the eccentric activities of two spinster sisters and their half-wit brother. The sisters make a practice of poisoning their male guests and then burying them in their cellar.

Seniors Shirley Lantzy and Ken Dieffenbach and Junior Carol Bush have been cast in the leading roles.

Other members of the cast include Asher Halbleib, Donald Zellner, Lonny Thomas, Robert Beckman, Eleanor Johnson, Park Mellott, Dennis Dougherty, Claude Foreman, Ray Berkebile, Dale Good and Richard Falstick.

Special between-acts ceremonies have been planned by the Sock and Buskin club as part of the anniversary celebration. Music will be provided by the College orchestra, directed by Mr. Noah Klauss.

WHO, ME, A MURDERER? . . . Carol Bush, right, seems to be asking that question as Park Mellott, Shirley Lantzy and she rehearse for the three-act comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace," to be presented February 19-20 in the College auditorium.

Dr. Stump Suffers Stroke Recurrence

Dr. N. Franklin Stump, chairman of the Psychology Department, Thursday suffered a slight recurrence of a stroke, which struck him prior to Christmas. As a result, he has been forced to abandon plans to return to the classroom this semester.

His courses will be assigned to other members of the faculty, Dean Roy McAuley reported.

ETOWNIAN Plans Summer Editions

Two special summer editions of the ETOWNIAN will be published this year under an expanded publications program adopted by the College Administration, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced this week.

The summer issues—one in June, the other in July—will cover the spring Commencement, summer sessions, and other aspects of the College program.

Circulation of the summer editions will include current and prospective students, alumni, and friends of the College.

Library Gets Grant From U. S. Steel

Elizabethtown College has been awarded $500 by the United States Steel Foundation to purchase chemistry journals for the campus library.

The grant was made through the Association of College and Research Libraries. Elizabethtown is one of 77 colleges to receive the grants.

Dr. Oscar F. Stambaugh, chairman of the Chemistry Department, is conferring with Mrs. Emily Rahter, librarian, on which journals will be purchased through the grant.

President in Hospital For Annual Physical

Pres. A. C. Baugher has entered Lancaster General Hospital for his annual physical check-up. Dr. Baugher indicated that he expected to be released within a few days, unless his physicians discovered something requiring further hospitalization.

41 Students Earn Mention On Semester Dean's List

Forty-one students, including 17 seniors, have been named on the Dean's List of Honor for the first semester.

The number, a substantial increase over the 17 listed at mid-semester, is below the 52 students who made the Dean's List for the first semester last year.

628 Enroll As Second Half Starts

Total enrollment for the second semester stands at 628, according to the latest tabulations of Miss Emma R. Engle, College registrar.

Seven new students joined the student body, and five others returned to the campus.

The drop from the first semester enrollment of 678 is consistent with previous years, Miss Engle noted.

Miss Engle explained that the 12 new students, five graduates, and withdrawals account for the difference of 50 this year.

Last year enrollment dropped by 42 students during the semester, 9.1 percent of the enrollment withdrawing both years.

Several of the new students have transferred from other colleges as listed by Miss Engle: George Berotti, Penn State; John Croll, graduate of Duke University; Robert Quillen, sophomore from Temple Technological Institute; Larry Snook, York Junior College, and Helen Wilson, a junior from Allen University. Sara Phillips and Dale Hoffer joined the freshman class.

The five returning students are Thomas Collins, Thomas Wilson, Larry Jones, sophomores; Ronald Mazurik, junior, and Jane Eberly, senior.

Science, Religion Not in Conflict, Dr. Campbell States

Dr. Ernest T. Campbell, speaking during one of a series of religious emphasis discussions here Wednesday, compared scientists to children hunting for hidden peanuts in a universe in which God makes the rules.

Dr. Campbell, pastor, First Presbyterian Church, York, led several informal discussions on campus as part of the College's expanded program of religious emphasis.

Speaking to members of the College Christian Association, he said there is no conflict between legitimate science and legitimate theology. The conflict, he insisted, appears on the fringes, where knowledge of neither subject is complete.

During a question and answer session it was brought out that people do not like to think the ultimate in history has been realized in Christ. These people like to feel that they are constantly progressing to bigger and better things. To them, Christianity is a stumbling block.

Turning to the philosophy of the average college student, Dr. Campbell said the tendency seems to be to "inform yourself on everything, commit yourself to nothing."

Later, the discussion turned to how college life had affected individual students' beliefs. Some indicated they became more liberal with the realization that something as subjective as religion could never be clear cut for all.

The List is made up of 17 seniors, 9 sophomores, 8 freshmen, and 7 juniors. Each class boasted more honor students on the List than at the mid-semester marking period, an indication that as usual, academic achievement increased as the semester drew to a close.

The large number of seniors can be attributed in part to the addition of practice teaching grades, which were not available for the first marking period.

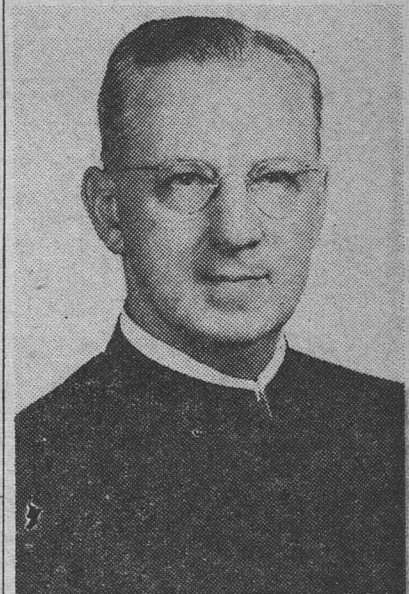

Students named on the Dean's List:

Seniors—William L. Adams, Nancy Baugher, Harvey Bortner, Samuel Brubaker, Steven Cordas, Kenneth Dieffenbach, Richard Falstick, John Hench, Louise Horning, Carroll Kreider, Lorraine Leppo, Richard Merritt, Stanley Neyer, James Raver, Barbara Ulmer, Frederick Zimmerman and Dorothy Zlobik.

Juniors—Helmut Baer, Carol Heilman, J. Kenneth Kreider, Joyce Miller, Victor Wilson, Mona Wyles and Anna Yoder.

Sophomores—Robin Bonier, Martha Eppley, Janet Espenshade, Mary Gladfelter, Francis Hurley, Ellwood Kerkeslager, Kay Tauscher, Esther Wills and Jean Zettlemoyer.

Freshmen—Virginia Colley, E. Paul Dick, Judith Good, Lois Herr, Brenda Kever, Naomi Lucabaugh, Larry Smith and Katharina Stephen.

Overflow Audience Sees 1st Mid-Term Commencement Here

Five students received their Baccalaureate degrees Wednesday as the College conducted the first mid-term Commencement exercises in its history in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, adjacent to the campus. The service was witnessed by an overflow audience of more than 800.

Dr. John R. Mumaw, an alumnus who was graduated here in 1928, was granted an honorary Doctor of Science of Pedagogy degree. Dr. Mumaw is the president of Eastern Mennonite College. The citation accompanying the degree referred to him as a "leader in the advancement of the small college and of Christian higher education."

61 Students Benefitting From Defense Loans Here

Because many deserving youth find financial need a prime obstacle against their college education, institutions of higher learning usually have some form of student loan program.

Until last year, Elizabethtown College had a private loan program. Private contributions established as loan funds were used by the administration to provide loans to students who were in need of financial help.

Starting March 1, 1959, Elizabethtown College became a member of the National Defense Student Loan Program. Under this plan the government appropriates government funds to member colleges for loans to worthy students. For every $9 the government provides, the college must add $1.

In order to be eligible for the loan, the student must be in need of financial assistance, must be in good scholastic standing, and must be majoring in one of the preferred subjects. Teachers are given primary attention, secondly math and science majors, and finally other courses.

Applications for student loans may be submitted to the Treasurer's office anytime.

The government charges no interest on the loan until one year after completion of the course. The student is then given ten years to repay.

Earl Kurtz, treasurer of the College, said $34,027 in government and college funds had been available for loan at the beginning of the year. Out of this, $33,935 have been loaned or promised to students for the 1959-60 school year. No more loans, therefore, are available to students for the second semester. Applications for loans now submitted will automatically be considered for the 1960-61 school year.

The loans are renewable in each case but new applications must be submitted each year. The student must be able to prove again that he is in need of financial aid.

The average loan to a student is approximately $500. The amounts, however, vary from a minimum of $150 to a maximum of $1000.

Sixty-one students are

Many Colleges are Heavy In Facts, Short of Truths

"Many colleges today are crammed with facts but short truths."

Those are the words of Dr. Louis H. Evans, minister-at-large for the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.

What he is saying is simply that a goodly number of American colleges and universities concentrate too heavily on the imparting of factual knowledge without giving their students enough moral, spiritual, or emotional truths.

He continued:

"These colleges ask their students to bring their minds to the classroom while leaving their hearts in the locker with their raincoats."

"Scholarship can be intellectually healthy while sick at heart."

Dr. Evans was not specific in his indictment of our institutions of higher learning. However, he certainly gave an indirect pat on the back to America's church-related colleges. These institutions, by their very nature, are concerned with the spiritual and emotional development of students as well as their academic improvement.

Dr. Evans closed by referring to the great professor as one "who turns on a light (in the mind) and also lights a torch (in the heart)."

A Job Well Done

The new book exchange program recently initiated on campus through the efforts of the Student Senate and the Administration is to be commended.

Its success from its beginning last month has been demonstrated, and Prof. Wilbur Weaver, who is directing the program, should be praised for his untiring endeavors to make it so. We feel sure it has its place on campus and should be made a permanent program.

Just in Case ...

"All must participate; speed is imperative; silence is necessary." These three rules, in case anyone hasn't heard them (and there's a good chance that very few have!) are the primary rules to follow during a fire drill here on campus.

Everyone should remember them, since they may be the only things one has to go by if we ever have a fire! The number of drills each dorm has per year certainly won't help. The seniors here can't remember ever having more than two in any one year, with none being recollected for their first year here.

Consider this when reading the statement in the College handbook: "Fire drills are held once a month under the direction of the Heads of Residence."

Students may grumble and groan when the rare fire alarm is sounded, but this is immaterial when one considers the extra danger and fear which would enter into the situation if they had never had a drill before.

We hope the administration, for our sakes, decides soon to be a little more rigid in the following of the fire drill regulation.

"We're hoping the History Department can keep it another year."

Letters to Editor

Editor, ETOWNIAN:

In the last issue of the ETOWNIAN I was impressed by the editorial, "Time for Reflection."

Its penetrating observations caused me to reflect upon many aspects of our College life over the past years, but particularly the social life. A scant few years ago there was no dancing and very little social life here at E-town.

What social life we have had here was fought hard for by previous Senates. Their gains were remarkable in light of the opposition—but what has happened? Wouldn't our Alumni be dismayed if they knew that we have had exactly three record hops in one entire semester. There was a day when two per month was average.

This past fall things started out great. It looked like great changes were in store for us. There was a new, fresh College spirit here—but two months later it died! Is it altogether the fault of the Student Senate? What happened to those great new social ideas that were to be initiated by some of the new personnel in the administration? What happened to the Community Cultural programs? Why is the gym always locked when students want to work out or play ping pong? Why is it that students can't go out for a pizza without the local gendarmes taking their names?

Election time is coming soon, which means it's time for the student body to assert some of its crying needs—and if nothing is done about the social climate soon, then it's time the students begin once more to create their own social activities with or without the blessings of our dear Alma Mater.

A Disappointed Senior.

ED. NOTE: This senior's observations seems to be those of many of this College's students, and they also are the opinion of the editor.

However, we feel that it is necessary to point out the answers to this senior's questions. For example, in asking what happened to the Community Cultural programs, this person forgot that an earlier edition of this paper told that there would be a lesser number of these programs this year, but the ones that are presented would be of a better caliber.

As to why the gym is locked when the students want to work out there, it seems that the administration had given approval to its being open, but under the supervision of the Committee on Man's Affairs. Ask that group the why's and wherefore's.

The answer to the query on the local police action against students lies entirely with the police, and not with the College administration, which has no connection with it.

We still feel that this College is greatly lacking in social activities for the student body, and that something CAN be done about. Perhaps if each student here would try to contribute to the program with ideas and participation, the situation would be corrected somewhat.

At any rate, as the letter to the editor states, the students can contribute by helping to elect responsible student leaders, and by doing something more than just sitting back and saying, "Where are these activities?"

Just A Thought

"He who imagines he can do without the world deceives himself much; but he who fancies the world cannot do without him is still more mistaken."

Bill Kendig Recipient Of SAM Recognition

Bill Kendig has been chosen to receive the Society for the Advancement of Management award presented to outstanding business students.

The Lancaster senior SAM chapter this year has begun annual recognition of a senior in the business course at either Elizabethtown or Franklin and Marshall College. Recipients are selected on the basis of their high scholastic standing and their participation in extra-curricular activities.

At the beginning of this school year Kendig maintained the highest average of the business students in his class and ranked in the top ten of all Elizabethtown seniors.

Kendig is president of the class of 1960 and strengthens the Blue Jay wrestling and soccer teams.

The award will be presented during the regular dinner meeting of the Lancaster Senior SAM chapter Tuesday, February 16, in the Hotel Brunswick, Lancaster.

Annual Aux. Luncheon Planned for Feb. 13

The annual luncheon of the Women's Auxiliary of Elizabethtown College will be held Saturday, February 13, at 1:30 p. m. in the dining hall of the New Women's Residence, Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, president of the Auxiliary, has announced.

Speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Genevieve M. Bowen, Doylestown, a Pennsylvania educator who formerly served the United States Office of Education with overseas assignments in South America and the Far East.

Prof. Bitting to Discuss Income Tax Forms on TV

The second discussion in a two-part series on the preparation of income tax forms will be presented Tuesday, February 9, on the College of the Air television program by Prof. Edgar Bitting, of the Business Department here.

Prof. Bitting presented the first part of the discussion last Tuesday.

Glen Y. Forney, an alumnus of the College, class of 1954, will present the program Tuesday, February 16. He will discuss "Facilities Available at Local Banks," and will be assisted by Robert E. Sherk, a graduate here with the class of 1956.

Marine Team Coming

A Marine Corps Officer Selection Team will interview students interested in becoming officers in the U. S. Marine Corps on campus Wednesday. Students interested in meeting the team or in learning more about the various officer training plans are invited to contact Prof. C. G. Enterline in the Alumni Office, Alpha Hall.

EXTRA CASH . . . Junior Janice Ferster (right) picks up some spare cash following the sale of several used books at the recently organized campus book exchange. Wilbur Weaver, campus store manager, passes out the funds. Waiting their turns are Senior Kathy Weller (left) and Freshman Dan Speicher.

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club, an organization for students of the Episcopalian denomination, has been set up on campus, with Prof. Bruce Tyndall as faculty advisor.

The club has met two times, with the scheduled meetings set for the first Tuesday of each month.

The Rev. Emmert Moyer, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Mount Joy, has volunteered his services to assist the group with its discussions and programs.

SAM

Hans C. Erich, manager of Caterpillar Tractor Company, York, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the club, February 11. He will speak on "Growing International Competition: What Can and Should be Done About It."

Faculty Club Schedules Dinner Session Feb. 22

Members of the Faculty Club will hear a discussion of the topic "The Faculty: Its Rights and Responsibilities," February 22 at 6 p. m., in St. Paul's EUB Church, Elizabethtown, according to Prof. Hubert M. Custer, club president.

Featured speaker for the program will be Dr. Sidney Wise, of Franklin and Marshall College.

The evening's activities will start with a roast beef dinner. Price for the affair will be $1.75 per person, Prof. Custer said.

now benefiting from the loan program at Elizabethtown. Out of these 40 are to be teachers; 10 are enrolled in science; and 11 more are majoring in various fields, mostly Business Administration.

In order to maintain the loan, good scholastic standing is a prerequisite, a minimum average of "C" is required. Mr. Kurtz believes that none of the students with loans have had poor grades because only the better students were chosen for the loan program.

Judaism Lectures Planned Wednesday

Rabbi Samson A. Shain, of Lancaster, will discuss various aspects of the Jewish faith during a day-long appearance on campus as a guest lecturer Wednesday.

In addition to several informal group discussions and a class lecture, Rabbi Shain will speak during the weekly chapel service in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

His chapel topic will be "Visiting the Jerusalem of Jesus and the Bible."

Later he will discuss "The Synagogue in Jewish History" in a lecture for a Bible class.

"The Politico-Religious Significance of Zionism" will be the topic for an informal question-answer period starting at 3:10 p. m. in the Rider Memorial lounge.

Rabbi Shain will discuss "The Sacred Books of Judaism" at 7:15 p. m. in the Brinzer Lecture Hall. Senior Dorothy Hyde will act as moderator for this session.

The following week, February 17, chapel will be in the form of a student assembly. Joe Wagenseller, Senate committee chairman, said it would be held in the gymnasium, with musical entertainment to be featured.

Campus Prayer

Our Gracious Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the many blessings and benefits Thou hast bestowed upon us during the past year. We ask for Thy help during the coming year. Help us to increase our knowledge without losing sight of the vast importance good Christian principles have in the forming of a desirable character and personality. Thy will be done. Amen.

COMMENCEMENT

emphasized the importance of Christ as the personification of God in the feature address. He referred to man's inability to envision God as "life's most vexing problem."

Students receiving degrees were: Stephen Vulich, B.S. in Science; John L. Magee, B.S. in business administration; Maurice R. Blose, B.S. in secondary education; Edward E. Schopf, B.S. in secondary education, and Doris E. Krieg, B.S. in elementary education.

Pres. A. C. Baugher officiated and conferred all degrees. Candidates for degrees were presented by Dean Roy McAuley.

Music for the service was provided by the College choir, directed by Prof. Nevin W. Fisher.

Prof. Clyde Nelson offered the invocation. The Scripture lesson was read by Dr. Robert A. Byerly. Dr. Nevin H. Zuck, pastor, Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, offered the benediction.

Dr. Albert L. Gray acted as marshal for the academic procession by program participants, trustees and degree winners.

Mr. J. Atlee Young played the organ prelude and postlude.

TRUSTEES AND STUDENTS AGREE

Student Union-Gymnasium Most Needed Building on Campus, Survey Indicates

The announcement by the College Board of Trustees that the next construction project on campus will be a student union building has the full concurrence of students interviewed recently by the ETOWNIAN.

Sock and Buskin Adds 13 Members

Recent initiation ceremonies added 13 new members to Sock and Buskin, reports Mrs. C. G. Enterline, club advisor.

Those admitted into the honorary organization were Jane Barsumian, Harry Bell, Richard Falstick, Ginger Horton, Ken Krieger, Martha Reese, Sandra Reifsteck, James Thornley, Albert Yamada, Barbara Yohe, Galen Young, Don Zelliner and Dorothy Zlobik.

Through participation in College dramatic productions, each initiate had earned at least 25 or 30 points. A total of 25 points is necessary in acting and backstage work; 30 points is required in backstage work only for admission into the club, Mrs. Enterline explained.

Students may earn 15 points for directing a play, 10 points for lead roles and committee chairmanships, and five points for minor roles and committee memberships, she added.

Plans are now being made for a weekend trip to New York City February 26-28.

In a random survey of freshmen and upperclassmen, the opinions expressed all favored a student union-gymnasium as the most needed and desired building on the campus.

Stressing the need for a new gymnasium, Freshmen Clark Colburn and Jerry Morris indicated the gym facilities should be used solely for athletics in order to provide more practice time for sports.

Carol Hess, another freshman said she hoped the gym would include a swimming pool, which, in time, might enable the College to sponsor an intercollegiate swimming team.

Senior Patricia Williams was supported by Freshman Sally Griffith and Sophomore Elizabeth Peacock in her contention that a student union building is needed in order that "we can gather and relax and get to know each other better, especially the off-campus students."

The Trustees have indicated that a student union-gymnasium building will be the next major project of the College Development Program. However, no date for the start of the building has been established.

FANS EYE PANIC BUTTON

Defeats by Drexel, LVC Boost Loss Streak to 5

Losses at Drexel Monday and here Thursday against Lebanon Valley ran the Blue Jays' basketball losing streak to five as the team returned to action following the mid-term break.

The Jays now hit the road for three games on foreign courts next week. They return home February 15 to meet Lincoln University.

LVC's Flying Dutchmen came on strong in the final minutes of a see-saw battle to take a well-earned overtime win, 72-66, at Elizabethtown High School.

With both teams suffering from key injuries and personnel losses via academic probation, LVC picked up four points in the last minute to send the game into overtime knotted at 64-64. Coach Don Smith's club ran out of gas in the overtime as the visitors pulled away to win easily.

Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart's 17 points were high for E-town. Ed Harnly notched 16, Bob Geiger 14. Hank Van de Water, LVC's 6'3" center, was top man for both clubs with 21.

LOSE AT DREXEL

The Blue Jays returned to the court wars after a two-week lay-off and proceeded to lose their fourth straight game to a powerful Drexel squad, 89-67, at Philadelphia, Monday.

The Jays' wobbly offense failed to score in the first six minutes as Drexel rolled up a 16-point lead at halftime.

Three Jays reached double figures in a losing cause. Bob Geiger was high man with 19, followed by Bill Bechtold with 16, and Ed Harnly with 12.

Win Famine Continues As JV's Drop Two

Winless in their last five outings, the E-town junior varsity basketball squad absorbed two sharp jolts this week in dropping decisions to Drexel, 86-51, and Lebanon Valley, 76-61.

Jack Lantz was high for the JV's at Drexel with 12. Dan McKiernan had 10.

Gene Gordon notched 16 against LVC. Bill Clarke had 11, and Dale Good and Bob Teufel each 10.

RECORD NOW 2-4

Grapplers Lose to Temple; Face Albright Here Wed,

by BILL ELSTON

The Blue Jay grapplers returned to action in the first of three second semester home matches, only to be bounced to a 28-5 loss by a surprisingly strong Temple squad Wednesday.

Coach Dick Hershey's matmen now hold a 2-4 record, with victories over Lebanon Valley and Western Maryland and losses to Juniata, Dickinson, Gettysburg, and the Temple club.

Albright (Feb. 10) and Ursinus (Feb. 13) will finish out the wrestling season "at home." The last three Blue Jay matches are on the road.

The Jay wrestlers, hampered by injuries in the first five matches, went into the Temple contest minus the services of freshmen Ted Bond (123 lbs.) and Bill Umberger (130 lb.), both lost to academic probation.

Umberger was undefeated in three matches, and Bond won four straight before losing at Gettysburg.

Bill Kendig (137 lb.) gained the lone Blue Jay victory with a 2-1 decision. Jim Weaver (147 lb.) fought to a draw to add two points in a losing cause.

With 50 percent of their scoring potential benched, the Jays' hopes for a good season have darkened considerably.

The summary:
123-lb. Lucciano (T) pinned Wayne Howells 6:00.

130-lb. Saltsman (T) forfeit.
137-lb. Bill Kendig (E) dec. Quenio 3-1.

147-lb. Jim Weaver (E) and Greniere (T) drew 2-2.

167-lb. Osman (T) pinned Larry Hetzel 5:08.

177-lb. Kramer (T) dec. Galen Lehman 6-4.

Hwt. Quenefeld (T) pinned Bryan Seese 2:09.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

The current Blue Jay wrestling team is essentially a young outfit composed primarily of freshmen and sophomores. However, the performance of Bill Kendig, the only senior on the squad, deserves a bunch of orchids.

Kendig, a dogged competitor, won three of his first four matches this year in the 137-lb. class. He'll likely win a lot more before the year is out, regardless of what the Jays do as a team.

Actually, Bill is forcing the issue by competing at 137. Dieting and constant conditioning are integral parts of his daily routine in order to stay at the weight limit. His more natural class of competition would be the 147-lb. division, where he competed as a sophomore.

But the Jays have a good man in that class in Jim Weaver. So, Kendig, team man that he is, shaved off the necessary poundage to grapple in the lighter division.

Coach Don Smith was asked by the Lancaster Intelligencer to name the five best basketball players (exclusive of those on his current team) who ever wore the livery of the Blue Jays during his coaching reign.

Smith's choices: Bob Wert, a speedy, sharp-shooting forward; Sal Paone, one of the finest guards ever to play here; Jim Sarbaugh, a top play-maker; Dick Stine, a first-rate pivot man, and Bill Pensyl, who gained national recognition last year as a scorer and rebounder.

Athletic Director Ira Herr came back from the NCAA meeting in New York recently with a report that the association had voted to allow the use of freshmen in post-season tournaments sponsored by the organization. The rule change applies only to the college division, not the university division.

This was the rule that kept the Blue Jay soccer team from accepting a possible bid to the NCAA tournament last fall.

SPORTS

Hang In There

The road back for the Blue Jay basketball team this season is going to be long, bitter and all uphill.

Consider these facts:

(1) The Jays lost two games this week to run their losing streak to five, the longest string since the '57-'58 campaign.

(2) Freshman Bill Bechtold, the team's top scorer, has been sidelined by academic problems along with classmates Joe Holubek (6' 6") and Dan McKiernan (6' 5").

(3) Their record now at four and eight, they must go on the road for three consecutive games: Dickinson, Scranton and Wilkes.

Coach Don Smith's quintet still isn't ready to throw in the towel. The Jays are still a team to be reckoned with because of performers such as Bob Geiger, Glenn Bruckhart, Ed Harnly, Barry Boyer and Marty Hefferan.

If we may be so bold to say it, what the Blue Jays need is a take-charge guy on the floor, someone to pull the club together. Co-captains Geiger and Bruckhart have done it at times, but both are a bit too quiet to assert themselves consistently.

Never let it be said that this team lacks guts and desire. Bruckhart came out of the infirmary Thursday and gave all he had, and then some, against LVC. Geiger went to the doctor Thursday afternoon to have a bad ankle strapped. Harnly, Boyer and Hefferan have all played on bad legs.

This, if you'll pardon the term, "ain't" the time to give up on this team. So long as they put out, they deserve your support. Call it anything you want, we still think the Jays can make that long climb back.

Tice and Jones To Lead Jaygals In Home Opener

Juniors Ruth "Brownie" Tice and Kay Jones have been named captains of the Jaygals' basketball team as the charges of Coach Julia Risser look forward to their home opener Tuesday against Millersville State College.

The Bluebirds took on Gettysburg away Friday as the ETOWNIAN went to press.

Miss Risser was optimistic in discussing her team's potential before the opening of the 10-game schedule.

The Jaygals will have experience in the front court with Jo Ann Robinson, Carroll Kreider and Patricia Usinger showing the way. Others likely to see a lot of action are Lucy Clemens and Cindy Kratzer.

The latter two are being counted on to fill the shoes of Sandra Swann, who transferred to Howard University.

Co-captains Tice and Jones should hold their own in the back court, where Linda Simpkins and Nancy Neidlinger may win their spurs this year.

Other highly-rated guards are Linda Elliot, Janet Myers and Sandra Reifsteck.

Overall, the Jaygals have sufficient height and ability for a winning year, according to Miss Risser.

Co-captains for the junior varsity squad are Patricia Williams and Barbara Jones.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Intramurals

Intramural sports, table tennis for women, and basketball for men will resume next week after a two-week recess during the semester finals and vacation.

Linda Eshelman has defeated Jo Ann Robinson to win the division A final of the women's table tennis tournament. Judy Haldeman, Lucy Hendricks and Ruth Tice are presently competing for the division B title.

Club 16 and the Veterans are leading the men's basketball league with identical 4-0 records. The game between these two clubs, scheduled for next week, promises to be a big one.

The highest individual scoring average of the league is held by the Colts' Pepper Frank with 14.7 points per game. Close behind is Bill Pensyl, of the Veterans with a mark of 14.

Glenn Bucher, men's intramural chairman, announced plans for a series of playoff games for the top four teams at the league's close. The games will be scheduled for the week following the last regular game.

The standings:

Club 16	4	0
Veterans	4	0
Cloverly Colts	3	1
The Sixty's	2	2
South Hall	2	2
West Hall	1	3

MORE PRACTICAL POLITICS

Campus Election Campaigns To Start With New Twist

A new twist has been added to the student elections this year.

Under a plan approved by the Student Senate, candidates for president and vice-president will seek office as a team.

However, while the two candidates on a team campaign jointly, students will be allowed to "split the ticket" under the preferential voting system used on campus. As a result, the team can be divided with one partner being successful and the other unsuccessful.

Bill Hoar, Senate president, explained that the change was made "to provide more practical politics in the election." He expressed hope that a number of candidates will take part in the campaign.

The first election will take place March 11, when the president and vice-president will be chosen. Petitioning for a place on the ballot will start March 1 and end at 4 p. m., March 7. A student assembly to introduce the candidates and to explain the election procedures will be held March 9 in the College gymnasium.

Candidates for the top two student offices must have their petitions signed by 20 percent of the student body (about 115 students).

Only students who will be seniors next year are eligible to seek the presidency. Vice-presidential candidates may be either a junior or senior next year.

Any student is eligible to run for the office of secretary-treasurer. Petitioning for this post will take place between March 12 and March 16. Election for this office and for the ETOWNIAN editor and CONESTOGAN editor and business manager will be held March 18.

The eight members of the Student Senate will be elected March 25. Prospective nominees must have petitions signed by 10 percent of the student body between March 19 and March 23. Any student is eligible.

Nominees for the Committees on Men's and Women's Affairs will be selected during meetings of men students (in the gymnasium) and women students (in the dining hall) March 30. Elections are scheduled for April 1.

All campus clubs will choose officers between April 1 and April 20. Each club is responsible for the conduct of its elections. Election of the top male and female senior athletes will be held later.

Petitions for potential candidates will be available in the Student Activities Office. Any questions regarding the election rules and regulations will be answered by either Dean Ed Crill or Dean Vera Hackman.

2 Senior Students To Present Recital

Asher Halbleib, a senior commuting student, will present a vocal recital Monday, February 22, at 8 p. m. in Rider Memorial Hall.

He will be assisted by Sylvia Santee, also a senior. They will be accompanied at the piano by Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Music Department, and Betty Markley, a freshman.

Halbleib, a contralto, will offer such selections as "My Abode" by Schubert, "None But the Lonely Heart" by Tschalkowsky, and "To the Evening Star" by Wagner.

Sylvia will sing "Sapphic Ode" by Brahms and "American Lullaby" by Gladys Rich, and will join Halbleib in a duet, "O Lovely Night" by Roland.

Juniors Prepare 'Call Me Madam' For March 25-26

"Call Me Madam," a humorous musical satire of the Truman Administration, will be presented by the Junior Class here March 25-26. The show will be presented "in the round" in the College Auditorium-Gymnasium.

Joan Lank will act as student director. She will be assisted by Sandra Lutz. A business manager will be named in the near future, according to Herb Spanuth, Junior Class president.

Faculty advisor for the production will be Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline, College drama instructor. Mr. Charles Millard, music teacher at Elizabethtown Area High School, will direct the music.

Students named for the leading roles in the musical are Robin Bonier, Dale Kilhefner, Joseph Wagenseller and Carol Hess.

Others in the cast: Arlene Bomberger, Janice Ferster, Claude Foreman, David Higinbotham, William Hoar, Frank Ingram, Guy Kessler, Kenneth Kreider, Jesse Lowe, Richard Merritt, Anthony Oskam, Sandra Reifsteck, Ross Ricketts, Lonny Thomas and Galen Young.

Rehearsals for the production are now under way.

Crippled Children's Hospital, Here, Receives Services Of Three Senior Women Sunday School Teachers

Every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock finds three enthusiastic College women heading for the State Hospital for Crippled Children, here in Elizabethtown. Their enthusiasm has been created by a desire to help those children, not in a physical way, but through the spiritual value of Sunday school.

This year the three religious education teachers are Joyce Wenger, Kathy Weller and Marion Gilchrist. Dorothy Zlobik serves as a substitute. All are senior education majors, and all love their work.

The College began the Sunday school project at the hospital about seven years ago, when the local ministerial association suggested that it be handled through the Religion Department of the College. Previously, the various Protestant churches in the area took turns in presenting weekly lessons.

Through the cooperation of Roger Greene, supervisor of the hospital, and Dr. Robert Byerly, chairman of the Religion Department of the College, a suitable program was organized, and has been followed ever since.

The students who participate in the project can become eligible for a church leadership training certificate, which is issued by the Church of the Brethren. Dr. Byerly reports that two to three persons receive this certificate each year.

As for the classes themselves, only a quick glance into the room while the lesson is in progress is needed to see the enthusi-

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Sock and Buskin Presents Comedy Finale Tonight

The final presentation of Sock and Buskin's "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be staged tonight as the focal point of the drama club's 30th anniversary celebration in the College Auditorium. Curtain time is 8 o'clock.

The first performance was presented last night.

Special between-acts ceremonies are planned tonight to honor former Sock and Buskin members, who have been invited to return to campus for this production. Punch will be served, and music will be provided by the College Orchestra, directed by Noah Klauss, as part of the anniversary observance.

The play, a three-act comedy by Joseph Kesselring, stars Senior Shirley Lantzy and Junior Carol Bush as two eccentric spinsters and Senior Ken Dieffenbach as their harried nephew.

The plot hinges on the spinsters' practice of poisoning male guests and burying them in their basement with appropriate ceremony.

Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline, College drama instructor, is the director. Her assistant is Senior Marsha Graham.

Record Hop, Movies Scheduled by Senate

A record hop and movie will be sponsored by the Student Senate as Friday evening entertainment, February 26 and March 4, respectively.

The record hop will be held in the auditorium-gymnasium beginning at 8 p. m., while the movie, "Man of a Thousand Faces," will be shown at 7:30 p. m. in the Brinser Lecture Room.

Dennis King To Replace Ray Massey In Cultural Program Here March 5

Dennis King, one of the better known names in American theatrical circles, has been named to replace Raymond Massey as the featured artist in the Community Cultural program to be presented here March 5.

DENNIS KING
The Show Must Go On

Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Lyceum Committee, announced that Massey has been forced to cancel his appearance here because of a movie he is making in England.

King will appear in a portrayal of Benjamin Franklin entitled "Go Fly a Kite." For his program King will use standard biographical material on Franklin in addition to new data contained in recently discovered letters of America's first great philosopher and journalist.

In announcing Massey's cancellation, Prof. Fisher revealed a letter of explanation from Terry Bliss, the agent who booked the Massey program. The letter reads in part:

"Mr. Massey has written a play . . . ('The Hanging Judge') . . . his only literary effort. It's movie production is very close to his heart.

"For various reasons, the filming of this play has been held up for three years. Mr. Massey was recently informed that everything was set to go in March of this year and his presence in England was urgently needed for casting and re-writing.

"This unfortunate set of circumstances has caused 20 sponsors, along with Elizabethtown College, a tremendous amount of inconvenience."

Dennis King began his theatrical career in his native England in the Shakespearean drama, "As You Like It." After a series of appearances in England, he came to the United States, where he made his debut with Ethel and John Barrymore.

He has played leading roles in "The Three Musketeers," "Show Boat," "A Doll's House," "Blithe Spirit," "Pygmalion," "Edward, My Son," "Shangri-La," and "The Vagabond King."

His portrayal of Franklin in "Go Fly a Kite" brings out the "wit, wisdom, diplomacy and everyday 'horse sense,' for which Franklin is remembered.

The program traces the life of Franklin from his youth in Philadelphia through his writing and publishing career, to the Continental Congress of the young United States, and finally to the Courts of Europe as American Ambassador.

The Community Cultural programs are presented jointly by the College and the Patton School. Students will be admitted to the program upon presentation of their activities booklet.

Senior Class May Court Representatives Elected

Carol Beard, Sylvia Santee, Melanie Swingler and Joyce Wenger have been elected by the senior class as their representatives in this year's May Court. Carol and Melanie are commuting students while Sylvia and Joyce are campus residents.

An All-College election was held yesterday as this paper went to press, to select the queen and maid-of-honor from the four women. Other classes will elect their representatives in March.

JUST LIKE HOME . . . That's what these children seem to be thinking as they participate in a Sunday school class at the State Hospital for Crippled Children, Elizabethtown. Their teacher is Kathy Weller, senior education major here. She and two other students serve this year as regular religious education instructors for Protestant children at the hospital.

asm the children show for the Sunday school hour.

Children lying in beds, children in wheelchairs and others who are able to walk, gather in the rooms, used during the week for regular school classes.

During the hour-long classes for juniors and high school youths, the teachers present lessons, read the Scriptures and lead in the singing of hymns, in addition to conducting discussions, showing film strips and having the children listen to religious recordings.

Two other classes are conducted on a half-hour basis for the kindergarten and primary children. The same type of instruction is presented there.

The turn-over in enrollment is quite great in the classes. Some of the children are patients at the hospital for only a few weeks, while other youngsters are there for several years. But whatever their reason for being there, they seem eager for another Sunday school hour to come around, and the teachers look forward to them just as much.

To the latter it means experience in the teaching vocation. They feel that the time and effort put into the lessons are more than paid for by the children themselves, who but for a physical defect which needs correction, would be back home in their own Sunday school class that day.

As we see it...

Student Gov't Needs Sparkle, Tact, Initiative

Beginning early next month, elections to determine the members of next year's Student Government will be held. The right to vote in these elections is open to all members of the student body.

What exactly is at stake in these elections? Are the results really important to the student body?

To answer the first question, the most important stake in the elections is the quality of the Student Government next year. The quality of Student Government is determined by several factors: (1) the general willingness of the elected officials to accept their responsibilities and carry them out with efficiency, logic and dispatch; (2) the initiative and tact with which these officials meet new problems; (3) the degree of true leadership displayed.

In short, a quality Student Government is a vibrant group of people who have the happy combination of zeal and plain common sense. The representatives seeking your vote should be considered carefully to see if they fulfill these qualifications.

As to the second question, the results of these elections are of great importance to the student body. Who else suffers if the Student Government turns out to be a dull, sparkless, illogical organization incapable of adequately fulfilling its responsibilities?

Popularity is certainly a desirable quality. But it should not be allowed to sway your judgment when you start choosing your Student Government next month.

We're Still Not Sold

A Madison Avenue advertising specialist, after looking over the long campaign to promote universal brotherhood, would probably conclude that the product has been pushed vigorously by both the hard and soft sell through all communications media.

But, for one reason or another, the campaign hasn't been completely successful. The public has not been "sold" on it.

Brotherhood has a long history. The Ten Commandments stressed it. Christ emphasized it in his teachings.

Centuries later, John Donne wrote that no man is an island. Abraham Lincoln warned of a nation divided against itself. Dwight Eisenhower has said that common brotherhood "can advance the highest hopes of the family of man."

But the ideal of universal brotherhood should remain before us as a goal worthy of our sincerest efforts. We can advance the cause individually by practicing brotherhood in our daily routine.

As we observe National Brotherhood Week, February 21-28, we might remember these words by Wendell Wilkie:

"Freedom is an indivisible word. If we want to enjoy it, and fight for it, we must be prepared to extend it to everyone, whether they are rich or poor, whether they agree with us or not, no matter what their race or the color of their skin."

THEIR THUNDER HAS FADED

Our Pulpit and Press Have Surrendered To Modern Social Pressures, Writer Says

George E. Sokolsky, a respected journalist whose columns can be found in both Democratic and Republican flavored newspapers, recently accused the nation's clergy and press of renegeing on their natural roles as molders of public opinion.

As a result, he said, the American people have become alarmingly apathetic about their own affairs.

In Sokolsky's words: "It is a curious phenomenon, this apathy. It is as though an older generation has become very tired and youth has not yet become diverted from the discovery of sex to the discovery of ideals."

As examples of this apathy, he singles out the decline of patriotism as an ideal and the unchallenged rise of the Existentialist and Beatnik movements, which "were missed by parents and even the press until 'juvenile delinquency' became a sufficiently pressing problem to compete with the man who bit the dog..."

Sokolsky continued:

"Leadership in the United States has always been found in the pulpit and the press. (In past times) vigorous and respected men thundered, like prophets of old, against improprieties, indecencies, and corruption.

"The American pulpit is soft; it does not thunder. It speaks in dulcet and inoffensive tones, even on theological subjects.

"The press, too, has changed its character over the past 50 years.

"Today, on the whole, the American newspaper eschews this role of leadership of opinion. The costs of owning a newspaper or a magazine, of manufacturing an issue for publication, are so great that more and more leadership opinion is subordinated to the satisfaction of readers' tastes, because taxes and labor costs have forced upon the press business responsibilities which earlier generations took in their stride."

Perhaps, in the light of the all-too-apparent moral decay in our social fabric, we could use a little of the fire and brimstone dished out by pulpit-pounding ministers and fire-breathing editorial writers of a by-gone era.

As we see it, Sokolsky has a point.

It would be interesting to see how the old fire and brimstone would mix with "payola."

Campus Prayer

Almighty God, of Thy fullness grant to us who need so much, who lack so much, who have so little, wisdom and strength. Make us mindful of Thy truth that "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." Remove the many doubts and conflicts which are constantly drawing us from Thee. Lift our understandings unto Thy heavenly light, that we thereby beholding those things which are right, and being drawn by Thy love, may bring our will and understanding together to Thy service, until at last, body and soul and spirit may be all Thine, and Thou be our Father and our eternal Friend; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Ladies Aux. Elects Three At Luncheon

Election of three new officers and an illustrated lecture on schools and orphanages in Peru, Korea and Japan highlighted the annual luncheon meeting of the College Ladies' Auxiliary last Saturday in the College dining hall.

An estimated 200 members attended to hear the address of Dr. Genevieve Bowen, Doylestown educator.

New officers elected were Mrs. Clifford Hoffman, Lancaster, first vice-president; Mrs. Stanley Dotterer, York, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Walter Lehman, Glen Rock, assistant corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Shirley Uhazi, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Wallace Baldwin, Palmyra, reported total membership now stands at 500, including 51 life members.

Reports were also presented by Mrs. Christopher Papson, Lebanon, treasurer; Mrs. Rufus Bucher, Lebanon, recording secretary, and Miss Anna Schwenk, Carlisle, project chairman.

Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, Rexmont, president, presided during the meeting. Mrs. Papson served as toastmistress. Two vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Paul Rice, Elizabethtown.

College officials who spoke briefly were Pres. A. C. Baugher, Dean Roy McAuley, Development Director J. Albert Seldomridge, and Public Relations Director James L. M. Yeingst.

2 Accounting Students Cited for Performance

Two Elizabethtown College students were recently recognized by the National Association of Accountants for superior performance in cost accounting classes here.

They are Miss Martha Eppley and Francis McNaughton, both of Harrisburg. Each received a year's subscription to the NAA Bulletin. Miss Eppley's award was presented by the Lancaster Chapter of the NAA. McNaughton's was presented by the Harrisburg Chapter.

- OFF THE - BEATEN TRACK

by BILL HOAR

John Dudwitt was the butt end of one of the funniest incidents to ever occur in the Barracks the other night.

A duo of our fine and intelligent young engineers rigged a direct water line through an empty electrical socket in the top of the phone booth. The valve that controlled the flow was right in front of the door.

It goes something like this: Some of the fellows told John the ham operators had hooked a radio current into the phone and all one had to do to hear beautiful music was to lift the receiver and turn the little valve. Need I say more?

Congratulations to all concerned for the fine Student Assembly this past Wednesday. This is a step in the right direction, we believe; let's try for more of this type.

And then there's the story making the rounds about the three members of the Administration who jointly encountered one of life's more embarrassing moments.

These three men left E-town about 6:30 one morning recently and drove more than 200 miles to attend a meeting. Upon reaching their destination they checked in to register for the two-day conference only to find they had arrived exactly one week too soon.

We had a pep rally! All went well until some thoughtless individuals began throwing snowballs. There were a lot of girls present, so maybe they were trying to impress the pretty co-eds.

Whatever the motive, let's consider the work involved in organizing something extra like this, and be a little more cooperative and show a little more appreciation in the future.

Our thanks to the cheerleaders and to those who really supported the team in the pre-game rally.

Election Committee To Check Campaigns

Barbara Yohe has been named chairman of the Senate Election Committee, according to Senate President Bill Hoar.

Other committee members are: Bruce Tinglof, John Dudwitt, Marion Gilchrist, Donna Wolfe, William Longenecker and Manuel Tejada.

The committee will man the polls and generally supervise the student elections.

Campus Clubs in the News

LSA

The campus Lutheran Student Association at present is making plans to attend the annual conference at Buck Hill Falls, in the Poconos, February 26, 27 and 28.

The North Atlantic regional conference will have as its theme, "The Message of the World to the Church." President of the local club, Betty Dorr, said 10 or 12 persons are expected to attend from here.

P.S.E.A.

The student education club has several events scheduled for the semester, including attendance at a workshop sponsored by the State association and a banquet planned for May.

Senior officers of the club are planning to attend the workshop March 5 at Shippensburg State College. Joyce Wenger, general chairman of the banquet, reported that plans are under way for this annual event.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

The annual Inter-Collegiate Conference on Government will be held March 5 at Dickinson College, according to Dorothy Hyde, club president.

The convention delegation from this College will be in the form of a Republican delegation to nominate Richard Nixon for president.

Ken Leese was elected chairman of the Committee on Civil Rights, Judiciary and Government Organization at the meeting of the club held February 9. Dick Spangler was elected ICG chairman.

SOCK AND BUSKIN

Ten members of the Sock and Buskin drama club will visit New York City, Saturday and Sunday, February 27 and 28.

High point of the trip will be the viewing of Albert Camus' Caligula, a drama based on Roman history.

Treasurer's Mother Dies In Lebanon

Mrs. Annie Kurtz, 79, mother of College Treasurer Earl Kurtz, died Tuesday at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lebanon, as a result of severe burns suffered several days earlier. Mrs. Kurtz' apron reportedly caught fire while she was baking at her home in Richland.

Second Organ Placed

An additional practice organ has been placed in Rider Memorial Hall for use by students taking organ lessons, Dean Roy McAuley has announced.

The organ, a Baldwin two-manual, 25-bank instrument, was needed because of the increased number of organ students.

Dr. Ross H. Stover Scheduled As Religious Emphasis Speaker

Dr. Ross H. Stover, pastor of the Messiah Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, will be the guest speaker in chapel Wednesday, March 2, and will be on campus throughout the day for other religious activities.

He is one of several speakers who have been invited to participate in the College's religious emphasis program this year.

DR. ROSS H. STOVER
Here for Talks

Dr. Robert Byerly, chairman of the Religion Department here, will be the speaker Wednesday, February 24. He will talk on "God Has a Word for You."

Dr. Stover is a professor of public speaking at Temple University School of Theology as well as pastor of the Messiah Lutheran Church, the largest Protestant church in Philadelphia.

He holds degrees from Wittenberg College, Hamma Divinity School, Gettysburg College, American Theological Seminary and Temple University.

In addition to having published several books, Dr. Stover is well known for his radio broadcasts, his vocal talent and his enthusiastic and optimistic spirit.

Since 1936 he has conducted the Easter Sunrise Service at Temple University Stadium and the Palm Sunday night services at Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

Seldomridge Makes Giving Fund Report

The response from alumni, business and friends to the Second Annual Giving Fund of the College continues to surpass the interest and results of the entire first year, according to Mr. J. Albert Seldomridge, chairman of the development program here.

Mr. Seldomridge reported that over $30,000 has been pledged or paid to the College, through personal volunteer solicitation.

A mail campaign currently underway should increase substantially this amount before August 31, 1960, the deadline for participation in this year's fund, the fund chairman added.

He said other channels of financial support for the College continue to come in.

"The need related in the fund appeal, along with the increased importance and national public production of financial support to higher education help produce these results," Mr. Seldomridge stated.

Profs. Kurtz, Enterline To Present TV Programs

Profs. Earl Kurtz and Clarence G. Enterline will present the College of the Air television programs of Tuesday, February 23, and Tuesday, March 1.

"Installment Credit" will be the topic for discussion by Prof. Kurtz, treasurer of the college, while Prof. Enterline, College alumni secretary, will discuss "The Family Budget."

Jays Belted by WSC, 102-56, As Season's Log Slumps to 6-11

Workmanlike and with deft precision, the Blue Jay basketball team moved out to an early 5-0 lead here Thursday night against West Chester State College.

Jaygals Split 4 Games; JV's Winners In 3

by SANDY MacLAUGHLIN

With a decisive victory over Lebanon Valley here Tuesday evening, the women's basketball team evened their season's record at 2-2.

The junior varsity took three of their first four games.

The Blue Birds were preparing to meet Bridgewater away as the ETOWNIAN went to press. They take on Madison College today.

Coach Julia Risser's team, led by Cindy Kratzer's 16 points, downed LVC, 48-26. The Jaygals opened a lead in the first period and were never headed.

The E-town junior varsity also won as Barb Schlickemaier tallied 26 points in a 62-45 rout of the LVC understudies. JoAnn Robinson had 20.

LOSE TO SHIPPENSBURG

Traveling to Shippensburg State College last week, the Jaygals lost, 47-29.

Kratzer was high for E-town with nine points. Carroll Kreider had eight, Sue Wood seven.

The E-town JV's also went down before the Shippensburg understudies, 59-45, despite a 28-point effort by Schlickemaier.

DEFEAT MILLERSVILLE

The Risserites picked up their first win of the year early last week by defeating Millersville State College here, 44-34.

Kreider topped the Jaygals with 22 points. Kratzer had 17.

Sue Wood led the E-town JV's to a 49-25 conquest of the M-ville junior varsity. She notched 18 points.

DROP OPENER

The Jaygals got off on the wrong foot as they lost the season's opener at Gettysburg, 47-31.

Lucy Clemens led the Blue Birds with 10 points.

The E-town understudies, however, got off winging with an impressive 49-28 triumph. Pat Williams and Barb Jones tallied 16 and 15 points respectively for the Jays.

Then, like the proverbial house of cards, the Jays collapsed, offensively and defensively. By halftime the Rams had the game in the bag, 51-27. The final count was 102-56, the Jay's worst defeat in at least eight years.

For the Jays and their supporters, it was a night of frustration.

Co-captain Bob Geiger saw his shots rim the hoop repeatedly without dropping through. He had six points, his season's low.

Ed Harnly, usually steady and reliable, pressed noticeably. He failed to score. Barry Boyer, who has hit well recently, managed only six points.

Coach Don Smith had four starters averaging in double figures through the first 16 games. But only one, Co-captain Glenn Bruckhart, came through against WSC. "Stretch" had 19 points, tops for E-town. Marty Hefferan notched 12.

Meanwhile, the Rams placed five men in double figures. Nels Phillips was high for the visitors with 17.

The Jays are at Juniata tonight. They return home next week to meet Gettysburg Wednesday, Juniata Saturday.

TOPPLE LINCOLN

Geiger racked up 26 points here Monday as the Jays returned home to bounce Lincoln University, 74-59. After a sluggish start, Coach Don Smith's quintet moved out to a commanding 38-22 halftime lead and won with ease.

Boyer followed Geiger with 13 points. Sophomore Ted Wohnsiedler came off the bench to notch 12, his best effort of the year. Bruckhart collected 10.

BEATEN AT WILKES

With Bruckhart and Harnly forced out by personal fouls early in the second half, the Blue Jays fell out of contention in last Saturday's game at Wilkes. The Colonels won, 96-73.

Geiger again led E-town with 22. Boyer had 16, Marty Hefferan 11, Sam Gruber 10.

SCRANTON WINS

Down by 10 points at the half, the Jays were unable to cope with Scranton University last week at Scranton and dropped a 70-53 decision.

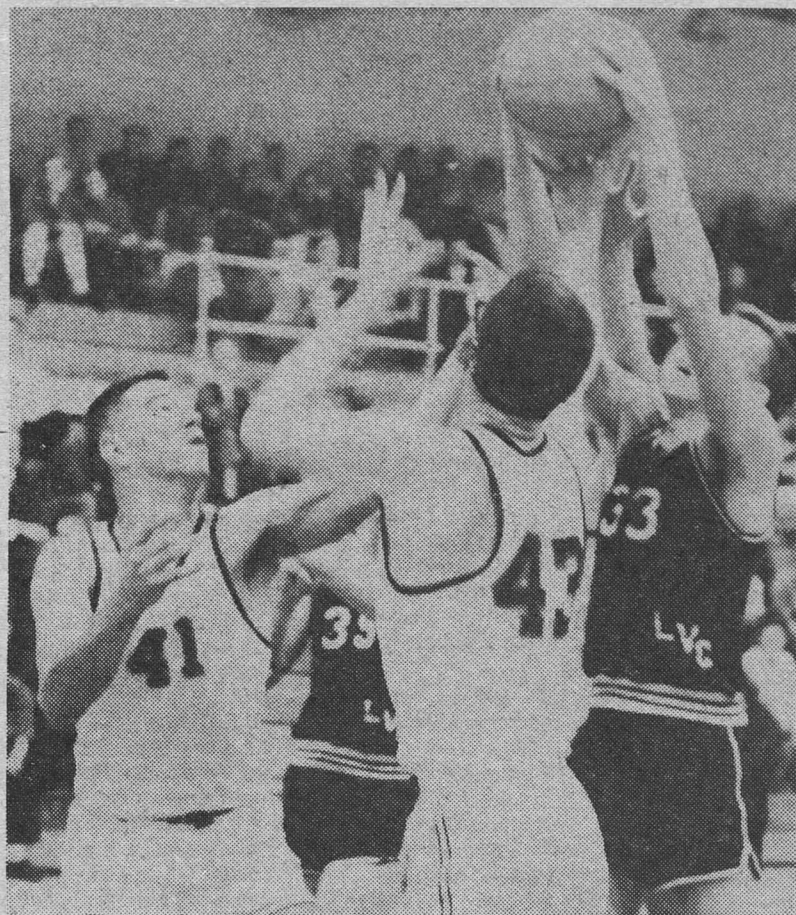

Geiger had 16 and Boyer 10 to lead the Jays' listless offensive effort.

END LOSING STREAK

With Bob Geiger and Barry Boyer showing the way, the Jays came from behind last week at Dickinson to snap a five-game losing streak with an 83-76 triumph. Geiger and Boyer each tallied 24 points.

Bruckhart had 16, Harnly 12 as E-town, trailing by 11 points at one stage, rallied to win. Geiger's five clutch foul conversions in the final minute sewed up the verdict.

SPORTS

ALL HANDS ON DECK—Five (count 'em) pairs of grasping paws are trying to pull in this rebound during the recent battle between the Blue Jays and LVC. Ed Harnly (41) and "Stretch" Bruckhart (43) represent the Jays. LVC's Hank Van de Water (33) seems to be reaching the highest. Two other players are in the background. Dutchmen won, 72-66, in overtime.

FIRST WINNING SEASON?

Wrestlers Take Two To Boost Log To 4-5

Showing better as the year wears on, the Blue Jay wrestling team picked up two convincing triumphs and lost a tight meet in their last three outings to boost their seasonal record to four wins, five defeats.

With two meets remaining, the Jay grapplers have an opportunity to come up with the first winning season since the sport was initiated here in 1954. The '56-'57 team had a 4-6 record, which is tops so far.

Co-captains Bill Kendig and Jim Weaver have been the most consistent performers for Coach Dick Hershey. Kendig (at 137-lb.) has won six, lost one, and tied one so far. Weaver (147-lb.) has won six, lost two, and tied one. Each has tallied 26 points.

The biggest reason for the Jays' recent success is the steady improvement of Sophomore Wayne Howells (123-lb.) and Freshmen Larry Brown (157-lb.), Gary Ellinger (167-lb.), and Galen Lehman (177-lb.).

Howells has won two of his last three matches, both by pins. Brown, with an overall record of 3-5, has also taken two of his last three opponents. Ellinger has won three in a row, two by pins. Lehman, overall 3-3-2, earned two pins and lost a forfeit in recent matches.

PUMMEL PMC

Pin victories by Howells, Kendig and Ellinger plus decisions by Weaver and Brown gave the Blue Jays a 21-13 triumph over Pennsylvania Military College at Chester this week. E-town's Spencer Seros lost a close 2-0 decision in his 130-lb. match.

DRUB URSINUS

The Jays put on their best show of the season last Saturday by taking four pin triumphs at Ursinus to win an easy 23-11 decision.

Howells, Kendig, Brown and Lehman earned the pins. Ellinger picked up a decision at 167-lb.

NIPPED BY ALBRIGHT

Victories by Galen Lehman (at 177-lb.), Gary Ellinger (167-lb.), and Co-captain Jim Weaver (147-lb.) almost turned the trick as the Jays lost a tight 16-15 decision to visiting Albright last week.

Lehman and Ellinger both recorded pins. Weaver earned a decision.

Co-captain Bill Kendig earned a draw with Albright's Ron Green in the 137-lb. class. Green, a Middle Atlantic Conference champion, is unbeaten in two years of dual meet competition.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

by BILL ELSTON

Wrestling is a relatively young sport at E-town. Not too many years ago, interested students worked to establish the sport on an intercollegiate level.

Victory finally came, but it was a victory with limitations. In a sense, the wrestling boosters had won the battle but lost the war.

The first wrestling team had problems, but they could overlook poor facilities. They didn't expect much. They didn't get much.

This year's wrestling squad is a lot like that first squad. The mats are still dirty; only the faces have changed.

Indifference is still around, and consequently wrestling has become a stunted farce. Coach Dick Hershey had good material this year and yet the team boasts only a 4-5 record. What's wrong?

Well, we could blame academic probation and injuries. They are a part of the story. But it goes deeper than that.

It appears as though a little bit of the desire to achieve is dead—or was it killed?

This column received a letter signed by "The Wrestling Team" this week. It reads in part:

"... The present wrestling room is approximately 10 by 20 feet. Within these small confines from eight to ten wrestlers are expected to practice at the same time. It is rather difficult to practice when the men on either side of you are trying to occupy the same small area allotted to you. Even worse than this is the fact that the area is too small for the practice of take-downs. The first third of each match can be spent attempting take-downs. The members of the wrestling team are expected to face competition with virtually no practice in this area."

The letter goes on to point out difficulties encountered in obtaining equipment and, most important, lack of a "suitable" site for practice sessions.

It concludes:

"We feel it is time the Administration gives the sport adequate backing or discontinues it from the athletic program."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Intramurals

The women are presently completing their table tennis and bowling intramurals under Intramural Chairman Marty Epply.

Lucy Hendricks and Ruth Tice are semi-finalists in the B division of the table tennis tournament coordinated by Sandy Reifsteck. Along with Linda Eshelman and JoAnn Robinson, first and second place division A finalists, they will play to decide the overall champion.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Club 16 and the Veterans remain undefeated in men's intramurals basketball after play last Wednesday evening. Results of the games and high scorers are:

Veterans 25, Cloverly Colts 24
Fasick (CC) 11
Pensyl (V) 8
West Hall 25, North Hall 23
Morris (WH) 11
Smith (NH) 9
South Hall 31, Commuters 24
Stauffer (C) 12
Spragg (SH) 10
Club 16 over The Sixty's by forfeit.

Nancy Markey, women's bowling chairman, announced only one game, between New Dorm I and Fairview II, remains to be played. Present league standings are:

	W.	L.
New Dorm I	2	0
Fairview I	2	1
New Dorm III	2	1
Fairview II	1	2
MAD	1	2
New Dorm II	0	3

PART OF CULTURAL SERIES

Woodwind Quintet Concert On Campus Thursday Evening

A concert by the Woodwind Quintet of the Springfield (Mass.) Symphony Orchestra will be presented next Thursday evening in the College Auditorium as another in the series of Community Cultural Programs.

Students will be admitted free upon presentation of their activities booklet. The concert is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the College Lyceum Committee, which arranges the Cultural Programs, indicated that he was able to schedule the concert because the quintet, in-residence at Springfield College, happened to be on tour through the area.

The quintet, composed of the principal wind players with the Springfield Symphony, appeared in New York City earlier this year and "won over the New York press and a highly professional audience at Carnegie Recital Hall."

Members of the ensemble include Gerardo Levy, flute; Dorothy Kidney, oboe; Efraim Guigui, clarinet; Jeanne Paella, horn, and Donald Rosenthal, bassoon. Rosenthal is appearing for the group's regular bassoonist, Mary Anne Kauffman, who was unable to make the tour because of illness.

Compositions by Vivaldi, Hindemith, Schuller and Beethoven are included in the concert program. The selections encompass "a full range of style, tone color and period."

Commenting on the group's New York performances, the New York Herald Tribune said the quintet "proves to be a well-drilled, smoothly functioning ensemble whose members play with conspicuous ease and fluent musicality."

Junior Class Show Committees Named

Final plans for the junior class show, "Call Me Madam," have been completed and rehearsals are progressing satisfactorily, according to Joan Lank, student director.

The production, a musical by Irving Berlin, will be presented "in the round" Friday and Saturday, March 25-26, in the College auditorium-gymnasium.

A humorous political satire on the Truman Administration and embassy life, the musical relates the experiences of Mrs. Sally Adams, ambassador to the old-world principality of Lichtenberg.

Assisting Joan in directing the production is Sandra Lutz. Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline, drama instructor, and Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Music Department, are faculty advisors. Mr. Charles Millard, music teacher at Elizabethtown Area High School, will direct the music.

Committee chairmen for the show include:

Loy Garber and Elsie Woodward, business managers; Claude Foreman, staging; Jim Thornley, lighting; Carol Bush, properties; Barbara Schlickemaier, costumes; Linda Elliot, make-up; Barbara Jones, publicity, and Nancy Feo, tickets and programs.

Prof. Snowden Sees Self As 'Typical Pa. Dutchman'

by POLLY GRUBB

"For what is the present after all but a growth out of the past?" Whitman's Passage to India.

In his own objective words he is a "typical Pennsylvania Dutchman who feels that life should be brought to a focal point."

In the eyes of his students he is the owner of a new home situated beyond Lake Placid, husband of an Elizabethtown area elementary school teacher, philosophy club advisor, friend, theologian and Prof. Armon D. Snowden.

For this youthful man who pictures life in a mature frame, his academic interest (working with students as well as with theological ideas) is a means to the end of aiding others to clarify who they are and to express this real being.

From the varied pieces of his past work and experience he is able to project himself as a guide for others. Says he, "Only as you know people can you honestly interchange ideas." And the Elizabethtown student is a type

Two Dances Planned By Student Senate

A semi-formal St. Patrick's Day dance and a record hop will be sponsored by the Student Senate as two Friday evenings of entertainment, March 11 and 18, respectively, according to the Student Activities Office.

The St. Patrick's dance will be held at the Hotel Brunswick, Lancaster, from 8 to 12 p. m., while the record hop is scheduled for the College gymnasium from 8 to 11 p. m. that Prof. Snowden knows.

A 1951 alumnus of Elizabethtown who was reared in Bethlehem, Pa., he, like most of the college's students today, came from a non-professional home. Believing that the E-town students are "a group that work very hard, a group that get excited about learning," Prof. Snowden, after his graduation from Crozer Theological Seminary and the University of Pennsylvania as well as Duke University, returned as a faculty member because of the opportunity to work with this type of student.

In undergraduate days, woodcarving, oil painting, drama and the College choir were dabbling arts for Prof. Snowden. It was at this time that, upon hearing Bruch's violin concerto, his interest in harmony blossomed.

As a member of the College track team (which was "not much of a team then") in his junior year here, he and several others decided to run two miles every morning to keep in shape. With the exception of two days they attained their goal.

A college student-participant, this energetic youth hiked in the first Church of the Brethren Regional Trail Camp and went on to work five summers as business manager of the Baptist camp, Unami.

Student Assembly, Lenten Speaker Set

The regular weekly chapel service scheduled for Wednesday, March 9, will be held in the College auditorium-gymnasium in the form of a student assembly, it has been announced by Dr. Robert A. Byerly, chairman of the chapel program committee.

Candidates for president and vice-president of the Student Senate will be introduced to the students. They will relate their platforms and policies. The officers will be elected Friday, March 11, in an all-College election.

Dr. Edward K. Ziegler, pastor of Williamson Road Church of the Brethren, Roanoke, Va., and an alumnus of Elizabethtown, will be the chapel speaker March 16.

Moderator of the annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren and a former professor of religion at Manchester College, Dr. Ziegler is one of four special Lenten speakers to be brought on campus for the Easter season.

Recital Scheduled In Rider Wednesday

A recital by students of voice, piano and organ will be presented Wednesday evening, starting at 8 o'clock, in the Rider Memorial Chapel.

Voice students of Prof. Nevin Fisher taking part in the program include Mary Gladfelter, soprano; Sylvia Santee, contralto; Betty Markley, soprano; Dale Kilhefner, baritone, and Asher Halbleib, baritone.

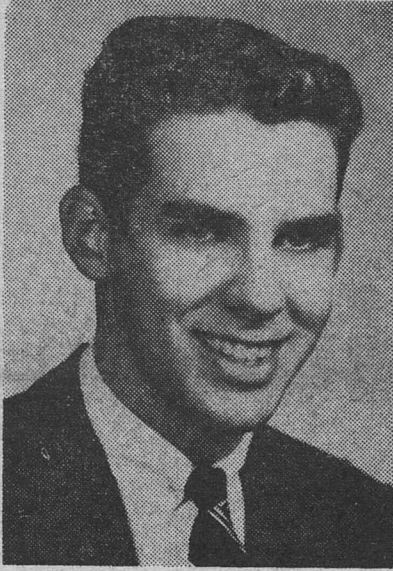

Piano solos will be presented by Vivian Foote, Ann Snyder and Linda Hollinger, students of Mrs. E. G. Meyer.

Organ selections will be offered by Judy Nesbit, Sondra Prosser, Sylvia Hixson, Joan Leatherman and Carol Kruger, students of Mr. J. Atlee Young.

The College men's and women's quartets will also take part in the program.

E-Town Scholarship Awaits Fair Winner

Elizabethtown College will offer a full tuition scholarship as part of its contribution to the Lancaster City-County Science Fair to be held March 23-25 in Lancaster, according to Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, chairman of the College chemistry department.

Dennis King Here To Give Cultural Program Tonight

The life of Benjamin Franklin will be recreated here tonight as Dennis King, one of the better known English actors of modern times, presents "Go Fly a Kite," as one of the year's Community Cultural Programs in the College Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Students will be admitted free upon presentation of their activities booklet.

King, who made his American theatrical debut with Ethel and John Barrymore, will use standard and newly discovered biographical material in his dramatic review of Franklin's career as a journalist, philosopher, patriot and diplomat.

New Slate of Officers Named by Faculty Club

New officers were elected by the College Faculty Club during a dinner meeting last week at St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Elizabethtown.

Elected were Prof. Armon Snowden, president; Mrs. F. C. Neumann, secretary; Dr. Charles Apgar, treasurer, and Mrs. Apgar, assistant treasurer.

Featured speaker for the meeting was Dr. Sidney Wise, of F. and M. College, who spoke on the topic "Towns and Gowns." Thirty-three attended.

A three-cornered battle for the two top spots in the Student Government was touched off this week as candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency of the Student Senate opened their campaigns by circulating petitions seeking a place on the ballot for next Friday's election.

Under a new plan initiated this year, the candidates for each office will campaign as a team. However, students may break up the joint effort by choosing the president from one ticket, the vice-president from another. Voting will take place in the College store. All students may vote.

The following teams (presidential candidates listed first) are now campaigning: David Correll and George Lott, Joseph Wagenseller and Glenn Bucher, and Galen Young and Ross Ricketts.

Other teams may enter the race at the last minute. The deadline for filing petitions for nomination is 4 p. m. Monday.

Lucille Hendricks is campaign manager for the Correll-Lott ticket. Mona Wyles and Richard Merritt are handling the campaign for Wagenseller and Lott, Ruth Risser is managing the campaign for the Young-Ricketts slate.

THE CANDIDATES

The following is a brief biographical sketch of the current candidates:

Dave Correll, from Elizabeth, N. J., has served on the Committee on Men's Affairs. He was a member of the Freshman Initiation Committee and manager for the baseball team. Although not a member of the Senate, he served on the Senate's Public Relations Committee and the Lyceum Committee. His field: Liberal Arts.

Joseph Wagenseller, from Harrisburg, is a member of the Senate and vice-president of the Junior class. He is a member of the College choir, the ECCA, the College orchestra. He is preparing for the ministry.

Galen Young, from Chester, is a member of the Senate. He was president of the Class of '61 and sang in the College choir. He has appeared in the dramatic production, "Stage Door," here. He is a pre-medical student.

THE V-P ASPIRANTS

Glenn R. Bucher, from Elizabethtown, is a member of the Senate, the College choir, ECCA, and SAM. He is vice-president of the Sophomore class. His field: Business Administration.

George Lott, from Barrington, N. J., has served on various class committees and, although not a member of the Senate, on the Senate Committee and the Freshman initiation committee. He is an education major.

Ross Ricketts, from Allentown, was a member of the College choir and the cross country team as a freshman. He took part, though not on the Senate, as a chairman of the Senate's Public Relations Committee.

Class of 63 Elects Dale Good President

Dale Good, business administration major from Leola, was elected president of the Freshman Class last week, Dean Ed Crill reported.

Other officers named by the frosh are LeRoy Bear, Mt. Holly Springs, vice-president; Molly Moerschbacher, Camp Hill, secretary, and Larry Smith, Red Lion, treasurer.

Easter Break Longer, But

With the last official vacation period coming up in about a month, students here have begun looking at their catalogues, wondering just how long the Easter vacation will be. A quick look shows that we are to be the recipients of a ten-day holiday, quite a change from the previous four-day recess.

However, a second glance at the calendar tells us that classes will begin Easter Monday, which will mean traveling back to college on Easter Sunday, the day for which we are given any vacation at all!

The Student Senate has looked into the situation, and after a conference with the Administration has realized that nothing will be done to rectify the problem this year. It was pointed out that students are being given a longer vacation, covering both the Easter and Spring recesses; that it would probably only affect those students coming from a great distance, and that if Easter Monday were included in the vacation period, classes would have to be held during part of Holy Week. This latter reasoning would mean students would have much less of a vacation than they already have.

Although we feel that Easter Monday should have been taken into consideration when the 1959-'60 calendar was set up, we are resigned to the schedule as planned. We only hope that in future years such a situation will not have to be faced.

There Are 24 Hours In Every Day For All

This may sound like a trite bit of philosophy, but we wonder how many students leave this College, or any other, for that matter, knowing how to budget their time as well as their money.

Reports are due on a certain date, yet students just "don't have time" to write them until the deadline day. Then they work like fury to get them in before midnight.

If several tests are scheduled for a particular week, students say they "don't have time" to do anything else but study for them. They forget their responsibilities to the organizations of which they are members, they neglect their sleep, but they still find time to loaf and gab.

This editor is convinced that if students would recognize all their responsibilities and plan to meet all of them accordingly, they would find that they have time to get everything accomplished and still be able to take in a movie or discuss the great problems of mankind over a cup of coffee.

All that is needed is a budgeting of one's time, for after all, isn't that just as valuable as money? We can waste them both with very little effort, but we also can use both wisely with only a little more labor.

Good Casting, Set Noted in Comedy Presented by S&B

by VIRGINIA WILLS

"Arsenic and Old Lace" cast members played to an appreciative audience February 19-20 in the best dramatic offering to date.

The cast consisted of three women, 11 men with speaking parts, and sundry corpses that appeared sporadically. The casting of the play was superb. All of the actors seemed to live their parts, and transmitted to the audience the feeling that the people on the stage, different though they were, were actually real. This only is the purpose of dramatic actors.

Shirley Lantzy and Carol Bush affectionately played the two aunts who aided friendless old men by poisoning them with elderberry wine to end their loneliness and burying them in the basement with appropriate ceremony. Their exaggerated movements amused the audience quite as much as any of their lines.

Don Zellner presented a completely convincing Teddy Roosevelt. In the play he depicted a man who thought he was Teddy. One of his idiosyncracies was the sounding of the charge each time he climbed the stairs—or rather San Juan Hill. He is to be commended for not once forgetting. Dennis Dougherty, playing the gangster nephew, gave one of his best performances. As usual, his voice spellbound the audience.

The play ended on a rather bizarre note, as 11 pairs of shoes—one for each corpse buried in the basement—were brought on stage. This seemed to appeal to the audience.

The makeup in the play was, for the most part, very good. At times it was so good that it was impossible to recognize the actor immediately.

The set itself was convincing. Structurally it was impressive, holding up under door slammings, charges up San Juan Hill and the entrance and exist of corpses through the French windows. The decor could have been improved slightly. The walls, in keeping with the late

Letters to Editor

(Letters are welcomed. The ETOWNIAN reserves the right to reject or condense. All letters must be signed. However, names will be withheld upon request.)

Dear Editor:

In light of the recent happening on campus, doesn't the editorial concerning the pulpit and press surrendering to pressure seem rather hypocritical? We are referring to an innocuous letter to the editor that was not printed in that column, and only allowed to be commented on in the sports column after a long struggle with the advisors.

Sokolosky, in the editorial, states "It is as though... youth has not yet become diverted from the discovery of sex to the discovery of ideals." The ideal of freedom of the press, perhaps? The above-mentioned letter is not an isolated case; any letter criticizing the status quo is usually written with the foregone conclusion in mind that "it won't be printed." Granted, the ETOWNIAN is not just a student-read newspaper. One possible solution would be to publish the ETOWNIAN wholly for the alumni continuing the process of printing only undisturbing, sugar-coated news, and at the same time, initiating a newspaper on campus dedicated to the students and the truth.

Our complaints from time to time may be trivial, but our right to do so is not. If need be, we will publish our own newspaper at our own expense to maintain this ideal. Freedom of the press is one of the basic rights outlined in the original charter of this nation, and is probably the greatest weapon against corrupt leadership we have.

For the most part, lighting was good. However, the spots from the balcony produced a glare on the set, and gave very harsh lines to the actors. Costuming was adequate.

Washington, D. C. Alumni Interest Grows

Spring-like weather brought out a number of E.C. alumni to the All-Pennsylvania College Alumni Luncheon meeting in Washington, D. C. Saturday, February 6.

Pennsylvania College Alumni in the Washington, D. C. area met to renew acquaintanceships and to honor Dr. Frank Charles Laubach, missionary, educator, preacher and author.

E.C. alumni present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Meckley, '26, Arlington Virginia; Miss Anna Carper, '41, secretary of the E.C. Alumni Association, Tacoma Park, Maryland; Esther (Brandt) Hoover, '39, Tacoma Park, and Mrs. C. O. Miller, '16, Falls Creek, Virginia, and Mrs. Walter Eyles, Vienna, Virginia, daughters of I. N. H. Beahm, the first president of Elizabethtown College.

Prof. Ira Herr, '16 and Clarence G. Enterline, the latter being executive secretary of the Alumni Association, represented the Administration. Also present was the Rev. Harold Z. Bomberger, '43, president of the E.C. Alumni Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meckley volunteered to serve as pioneers in stimulating alumni interest in the Washington, D. C. area. An organizational meeting is planned for the near future.

Carol Beard Elected 1960 Queen of May In All-College Election; Will Reign May 14

Carol Beard, a vivacious senior lass who transferred to Elizabethtown after spending her first two years of college life at Juniata, has been elected by her fellow students to reign as campus May Queen for 1960.

Seniors accompanying her to the throne Saturday, May 14, will be Joyce Wenger, maid-of-honor, Sylvia Santee and Melanie Swingler.

A commuting student from Lancaster, Carol, who is a biology major, will be employed after graduation as a biology research assistant at Cornell University. As a sports enthusiast, she is at present a cheerleader and was active on the hockey team.

Her maid-of-honor, Joyce Wenger, of Fredericksburg, was an attendant in the 1957 and 1958 College Homecoming Courts. President of Sock and Buskin and a staff member of the ETOWNIAN and CONESTOGAN, Joyce will receive her B.S. degree in elementary education.

Sylvia Santee, Northampton, and Melanie Swingler, Mountville, are preparing for teaching vocations in business education and languages, respectively. Sylvia also was a May Court attendant as a freshman and was 1957-58 Homecoming Queen.

The remaining six May Court representatives will be chosen this month.

Two Faculty Members At Youth Conference

Two members of the College staff—Dean Vera Hackman and Mrs. Austin Fellenbaum—attended the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth Thursday in Harrisburg.

The Harrisburg meeting is a prelude to the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth, which will be held in Washington, D. C., later this month.

The Conference is designed to help young people "to realize their full potential for a creative life in freedom and dignity."

Topics discussed at Harrisburg included mental health, child welfare, juvenile delinquency, aid to dependent children, educational facilities, public libraries and medical care.

'60 Summer Sessions Schedule Changed

Because of the extended public school year, the Administrative Committee of the College has approved a change of dates for the 1960 Summer Sessions.

Session I will begin Monday, June 13, instead of June 6 as previously indicated, and will run through Friday, July 15 instead of July 8 as previously indicated.

Session II will begin Monday, July 18, and run through Friday, August 19. These new dates will accommodate those public school teachers whose sessions run through the second week of June.

The most complete offering of courses to be presented during the Summer Sessions by Elizabethtown College within the past few years is being anticipated.

Faculty and Senate Fives Collide Here For Campus Chest

The annual epic battle between the Student Senate and Faculty basketball squads will be waged March 16 in the College gym with all proceeds going to the Campus Chest Campaign.

Winners the past two years, the Faculty Five is led by some rugged veterans of last year's game, who have recovered sufficiently to answer the Senate's '60 challenge. They include Dean Roy "Elbows" McAuley, Wilbur "Stretch" Weaver, Elmer "Hooks" Hoover, Paul "Cousy" Greene, Donald "Boom Boom" Vosburgh, Armon "Swiftly" Snowden, Earl "Jitterbug" Kurtz, Albert "Dunker" Seldomridge and James "Big Daddy" Yeingst.

Likely newcomers are Clyde "Driver" Nelson and Lee "Bones" Byers.

The Profs will undoubtedly miss Wilhelm "Hippo" Reuning, who joined Susquehanna in the University League.

Bill Hoar, Senate captain, indicated his club will rely primarily on speed, hustle and bought-off officials to overcome the Faculty's superior play-making and shooting.

"I saw the Faculty play last year. They were tough, but now they're a year older and heavier. I think our boys can take 'em," Hoar related.

Faculty spokesmen were close-mouthed on strategy except to say that their offense will be a fast-break, ball-control type with four men in the pivot chewing pep pills. The fifth man will be running a solitary outside weave picking up coins tossed by the fans... all for Campus Chest, of course.

Nat'l Church Council Publishes Dr. Gray's Thesis on Giving

The doctoral thesis of Dr. Albert Gray, chairman of the Business Department, has been published by the National Council of Churches for distribution throughout the United States.

Dr. Gray wrote his thesis on "Trends and Cycles in the Financial Contributions to Ten Selected Protestant Denominations Between 1900-'54." In his study, he found that contributions to churches remained fairly constant over the years and were not visibly affected by economic cycles. Contributions to benevolences, he added, were more sporadic.

Auto Costs, Insurance Talks Set for WGAL-TV

Discussions on the costs of automobile and proper insurance coverage will be featured on the next two Elizabethtown College programs on WGAL-TV's "College of the Air" series.

The programs will be carried Tuesday mornings from 9-9:30 on Channel 8 during the next two weeks.

Dr. Albert L. Gray will outline automobile costs, and Samuel Jones, Elizabethtown, an alumnus, will talk on insurance.

- OFF THE - BEATEN TRACK

The current round of student elections shape up as being exceptionally interesting. For the first time in a number of years there are three candidates campaigning for the presidency. Best of luck to all of the office seekers.

It appears that at least one of the candidates made up his mind at the last minute to throw his hat in the ring.

All candidates were asked to complete a biographical form for the Student Activities Office. Among other things, the form called for the name of the candidate's campaign manager.

As it turned out, one of the current presidential candidates was listed as campaign manager for a man seeking the vice-presidency on another ticket. Had that happened in national politics the columnists would have had enough fodder for months of writing.

Incidentally, why the switch?

Let's throw a few orchids in the direction of the Blue Jay basketball team for their big win over Juniata. The Senate's Social Committee also deserves some commendation for the success of the recent "Sadie Hawkins" weekend here. How 'bout it, "Disappointed Senior?" (See letters to editor in Feb. 9 ETOWNIAN).

Our editor, Miss Bette Holman, received a surprise gift the other day. It was a new model of a popular razor complete with six sharp blades "that had to be tried to be appreciated."

Was her face red, and not from too close a shave, either.

It could be that this bit won't see print if the boss works up a lather and shaves it out of the column.

Now staff members know where she gets those cutting remarks for reporters turning in copy late. Pass the bandages, somebody.

Want a real big laugh?

Then be on hand for the annual Faculty-Senate basketball game March 16 in the gym. Oddly enough, there's some decent ball played in addition to the fun-making. Campus Chest benefits.

Friends of College Give Library Books

In recent months the Elizabethtown College library has received as gifts several valuable and interesting items, Mrs. Charles Rahter, head librarian, has announced.

Investment Companies, 1959 edition, a gift of the publisher, Arthur Wiesenberger and Company of New York City; Moody's Manuals, 1958 edition, given by Mr. Paul E. Taylor, of Moody's Investors Service, Philadelphia; and the National Cyclopaedia of American Biography, 34 volumes, presented by Mr. William Klein of the Klein Chocolate Company, Elizabethtown, are to be used for reference.

Routely's The English Carol and The Oxford Book of Carols, given by Mr. and Mrs. James Martin, Annville, in memory of Janet Pfaltzgradd Booz, class of '42, who died in June, 1959, have been placed in the regular stacks.

New Dorm Presidents Elected for Semester

New presidents of the women's dormitories have been elected for the second semester, according to Miss Vera Hackman, dean of women.

Elfriede Newfeld was elected president of Fairview Hall, Evelyn Strauss, of Alpha, and Gwendolyn Aikens, of Memorial.

Margo Jackson is chairman of the New Women's Residence, with Joan Leatherman, Anna Yoder and Patricia Williams serving as corridor presidents.

Courtsters Conclude Disappointing Season at Lycoming; Trounce Juniata

The Blue Jay basketball squad made ready to close down the 1959-'60 court campaign with the stark realization that the overall record was the most disappointing since the war years, at least.

Coach Don Smith's quintet was enroute to Lycoming for the final game of the season as the ETOWNIAN went to press. The the Jays most consistent per- and lack of rebounding, were shackled to a 7-14 record as they journeyed to Williamsport for the finale.

For Smith, it is his second losing campaign since taking over as coach six years ago. His club was 9-11 in '57-'58.

Co-captains Bob Geiger and Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart were the Jays m'ost consistent performers, offensively and defensively. Ed Harnly, slowed by ankle injuries, was off-form in recent games. However, Marty Hefferan and Ted Wohnsiedler came on well toward the end.

RIDER VICTORIOUS

Down 38-20 at the half, the Blue Jays rallied at Rider Tuesday, but their efforts fell short as the Cowboys galloped home to an 80-69 triumph.

Geiger paced E-town's second half flurry by scoring 20 of his 24 points for the evening. Bruckhart, Hefferan and Wohnsiedler each tallied 12.

The key to the game was E-town's inability to cope with Rider's fast-break attack in the first half. The Jays out-ran the homesters in the final 20 minutes.

JOLT JUNIATA

In their final home game last Saturday, the Blue Jays' long-latent offense finally exploded for an easy conquest of Juniata, 103-79.

Coach Don Smith's quintet took the lead near the end of the first period, moved to a 51-41 half-time advantage, and salted the contest away by pulling away by a 25-point margin early in the second half.

E-town's balanced attack was led by Marty Hefferan's 21 points. Bruckhart and Boyer each had 20, Geiger 19, and Harnly 17. Don Burnich notched 19 for the Indians.

NIPPED BY GETTYSBURG

Two successful foul conversions by Gettysburg's Ron Warner, with 1:30 to play here last week tipped the balance as the Bullets edged the Jays, 74-71. The fouls gave G-burg the lead, 72-71, following a see-saw battle through the second half.

Top men for E-town were Geiger with 20 points, Hefferan with 17, Boyer with 13, and Wohnsiedler with 10.

JOLTED BY JUNIATA

In a game that was much closer than the final spread of 16 points indicates, the Blue Jays fell before Juniata, 81-65, two weeks ago.

Ted Wohnsiedler came up with his best night of the season with 21 points to lead the Jays. Geiger had 14. The game was tied 11 times, and the Jays led by six points at one time.

TALK ABOUT DOUBLE DUTY . . . This photo isn't what it seems to be at first glance, because if it is, Marty Hefferan has broken one of nature's immutable laws, which states a person can't be in two places at the same time. Here he appears to be on both sides of a rebounding scramble against Gettysburg. Actually, the whole thing is a double exposure. —ETOWNIAN photo by Kerry Rice

Matmen Clobbered At Moravian; Send 5 to MAC Tourney

Following a sound 3-5 drubbing at Moravian Tuesday, the Blue Jay wrestling team called it a season with a final log of four wins, six defeats.

The meet at Lycoming scheduled for two weeks ago was canceled because of threatening weather and a rash of injuries suffered by the Jay grapplers. The injury plague continued to haunt the Jays in the Moravian meet as E-town was forced to forfeit two matches and use two men for the first time this year in others.

Of the regulars, only Wayne Howells came through at Moravian. Howells picked up his third consecutive pin victory in the 123-lb. class.

Out with injuries were Bill Kendig (137-lb.), Jim Weaver (147-lb.), Gary Ellinger (167-lb.), and Galen Lehman (177-lb.).

However, all but Lehman, who has a split lip, were said to be ready for the Middle Atlantic Conference tournament, which started yesterday and ends tonight at Lebanon Valley College.

In addition to Kendig, Weaver and Ellinger, the Jays will be represented by Howells and Larry Brown (157-lb.) at Annville.

Voice --- from the Sidelines

by BILL ELSTON

Well, the basketball season is, of this minute, finished and just a quick look at the record may produce muttering and heart shaking—but look again.

Remember the first two games? E-town 94, Rutgers, S. J. 57; E-town 81, Dickinson 73. The Jays were playing real ball and then they seemed to run out of gas. The offense didn't move and the defense got ragged.

Probation took high scoring Frosh Bill Bechtold and just plain high 6' 6" Joe Holobeck and 6' 5" Dan McKiernan. Everything seemed to go wrong. They lost some close ones. Then, one night, they took the court against Gettysburg. The Jays looked like a basketball team—even when defeat came in the final 40 seconds.

The next game out, the Jays shocked Juniata — and maybe themselves — by squashing the Indians 103-79, in one of the finest exhibitions of basketball ever to hit an E-town court.

Sure we have a losing record this year, but if anybody asks you what kind of a ball club we had in 1959-'60 remember what they did to Juniata and think about what they could have done before you answer.

Intramurals

The Commuters moved out of the cellar of the men's basketball league with a 30-27 overtime upset against the Veterans.

Club 16 holds down first place since the previously undefeated Veterans were downed by winless Commuters.

Wednesday's games were refereed by paid officials, an innovation in intramural play. Athletic Director Ira R. Herr announced they have also been scheduled for the games Tuesday evening.

Jaygals Record Wins Over LVC, MSC, Madison

by SANDY MacLAUGHLIN

Still on the winning side of the ledger this season, the Jaygal basketball team won three of their last five games by defeating Madison (Va.), Millersville State and Lebanon Valley and losing to Bridgewater and Gettysburg. The season's record is now five wins, four defeats.

Coach Julia Risser's gals were preparing to face Lock Haven State at home as the ETOWNIAN went to press. They end the campaign at East Stroudsburg next Saturday.

The Blue Birds dropped their second game of the season at the hands of Gettysburg here Tuesday, 71-44. Sue Wood and Cindy Kratzer each tallied 14 points in the losing effort.

The Jaygals Jayvees, however, picked up a victory over the G-burg understudies, 56-32, as Barbara Schlickemaier led the way with 27 points. The JV's had won six of seven games to date.

WIN AT ANNVILLE

Traveling to Lebanon Valley last week, the Jays downed the Dutch Girls, 40-35. It was the first time in three years that the Risserites have won at Annville. Kratzer led E-town with 14 points.

The E-town JV's won, 71-38, as Schlickemaier collected 30.

MAUL MILLERSVILLE

The Jaygals recorded their second win of the year over Millersville State at Millersville last week, 51-33.

Carroll Kreider with 20 and Kratzer with 17 were the top scorers for E-town.

DIVIDE IN VIRGINIA

Making an overnight trip to Virginia, the Jaygals lost to Bridgewater, 61-35, and then defeated Madison College, 40-34.

Sue Wood led the Jays with 11 points against Bridgewater. Lucy Clemens led the assault on Madison with 20.

Soccer Team Cited At Dinner Meeting

The Blue Jay soccer team picked up the spoils of their championship campaign during a special recognition dinner last week at the Hotel Kennewood, Elizabethtown.

Trophies emblematic of the Northern Division Middle Atlantic Conference title, the MAC championship, and the runner-up spot in the NAIA tournament were officially presented to the College. Pres. A. C. Baugher accepted them.

Coach Ira Herr presented each member of the squad with a soccer tie clasp. Letter winners also received a soccer pin.

Herr praised the 1959 squad as "one that wrote history for Elizabethtown College."

The 16 lettermen elected Fullback Warner Cheeks as captain for next season. Winger Carroll Hershey and Halfback Elwood Kerkeslager were named co-captains.

Baseball Workouts Held As Snow Flies

Coach Ira R. Herr has opened formal drills for the Blue Jay baseball squad in preparation for a 20-game schedule beginning April 1 at Albright.

Pitchers and catchers are holding workouts in the gym as the snow flies outside. The Jays won the District 30 (Pennsylvania) championship for the second time in three years last spring.

Career Day On Campus Next Week

by Bruce Tinglof

Students undecided about their future will get a chance to find some direction on Career Day Wednesday, March 30.

Beginning at 1 p. m., men representing the major professions will be in various class rooms on campus to meet and talk with students interested in careers in the professions.

According to Student Senator Joe Wagenseller, the objective in inviting these men is to give the student insight on certain aspects of the different professions such as the requirements, chance for advancement, the pay and the prestige.

This is an effort to aid the students in selecting the courses and extra-curricular activities that would most effectively prepare them for a future in any of the professions represented.

Dean Roy McAuley has stated that the administration is completely behind Career Day. Wednesday afternoon classes will be dismissed if 50 percent of each class shows a desire to participate in the program.

The visitors will represent medicine, education, business, engineering, the ministry, forestry and secretarial work. A list indicating the classroom each will use is to be posted at a later date.

The Student Senate, which is the sponsor, hopes to be able to continue and broaden the program in the coming years.

Students Prepare Drama Meditation For Area Churches

"Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon," a dramatic meditation and sequel to last year's "Christ in the Concrete City," has been readied by the College drama department for presentation in several area churches during March and April.

Written by Philip Turner, the play is designed for staging in a church chancel and uses the presentational technique whereby the cast assumes various and different characters at a moment's notice. The plot centers on the impact of the church in strengthening people's faith in the face of adversity.

Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline will direct the cast, which includes the following students: Don Zellner, Ray Berkebile, Polly Grubb, Fred Zimmerman, Joyce Wenger, Elizabeth Peacock and Helen Grubb.

Michael Weaver, an art teacher at Donegal High School, completes the cast. Mr. Clarence G. Enterline is the musical accompanist.

The first performance of the play was given in the Harrisburg Evangelical United Brethren Church Sunday, March 13. It will be presented March 20 in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

Performances for a Dickinson College student group April 3, the Jacobus Council of Churches April 6, and the congregation of the First Church of the Brethren, York, April 24 complete the group's planned itinerary.

CAREERS CONFERENCE . . . Senators Galen Young (left) and Joseph Wagenseller work out a few of the details involved in planning the Student Senate-sponsored "Careers Day" to be held here March 30.

College Announces Increased Costs For Tuition, Fees, Housing, Board

Across the board increases in tuition, fees, housing and board for the next academic year have been announced by the Board of Trustees through President A. C. Baugher.

As a result, the total cost for a boarding student here next year will be $1,525. Current charges for a boarding student range from $1,270 to $1,321, depending upon where a student is housed.

Broken down, the $1,525 total includes $800 for tuition, $75 for activities fee, $250 for housing, and $400 for board.

At present, tuition is $675, activities fee $50, housing $170 to $221, and board $375.

In announcing the increase, President Baugher said the move was made as a result of rising operating costs and the desire of the Board of Trustees to increase faculty salaries. He emphasized that, even with the increase, the charges here are still below the average for area institutions.

He reported that a survey of the comprehensive charges (tuition plus fees) of 14 area institutions reveals that the average cost is approximately $982 compared to the $875 to be charged here starting in September.

President Baugher said the decision to increase costs was made with regret. However, in the light of budget requirements, the trustees had no other logical recourse.

Junior Class Production, "Call Me Madam," Ready For Presentation Friday, Saturday, March 25 - 26

The junior class production, "Call Me Madam," to be presented next Friday and Saturday, March 25-26, in the College auditorium-gymnasium, is in its final stages of rehearsals.

Joan Lank, student director, commented that rehearsals will be held every evening next week, with dress rehearsals set for Thursday.

A musical satire on the Truman Administration, written by Irving Berlin, the production will be presented "in the round" on the gymnasium floor. The director explained that this technique has been found to be very successful for musicals.

The audience will surround the stage, which will necessitate the actors to play to more than one direction. This type of staging was last used on campus several years ago.

"In addition to being simply a pleasant change from the usual presentation, it provides more contact between the audience and cast," Joan remarked.

Chorus members for the production will include: Sandy Reifsteck, Nancy Feo, Margo Jackson, Elfrieda Newfeld, Henrietta Kohr, Janice Ferster, Sandy Lutz, Barbara Schlickemaier, Claude Foreman, Frank Ingram, Jim Weaver, Jim Lineweaver, Jerry Reber, Eugene Gordon, Ralph Johnson, Glenn Bruckhart and

Doug Cromer.

Joan Lank and Claude Foreman are co-chairmen of the general committee planning the show. Other committee members are Elsie Woodward, Carol Bush, Galen Young and Herb Spannuth. Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline, drama instructor, Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Music Department, and Mr. Charles Millard, music teacher at Elizabethtown Area High School, are serving as advisors for the show. Admission will be 75 cents for students and $1.00 for adults.

Correll New Prexy; Senate Battle On

David Correll and George Lott were swept into the offices of president and vice-president respectively of the Student Association last week in the first of a series of campus-wide elections now in progress.

May Court, Committees Determined

The freshman, sophomore and junior classes have elected their representatives to the May Court, thus completing the attendants of Carol Beard, May Queen, according to Ed Crill, dean of students.

Mollie Moerschbacher and Mary Zug will represent the freshmen, with Joyce Taylor and Linda Wagner, and Elizabeth Forrer and Ruth Risser to be the attendants from the sophomore and junior classes respectively.

The seniors elected their representatives earlier, naming Joyce Wenger as maid-of-honor, and Sylvia Santee and Melanie Swinger as attendants.

Arrangements are well under way for the 14th annual May Day activities, to be held Saturday, May 14, according to Miss Vera Hackman, director of Student Activities.

The Faculty Special Events Committee, in addition to Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline, drama instructor, and Miss Hackman, recently chose the members of the Student Senate May Day Committee. This group's purpose is to decide upon the theme for the event and to carry out the necessary preparations.

Members of the committee are Virginia Colley, Paul Dick, Nancy Feo, Marsha Graham, Lois Herr, Margo Jackson, Eleanor Johnson, Donald Kerkeslager, Joyce Wenger, Virginia Wills, Albert Yamada and Don Zellner.

Voting to determine the secretary-treasurer of the Student Association, the editor of the ETOWNIAN, and the editor and business manager of the CONESTOGAN was under way as this paper went to press.

Next week attention shifts to the race for eight seats on the Student Senate. That election is scheduled for next Friday.

Correll and Lott, running as a team under a new procedure initiated this year, defeated Galen Young and Ross Ricketts respectively in the battle for the two top Senate posts.

The team of Joseph Wagenseller and Glenn Bucher dropped out of the race shortly after announcing their candidacies.

Barbara Yohe, chairman of the Senate's Election Committee, reported that 507 students, roughly 80 percent of the enrollment, voted in the election. It was the best turnout in recent years.

Candidates for secretary-treasurer in yesterday's voting were Juniors Ruth Risser, from Chalfont, the incumbent, and Sandra Reifsteck from Altoona.

Juniors Carol Heilman, from York, and Sandra Lutz, from Sinking Spring, were contenders for the editorship of the CONESTOGAN. Richard Spangler, junior from Campbelltown, was the lone candidate for business manager of the yearbook. Junior Sandra MacLaughlin, from Monroeville, N. J., was the only aspirant for the editorship of the ETOWNIAN.

Potential nominees for the Student Senate will circulate petitions starting today in order to be placed on the ballot for Friday's election. All petitions must be filed in the Student Activities Office by 4 p. m. Wednesday, March 23.

Nominees for election to the Committees on Men's and Women's Affairs will be chosen in separate meetings of the men and women after Chapel March 30. Election day for the committee nominees will be April 1.

All voting in the campus-wide elections is conducted in the College Store under the supervision of the Student Election Committee.

ICG Club Members Participate in Meet

Belva Cassel, a junior, was appointed as assistant clerk for the regional meeting of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government, held Saturday, March 5, at Dickinson College.

Other Elizabethtown students appointed to offices are Victor Wilson, sergeant-at-arms; and John Brightbill, timekeeper. Ken Lease served as chairman of the Civil Rights Committee.

Dottie Hyde, campus club president, reported that four bills entered by this College's students were passed at the convention. They include: (1) federal aid to education, presented by Bill Hoar; (2) help for the farmers, Dick Spangler and John Brightbill; (3) lower tariffs, Dottie Hyde; and (4) the raising of minimum wages, Ruth Koch and Rosalind Griffin.

Members of the club will attend the State conference of ICG April 7-19 at Harrisburg, at which time Dottie Hyde will officiate as clerk, a position to which she was elected last year.

As we see it... More Facilities Needed

In considering the future building program of this College, it is difficult to decide which is needed most, a Student Union or a structure for classrooms only.

Judging from a recent ETOWNIAN survey, the consensus of opinion of the student body is that a Student Union should definitely be the next building to go up. Certainly, it cannot be denied that such a building is in great need here.

But, on the other hand, only a few days of attending classes would prove to anyone how great a need there is for a building entirely devoted to classrooms—classrooms which are isolated from the sound of piano and voice lessons, from ping pong games, from typewriters and student-advisor guidance discussions.

The Student Union advocate may argue that the present classrooms are not always in use, and that a more efficient scheduling would show that more classrooms are unnecessary. Upon looking into the matter, it can be seen that although some classrooms are occasionally vacant, they actually should not be used at all for academic pursuits.

Who ever heard of attempting to concentrate on the fundamentals of the education curriculum or Thoreau's "Walden" to the tune of the tap-tap of the ping pong ball or the do-re-me's of a music lesson? Or why not try taking an exam while resident students are overhead racing up and down the halls? The thump, thump goes well with the scribbling of the pencil to beat the bell.

The need for both buildings on campus is beyond doubt. The question is which can remain at the blueprint stage the longest while an adequate building fund program is being organized.

'Senioritis' Sets In

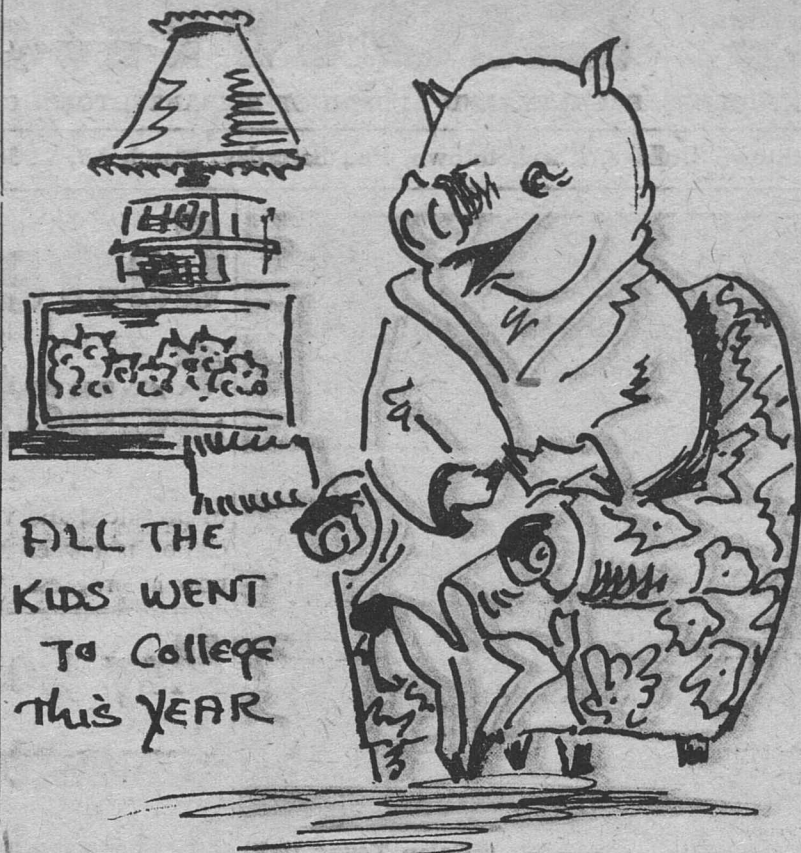

Whether it can be called "senioritis" or some other term is not known, but it's certain that the Class of 1960 has caught something which makes its members long for May 30 and graduation.

The anxiety over future jobs, the frightening aspect of finally having to face the world and its woes and leaving the relative security of the college "Utopia" conditions, have settled upon these students.

We wonder if it also includes being tired of studying, tired of tests and a general feeling of yearning for a place in society.

Four years of college have done a lot for those students, for which they are thankful. But it's time to look ahead to the adult world and find a niche somewhere for each one. Responsibility, maturity and dependability are already taken for granted by our elders, and now are to be assumed by us as the everyday ingredients of life.

Yes, the seniors are anxious for freedom, anxious to begin a new life, anxious to conquer the world with their ingenious philosophies and plans of endeavor. We only hope they can restrain themselves for a few more months.

KU KLUX KLAN PLANS DRIVE

Civil Rights Controversy Has Ominous Overtones as South Bitterly Retreats

The controversy over civil rights legislation has received national and international attention of late. News stories have covered all phases of the problem and the possible consequences.

Front pages of many U. S. newspapers carried stories and photos of violence in the South as Negroes moved passively into forbidden ground by seeking service at lunch counters reserved for whites.

In Congress, round-the-clock sessions were scheduled to push through legislation to protect Negro voting rights. Senator Richard Russell, leader of the Southern opposition, warned of race riots.

Senator Lyndon Johnson, the majority leader, staked his chances for a possible presidential nomination by backing the legislation.

These stories received prominent coverage to indicate the scope of the civil rights controversy.

Another story didn't get quite the same coverage, but, in its own way, it goes a long way to underscore the deep-rooted hates and fears embodied in the dispute. The story was carried in an Associated Press dispatch dated Atlanta, Ga. It reads in part:

"A new Ku Klux Klan group announced a recruiting drive Monday to add 10 million high type members in 30 states.

"We don't intend to go out and take bums off the street," said H. J. Jones of Jonesboro, Ga., imperial wizard."

Among the 30 states in which the Klan will seek its members are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware, the AP report added.

Whether or not the Klan can accomplish its objectives is debatable.

But the fact that this organization, the most radical of all racist example of what lies ahead as groups, is on the march is a point we face up to the civil rights challenge.

Castro's Words Far Removed From State

In the early days of his Cuban revolution, Fidel Castro was fervent in extolling the virtues of democracy. His subsequent actions have not followed through, however.

Time magazine pinpointed this inconsistency by recalling the following statement made by Castro in January, 1959:

"Dictators are the only ones who do not like freedom of the press."

The magazine then bluntly followed up by reporting that the Cuban government has seized 50 newspapers since Castro came to power early last year.

Castro's fervor for democracy, if not dead, is completely smothered by his frantic, illogical actions, which have opened the door for communism in this hemisphere and placed the Cuban economy in precarious straits.

He may be passed off as a visionary or a misunderstood patriot. But one thing is certain. He is an emotional infant, a threat to the peace and security of Latin America and the United States.

Campus Prayer

Father in Heaven, surely Thou art a wise, merciful and gracious God. Certainly from you cometh every good and perfect gift. We give Thee thanks for the privilege of coming to an institution of higher learning. We want to seek truth, for Thy word tells us that if we seek the truth, "it shall make you free." Lead, guide and use us for Thy name's honor and glory. In Jesus name we pray. Amen.

OH, BROTHER!!!

Faculty Falcons Shot Down By Senate's Top Marksmen

by T. ALBERT YAMADA

Las Vegas promoters groaned as the top-seeded faculty team bowed ignominiously to the Student Senate, 65-68, Wednesday night on the gymnasium floor. Winners for the last two seasons, the Faculty Falcons fought furiously for a win but the Senate stalwarts came up just a little bit too fast in the last quarter.

The Falcons led by three points in the first quarter, then dropped to 25-39 at the half. The third quarter score was a close 49-50. Scores seasawed until the very last minute, when the Falcons seemed to be headed for a win. Two baskets by the Stalwarts in the last 20 seconds gave the Senators a 68-65 win.

In a last ditch (but heroic) effort to win, "Speedy" Snowden even resorted to joining the senate team but the villain and the subversive tactics were soon ousted. The Snowden affair climaxed with two bench-warming senators chasing Speedy into the balcony.

During intermission, the pep band played a selection which gave a tonal impression of gnomes and imps gayly scampering about every which way.

Conspicuously missing was "Hippo" Reuning who was traded to Susquehanna, a definite gain for the students.

Basketball aficionados could discern that the playing tactics of the game were restricted to foot-stomping, and any one of the several joint-wrenching holds, the use of which is generally frowned upon by professional wrestlers.

Dr. Hood appeared in full Scottish regalia, whisk broom dangling in front, bagpipe, and all. For the uninitiated, a bagpipe sounds like a houseful of kids on a rainy day or feeding time in an Iowa pig farm.

The game and the pizza party after the game, both a part of the Campus Chest program, netted $160.

Small Audiences Hear Cultural Programs

Two Community Cultural programs held on campus recently were received enthusiastically, but by comparatively small audiences, according to Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the program committee.

The life of Benjamin Franklin was recreated by Dennis King, a popular British actor, Saturday evening, March 5, in the College Auditorium-Gymnasium.

The Woodwind Quintet of the Springfield, Mass. Symphony Orchestra presented a concert Thursday, March 10.

Both programs were sponsored jointly by Elizabethtown College and the Patton School for Boys, Elizabethtown.

Women's Auxiliary Seeks New Members

A membership drive has been launched by the Women's Auxiliary of the College, Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, Rexmont, president, announced. The drive began March 1.

Miss Wenger reported that anyone seeking membership in the organization is invited to send one dollar to any member of the Council or officers of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Christopher Pappas, Lebanon R. D. 2, is treasurer.

Enterline, Seldomridge At Area Alumni Session

Clarence G. Enterline and J. Albert Seldomridge, alumni secretary and development director respectively for the College, attended a meeting of Alumni Association executives from 13 area colleges and universities at Gettysburg College Monday.

Mr. Henry Gingrich will outline the process of making a will next Tuesday. Dr. John Stauffer will discuss medical costs the following week. The programs will be seen Tuesday mornings from 9 to 9:30 a. m.

College Choir to Mark 25th Year with Reunion, Dinner

All former members of the College choir have been invited to activities on campus April 2 marking the 25th anniversary of the choir's founding. Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the music department, has announced.

Activities for the day will include a reunion in the New Residence lounge at 3 p. m. and a dinner in the College dining hall.

The present 39-voice choir will sing selections from its current tour repertoire and will be joined by the choir alumni for several numbers directed by Prof. Fisher and Prof. E. G. Meyer.

A rehearsal will be held at 7 p. m. in the Gible Science Building preceding the 8 o'clock concert in the Student-Alumni Gymnasium.

Prof. Fisher, present choir director, said the early response to the program has been quite encouraging. He expressed the hope that an even larger number of former members could participate.

Everyone who was in the choir or, prior to 1934, in the chorus under Prof. Meyer's direction is urged to attend. Prof. Fisher should be notified by anyone planning to take part in any of the activities.

The choir was founded 25 years ago by Prof. E. G. Meyer. Men's and women's "choruses" were organized in the years before 1934 but they did not maintain a concert schedule as choirs since have done.

Prof. Meyer remained with the choir until 1947 when a physical injury prevented his continuing as director. During the 1947-48 season Mr. Galen W. Herr substituted for Prof. Meyer.

Prof. W. David Albright, now pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Nampa, Idaho, held the directorship from 1948 until 1951 when Prof. Fisher took over his present position.

This year's choir has a schedule of 23 concerts, which includes seven on a 360-mile trip to western Pennsylvania. They also participate in the College's weekly chapel programs.

Dr. Rahter Accepts Susquehanna U. Post

Dr. Charles A. Rahter, associate professor of English here, has resigned to accept a similar position at Susquehanna University next fall. Pres. A. C. Baugher announced this week.

Mrs. Rahter, College librarian, has also tendered her resignation. The Rahters came to Elizabethtown in 1958.

In his new post, Dr. Rahter will teach primarily literature courses. Mrs. Rahter said she had no definite plans for library work next fall.

Pres. Baugher said the resignations were accepted "with regret."

Chapel Speakers Set For Lenten Services

The Rev. Raymond Fetter, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Elizabethtown, will be the Lenten speaker at the regular chapel service Wednesday, March 23.

Dr. Robert Byerly, chairman of the chapel program committee, said that student leaders will participate in that service.

The Lenten speaker for the March 30 chapel service will be the Rev. Earl Fike, Chicago, Ill.

SNOW HAMPERS WORKOUTS

Prospects Appear Good For Baseball Campaign

Frustrated by the recent snow storms, the Blue Jay baseball team has been limited to sporadic indoor workouts in the Alumni Gymnasium as the opening of a 20-game season draws near.

The Jays open April 1 at Albright and come home the following day to meet Pennsylvania Military College.

The general outlook for the '60 Jays is good, although there are several spots which must be filled if the team is to match last year's 14-4 record.

Gone via graduation are Pitchers Sheldon Dent, who had a 7-1 record in '59, and Glen Crum (3-2), and Center Fielder Gene Wise, who led the team in run-batted-in and was second in slugging and total hits. His .338 batting average was topped only by Warner Cheeks' .431 and Carroll Hershey's .356.

Also missing is Shortstop Gene Kerns, who made such an impression on the professional scouts as a freshman last year that he was signed by the Philadelphia Phillies for a $25,000 bonus.

Coach Ira Herr has cause for optimism in the return of a number of veterans from his '59 NAIA District 30 champions.

First Baseman Lloyd Bortzfield (.300), Second Baseman Carroll Hershey (.356), and Third Baseman Woody Kerkeslager (.301) are back.

Returning outfielders are Warner Cheeks (.341), Russ Glazier (.222), and Bob Teufel (.320). Catcher Bill Pensyl (.317) is also on hand.

Pitchers back from last year are Bob Geiger (4-0), John Sabbi (0-1), Jim Akerman (0-0). Of these however, only Geiger saw regular service (46 1-3 innings, 42 strikeouts, 22 walks).

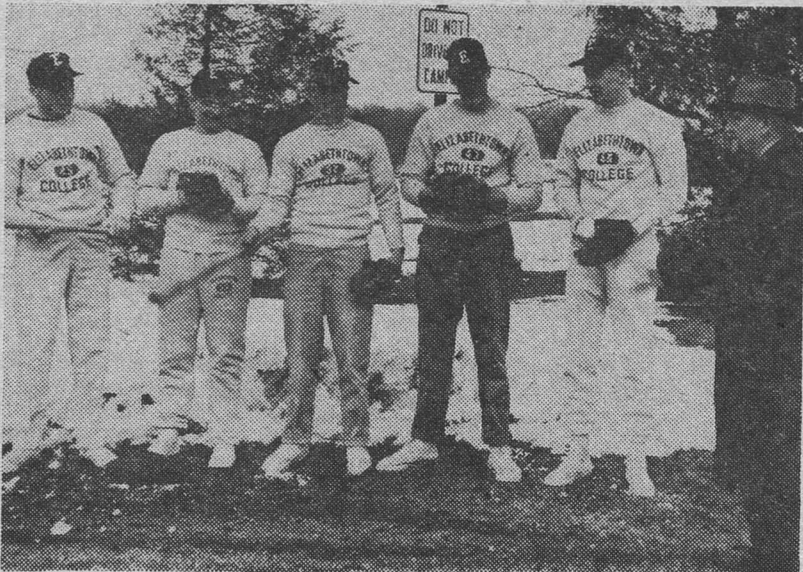

Freshman Ray Diener, 6'4" left-hander, should help the mound corps. He was an All-Lebanon County Legion selection last year. Senior Ken Fack, whose collegiate diamond work was interrupted by a service hitch, is another hurling possibility.

Cheeks was the Jays' big gun on offense last year. He led the club in batting (.431), slugging (.655), hits (25) and stolen bases (16). Hershey led the team in runs scored (25) and walks (19).

Kerkeslager topped Herr's crew in homeruns (4) and tied with Bortzfield for the most doubles (6).

Cheeks and Hershey each had two triples, team high.

Among the hurlers, Crum was the strikeout king with 50. Dent had 43, Geiger 42. Crum gave up 15 bases on balls compared to 21 for Dent and 22 for Geiger.

Chicago Cubs Sign Ex-Jay Shelly Dent

Pitcher Sheldon Dent, who led the Blue Jay moundsmen with a 7-1 record here last season, has been signed to a professional contract by the Chicago Cubs organization. He will report to the Cubs' Mesa, Ariz., training camp later this month.

Dent, who also worked out with the Phillies and Washington Senators, was given a Class "A" league contract. Reports indicated he may be assigned to the Lancaster entry in the Eastern League.

He joins a growing number of Jay performers, who moved from campus into professional ball. Last season, Shortstop Gene Kerns signed a $25,000 bonus contract with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Matmen Finish 17th In MAC Tournament

Senior Bill Kendig (137-lb.) and Sophomore Jim Weaver (147-lb.) were eliminated in the quarterfinals of the Middle Atlantic Conference wrestling tournament at Lebanon Valley College two weeks ago as the Blue Jays finished 17th among the 20 squads entered in the competition.

Both Kendig and Weaver won opening round matches before dropping out. The other E-town entries—Wayne Howells (123-lb.), Gary Ellinger (167-lb.) and Larry Brown (177-lb.)—were ousted in the first round.

Intramurals

The Veterans' men's basketball team copped the league championship in an exciting 54-46 overtime contest Wednesday night.

Ruff sank a two-pointer for the Vets with only a few seconds remaining to even the score at 46-46 and send the game into overtime. Club 16's defense, adequate most of the evening, just couldn't prevent the Veterans' 8-point attack.

High-scorer was Bill Pensyl of the Veterans with 32 points. This insured the league's best average with a 15.7 points per game mark. Jerry Morris, West Hall, and Ray Diener, Club 16, followed with 12.1 and 10.6 averages for the season.

Cloverly Colts 41, The Sixty's 18.

Veterans 37, Club "16" 28.
North Hall 76, Commuters 53.
South Hall 38, West Hall 30.

Linda Eshelman defeated Ruth Tice to win the championship in the women's table tennis tournament. Lucy Hendricks was awarded third place.

Women's basketball continues with Fairview on top of the league. Close behind are New Residence II and MAD II. Playoff games are scheduled for Monday evening.

New Residence has thus far amassed the most points in the Women's Athletic Association trophy competition. Their 42 points lead Fairview with 22 and MAD (Memorial-Alpha-Day students) with 10.

Jays Down Lycoming For 8-14 Season; Geiger Top Scorer

A late spurt carried the Blue Jay basketball team to an 86-78 triumph at Lycoming two weeks ago in the final game of the season, which saw the Jays win only eight while losing 14.

Co-captains Bob Geiger and Glenn "Stretch" Bruckhart, playing their last game for Coach Don Smith's quintet, poured in 29 and 25 points respectively to lead the club.

Geiger's 29 points was the high for the season for a Blue Jay performer. He led the team in scoring with 391 points in 22 games, an average of 17.7 points-per-game.

Bruckhart was next in total points with 275. Then came Barry Boyer with 239 and Ed Harnley with 201. Freshman Bill Bechtold, playing only half the season, notched 180.

Geiger also led the club in field goals (164) and free throws (63). Bruckhart was next with 110 goals, 53 fouls. Boyer was third in field goals with 97. Marty Hefferan was third in free throws with 52.

Percentage-wise, Bruckhart led the squad in field goal accuracy with .478. Bechtold made .440 of his shots from the floor, Geiger averaged .420.

Top man on the foul line was Hefferan, who canned .812 of his free throws. Boyer had .763, Sam Gruber .750.

Among the rebounders, Bruckhart pulled in 228 to rank highest. Harnley had 207, Geiger 182.

As a team, the Jays scored a total of 1,586 points and allowed 1,729. E-town made .4420 of its shots from the floor to the opposition's .412.

The opposition took more shots, however, with 1,680 to the Jays' 1,549.

Jaygal Coursters Defeat Lock Haven For Winning Season

With a last game victory here Wednesday over Lock Haven, 34-31, the Jaygals finished with their first winning basketball season in three years.

Coach Julia Risser's varsity girls' final season log was six wins, five losses.

Freshman Sue Wood was E-town's high scorer with 12 points.

A strong Jayvee squad closed their seven-win, one-loss season defeating the teachers' understudies, 62-52.

Barb Schlickemaier, continuing her double figure scoring onslaught, made 36 points.

Traveling to East Stroudsburg last Saturday afternoon the varsity dropped a 70-42 decision.

Sue Wood again was high scorer for E-town with 15.

Freshman Cindy Kratzer's season point tally was 127, high for the team. Carroll Kreider, a senior playing her last time for the Jaygals, had a total of 93 points. Lucy Clemens notched 85.

Moving up to the varsity squad in the third game, Sue Wood and Barb Jones tallied 68 and 58 points respectively in their varsity play.

In Jayvee play, Jones had 29 points and Wood 27 in a two-game total.

Barb Schlickemaier sparked the junior varsity with a six-game total of 196 points.

Four regulars will be missed next year as Seniors Carroll Kreider and Pat Williams graduate in June. JoAnn Robinson a two-year Medical Secretarial student and Barb Schlickemaier a three-year Med. Tech. will be employed at the Lancaster General Hospital next year.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

One of the big topics of conversation at Wednesday's Meeting of the Middle Atlantic Conference officials at Delaware University was a proposed realignment of the conference from the present two bulky, unwieldy divisions into four tight groups.

The MAC Executive Committee turned down the plan. However, they did agree to change the play-off procedure. Now the two top teams in the Northern and Southern Division will meet in a four-team tournament to determine the MAC champion.

Under the plan, which the MAC executive group found unacceptable, the conference would feature four divisions with either five or six teams. Teams in each division would play each other on a home and away basis each season. The MAC title would go to the winner of a play-off involving the top team in each division.

Such a move would make the conference a real basketball league instead of a loosely organized hodge podge from which no true champion can be named because of inconsistent scheduling.

A listing of the teams in the proposed divisions is included at the end of this column.

Lebanon Valley College Coach Rinso Marquette, chairman of the realignment committee, is determined to carry out some kind of change. He said:

"There is so much sentiment for a change that I think the group that really wants a tighter setup will work toward it regardless (of opposition). The schools who want to play each other on a home and away basis may form their own group within the league."

Willis Stetson, executive director of MAC, said the prime opposition to the proposed change comes from the simple fact that certain teams in the conference do not want to play certain other teams.

Athletic Director Ira Herr indicated publicly that Elizabethtown "will play anybody." He thinks a change will come in time. He is a member of the Executive Board of the Conference.

Shober Barr, athletic director at Franklin and Marshall, has also stated that he favors the proposed realignment.

Following is a breakdown of the proposed divisions:

- (1) Elizabethtown, F. & M., Lebanon Valley, Dickinson, Johns Hopkins, Western Maryland.
- (2) Albright, Moravian, Upsala, Stevens, Wagner, Hofstra.
- (3) Swarthmore, Haverford, Drexel, Ursinus, P. M. C., Washington.
- (4) Scranton, Wilkes, Juniata, Lycoming, Susquehanna.

Women's Tennis Team Hopefuls To Report

Coach Julia Risser has issued a call for all women interested in earning a place on the women's tennis team, which will play an unofficial six-match schedule this year. Candidates are invited to contact Miss Risser as soon as possible.

While women's tennis is not an official part of the College's intercollegiate athletic program at present, Miss Risser reported that such a move is under consideration by the Administration.

Starting early in April, Miss Risser's charges will open a schedule which includes two matches with Gettysburg, two with Millersville, and one each with Dickinson and Wilson.

Senators, Editors Named as Student Voting Nears End

Eight members of the Student Senate, a secretary-treasurer of the Student Association, and the editors of the CONESTOGAN and ETOWNIAN were named in recent campus elections as the round of student voting neared its end.

Voting for the members of the Committee on Men's and Women's Affairs was under way yesterday as the ETOWNIAN went to press.

Election of the Outstanding Senior Athletes will be held Wednesday in the College Store under the auspices of the Varsity E Club.

Ruth Risser, junior from Chalfont, was reelected secretary-treasurer of the Student Association. Swept into office in the same election two weeks ago were Carol Heilman, York, as editor of the CONESTOGAN, Richard Spangler, Campbelltown, business manager of the CONESTOGAN, and Sandra MacLaughlin, editor of ETOWNIAN.

Elected as members of the Student Senate for next year were Juniors Elsie Woodward, Annapolis, Md., Galen Young, Chester, Joseph Wagenseller, Harrisburg, Kenneth Lease, Middletown, and Carroll Hershey, Gap; Sophomore Evelyn Strauss, Lebanon; and Freshmen Dale Good, Leola, and Paul Dick, Claysburg.

The new student officials will be inducted into office during a student assembly April 20.

May Day to Feature Two Innovations

Prospective freshmen will have their first gathering May Day, according to Miss Vera R. Hackman, dean of women.

Freshmen—both those already accepted, and applicants—are always invited to May Day, but after the crowning they frequently lose themselves in the welter of confusion, explained Miss Hackman. She said that this year, following the crowning, prospective freshmen, their parents and friends will be invited to a program of slides on college life presented by Mr. James Yeingst, director of public relations.

At the meeting the incoming freshmen will be greeted by Dean of Admissions Paul Green, who will introduce them to other College officials. Following a discussion period the group will adjourn to a punch hour.

Another innovation of May Day, to be held May 14, is a picture exhibit of faculty paintings and student campus photography. This exhibit will be located in the library, and will be open during the afternoon. Plans for this project are still in the formative stage, Miss Hackman remarked.

Mrs. Joseph Kettering Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. Olive Kettering, wife of Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the board of trustees at Elizabethtown College, died early Thursday morning in Harrisburg Hospital after a long illness.

She was a member of the local Church of the Brethren, and was active in various church organizations.

EDITORS—Carol Heilman (left) and Sandra MacLaughlin, editors of the CONESTOGAN and ETOWNIAN respectively for the 1960-'61 academic year, get together for a bit of advance planning.

Activities Planned For Choir Reunion

The 25th anniversary of the College Choir will be marked today and tonight, with such activities planned as a reunion at 3 p. m., a dinner in the College dining hall and a concert at 8 p. m. in the auditorium-gymnasium.

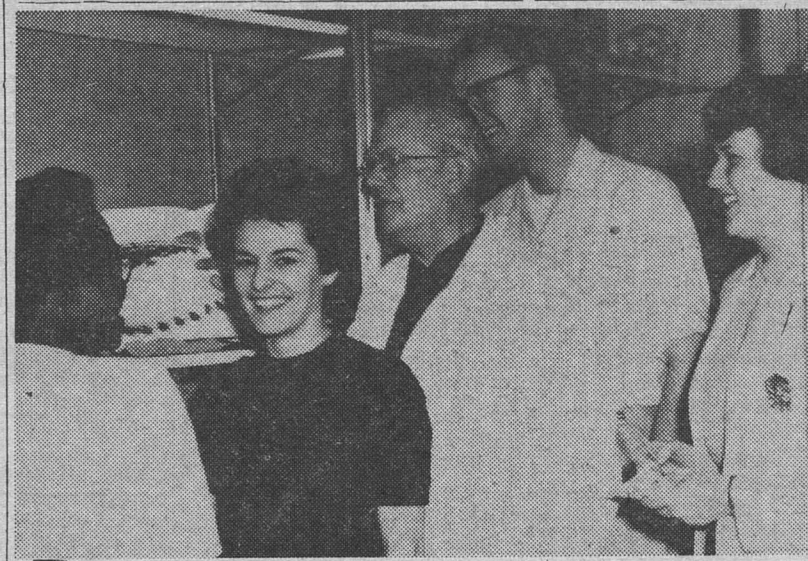

Prof. Nevin W. Fisher reported that 75 to 100 choir alumni are expected to join in the day's events. Prof. E. G. Meyer, founder of the choir, will direct some of the selections to be presented during the evening's program, during which former members of the choir will participate.

Final Lenten Speaker Named for Chapel

The final Lenten speaker for the weekly chapel services will be Dr. Harper S. Will, Fort Wayne, Indiana, who will discuss "Life Can Be Changed," Wednesday, April 8.

There will be no chapel service April 13. A student assembly will be held Wednesday, April 20, in the College Auditorium-gymnasium.

It will feature the installation of Student Senate officers and members, ETOWNIAN and CONESTOGAN editors and members of the Committees on Men's and Women's Affairs.

AS A CLASS PROJECT

Biology Students Planning Exhibit Depicting Famous Dead Sea Scrolls

by SANDRA MacLAUGHLIN

In keeping with the Easter Season, an exhibit of the Dead Sea Scrolls is being displayed on the second floor of the Gible Science Building.

The display will feature an authentic miniaturization of the Manual of Discipline, which is one of the seven Dead Sea Scrolls. The scroll, encased in a clay jar, was obtained from Israel by Dr. Charles S. Apgar, head of the Biology Department.

Dr. Apgar pointed out that the scroll and jar are scaled models of the originals. The jar is made of the clay of the same type used in the encasements of 2,000 years ago.

The miniature scroll is dyed and aged exactly like the original Qumran piece. The scrolls were placed in the jars and stored in a cave near the Dead Sea. In 1947 they were discovered and the deciphering of the lettering is still in progress.

Practically the entire Bible has been found as well as the rules and dogmas of the order known as the "Sect of the Cave."

It is believed that the members of the monastery had direct contact with Christ and that He corresponded with them frequently. The rules of order outlined in the exhibit scroll follow the teachings of Christ, Dr. Apgar explained.

The exhibit is a project of Dr. Apgar's Techniques in Biology class. The class is now studying museum techniques.

Dr. Apgar stated, "the exhibit should be of special interest to the Sociology, History and Bible Departments of the College."

Agriculture Secretary Here May 30; Honorary Degrees Listed for 3

Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of Agriculture in the Eisenhower cabinet, will be the featured speaker for the 58th annual Commencement program at Elizabethtown College, May 30, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced recently.

EZRA TAFT BENSON
Commencement Speaker

Scheduled to receive honorary degrees during the graduation exercises are Mrs. Shirley Watkins Steinman, journalist; John L. Tivney, president of the Harrisburg Center on Higher Education, and Secretary Benson.

Mr. Benson will be granted the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, Mrs. Steinman the honorary Doctorate of Letters, and Mr. Tivney the honorary Doctor of Commercial Science.

Appointed to his cabinet position in 1953, Secretary Benson has long been active in farm work and government positions. He received his B.S. degree from Brigham Young University in 1926, and earned his master's degree in Agricultural Economics from Iowa State College in 1927. Several honorary doctoral degrees also have been awarded him.

He is a member of numerous farm bureaus and organizations and is a member of the national executive board, Boy Scouts of America. In 1948 he was a United States delegate to the first International Conference of Farm Organizations in London, England.

Mr. Tivney is an active civic leader in the Harrisburg area, and is president of the Harrisburg Area Center on Higher Education. He is a past president of the Keystone Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, active member of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce and has served on the board of the Pennsylvania Welfare Forum and United Fund. He also was a member of the Committee which revised the building code for the city of Harrisburg.

Mrs. Steinman has been acclaimed nationally for her novel on the life of King Saul, The Prophet and the King. Entering into the journalism field at the age of 15, she has worked for several newspapers, and is now the wife of John F. Steinman, co-owner of Steinman radio stations and WGAL-TV and of Steinman newspapers.

Prof. Baugher will be the speaker at the Baccalaureate service Sunday night, May 29, at the Church of the Brethren, Elizabethtown. He will also officiate at the Commencement exercises Monday, May 30.

Mid-Term Ends March 30; Final Exams Changed

Mid-term marks will be in the hands of students before the Easter vacation, according to the plans of Miss Emma R. Engle, College registrar.

Report cards for the term ending March 30 will be in students' mail boxes by 5 p. m. on April 8, she said. Duplicate sets of grades will be mailed to parents during the Easter recess, she added.

Miss Engle also announced a change in the final examination schedule as it is listed in the College Bulletin. The exam schedule has been extended to an eight-day period, beginning Wednesday, May 18, and running to Friday, May 27.

Drama Class Readies One-Act Productions

Two serious plays, two comic and one serio-comic satire will be presented in the College auditorium as two evenings of one-act dramas Friday and Saturday, April 29-30, at 8 p. m.

According to Mrs. Mildred Enterline, campus dramatics advisor, the performances will be directed by members of the dramatic production class as an integral part of its curriculum.

Student directors and plays scheduled for Friday night presentation are Claude Foreman with The Final Curtain, a story of John Wilkes Booth; Joyce Hepplein and Richard Falstick with In the Suds, a farce; and Marsha Graham with It Should Happen to a Dog, a radical theatrical experiment and satire on Jonah.

Miss Graham's play will also be staged Saturday evening when Donald Zellner directs a Haus-Hach piece, The Shoemaker's Wife, and Carol Bush and Joan Lank collaborate on The Mist.

Science Students To Attend Meeting

Fifteen Elizabethtown College science students will attend a conference to be held at Hunter College, in New York City, from April 21 to 24, according to Helmut Baer, president of Phi Beta Chi.

The purpose of the meeting will be to cultivate scientific interests and to get a better understanding of the role of science in the world today. Famous speakers on the subject of science are expected to participate.

The group will present student papers and make field trips around the city.

Donates Library Book

A Spanish Shakespeare book has been donated to the Zug Memorial Library by Earl Weller in memory of his mother.

As we see it...

Library Week is Here

The need for a "better-read, better-informed America" will be highlighted next week as National Library Week is observed in the United States.

The College library will be helping to observe the special week with displays and emphasis on specific books and library materials available to the students.

Students in turn should participate by using the facilities and showing their eagerness to advance the motto for the week.

Let's Stay On Campus

Where does the student body disappear to on weekends? If you stand outside a dormitory on Friday afternoons you could be trampled by the suitcase-bearing collegians.

Some blame the mass home migration on the lack of campus social affairs. In March the Senate sponsored two dances which were shamefully ill-attended.

If the students want more social life they must first of all support those activities which are now being held. The Sadie Hawkins Weekend was an example of a new idea tried and supported, therefore becoming an annual affair.

Over Easter vacation let's go home, visit with our families and fill up on Mom's good cooking and then come back with the determination to make the remaining weekends, college weekends. There will be baseball games, tennis matches, the Spring Formal, the Junior-Senior Banquet, and May Day. These are just some of the activities. Let's stay on campus and support them.

—S.C.M.

Memorial Fund Used

Previous articles in the ETOWNIAN publicizing the broadened program of religious emphasis speakers on campus neglected to mention that the Hollinger-Kilhefner Memorial Fund is helping to underwrite the cost.

The fund, set up last year in memory of the two honor graduates of the class of 1958, is being used to bring to the campus more speakers of this kind. Dr. Ross H. Stover, guest speaker at the College throughout the day of March 2, was but one of the several persons who has participated in the religious emphasis program this year.

Spring Is Here

As this edition went to press, the weather seemed to say Spring is here at last. The robins were seen finding worms in the grass, and students showed their renewed vitality by playing tennis and getting the most out of the pleasant days.

All this the students know. It's taken for granted as a sign of the new season. But what sometimes needs to be driven home is the fact that along with the fresh spirits of the human race come new blades of grass and other life. Let's try to heed the "Please don't walk on grass" signs and have general respect for the College property. It will be worth the effort in the end.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Activities Fees Help Defray Expenses For Non-Instructional Projects Here

(Ed. Note—The ETOWNIAN prepared the following in an attempt to answer student questions regarding the disposition of the Activities Fee.)

In the building of a college budget certain expenses fall logically into place. The instructional program of an institution, for example, carries the expenses for classroom and laboratory equipment, faculty salaries, and the maintenance of academic records.

Other expenses, not directly related to the instructional program, require additional entries in the budget book. Many are charged to funds collected from students as "activities fees."

The use of the "activities fee" varies from one institution to another. Generally, these funds pay for "fringe" projects that, while a part of college life, do not relate primarily to "book learning."

Many institutions lump the "activities fee" with the tuition charge. Others, including Elizabethtown, prefer to separate tuition charges, which pay largely for the instructional program, from other fees.

What does the "activities fee" pay for here?

Ed Crill, dean of students, explained that, under the present year's program, the "activities fee" provided funds for the Student Senate budget, class dues for students, alumni dues, publication of the ETOWNIAN and CONESTOGAN, choir trips, cultural programs, chapel expenses, health services, library fees, small grants to campus organizations (such as ECCA), and the athletic program.

Dean Crill emphasized that current activities funds do not cover all the expenses involved in these programs. The difference is made up from general College funds. This, he continued, is the reason for the increase from $50 to $75 next fall. The last increase (from $25 to $50) came in 1947.

He added that the expenses for library services will not be charged to the activities fund next year.

While not divulging exact figures, Dean Crill said that the biggest item charged to the fund under the present budget is the operation (not salaries) of the Athletic Department. These include grants to athletes, maintenance of equipment, and travel expenses.

He pointed out that next year the budget for the Senate will be more than doubled. The Senate budget is used primarily for providing social activities.

'Call Me Madam' Claimed a Success; Singing Praised

by VIRGINIA WILLS

With "I'm the hostess with the mostest" on the ball, "Call Me Madam" went into motion last Friday and Saturday nights on the E-town campus.

As the crowd was not excessively large either night, the seating arrangement proved satisfactory, if not especially comfortable. Adverse preliminary reports and an admission fee kept many persons away, but those who came found ample reward.

Robin Bonier, playing the lead, eliminated much of the coarseness from the character of Mrs. Sally Adams, the "Madame Ambassador." She was completely convincing in her role, and her lines seemed as natural as children throwing their clothes on the floor.

Dale Kilhefner turned in the high quality performance students have come to expect of him.

Lancaster County Alumni Set the Pace

E. C. alumni established a record in the quality of its program and in the number of attendance (130) on Thursday, March 17 at the Meadow Hills Dining Hall, Lancaster R. D. The "Flicker Flash Backs" and the "Campus Roosters" provided surprises and entertainment. Toastmaster K. Ezra Bucher, '32, did an impersonation, J. P. Savonni —and how he did it!

"Flickers" consisted of a projection of a series of pictures from early yearbooks to the present with a running, explanatory account couched in rib-slipping humor. The dialogue was provided by Mrs. Margaret (Lehn) Coleman, '30, Mrs. Jean (Roland) Moyer, '54, Jack Hornafius, '50, William Winters, '30 and Mrs. Marilyn (Longenecker) Brightbill, '56. The "Roosters" who struggled with "the lost chord" consisted of: W. E. Weaver, '37, C. G. Enterline, '31, "Al" Seldomridge, '52, and Professor Robert Lee Byers.

President John H. Stauffer, '49 relinquished his leadership to vice-president Walter Gingrich, '49. Other officers for the coming year are: Ralph L. Musser, '49, vice-president; Jean (Roland) Moyer, '54, secretary; Merle E. Black, '47, treasurer; Noah J. Fuhrman, '29 and Robert O. Hess, '40, council members. Other members of the council are: K. Ezra Bucher, '32, Dr. Franklin Cassel, '35, Jack Hornafius, '50 and Marion (Bardell) Long, '39.

LIBRARY GROWING, NEEDS FACILITIES

Books On Social Sciences Top Campus Library Lists

by NANCY FEO

Someone once remarked that a college is nothing more than a collection of books.

Mrs. Charles Rahter, College librarian, agrees. In her words, "The library is the heart of the college."

This statement can be reinforced by the library circulation list, which is headed by books on the social sciences, including education. This is due to the fact that E-town has a large number of education students.

Next in order of circulation are religion and philosophy.

History, literature, and the sciences are running neck and neck for third place on the list, according to Mrs. Rahter.

Considering the limitations of the library, it seems to excel in the fields of religion, philosophy, history and literature. The sciences are found mostly in periodicals. Except for outstanding works, fiction has not been given too much attention.

Last year the library put study carrels on the main stack level and the second floor level. These have been a great help to students who are seeking quiet for studying purposes. There are six carrels in all.

"In consideration of serious students, we do expect it to be quiet in the main study room. On the whole, student cooperation has been good," remarked the librarian.

Speaking of the library in general, Mrs. Rahter said, "considering our limited space, it's used quite heavily. It would be nice to have an enlarged building. I'm sure there are plans for expansion."

Exchange Program
Being Set Up Here

Students interested in the Foreign Exchange program initiated on campus this year may now secure applications in the Student Activities Office.

Charles Denlinger, president of ECCA, the program's co-sponsor, urged all interested students to discuss the program with their parents and return the completed application after spring vacation.

The student selected to attend college overseas next year will be chosen on the basis of his sociability, all-around college participation and academic ability by a representative committee of ECCA and Student Senate. The delegate, preferably a sophomore or junior next year, must be interested in foreign languages even though he has not yet completed advanced language study.

The cooperating foreign college or university is being secured through the Brethren Student Exchange Program in New Windsor, Maryland. They will also complete arrangements for a foreign student to attend Elizabethtown.

Financial support for the program is being raised principally through Campus Chest-sponsored activities. The Senate-Faculty basketball game, the pizza party and the sock hop have netted the fund $206.26.

Janice Ferster and Barry Stevenson, co-chairmen of the fund-raising committee, expressed their appreciation for the efforts of all those who helped, including many not on the committee. Members of the fund-raising committee are Ruth Ann Geiselman, Sung Ho Hahn, Lucy Hendricks, Joyce Hepplein, Ken Lease, Ruth Tice and Al Yamada.

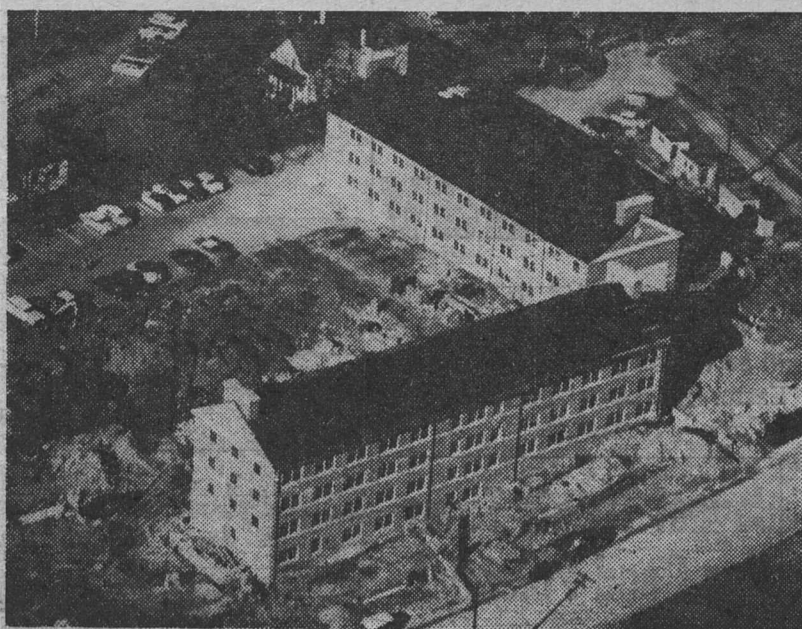

Dean Vera Hackman Set
To Attend Conferences

Miss Vera Hackman, dean of women, will attend the 1960 convention of the National Association of Women Deans and Counselors, to be held April 6-10 in Philadelphia.

As the Pennsylvania Association is convention hostess this year, Miss Hackman will be assisting with registration. Following the conclusion of the meeting, Dean Hackman will remain in Philadelphia April 11-12 for a meeting of the American College Personnel Association.

WHITHER THE PENDULUM?

Students Here Fear Neutral Powers Will Swing To East

by JOYCE MILLER

British Prime Minister MacMillan recently made the following statement: "As I see it, the great issue of this second half of the 20th century is whether the uncommitted peoples of Asia and Africa will swing to the East or the West."

Several students who are interested in political science have given their opinions on this outlook as part of an ETOWNIAN poll.

Lee Miller commented, "There can be little doubt that the great untapped resources and manpower of Asia hold the eventual key to world control. Unfortunately, it appears that the swing to the Eastern camp began with the fall of China. Others have followed or are swimming to the left. India today is the prime focal point. It is the pendulum upon which rests the outcome. If she can survive as a democracy, freedom may be secured for all Asia."

Dottie Hyde feels that if present east and west foreign trade policies continue, the "neutral" nations of Asia and Africa will tend toward the eastern bloc which, through trade agreements, builds latent economic activity, thus putting money in the neutral peoples' pockets.

"These countries must have an important bearing on the future," agrees Ken Lease, otherwise the East and West wouldn't spend such large amounts on foreign aid and technological development. Evidently the U.S.S.R. feels much the same way about it as does Prime Minister MacMillan. However, I think the space and armament races, which are always in the limelight, are also two factors to watch."

Park Mellott puts a different slant on the statement by saying, "The future of the world depends not as much on the attitudes of the peoples of Africa and Asia as the attitudes of the people of the West towards the new nations of Africa and Asia and their dealings with these nations in lieu of the past colonialism of the major western powers. We must help the people of these new nations to understand that we are not interested in them as pawns of our games but as individual, self-respecting, fellow nations."

'Call Me Madam'

but Joe Wagenseller was a surprise to many people. Friday night his singing and acting were slightly stiff, but by Saturday his nervousness had disappeared.

Carol Hess, playing a second lead, turned in a professional singing performance, but her stage nerves showed in her speaking parts.

The chorus needed more practice. On the whole, Friday night was a final dress rehearsal. Saturday night saw improvement in the entire assembly. Songs went faster, the actors were more at ease, movements were synchronized.

Choir to Go on Tour
Over Spring Recess

Using their 1960 repertoire of sacred numbers, the College choir, under the direction of Prof. Nevvin W. Fisher, will take their annual tour of central and western Pennsylvania during the spring vacation.

The tour is scheduled to begin Thursday, April 7, and will last until Tuesday, April 12. Seven concerts are planned to be given in Churches of the Brethren.

The itinerary includes churches in the following towns:

Thursday evening, April 7, Cherry Lane, near Everett; Friday evening, April 8, New Enterprise; Saturday evening, April 9, Berkey, near Windber; Sunday morning, April 10, Scalp Level; Sunday evening, April 10, Woodbury; Monday evening, April 11, Spring Run, near McVeytown, and Tuesday evening, April 12, Lewistown.

Class News

1960

The Seniors held their annual senior dinner-dance last evening at Allenberry. Smorgasbord was served from 6 to 8 o'clock, and dancing to the Johnnie Barrett Orchestra was held from 8 to 12.

• 1961

Financial results of the Junior Class show are not yet known. The class has plans in the making for the Junior-Senior dinner dance, to be held Friday, May 6, at the Yorktown Hotel, York. Also scheduled are a swimming party and a bowling outing later in the Spring.

1962

The Sophomores sponsored an all-college hayride and hot dog fest last night. It was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Edgar Bitting and Prof. and Mrs. Charles Byers.

1963

Newly-elected class president Dale Good is hard at work on the class blazer problem. Orders from students will not be taken until after Easter vacation.

Plans are being made for the freshman class show at the annual all-college picnic at Hershey.

CONESTOGAN
At Printers,
Due in May

The CONESTOGAN, College yearbook, has been completed and sent off to the printers, with delivery due about the middle of May, according to Dottie Hyde, editor.

The yearbook has an increase of 16 pages over last year's annual, and will feature original art work on the divider pages rather than photographs.

"The entire staff was most cooperative and was efficient in meeting the deadlines," commented Dottie.

Lay-out staff members were Jo Barner, Doris Bushong, Gordon Campbell, Belva Cassel, Linda Elliot, Ruth Koch, Ilse Langer, Peggy McKenzie, Elfriede Neufeld, David Sigler, Russell Showers, Joan Wetzel and Rosemarie Yannunzio. Joan Metzler and Mara Znotens served as typists.

The literary staff consisted of Brenda Berry, Linda Eshleman, Janet Espenshade, Marsha Graham, Sandie Lutz, Judy MacKensie, Bill Pensyl, Linda Simkins and Linda Rohrer, Lloyd Bortzfeld, Bill Clarke and Paul Wolfe comprised the business staff.

I.C.G. Meet
To Feature
Party Battle

The state-wide Intercollegiate Conference on Government will be held in the form of a model political party convention this year on April 7, 8 and 9, in Harrisburg.

Bill Hoar, Ken Leese and Dot Hyde will journey to the Penn Harris Hotel early Thursday, April 7, to help with the registration of delegates who will come from approximately 50 Pennsylvania colleges.

A major part of the convention, in addition to the committee meetings and passage of bills, will be the nominations and election of a Presidential candidate. The E-town delegation is not yet committed to the support of a candidate but backed Nixon at the Regional Conference held last month at Dickinson College.

Friday night and Saturday morning a general assembly of the delegates will convene in the Education Forum to review planks that will be incorporated into a party platform.

Eight committees will meet on Thursday and Friday with Elizabethtown having representation in each. The delegates are hoping for the same success in getting their bills passed on a state level as they had on the regional level. Four E-town bills passed both committee and general assembly debate at the Regional Conference.

Students attending the conference, according to Dick Spangler, ICG chairman, will include Belva Cassel, Ruth Koch, Victor Wilson, John Brightbill, Sungho Hahn, Bruce Tinglof, Lee Miller, and the Political Science Club advisor, Prof. Clyde Nelson.

Plan Buying Programs

"Getting the Most for Your Clothing Dollar" will be the topic for the next two College programs on WGAL-TV's "College of the Air."

Mrs. Merle Balck will discuss women's clothing April 5. J. L. M. Yeingst will speak on men's clothing April 19. The programs are aired 9-9:30 a. m. on channel 3.

Baseball Season Opens Here Today

Coach Ira Herr's baseball squad is scheduled to open the 1960 campaign this afternoon by taking on Pennsylvania Military College. Today's action will be the only home appearance for the Blue Jays until after Easter recess, when they meet Juniata here April 23.

A game at Albright previously scheduled for yesterday was postponed until May 27.

Herr, starting his 29th year as flight leader for the Jays, was undecided on who would be getting the starting mound assignment for this afternoon's battle. Chances are that either Righthander Bob Geiger (40- in '59) or Lefty Ray Diener, a promising freshman, will bet the call.

There is also the possibility that Herr will rotate several hurlers in the early games. Lack of outdoor workouts has slowed the Jays' conditioning.

Returnees from last year's squad, which won 14 of 18 games and captured the District 30 (Pennsylvania) NOAI championship, will probably hold down most of the starting slots this afternoon.

That means Bill Pensyl behind the plate, Lloyd Borzifield at first, Carroll Hershey at second, Woody Kerkeslager at third, Warner Cheeks in left field, and probably Russ Glazier in right. Bob Teufel may break into the lineup either at shortstop or in the outfield.

The Jays travel to Temple Tuesday and to Franklin and Marshall Saturday in pre-recess games. They will be at Lebanon Valley April 20 and at Lycoming the following day.

Jaygal Tennis Team Has Good Potential

Prospects for the women's tennis team are good. A host of newcomers will bolster returnees Shirley Lantzy, Barb Schlickemaier and Pat Usinger.

According to Coach Julia Risser, the newcomers will give the returning players a battle for positions.

Playing her first year for E-town is freshman Linda Eshelman. She played number one for Elizabethtown Area High School for three years. Linda has also been Lancaster County Champion for the last two years and holds a Central Pennsylvania rating.

The freshman class also contributes Naomi Lucabaugh, Sally Griffith, Carol Tait, Betty Markley and Diane Corbin. Both Markley and Corbin have high school team experience.

Senior Bette Holman, juniors Janet Myers and Ruth Tice, and sophomores Brenda Berry and Sondra Prosser fill out the list of newcomers.

Commenting on the season Miss Risser said, "We need a strong number five and the right doubles combination and then we'll be hard to beat!"

"The season opens April 20 at Millersville and our strongest opponent appears to be Wilson College," she added.

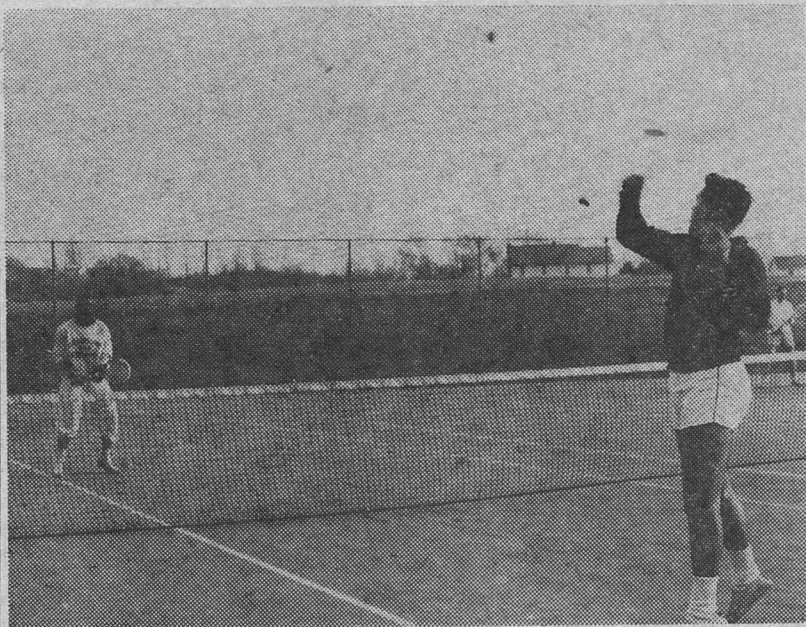

Election of Outstanding Senior Athletes Set

The outstanding male and female senior athletes will be elected Wednesday in an all-college vote at the College store, according to Fred Zimmerman, president of the Varsity E Club, which is handling the election.

All seniors who have earned Varsity E letters during their College careers are eligible for the honor, Zimmerman explained.

The winners will not be publicized until the Varsity E banquet, to be held after Easter vacation.

SPORTS

READY FOR OPENER—Gene Gordon (left) and Dick Lantzy, both kingpins on the Blue Jay tennis team, get tuned up for the '60 campaign in a pre-season drill. Jays meet F. and M. here today.

Tennis Squad Short On Experience; Open Against F.&M. Today

With only two lettermen back from last year's squad, the Blue Jay tennis team will open a 13-match schedule this afternoon by taking on Franklin and Marshall College here at 1:30.

Coach Don Smith's charges, shackled by inexperience, appear to have a rough, uncertain year ahead. Only Juniors Gene Gordon and Lloyd Nyce are back from the '59 team, which won three of the first five matches and then dropped seven in a row.

Newcomers to the squad who could provide some help for Gordon and Nyce include Seniors Dick Lantzy and Milt Smith.

Lantzy is a transfer from Juniata.

Rounding out the squad are Sophomores Glen Bucher, Francis Hurley and Dale Kilhefner, and Freshmen John Arndt and Roy Erb.

Today's F. and M. encounter is the Jays' only home appearance until April 23, when they meet Juniata here. The netmen travel to Millersville State College Tuesday in the final pre-Easter recess match.

Intramurals

Fairview (Team 6) clinched the crown with a victory over a team of combined Memorial-Alpha day students (Team 5).

Team 5 (MAD) and Team 3 (New Residence) finished out the season in second and third places, according to standings compiled by Marty Epply, women's intramural director.

Softball intramurals, under chairman Sue Wood, begin Monday, April 4 at 4:00 p. m. with a general practice for all teams.

Arrangements have been completed for the mixed doubles badminton tournament. Linda Hollinger, badminton chairman has posted a schedule of matches.

The Women's Athletic Association, co-sponsor of women's intramurals, is planning a Play Day for Saturday, April 23. All girls of the college are invited to participate in the event, which will feature all sports played this year in intramurals and gym classes.

Final standings for women's intramural basketball:

Team 6 (FV) -----	5	1
Team 5 (MAD) -----	4	2
Team 3 (NK) -----	3	2

Ira R. Herr Receives Citizenship Citation

Athletic Director Ira R. Herr was named "Outstanding Citizen for the Year" by the Elizabethtown Moose Lodge last week. He was awarded a plaque during a banquet in the Lodge dining hall.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

All of us like to think that the College is growing in all areas, including, of course, the intercollegiate athletic program.

That's why the development of the women's tennis team is of such interest to us. As Miss Julia Risser sees it, if she can carry out an informal schedule successfully this year, the Administration may well decide that the sport can be supported as a regular part of the College program.

We'd like to see that happen. And while we're on the topic of additional intercollegiate athletics, what ever happened to the men's track team that worked out here briefly not long ago? Has that seed fallen on rocky ground?

The question of whether or not the College will finish the year with a winning record in intercollegiate sports competition rides to a great degree on what the baseball and tennis teams do.

Our overall record, including soccer, cross country, hockey, wrestling and basketball (men and women) is now 36 wins, 5 ties, 30 defeats. If the baseball and tennis men run a good anchor lap, we're in business.

This should make the wrasslers happy. Reports have it that the renovation of the barracks includes a wrestling room for next year. Nothing official yet, though. It's all in the planning stage.

Don't be surprised if several members of the Blue Jay baseball team gets the eagle eye treatment from visiting major league scouts this season. Scouts representing the Kansas City Athletics and Cleveland Indians have requested schedules of E-town games.

And there are very likely others who will drop by to see what the Jays have to offer.

Dr. Gray Leaving For New Position At Baldwin-Wallace

Dr. Albert L. Gray Jr., head of the Business Department here since 1951, has resigned to accept the position of Professor of Economics and Business at Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced this week.

Dr. Gray, a graduate of Drexel Institute (B.S., '39), Boston University (M.B.A., '40), and the University of Pennsylvania (Ph. D., '58), will begin his new duties in September.

Pres. Baugher indicated that Dr. Gray's decision to leave was accepted "with regret."

He stated that the College will move quickly and spare no effort in an attempt to find a qualified successor. A number of applications are being considered, he added.

Honors Assembly Planned for WED.

Award winners in business, mathematics, publications and science, in addition to extra-curricular activities, will be honored in an Honors Assembly Wednesday, April 27, during the regular chapel period in the auditorium-gymnasium.

Students will be awarded Activities E and Varsity E recognition for participation in such events as music, dramatics, political science, publications, religious activities and men's and women's sports and cheerleading.

Dean Roy E. McAuley will present a brief address, "Who is Educated?" prior to the presentation of awards.

Pres. A. C. Baugher will grant the honors.

Newsman, Football Star Awards Dinners Speakers

The annual awards dinners for students in athletics and extra-mural activities will feature addresses by a prominent newspaperman and an established professional football star, according to Prof. Wilbur Weaver, chairman of the College Special Events Committee.

Anna M. Carper New Librarian

Miss Anna M. Carper, a 1941 graduate of Elizabethtown, has been appointed as head librarian for the College beginning with the 1960 fall term, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced this week.

Miss Carper, a native of nearby Palmyra, where she received her public education, has taken graduate study at the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University, where she earned an M.S. degree in library science in 1951.

Miss Carper comes to Elizabethtown from the University of Maryland, where she joined the library staff as a cataloger in 1951.

She was named head of the Cataloging Department in 1956. She also taught library science at the university from 1953-'57.

Miss Carper holds memberships in the American Library Association and the Association of College and Research Libraries.

NORMAN VAN BROCKLIN
Sports Speaker

James R. Doran, managing editor of the Harrisburg Patriot-News, will be the principal speaker for the Activities E Awards dinner Wednesday evening.

Norman Van Brocklin, quarterback for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, will be the after-dinner speaker for the Varsity E Awards dinner Thursday evening.

Both dinners are scheduled to start at 6:30 p. m. at Hostetter's Restaurant, Mt. Joy.

Harold Eager, city editor of the Lancaster Intelligencer-Journal, will be toastmaster for the Activities dinner. D. Paul Greene, director of admissions, will be master-of-ceremonies for the athletic dinner.

Doran, who recently traveled extensively in the Soviet Union, will report on his experiences and impressions of life in Russia. Van Brocklin will discuss highlights and sidelights of his long football career.

Students involved in campus publications, music, drama, religious activities, and political science will be honored at the Wednesday evening affair. Faculty advisors scheduled to speak briefly include Dr. Robert Byerly, Nevin W. Fisher, Mrs. C. G. Enterline, Clyde Nelson and J. L. M. Yeingst.

Presentation of the awards to the outstanding male and female senior athletes will highlight the Thursday dinner for students taking part in the College's intercollegiate athletic program. Coaches who will offer brief remarks are Ira R. Herr, Donald P. Smith, Miss Julia Risser and Richard Hershey.

Five One-Act Plays Cast; Student Directors Prepare For Presentation April 29

The annual student-directed one-act plays all will be given Friday, April 29 in the College auditorium-gymnasium. This is a change from the previously announced dates of April 29 and 30. A scheduling conflict necessitated the change, according to Mrs. Clarence Enterline.

Casts for the five plays have been announced as follows:

Don Zellner, directing The Shoemaker's Wife by Hans Sach, a farce, has cast Mary Feaser, Guy Kessler and Tony Oskam in his production.

The Mist, a suspenseful drama by Dana Thomas, will be directed by Joan Lank and Carol Bush and will feature Dick Merritt, Ron Mummert, Claude Foreman, Don Zellner and Martin Heilman in the cast. Carol and Joan will also take small parts.

A popular French farce by Barnard and Rose Hewitt, In the Suds, will star Sandy Reifstreck, Marty Reese and Lonny Thomas. Joyce Hepplein and Richard Falstick will direct.

Ray Berkebile and Dale Good make up the small male cast of the serio-comic satire It Should Happen to a Dog, which Marsha Graham is directing.

A serious drama will be represented in Director Claude Foreman's play, The Last Curtain by Neal Hoseney. His cast includes Eleanor Johnson, Asher Halbleib, Park Mellott, Helen Brubaker, Alegra Yohe and Dale Hoffer.

The five one-acts are a project for Mrs. Clarence Enterline's class in play directing. They are entirely student cast, staged and directed.

Name Penn Graduate To English Faculty

John T. Dwyer, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania (B.A., 1956 - M.A., 1958) will join the English Department here next fall with the rank of assistant professor, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced this week.

Dwyer is a candidate for the doctoral degree at the University. He is writing his doctoral thesis on "A Study of Joyce Cary's Criticism with Relationship to the Development of His Fiction."

He has taught English composition courses as a graduate assistant at the University for three years. In addition, he is currently teaching two courses in public speaking.

CONTAGIOUS CREATIVITY

College Secretaries Start Ceramics Designing Hobby

by JOYCE MILLER

Creativity can be contagious. At least that's what seems to be happening among five secretaries of the College.

When Mrs. Ruth A. Frank, secretary in the Development Office, and Mrs. Mildred Lyter, Student Activities secretary, displayed their ceramic art work such as poinsettia plates, candlestick holders and Santa Claus mugs at Christmastime, the excitement was too much and the do-it-yourself spirit struck the other secretaries as well.

As a result Mrs. Emma Horne, Development Office secretary; Mrs. Doris Lewis, secretary to President A. C. Baugher, and Mrs. Ruth Mumma, secretary to Admissions Director Paul Greene, joined in the fun and the five of them troop up to Middletown once a week for lessons in ceramics under the direction of Mrs. Samuel Slocumb.

The three beginners are now witnessing the fruits of their first efforts. Beginners start with small articles such as ash trays or small plates. They first work with the ordinary piece of clay known as greenware.

This is underglazed and then baked in the kiln (for the uneducated this is pronounced "kill") at 1800°F. After baking the clear glaze is put on which, if done right, is the secret to the whole process.

It is then baked again. Staining, designing and molding come with experience. The only materials required are sponges, a ceramic tool and glazes.

Mrs. Frank, who is in the advanced stages of ceramic work, has made huge flowered plates, fruit bowls, numerous wedding gifts and bridge party prizes. She is now in the process of making a service for 12 rose design set of dishes. But her talents do not end here. She is also an avid member of an oil painting class that meets once a week.

Could there be some student interest in this type of hobby?

29 Earn Dean's List Distinction for 1st Half of Semester

Twenty-nine students earned the honor of being named to the Dean's List for the first half of the second semester, according to Dr. Roy McAuley, dean of instruction.

Numberwise, the sophomores head the list, with nine members of the class maintaining a 3.5 average or above. The juniors and freshmen each added seven names to the list. Six seniors also earned the honor.

Seniors: Stanley Neyer, James Raver, Barry Stevenson, Barbara Ulmer, Fred Zimmerman and Dorothy Zlobik.

Juniors: Helmut Baer, Carol Heilman, David Higinbotham, J. Kenneth Kreider, Louise Miller, Mona Wyles and Anna Yoder.

Sophomores: Robin Bonier, Martha Eppley, Janet Espen-shade, Mary K. Gladfelter, Linda Hollinger, Francis Hurley, Patricia Shetter, E. Virginia Wills and Jean Zettlemoyer.

Freshmen: Virginia Colley, E. Paul Dick, William Gould, Lois Herr, Brenda Keener, Joan Smith and Larry Smith.

Student Affairs Committees Elected

Twelve boarding students and four commuting students have been chosen to fill the offices on the committees of Men's and Women's Affairs. They were elected in an all-college vote April 1.

Martha Eppley, Rosalind Griffin, Naomi Lucabaugh, Sandra Reifstreck, Ruth Anne Tice and Ruthann Geiselman are the women boarding students selected. Nancy Karlheim and Lois Herr have been elected from the women commuting students.

On the men's committee, the boarding students elected are Leroy Bair, Glenn Buckwalter, Ralph Johnson, Park Mellott, Lonny Thomas and Ellwood Kerkelager. The commuting students chosen are Donald Raber and Glenn Bucher.

Ruthann Geiselman, Lois Herr, Glenn Bucher and Ellwood Kerkelager have been named chairmen of the respective committees.

Alternatives are Joan Leatherman and Douglas Cromer.

Junior-Senior Fete Planned for May 6

The annual semi-formal junior-senior dinner dance, sponsored by the juniors in honor of the graduating class and two-year certificate students, will be held Friday, May 6, from 7 to 12:30 in the Yorktowne Hotel, York.

Speaker for the banquet will be Prof. Henry M. Libhart, of the English Department here, who will discuss "A New View of Snobism."

The Swinging Shepherds, composed of Steve Cordas, William Adams, Ken Diffenbaugh, Howard Gotkin and Ken Lease will provide music for the evening.

Members of the dinner dance committee include Joseph Wagenseller, Lee Conner, Herbert Spannuth, Sandy MacLaughlin, Ruth Risser and Mara Znotens.

Student Senate Plans Spring Formal Tonight

An "Enchanted Evening" the Spring formal, will be held this evening from 8 to 12 p. m. at the Iris Club, Lancaster, according to Miss Vera Hackman, of the Student Activities Office.

Sponsored by the Student Senate, the affair will feature the music of C. W. Buckwalter's orchestra. The Senate social committee planning the event includes Richard Merritt, chairman, Sandra MacLaughlin, Ruth Risser, Linda Wagner, Donna Wolf, George Lott, Lee Miller and Hank Osborn.

As we see it...

A Job Well Done

The induction of the Student Senate for 1960-61 was held Wednesday during the regular chapel period. As the new senators begin their duties it is natural to reflect on the achievements of their immediate predecessors.

A look at the record shows that the 1959-60 Senate initiated many projects on campus, all of which are worthy of continuation. The second-hand book exchange program was begun at the end of the first semester in January, and according to Prof. Wilbur Weaver, store manager, it proved successful.

The recent Career Day held on campus, whence several outstanding representatives from area industries discussed job opportunities in their respective fields, also was claimed worth its planning.

Two other innovations, still in the planning stages but which have received the approval of the Administration, are the foreign student exchange, which is being handled in conjunction with the ECCA, and the campus radio station. Both of these projects should add much in the way of prestige and cultural value to our College.

The record of this Senate shows us what cooperation by the Senate, Administration and student body can achieve. It also should point the way to further student benefits in the future.

Importance of Christian Education Is Recognized

Tomorrow, April 24, has been designated as National Christian College Day across the United States. Since ours is a church-related institution, all of us have a share in this observance.

The importance of the Christian influence on higher education has been cited many times. That influence during these days of heightened social tensions, quickened technical progress, and increased anxiety for material gain is more important than ever.

The National Conference of Church-related Colleges published a piece entitled "The Church College Speaks" some years ago. It reads in part:

"I am the church college.

"I am the oldest institution of higher learning in America. . . . For three hundred years I have served my country well. Three centuries of achievement vindicate my right to be.

"I stand for life's highest ideals.

"I believe in God.

"I train for service.

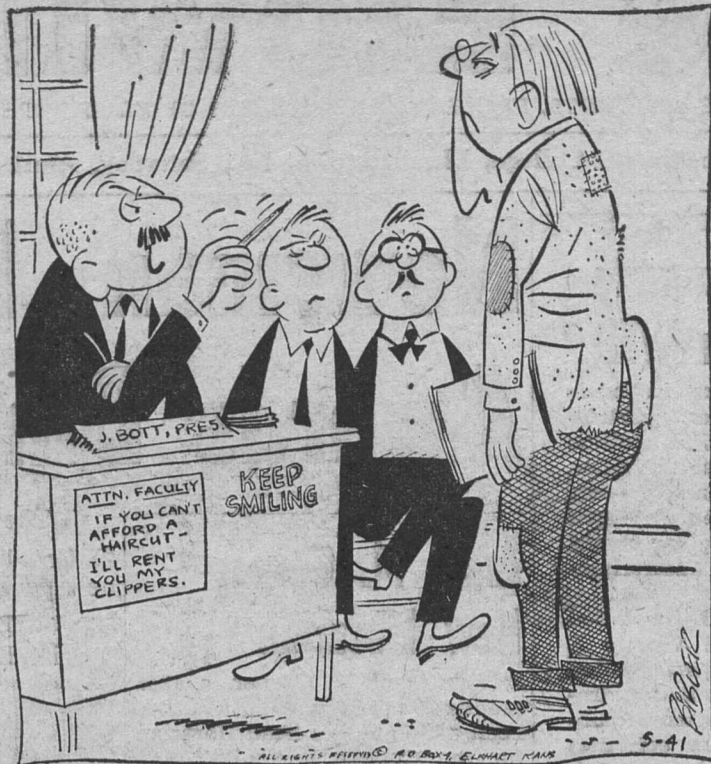

"I deserve your support."

Best Wishes In Order

Reports of the resignations of Dr. Charles Rahter and Dr. Albert Gray have been received with considerable regret by both students and faculty. Dr. Rahter, who joins the English Department at Susquehanna University, and Dr. Gray, who becomes professor of Business and Economics at Baldwin-Wallace College, will be missed here, both in and out of the classroom.

Both men contributed greatly to the academic stature of our College. The ETOWNIAN wishes them Godspeed as they leave the campus.

Christianity, Islam, Communism Bidding For the Uncommitted Millions in Africa

Africa, with a geographic bulk equal to the area of the United States, China and India with room to spare, is astir with the birth of new, independent nations. Six more are scheduled to be born before the end of this year.

Taken together, the Africans form a power bloc of imposing proportions because of their numbers and rich natural resources. Responding to the clarion call of nationalism, the Africans are shaking free of the influence exerted by colonial powers.

Evangelist Billy Graham recently completed an eight-week "safari for souls" during which he brought the Christian Gospel to more than 300,000 Africans.

Commenting on his mission, Graham reported that three ideologies are in all-out competition for the minds and hearts of Africa's uncommitted millions. He listed them as Christianity, Islam and Communism.

Of these, Islam appears to be making the greatest progress because it is less demanding than the others. Its prime appeal, according to Graham, is that it permits polygamy, an important consideration for Africans, who traditionally have several wives.

Christianity, while trailing Islam in the quest for African allegiance at present, is making progress because of the efforts of missionaries in building schools, hospitals and churches.

Graham reported that one of Christianity's big stumbling blocks is the common African belief that Christ was a European. As a result, the natives tend to choose another faith.

Graham's solution: more missionaries, particularly American Negro and African missionaries.

Communism, according to Graham, is the weakest and most recent entrant in the contest. However, he added, the Communists appear to be vigorously active wherever they can gain a foothold.

With Africa destined to assume ever-growing stature in world affairs, Christians face tremendous challenge and responsibility as dawn begins to break on the Dark Continent.

OUR VIEW

American Education Must Remain Broad For Sake of All

The American educational system, from the elementary grades through graduate school, came under serious, concentrated fire following the Russian success in launching Sputnik I.

There were heated cries for modernization, specialization, crash programs in the technical fields, etc. Educators were told to get rid of frills, snap courses, and incompetent instructors.

Some of the accusations were just, and educators moved to correct deficiencies, a process still in progress.

Fortunately, those who set the pattern for American education were level-headed enough to disregard the wailings of the radicals, who wanted this country to follow the example of the Soviet Union, where education is rigidly specialized.

Vice-president Richard Nixon summed up the situation very well in these words:

"Let us never forget that in a totalitarian society it is enough to produce an automatic man—an automaton—who knows only science or engineering. In a free society this is completely inadequate."

"We could make no greater mistake than to use the Communist yardstick to measure educational values in a free society. (In the Soviet Union) a few men at the top make the decisions, but in our free society 170 million people must be prepared to make the decisions for all."

Philadelphia-Camden Area Alumni Test Interest

Alumni in the Philadelphia-Camden area had meetings scheduled for last night and Friday, April 29. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Speidel, '41, Jenkintown, entertained at a dessert meeting last evening. The session April 29 will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Alex Glassmire, '37, 53 Linwood Avenue, Williamstown, New Jersey.

A common item of business for the two groups is consideration of the formation of two chapters from that area. Representatives from the College were to present the latest on campus doings.

Harrisburg Did It!

Harold Z. Bomberger, '43, president of the E. C. Alumni Association, succeeded with a vigorous program committee in activating his "home precinct," the Harrisburg Club.

The club met on Saturday, February 27, at the Camp Hill Dutch Pantry. Ninety alumni, friends and guests heard Dean Roy E. McAuley of the College interpret "The Meaning of a Christian Education." Prof. Nevin W. Fisher entertained the group with three vocal selections. Mrs. E. G. Meyer assisted him at the piano.

The Rev. Mark B. Wolgemuth, '43, professor of chemistry at Messiah College, gave the invocation. H. Ray Cabaugh, '35, served as toastmaster.

The following named officers below will guide the club through 1961: president, Harry Thomas, '55; vice-president, Frances Mary Thombino, '35; secretary, Frances Bishop, '54, and treasurer, Albert Richwine, '49.

Program Planned For 14th May Day, Saturday, May 14

The entire program for the 14th annual May Day, to be held Saturday, May 14, has been arranged, with detailed aspects of the program now being readied.

Highlight of the day's events will be the crowning of the Queen of May, Carol Beard, on the West campus at 1:30 p. m. In attendance with her court, she will be presented a program in keeping with the theme of the day.

Both tennis and baseball games have been scheduled, with E-town's tennis men to take on Gettysburg here at 1:30, and the Blue Jays to face Lebanon Valley in baseball at 2:30 here.

Other events planned include the showing of slides on college life for the incoming freshmen at 2:30, a picture exhibit by students and faculty in the library from 2:30 to 7:30. The Queen's Tea for the court, their parents and friends at 3:30, Women's Auxiliary punch hour for the class of 1964 at 3:30, an organ recital at 6:30 and the presentation of "Call Me Madam," by the junior class in the Alumni Auditorium at 8 p. m.

Dietician, Business Head to Give Talks

"Getting the Most for Your Food Dollar" will be the topic for discussion on the College of the Air television program Tuesday, April 26, over WGAL-TV, Lancaster.

Miss Betty Holsinger, College dietician, will present the talk.

Dr. A. L. Gray, chairman of the Business Department, will speak on "Inflation and the Cost of Living" on the May 3 program.

Generally I am not disturbed by such sights since it is quite possible to discern various heads on campus, e.g., blockheads, knuckleheads, department heads, and heads with beards (not really a separate category since there is very little difference from a knucklehead). The more disturbing aspect was the number of arms. It had more arms than generally possessed by a single body.

After a brief moment of anxiety, I realized that what I confronted was not a single body. It separated, murmured, caressed, broke up long enough to breathe, then fused again. This somewhat amoeboid splitting and fusing continued.

What I beheld was Mr. and Mrs. E-town, that much enjoyed phenomenon of steadies rededicating their temporary dedication.

Feeling that such sincere and ardent rededication ceremonies should be unwitnessed and being somewhat embarrassed by the earthy frankness of their expression, I turned off the lights and left. Click!!!

ICG Convention Puts Kennedy Into Office

Five hundred students from 50 Pennsylvania colleges and universities attended the Inter-collegiate Conference on Government held April 7, 8 and 9 in Harrisburg. Ten students represented Elizabethtown College at the model nominating convention.

Through a political blunder the petition nominating Richard Nixon was not filed in time. The assembly had to vote a suspension of the rules to nominate him. In the final balloting Kennedy was elected President.

In addition to the Presidential nomination and election, a Speaker and Clerk for the convention were elected. Mary Weist, of Immaculata College received the top position, the second female speaker in the ICG history.

Sung Ho Hahn represented Elizabethtown on the Rules Committee.

Elizabethtown also succeeded in getting many of its platform planks passed in the General Assembly by combining with other colleges on similar issues.

Senior Class Offers New Scholarship Aid

Details of a senior class Scholarship to be awarded to a first semester senior next September have been released by Bill Kendig, president of the Class of 1960.

Financial need is the primary qualification for this grant of not less than $100, Kendig stressed. Any other scholarship aid received by the applicant will not be considered detrimental to his need.

A secondary requirement is that the applicant have at least a 2.000 or "C" average.

Kendig explained that a list of the scholarship applicants arranged in order of greatest need will be submitted by the Treasurer, Earl H. Kurtz, to a selection committee of the senior class.

The class officers, Bill Kendig, Hank Osborne, Joyce Wenger and Bill Adams, and the Scholarship Committee Chairman, Fred Zimmerman, will vote to determine the recipient. Dean of Students, Ed Crill, and Treasurer Kurtz will advise the committee but not vote.

The Senior Class Scholarship will be deducted from the recipient's College bill.

Two Science Profs Earn Study Grants

Prof. Hubert Custer, chairman of the Physics Department, and Miss Zoe Proctor, of the Chemistry Department, have been awarded grants by the National Science Foundation for advanced study in their respective fields this summer.

Prof. Custer will work with the Physics Department at the Pennsylvania State University doing research in the area of nuclear physics. He will be at Penn State from June 20 to Aug. 19.

Miss Proctor will do graduate work in Chemistry at Montana State College from July 18 to Aug. 19.

Sock and Buskin Club Observes 30th Year; Has Brought Many Plays to College Stage

In November, 1930, the Sock and Buskin Club began to strut and fret its hour upon the Elizabethtown stage. Since then it has proved to be much more than a collection of poor players, and its hour has stretched to 30 years in the performance of dramatic productions at the College.

College to Begin New Admissions Policy Next Year

Elizabethtown College has initiated an admissions policy whereby a limited number of students, unable to begin their studies at the start of the regular fall semester, will be allowed to enter college at the start of the second semester in February.

In announcing the new program, D. Paul Greene, director of admissions, said the move is being made "to accommodate those students who, for one reason or another, cannot start in September, when the fall term begins."

Several factors were instrumental in prompting the program, Greene said. He listed them as the recent College decision to hold a February Commencement, the students who drop out of school after one semester, and a desire to eliminate empty spaces in classrooms and dormitories.

He emphasized that only students enrolled in non-scientific courses would be accepted for the February term because of the difficulty in scheduling classes and laboratory periods.

"We anticipate enrolling as many as 40 freshmen for the start of the second semester," Greene said.

Admissions Office Accepts 280 Frosh

Running 50 percent ahead of last year's applications, the admissions office has already accepted 280 applicants, according to D. Paul Greene, director of admissions.

Because of cancellations due to multiple applications and other reasons, the school will accept up to 340 persons in order to have a freshman class of 250, Dean Greene explained.

The medical secretary and the secretarial science courses are already closed for the year 1960-61. With certain exceptions in special cases, enrollment for women has been closed due to limited living quarters. There are a limited number of spaces available for male applicants.

Early applications from high school juniors are now being processed and tentative acceptances will be given after June 1.

Elsie Woodward Named RUDDER Comm. Head

Elsie Woodward, a junior majoring in elementary education, has been named chairman of the 1960-'61 Rudder committee, David Correll, president-elect of the Student Senate announced recently.

Other members of the committee which will begin planning the publication soon are Janice Fester, Barbara Jones, Wilbur Gible, Ruth Ann Geiselman and Sue Strang.

Weaver Named Editor

Prof. Wilbur E. Weaver has been appointed editor of the newsletter published by the Pennsylvania Business Education Association.

The New Women's residence on campus was first occupied in late January, 1957.

The players began their work directed by Miss Rebekah Shaefer; under her they presented such plays as Shakespeare's "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream," which included in the Dramatis Personae Nevin Zuck and Earl Kurtz.

Another memorable production, presented in 1948, was "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," the love story of Elizabeth Barrett and John Browning. In the all-star cast Armon Snowden appeared in a dual role, according to the playbill, both as Alfred Barrett and Captain Surtess Cook. Professor Snowden has carried his fine talents into the recent Senate-Faculty game, where he again played a dual part. In 1954 the club also did "The Heiress," directed by Dr. Louise Kelly.

Mrs. Mildred Enterline now presides over our "learned sock" and "buskined tragedy," and she has directed a varied program, including "A Roomful of Roses," "Aria da Capo," and the club's most recent effort, "Arsenic and Old Lace." Her productions include both religious and secular plays; in November, 1958, the club presented under her direction the morality play, "Everyman."

The club now sponsors at least two major productions a year, with its members also participants in other campus shows.

In addition to this ambitious program, last year's group initiated the practice of sponsoring theatre parties to New York City. Last year they saw Archibald MacLeish's prize-winning "J.B.," the story of a modern Job. This year they saw "Caligula," by Albert Camus. In the spring they are planning an alumni banquet, to which all former members are invited.

Senate Considering Radio Station Here

A campus radio station may be forthcoming if current planning by the Student Senate proves practical. The move to establish a station here was initiated by the former Senate president, Bill Hoar.

No definite plans have been announced, although the Federal Communications Commission has been contacted regarding rules, regulations, and procedures for getting a station on the air, Hoar reported.

Treasurer Wins Grant For Business Course

College Treasurer and Business Manager Earl Kurtz has been awarded a Carnegie Grant for the 1960 Short Course in College Business Management to be offered this summer at the University of Omaha.

Mr. Kurtz won a scholarship covering the first portion of the course last summer. He is one of the few to receive the second-year grant for those showing "the greatest potential in the business management field."

Juniata Choir Here April 30 for Concert

The Elizabethtown College Choir, in cooperation with the Juniata College Choir, will present a program of sacred and secular music in the College auditorium-gymnasium Saturday, April 30, at 8 p. m.

Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the music department here, announced that this is an exchange visit by Juniata, since the E-town choir joined the sister college choir in a musicale at Juniata last year.

The choirs will sing separately before combining for the finale, "Choral Selection Oklahoma."

Jay Netmen Drop First Four Meets

Battered in their first four encounters, the Blue Jay tennis team will be looking for victory number one this afternoon, when they meet Juniata here.

Next week, Coach Don Smith's netmen face Ursinus away Tuesday and Washington College away Friday. They won't be home again until May 3 against Dickinson. Eight of the Jays' 13 meets are scheduled for foreign courts.

At Lycoming Thursday, the Smithmen were nipped by a 5-4 count after dropping the first four singles and one of the doubles.

Glenn Bucher and Milt Smith picked up victories in their singles matches. E-town wins in the doubles were earned by the duos of Gene Gordon and Dick Lantzy and Roy Erb and Bucher.

SWAMPED BY DUTCHMEN

Traveling to Annville Wednesday, the Jays were cut down by the Dutchmen by a 9-0 count. The Jays lost every match in straight sets except for the first, which Gene Gordon dropped to Howie Good, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2.

LOSE AT MILLERSVILLE

Singles victories by Dick Lantzy and Milt Smith and a doubles triumph by Lantzy and Gene Gordon were not enough to offset Millersville's power as the Jays dropped a 5½-3½ verdict at Mville prior to the Easter recess.

The Jays picked up one-half a point when Roy Erb and Glenn Bucher earned a draw in their doubles match.

DOWNED BY DICKINSON

Freshman Roy Erb was the only winner for E-town as the netmen took an 8-1 drubbing here at the hands of Dickinson in the season's opener.

Gene Gordon, Dick Lantzy, Lloyd Nyce, Milt Smith and Glenn Bucher all dropped singles matches.

With the beginning of the softball and badminton tournaments, the women's intramural program started on its last lap.

Linda Hollinger, badminton manager, reports that the first and second rounds of a double elimination tournament are under way, and should be completed by the end of next week.

Intramural softball got off to a good start with two games being played this week. Sue Wood, sport manager, reports that MAD (Memorial-Alpha Day) defeated New Dorm, 8-3, in the first game, and again defeated Fairview by a score of 16-4 in the second.

Carroll Hershey and Dale Good, newly appointed men's intramural chairmen, announced plans for men's intramural softball to be started next week. Team members were posted Thursday.

Gordon Named Capt.

Gene Gordon, junior from Norfolk, has been elected captain of the Blue Jay tennis squad for the 1960 season. Gordon was one of the few consistent winners for E-town in '59.

Jay Gals Take First Tennis Match in Win Over Millersville

The women's tennis team made a clean sweep Wednesday in their opening game at Millersville, winning the match, 7-0.

Linda Eshelman, playing number one, took both sets from McLain 6-3, 6-0. In the two spot Barbara Schlickemaier beat Keylor 6-3, 6-3.

Shirley Lantzy won over Berger 6-3, 6-4; Betty Markley over Langley 6-1, 6-2; and Pat Usinger over Kramer 6-2, 6-2.

In the first doubles Eshelman and Markley stood McLain and Keylor, beating the Mville duo 6-1, 6-2. Lantzy and Diane Corbin beat Brown and Bloom in the second doubles 6-0, 1-6, 6-1.

Miss Risser, commenting on the first match of the season, said, "I was very pleased with our performance. I wouldn't call the match a pushover, for Millersville had some fairly strong players."

The next match will be Tuesday, April 26, with Gettysburg on the home court.

Cross Country, initiated here in 1956, is the youngest intercollegiate sport in the College's program.

LOSE AT LVC

The Jays fell behind early at Lebanon Valley College Wednesday and never could come back as they dropped a 10-4 verdict to the Dutchmen.

Bob Geiger started and took the loss as his mates could muster only five hits, including a triple by Carroll Hershey and a double by Ken Fasick. John Sabbi and Gerry Cough finished the hurling chores.

ROUT F. & M.

Lefty Ray Diener fanned 14 and gave up only four scattered hits, all singles, as the Jays crushed Franklin and Marshall, 13-1, at Lancaster prior to the Easter recess.

Diener's mates staked him to a three-run lead in the third inning and broke the game wide open with a four-run outburst in the fifth. Bill Pensyl and Woody Kerkeslager each collected three hits to lead the E-town assault.

Lloyd Bortzfield and Shorty Archer each had two safeties. Carroll Hershey's third inning triple was the longest hit of the game.

TOPPLED BY TEMPLE

The Jays took their first loss at Temple April 8 as the Owls, defending MAC champs, wiped out a one-run lead with two-run clusters in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings to win, 6-1.

E-town's lone tally came in the fifth, when Bob Geiger rode home on Bob Teufel's clutch single. Geiger started and took the loss. John Sabbi hurled the final three frames.

Temple took the lead with two runs on an error, passed ball, single, sacrifice fly and wild pitch in the fifth.

PUMMEL PMC

Firstbaseman Lloyd Bortzfield's two-run homer in the first inning of the opening game launched the Jays on a 13-hit assault that buried Pennsylvania Military College, 15-0, here two weeks ago.

Bob Geiger allowed two hits during his five-inning mound stint. Freshman Ray Diener finished up by permitting only one hit. No PMC runner got beyond second base as the Herrmen salted away the game with a 6-run flurry in the fifth.

Leftfielder Ken Fasick rapped out three singles in four trips to lead the E-town attack.

DIENER FANS 30 IN 2 GAMES

Lycoming Clipped, 4-0, For Third Jay Victory

Winners in three of their first five outings, the Blue Jay baseball squad will turn their sights on Juniata here this afternoon in their first home game after four straight encounters on foreign diamonds.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

Lanky Don Smith, who apparently, isn't content to only coach basketball for the Blue Jays during the regular season, is thinking about a coaching job he's been offered for this summer in Puerto Rico.

Smith has been asked to take over the reigns of the Arecibo club in the eight-team Puerto Rican summer league. The league champion will go on to represent that country in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome.

"I still can't be sure whether or not I want the job," Smith mused earlier this week.

"It wouldn't conflict with my work here, but there are several factors that have caused me to think twice about the offer," he added.

Arecibo won the league title last year. However, reports indicate that four key members of the squad were traded away.

Smith related that the league has tremendous support in Puerto Rico, where basketball receives as much notoriety as baseball does in the U.S.

"People down there get pretty emotional about the games," Smith smiled.

Early statistics from the Middle Atlantic Baseball Conference give prominent mention to several members of Ira Herr's Blue Jays.

For example, three Jays are listed among the top 12 hitters in the loop's Northern Division. They are Ken Fasick, Bill Pensyl and Shorty Archer. Lefty Ray Diener and Righthander Bob Geiger rank among the top hurlers when considering innings pitched, walks, strikeouts and earned-run averages.

Team-wise, E-town was sporting a .298 batting average, tops among those reported in the Northern Division. The Jays are among the leaders in the division standings.

Norm Van Brocklin, speaker for next Thursday's Varsity E Dinner, has quite a record as a quarterback in the National Football League. A press release on his performance reads as follows:

"Van has gained more than 12 miles in 11 years of flinging the prolate spheroid, hitting for 149 touchdowns. Three times he led the league in passing and finished second on two other occasions. Dutch has completed 1,400 passes in 2,611 attempts for an amazing .536 percentage in his pro career."

Not bad. But what's a "prolate spheroid?"

Sylvia Hixson to Study Year Under Student Exchange Plan

Sylvia Hixson, sophomore education major from Quakertown, will see a young dream achieve fruition this summer as she begins a year's study in Germany under a student-exchange program sponsored in part by the Campus Chest here.

Miss Hixson has been selected to go to Germany while a student from that country spends next year on the Elizabethtown campus. Tuition for students involved in the program will be waived by the cooperating colleges. Other expenses will be borne by the students with help from Campus Chest funds.

Commenting on her award, Miss Hixson called it "a chance that comes once in a lifetime, a great honor."

"I think it's a wonderful way to promote better relations with other countries," she added.

The actual exchange program was coordinated by the Brethren Service Commission in New Windsor, Md.

The exchange program is sponsored on the campus by the College Christian Association and the Student Senate. The officers of those organizations selected Miss Hixson from among the six local applicants, all of whom were termed "worthy" by ECCA president Charles Denlinger.

Denlinger indicated that a broader Campus Chest program to further implement the exchange program will be conducted here next year.

Seminary Head Baccalaureate Speaker May 28

Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon for the Class of '60, May 29, in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

Commencement exercises will be held the following day either in the campus dell or the Alumni Auditorium, depending upon weather conditions, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced. The speaker will be Ezra Taft Benson, U. S. secretary of Agriculture.

Dr. Baughman's topic will be "Ways and the Way."

A native of Everett, Dr. Baughman took his A.B. degree at Gettysburg College in 1910. He earned his B.D. degree at Gettysburg Seminary three years later. He holds honorary doctorates from Gettysburg and Muhlenberg colleges.

Following his graduation, he went into the ministry to serve churches at Keyser, W. Va., Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia until 1944. He began teaching at Gettysburg Seminary in 1941 and was named president of the institution in September, 1951.

Dr. Baughman is the author of three religious publications: The Minor Prophets and Modern Problems, Jeremiah for Today and Preaching from the Prophecy.

He has served on a number of Lutheran Church boards, including the Executive Board of the United Lutheran Church in America. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

ETOWNIAN Earns 1st Class Rank

The ETOWNIAN has received a First-Class rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for issues published during the first semester of the 1959-'60 academic year.

ACP rates comparable college newspapers (based on frequency of issue and school enrollment) on all aspects of publication, including writing, make-up, photography and general content.

The ETOWNIAN was ranked high for its editorials, news coverage, sports coverage and headline structure.

All-College Picnic At Hershey May 17

The Annual All-College Picnic will be held Tuesday, May 17, at Hershey Park. Afternoon classes for that day will be dismissed after 1:00 p. m., Dean Roy McAuley announced this week.

The museum, chocolate factory and amusements will be open for student enjoyment. Those students wanting to visit the museum are urged to sign up in the Student Activities Office before the picnic. The group will then be admitted free of charge.

Also available for student use will be the baseball diamond and two tennis courts.

Dean Vera Hackman stated "the Student Senate will furnish a certain amount of tickets for each student to be used for the amusements."

"Those who are able to furnish transportation to the park are urged to make their car available for other students," she added.

A picnic supper will be served at 5:30 p. m. The freshman class will present a variety show in the band shell at 7:30 p. m. to end the festivities.

ACHIEVEMENT RECOGNIZED

Five Seniors to Graduate Cum Laude

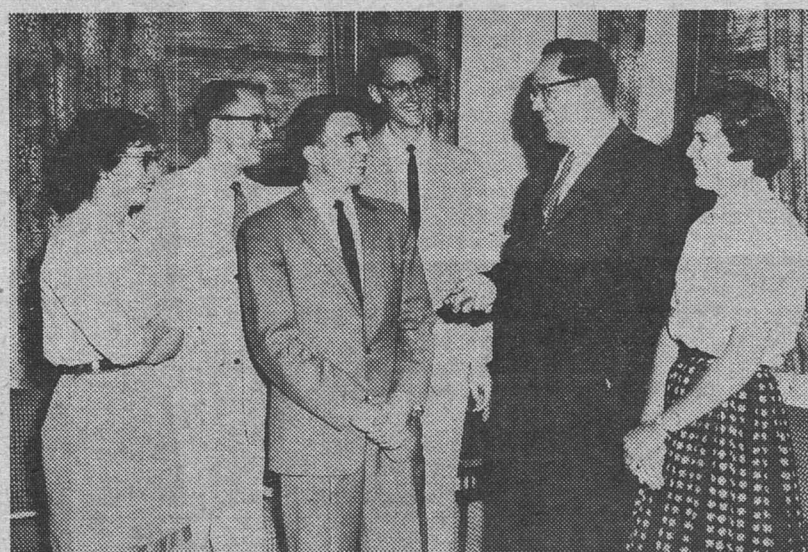

Five seniors, two women and three men, will be graduated with cum laude honors at the May 30th commencement exercises. In order of scholastic standing, they are Samuel Brubaker, William L. Adams, Barbara Ulmer, M. Louise Horning and Frederick Zimmerman.

Three of these honor graduates are candidates for the A. B. in Liberal Arts degree. The others will receive B. S. in Science degrees.

To merit a cum laude distinction a student must have a 3.5 to 3.75 grade-point average for his or her four years of college work.

One of the Bachelor of Science degrees will be conferred upon Sam Brubaker, a biology major from Elizabethtown. He is active in the youth work of his church and will continue his studies at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine next year.

Medicine is also the vocation of the second recipient of a B. S. in Science degree, Bill Adams, of Millersburg, who majored in chemistry and will pursue graduate studies at Temple University.

Barbara Ulmer, Middletown, has majored in social studies in working toward her A. B. in Liberal Arts degree. She plans to teach English and German at the Middletown High School.

Louise Horning, of Rheems, will also use her Liberal Arts degree as a teacher. She has a position with the Elizabethtown Area High School. She was on the hockey team here for two years. A major in political sci-

Carol Beard to Reign As Queen Here May 14

by POLLY GRUBB

With the staging of "Once Upon An Island," Senior Carol Beard, Lancaster, will become Elizabethtown's 14th annual Queen of May, Saturday, May 14, at 1:30 p. m. on the West Campus Dell.

Phyllis Moser, Thurmont, Maryland, 1959's Queen of May, will crown her excellency.

Honor 122 Students At Awards Assembly

by BETTY DORR

A total of 122 students crossed the stage of the Alumni Auditorium last week to receive special awards, varsity letters, and Activities E pins from Pres. A. C. Baugher during the annual honors assembly here.

Outstanding academic achievement was recognized by the presentation of awards by the Business, Mathematics and Science Departments.

Awards for proficiency in the business administration curriculum went to Margaret M. Rudacille, for excellence in shorthand; Norman R. Bitterman, for achievement in administration and finance, and William L. Kendrick for accounting.

Patricia Williams was honored for her work in senior chemistry. Other awards in chemistry, mathematics and physics went to Marjorie Fester, Virginia Colley and Francis X. Hurley, respectively.

Dorothy Hyde won the Paul Greiner Yearbook Award.

Athletic sweaters or blazers for those earning three varsity letters went to the following: Carol Bush, Carroll Kreider, Ruth Tice, Kay Jones, Helmut Baer, Glenn Bruckhart, Warner Cheeks, Robert Geiger, John Glazier, Carroll Hershey, Donald Hosler, Jerry Reber and Herbert Spannuth.

To the fanfare of the College Orchestra, directed by Mr. Noah Klauss and supplemented by members of the Elizabethtown Area High School Orchestra, Miss Beard will be escorted to her throne by David Correll, president of Student Senate.

Miss Joyce Wenger, Fredericksburg, is maid-of-honor. The remainder of the court is composed of two attendants from each class. They are: Seniors Sylvia Santee and Melanie Swingler; Juniors Elizabeth Forrer and Ruth Risers; Sophomores Joyce Taylor and Linda Wagner, and Freshmen Mollie Moerschbacher and Mary Zug.

Participating in the presentation of the tradition gifts will be class presidents Dale Good, '63, the footstool; Dale Kilhefner, '62, the scepter; Herbert Spannuth, '61 the globe, and William Kendrick, '60, the garland.

In keeping with the theme of the day the program for the queen and her court will be interpreted through four dances on the green: Dance of the Sea, Pearl Dance, Battle of the Pirates and the Sailors, and Choral May Pole Dance.

Other events of the afternoon include a tennis match at 1:30 and a baseball game at 2:30 with Gettysburg and Lebanon Valley, respectively, and the showing of slides on college life for the incoming freshmen and their parents from 3 to 4:30 in the Brinser Lecture Room.

A story hour for children will also be held from 3:00 to 4:00 in rooms 184 and 188, Gible Science Hall. Members of Mrs. Virginia Fisher's Child Literature class will conduct the hour.

The Queen's Tea for the court, their parents and friends will be poured at 3:30 in the Tea Room of the New Women's Residence. On center campus the Women's Auxiliary Punch Hour will be held from 3:00 to 4:30.

A photography and art exhibit by students and faculty will be open from 2:30 to 7:30 in the library.

Following the 5:30 to 7:00 fellowship cafeteria supper, student organists Barbara Dissinger, Sylvia Hixson, Carol Kruger, Joan Leatherman, Judy Nesbit and Sondra Prosser will offer a recital at 6:30 in Rider Memorial Chapel.

Presentation of the junior class-sponsored "Call Me Madam" in the Alumni Auditorium at 8 p. m. will close the day's activities.

Yearbook Delivery Set for Next Week

The CONESTOGAN will be delivered on campus next week, according to a report from the printer. The target date for distribution to students is Monday, May 16, Editor Dottie Hyde announced.

If weather conditions permit, the yearbook will be distributed on the campus adjacent to Alpha Hall. If the weather does not cooperate, the Alpha Living Room will be used as the distribution point.

As we see it... May Day Activities Here Progress With College

Elizabethtown College's 14th annual May Day festivities will be held Saturday, May 14. In a way, this program can be seen as a reflection of the growth of the College as a whole.

Just as the College itself has progressed in enrollment, number of buildings and other facilities, so has our annual May Day program grown from a few well-chosen events to a day full of well-planned activities ranging from the traditional crowning of the Queen to the entertaining of the incoming freshmen to the full-scale musical production in the evening.

All of these events point toward a changing campus keeping up with a changing world. For it is inevitable that our College should continue to progress as it has in the last 60 years.

Just a Union Card?

The following was printed in the Daily Texan, campus newspaper at the University of Texas:

"Discussion on the merits of research and published works as bases for professorial advancement has worn itself down to a new topic: The role of the Ph.D. degree in college teaching.

"Has the Ph.D. become little more than the union card of the American academic profession? Is the obtaining of that degree merely a questionable selection process?

"Liberal education has been almost killed by the vogue for research, and by the growth of the great graduate schools which brought it about.

"For a person who intends to devote himself to pure research the Ph.D. may be valuable, but it may be perfectly irrelevant for someone who wants to teach undergraduates.

"The Ph.D. does not, and cannot, test teaching ability—it tests aptitude for scholarship.

"We conclude that some professors can and should put into their courses the energy which others have expended on dissertations and 'publications.' The teacher—on the undergraduate level, at least—is as important as the scholar."

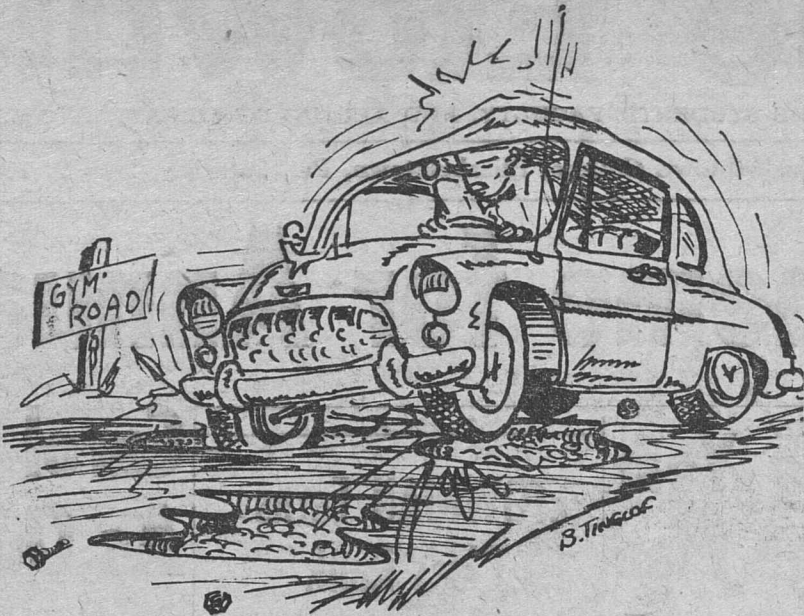

Ah, Spring...

Spring brings flowers, love, baseball, due dates on term reports and finals, in that order.

Thoughts of studying in a hot stuffy room bring shudders to most students. Tennis courts, walks and sun bathing beckon as books are left to gather dust.

Exam studying this spring will take on a new innovation as collegians balance books precariously so as not to block the sun's rays as they bask in the sun. Heads will bob up to cheer as a home-run is made at a ball game and then focus back on the books as the next batter comes up.

Where there's a will there's a way, and students will find a way to combine spring and finals.

"You'd think for six bucks a year they'd tell the borough about this road!!!!"

Letters to Editor

Editor, ETOWNIAN:

The other day I was asked by a professor in the classroom a question that was completely irrelevant to the classroom discussion and yet one of great significance to me. "While these are troubles in Korea (which is the author's mother country), and your fellow students in Korea are fighting against injustice, what are you doing here now, Mr. Hahm? You seem so complacent here, and you provoke me by your own inactivity."

It was such a startling statement that I could not speak for a few minutes. I knew well that it was merely a hasty opinion after hearing scattered bits of the news from the radio or the newspaper without much knowledge of the situation.

I was both deeply impressed and provoked by the statement. I was impressed by the genuine concern for my country. And yet, I was provoked because I was given unrequested advice urging action by a casual observer. I can be inactive here, but I know I can do certain things here, too.

Above all, what provoked me most was that the professor did not seem to realize the agony within me, the agony of Brutus. It was the agony of choice, the decision between a man so dear to us and the republic. The president, Dr. Syngman Rhee and the Republic of Korea.

To make a decision is difficult even with a thorough knowledge of the situation concerned. From my limited knowledge, the situation appears thus.

It started with the March 15 Presidential election in Korea. Dr. Syngman Rhee was elected unopposed, and his running mate, Mr. Lee Ki-Poong was also elected over Dr. John M. Chang from the opposing party. The result aroused doubt as to the validity of the voting. The people began to be convinced that the election was a fraud.

Starting with the student demonstration and the brutal shots of the police, it turned into a general uprising of the students all over South Korea. The students demanded: 1. Rhee step down. 2. Resignation of the vice-president-elect. 3. New election.

In Seoul, the rioters ransacked and burned the house of Lee, who was the main target of the attack. The situation reached its climax when the vice-presidential family committed a mass suicide in the White House. It was a shock to everybody. But it symbolizes the Oriental tradition of what a proud Korean should do in disgrace and dishonor.

Shortly thereafter, the first two demands were realized. A new cabinet was formed immediately, headed by the acting president, Huh Chung. But the students are now demanding an immediate new election.

Paradoxically, the students chanted, "Long live our president, grandfather, friend and patriot!" as Rhee drove through the streets after his resignation.

The prospect of the immediate future of Korea is hard to predict. But we know this. The Korean people are always ready to stand and fight for an ideal, the true democracy just as the Americans in the Revolt of 1776.

As the Philadelphia Inquirer said, "Korea is the fountainhead of the 20th century renaissance of Democracy."

Sung Ho Hahm.

Editor, ETOWNIAN:

We, the undersigned, wish to respectfully call the attention of the Board and the Administration to a series of events which we regard as being detrimental to the College. We refer to what seems to be an exodus of capable instructors from this institution.

This situation has caused, and is now causing, a considerable loss of morale on the part of the students. We are genuinely concerned about the loss of prestige suffered by the College, and are apprehensive about the future losses that may be incurred if the situation is not rectified.

Therefore, we are taking this opportunity to express our concern. We hope that the Board and the Administration will take appropriate action.

Campus Catch-All

The campus chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management (SAM) took a field trip through the Armstrong Cork Company plant in Lancaster yesterday.

Members of the Journalism Class toured the new plant of the Lebanon Daily News recently.

The Science Club recently elected officers for next year. They are Lee Conner, president; Joyce Miller, vice-president, and Brenda Craddock, secretary-treasurer.

Elections were also held in the Class of 1961. Joe Wagenseller will head the future seniors. Lonny Thomas is vice-president, Barbara Jones, secretary, and Sandra Lutz, treasurer.

In the April 26 meeting of the Student Senate committee heads for 1960-61 were announced by President Dave Correll.

They are Intra-mural Committee, Dale Good and Carroll Hershey; Rudder Committee, Elsie Woodward; Social Committee, George Lott; Chapel Committee, Joe Wagenseller; Public Relations Committee, Evelyn Strauss, and Committee on Career Day, Galen Young and Joe Wagenseller. The Student Exchange Committee will be headed by Ken Lease; Radio Committee, Paul Dick; Initiation Committee, Ken Lease and Dale Good; Food Services Committee, Evelyn Strauss; Parking Committee, Galen Young, and the position is not filled for the Special Events Committee.

New ECCA officers for the 1960-61 year are: Charles Denlinger, president; Wilbur Gible, vice-president; Louise Miller, secretary, and Harry Bell, treasurer.

The Sock and Buskin Club will hold tryouts for the Giraudoux comedy "The Mad Woman of Chaliott" Wednesday, May 11, after chapel and Friday, May 13, at 12:30 in the college cafeteria. The production will be given Homecoming Day next year.

Sock and Buskin officers for next year are: president, Robin Bonier; vice-president, Donald Zellner; secretary, Sandra Reifsteck; treasurer, Elizabeth Peacock, and historian, Helen Brubaker.

Need for College Teachers Acute; Offer Study Aid

The shortage of qualified teachers in American colleges and universities is "one of the most critical problems facing higher education today," according to Dean Roy McAuley. He reported that an estimated 30,000 new college teachers will be needed each year for the next decade.

A number of foundations and universities are seeking to alleviate the situation by offering assistantships and fellowships to qualified students who are considering a college teaching career.

The Danforth Foundation and The Woodrow Wilson Foundation offer special encouragement to qualified individuals, Dr. McAuley added.

Any student interested in becoming a college teacher is urged to contact his advisor and/or Dean McAuley.

Social Committee Looking to '60-'61

The Student Senate Social Committee for 1960-61 under the leadership of Chairman George Lott is preparing next year's social calendar.

The committee, meeting with advisers Ed Crill and Vera Hackman, are searching for new bands, ballrooms and novel ideas. The group hopes to present an active balanced social program for the coming year.

Those serving on the committee are: Douglas Cromer, Virginia Patton, Ruth Risser, Ross Ricketts, Lynn Saylor, Judy Nesbitt, Sandra MacLaughlin, Linda Simpkins, Robin Bonier, Russell Showers, Dave Moyer, Judy Good, Naomi Lucabaugh, Art Spease, Marge Ferster and Diane Corbin.

Alumnus Becomes VP For Armstrong Cork

I. Wayne Keller, a graduate of Elizabethtown College and a member of the College's Board of Trustees, has been elected a vice president of the Armstrong Cork Company.

Dr. Keller joined Armstrong following his graduation from Elizabethtown in 1930. Eight years later he was named chief accountant. He became assistant controller in 1943 and controller in 1953.

The College granted him an honorary doctorate in 1954.

The ETOWNIAN succeeded "Our College Times" as the campus newspaper in 1933.

DEBIT JUNK, CREDIT GOOD MUSIC

Accounting Prof. Sunday Jazzman

Prof. Edgar Bitting, assistant professor of business here and for ten years a flutist with the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra, has turned his musical attentions to harmonies on the lighter side he calls "jazz that's on the comfortable side of the livin' end."

"It's not this way out, ultra modern stuff usually associated with the beatniks," he explained. "Our music is listenable."

It all started about two years ago, when Prof. Bitting joined a group of jazz musicians from the Harrisburg-York-Lancaster area. Now the group, which numbers an even dozen, plays monthly concerts in Harrisburg. The last one of the current schedule is tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the Harrisburg Jewish Community Center.

"This exposure to jazz is a new experience for a square like me," Bitting smiled. "Everyone else in the group plays the stuff regularly, but I get at it only once or twice each month."

"The kind of music we play is rough to pick out, if you're not used to it. You don't play the notes as you see them. You've got to develop a kind of feel for the stuff."

Prof. Bitting went on to explain that the group lands an off-beat jazz treatment to such tunes as "September Song," "It's Alright With Me," and "Trolley Song." Some original compositions by the group leader, Robert Aulenbach, Harrisburg, are also part of the repertoire.

The combo is composed of three flutes, two clarinets, bassoon, french horn, trumpet, trombone, piano, bass and drums.

Sounds like a swingin' outfit.

Harrisburg Newsman Activities E Speaker

James R. Doran, managing editor of the Harrisburg Patriot-News, said that a determined dedication to overtake the United States is the chief characteristic of the Russian people. He was the principal speaker for last week's Activities E Awards Dinner at Hostetter's Restaurant, Mt. Joy.

Doran was one of a group of area people who toured the Soviet Union last summer. An estimated 110 students and faculty members attended the dinner, which was given in recognition of students taking part in the College's extra-mural programs.

Harold J. Eager, city editor of the Lancaster Intelligencer-Journal, served as toastmaster.

Science Students Attend Conference

Fifteen science students from the College spent a weekend in New York City recently attending the Eastern States Science Conference. They were accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. Hubert Custer.

Funds for the trip were provided by S. T. Musser, Mountville, who gave a financial contribution to the College to be used for field trips of scientific interest.

The students heard nationally known scientists and toured points of technical interest.

Jays at 6-5 with Defeat By Ursinus; Juniata Today

A come-from-behind effort went for naught Thursday as the Blue Jay baseball squad dropped a 12-inning decision to visiting Ursinus, 6-5.

A homerun by the visitors' Ed Savastio in the top of the 12th and some sparkling defensive work in the bottom half of the frame lowered the boom on Ira Herr's crew. The Jays loaded the bases with one out in their half of the final inning to set the stage for Bob Deitrich, who lined what appeared to be a sure hit to left.

But Ursinus' Ted Hershner, charging fast, grabbed the ball and doubled Shorty Archer off second to end the game. Right-hander Ken Fasick took the pitching loss.

The Jays, now six up and five down, are at Juniata today. They meet Susquehanna here Monday.

Freshman lefthander Ray Diener continued his fine mound work as he upped his record to four wins against one loss. He has 79 strikeouts in 43 innings to date.

DRUB DICKINSON

Lefty Ray Diener set a Middle Atlantic Conference strikeout record for a single game by fanning 19 as the Jays set down the visiting Red Devils from Dickinson, 10-0, Tuesday.

Diener, never in trouble, allowed only one hit, a bloop single in the seventh inning. He walked three.

Offensively, Catcher Bill Pensyl collected four hits, including a triple and double, to spark the 16-hit E-town assault. Red Bortzfield and Woody Kerkelager each had three safeties.

BLANK DREXEL

Ken Fasick moved in from the outfield to the mound last Saturday and turned back the Drexel Dragons, 7-0, here. Fasick struck out seven, walked four, and allowed four hits.

Carroll Hershey and Shorty Archer each picked up two hits to lead the Jays' attack, which staked Fasick to a four-run lead after three innings.

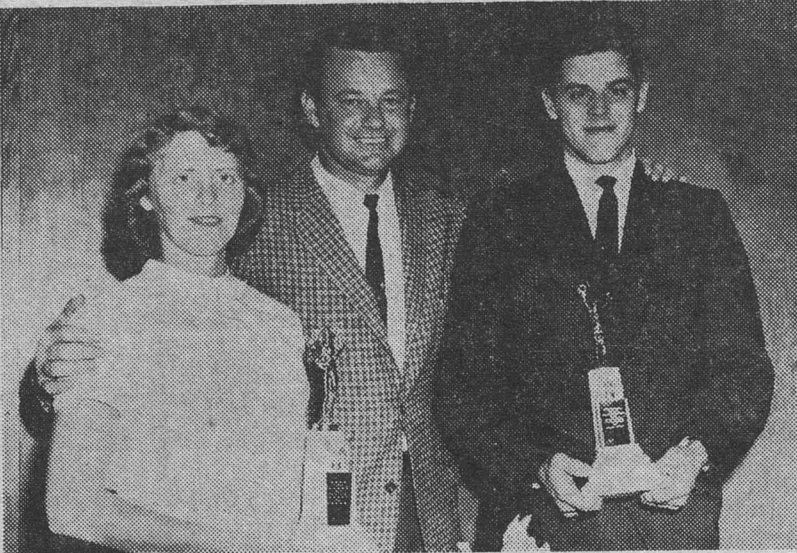

WHIPPED AT WASHINGTON

Traveling to Chestertown, Md., last week, the Jays absorbed a 13-5 beating at the hands of the Washington College Sho'men.

Bob Geiger started for the Jays and took the loss. John Sabbi mopped up on the mound. Eight Washington runs in the third inning sealed the issue as far as the Jays were concerned.

FALTER AT G-BURG

Unable to sustain a four-run lead picked up in the first inning at Gettysburg last week, the Jays took their third defeat of the campaign, 7-4.

TOP SENIOR ATHLETES — Philadelphia Eagles' Norm Van Brocklin (center) poses with Outstanding Senior Athletes Carroll Kreider (left) and Bill Pensyl.

Mrs. Kreider, Pensyl, Kendig Honored at Varsity E Banquet

Three senior athletes were honored during the annual Varsity E Awards Dinner last week at Hostetter's Restaurant, Mt. Joy.

Carroll Kreider and Bill Pensyl were named the Outstanding Female and Male Athletes for the year. Each received a trophy from Coach Don Smith, Varsity E Club Advisor.

Mrs. Kreider won her recognition for her performance in women's basketball and cheerleading during her four years here.

Pensyl, one of the top basketball players ever to represent the College, tallied 1,372 points during his four-year court career. He is also catcher on the baseball squad.

Bill Kendig was awarded the Hollinger Memorial Trophy, which was initiated this year in memory of John Hollinger, a member of the Class of '58 and a topflight wrestler who died in an airliner crash over the Atlantic shortly after graduation. The award was presented by Fred Zimmerman, Varsity E Club president.

Norm Van Brocklin, quarterback for the Philadelphia Eagles, spoke on his experiences in professional football during his after-dinner address. Admissions Director Paul Greene was the toastmaster.

Members of the College coaching staff reviewed their seasons and commented on the future prospects.

Ray Diener absorbed the loss although striking out 12 men enroute. Five runs in the fourth gave the Bullets the win. The Jays' attack was limited to five hits, all singles.

JOLT JUNIATA

Rally-stopping relief hurling by Ray Diener proved the key as the Jays came from behind with four eighth-inning runs to win, 5-2, here two weeks ago over Juniata.

Diener struck out seven over the last three frames. Lloyd Bortzfield's three hits sparked the E-Town offense. Ken Barret, Bill Pensyl, and Woody Kerkelager each had two safeties.

Netmen Now 2-6 After Albright, D-son Defeats

After splitting their last four engagements, the Blue Jay tennis team is still looking anxiously toward that .500 mark, which seems to be slipping further away as the campaign wears on.

Coach Don Smith's netmen, who face Juniata at Huntingdon today, have a seasonal record of two victories against six defeats.

The Jays are at Dickinson Tuesday and home next Saturday for a May Day meeting with Gettysburg.

SHUTOUT BY D-SON

A strong Dickinson squad whitewashed the Jays here Tuesday by a 9-0 count. The Red Devils took seven of the nine matches in straight sets. Only Milt Smith in the singles and John Arndt and Francis Hurley in the doubles extended their opponents to three sets.

UPEND URSINUS

Victories in four singles matches paved the way as the Jays nipped Ursinus at Collegeville, 5-4, last week. Captain Gene Gordon, Dick Lantzy, Glenn Bucher, and Milt Smith turned in wins in the singles.

Smith and Nyce then teamed up to give the Jays their vital victory in the doubles.

CLIP JUNIATA

The Jay netmen picked up their first victory of the season two weeks ago by edging visiting Juniata, 5-4.

Gene Gordon, Roy Erb, and Milt Smith recorded singles victories. In the doubles, E-Town wins were earned by Gordon and Lantzy and Smith and Nyce.

Jaygals Boost Tennis Record to 3-1 With Triumphs Over Wilson and G-Burg

by SANDY McLAUGHLIN

The women's tennis team crushed Wilson College Thursday 6-1 to bring the season record to three wins and one loss.

Expecting a tougher match Miss Risser said, "each girl played very well and won when it counted."

Linda Eshelman, playing number one, lost to Miss Vuskalus 6-2, 6-3.

On the winning side for E-town: Schlickenmaier over Miss Peters 7-5, 4-6, 6-1; Shirley Lantzy beat Miss Gall 6-1, 2-6, 6-1; Betty Markley won over Miss Addison 6-3, 8-6, and Pat Usinger over Miss Roper 6-2, 6-1.

In the doubles Usinger and Diane Corbin took Misses Cronenberg and Lockwood 6-0, 4-6, 6-0. Corbin and Schlickenmaier in the second doubles beat Misses Babcock and Hagenauer 6-0, 6-0 to finish out the winning day.

WIN AT GETTYSBURG

Traveling to Gettysburg Tuesday afternoon the Jay Gals won

Voice --- from the Sidelines

The word is out that Dr. Robert Byerly will return next year as coach of the Blue Jay wrestling team. Dr. Byerly, head of the Bible Department, coached the Jay grapplers for several years before the press of administrative and classroom duties forced him to give up the job.

Now, with more faculty in the Bible Department, he is free to succeed Coach Dick Hershey, who announced his resignation during the recent Varsity E Awards Dinner.

Hershey's parting words included the statement that the Jay wrestling team is "ready to jell." With that bit of optimism and the report that more adequate practice facilities will be provided for the squad in the Barracks, all of us can look forward with anticipation and watch as Doc Byerly tries to get off the spot.

Incidentally, the Varsity E Club's decision to award a John Hollinger Memorial Trophy was a commendable move, as far as we are concerned. Hollinger, perhaps the best grappler ever produced here, should be remembered. Let's hope the award is continued.

We mentioned earlier that the major league scouts would very likely pay a great deal of attention to the Blue Jay baseball squad. Coach Ira Herr remarked that there were no less than nine on hand for one recent game here. Maybe we should charge admission.

Linda Eshelman, No. 1 for E-town, was defeated by Miss Seewagon of G-burg, 7-5, 6-1, while Barbara Schlickenmaier trounced Miss Charles, 6-3, 6-2. Shirley Lantzy won over Miss Hannold, 6-8, 6-4, 6-2; Betty Markley won over Miss Hall, 6-3, 6-2; and Patricia Usinger won over Miss Mann, 7-5, 6-0, for the other singles victories for E-town.

In the doubles matches, Diane Corbin and Bette Holman defeated B-burg's Miss Beer and Miss Hall, 6-1, 6-4, while Naomi Lucabaugh and Molly Moerschbacher lost to Miss Mack and Miss Baumgardner, 6-4, 6-1.

Tuesday also saw two teams complete a match which was begun last Tuesday, April 26, on the E-town court. Gettysburg took the victory for that match, 4½-2½.

Miss Risser's group will meet Millersville at a return match on the home courts, Tuesday, May 10.

Plan Three Honor Houses For Junior, Senior Coeds

by NANCY FEO

"On your honor, college women."

That's exactly what the senior and some of the junior women will be saying to each other next year.

Since the college is rapidly expanding, the number of women boarding students must be limited. This does not worry the seniors, however. The administration has provided three honor residences in which to house them.

Miss Vera Hackman, dean of women, is in the midst of filling these houses.

Very enthusiastically she says, "Honor houses for upperclassmen will further two purposes. One, they will provide seniors and some juniors with greater freedom, and two, they will insure larger and more cohesive living groups for freshmen in dormitories where some upperclassmen also reside."

The houses are The Brick House, which is the residence on College Avenue, directly opposite the main entrance; Cedar Hall, now a men's dormitory located on Mount Joy Street, and West Hall also occupied by men this year.

Brick and Cedar halls will be strictly senior honor houses, while West Hall will open its doors to juniors.

Each house will be administered by two of the residents. Chosen to fill these positions are: Janice Ferster, head of The Brick House, with Lynne Roudabush as assistant; Ruth Risser, head of Cedar Hall, with Virginia Patton as assistant, and Ruth Ann Geiselman and Evelyn Strauss, who will jointly administer West Hall.

This is not really an innovation at E-town. For the past five or six years, upperclass women have had complete charge of smaller dormitories housing freshmen.

Yearbook Dedicated To Dr. Stambaugh

The 1960 CONESTOGAN, distributed on campus earlier this week, is dedicated to Dr. Oscar F. Stambaugh, chairman of the Chemistry Department since 1946.

In making the dedication, the student editorial board of the yearbook referred to Dr. Stambaugh as a "respected teacher, trusted counselor, Christian gentleman." The staff cited his "teaching success" and "the quality of students he has trained in the classroom and laboratory."

The dedication reads in part: "Originally, he has blended a trained intellect, an orderly and logical system of thought, and an understanding and appreciation of youth in molding his earthy approach to the diverse challenges of life's daily routine."

Summer Sessions To Present Wide Course Program

by VIRGINIA WILLS

Students may choose from the broadest complement of courses ever offered in Elizabethtown College's summer school program, according to Dr. Roy McAuley, dean.

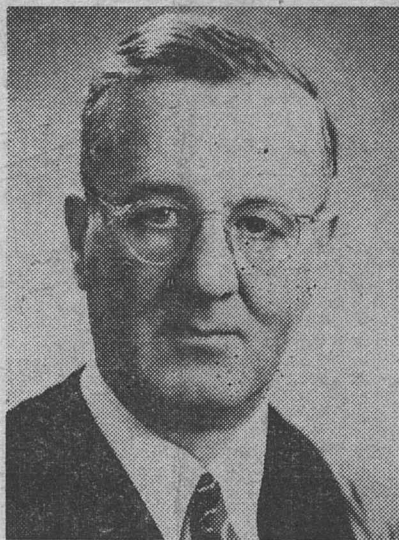

For the first time, freshman courses will be offered to those desiring to make them up, or to ambitious beginning freshmen. The program will include, as it has for the past two years, courses for high school students who have completed their junior year.

Under this program, the high school students may enroll for the courses and receive college credit upon proof of their graduation from high school. Dr. McAuley noted that this program has been very successful in the past.

Those students interested in a particular course should notify the dean of their preference, as courses in which no interest is displayed will be dropped from the curricula. Courses will also be added if sufficient interest is indicated.

The tuition fees for summer study will be $22.50 per semester hour. Charges for two three-hour courses in one session will be $120. Residence and dining facilities will be available on Campus for $22.50 per week or $100 for a five-week session.

Course offering includes studies in English, sociology, music, education, business administration, history, Bible, science, and mathematics. In addition, the College will again sponsor a two-week workshop in special education.

Choir to Make TV Debut Sat., June 11; Records Being Sold

The College choir will make its television debut Saturday, June 11, on WGAL-TV; Lancaster, from 1-1:30 p. m.

With a combination of sacred and secular numbers, the choir will present a well-balanced program under the direction of Prof. Nevin W. Fisher.

The choir has recently recorded its repertoire and is having records manufactured by the Century Record Company of Saugus, California, using the Westinghouse recording technique. These are 12-inch, 33 1/3 r.p.m. long-playing records, with music on both sides, which will be sold at cost for $2 each.

Students who wish to obtain recordings may do so by contacting Nancy Baugher, choir secretary.

Student Prize Winners Named

Six students will receive academic prizes during the graduation exercises here May 30, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced today.

The winners and their prizes: John S. Hench, Loysville, the Royer Bible Prize; Kenneth M. Dieffenbach, Womelsdorf, the Weaver Biology Prize; William L. Adams, Millersburg, the Butterbaugh Chemistry Prize; Stanley R. Neyer, Tower City, the Kettering Accounting Prize; Joyce L. Miller, Lancaster, the Raffensperger Journalism Prize; and Frederick J. Zimmerman, Fredericksburg, the Weaver-Zeigler Christian Leadership Prize.

All but Miss Miller, a junior, are members of the graduating class.

Library Asks Books Returned, Dues Paid

The Zug Memorial Library, in an attempt to clear its files of overdue book charges and unpaid fines before the end of the term, has asked that all students attend to their obligations immediately.

Mrs. Charles Hahter, librarian, said, "In connection with this effort, no student who is still on the delinquent list by the end of the examination period will receive his grades until he has cleared his library record."

SAM Honors Dr. Gray

The campus chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management (SAM) has presented an honorary life membership to Dr. Albert Gray Jr., who was instrumental in organizing the group here last year.

Dr. Gray is leaving to accept a position at Baldwin-Wallace College in Ohio next fall.

Cabinet Member To Address 110 Graduates Here

The 58th annual spring Commencement exercises here May 30 will be highlighted by the presentation of degrees or certificates to 110 members of the graduating class, the awarding of three honorary degrees, and an address by Ezra Taft Benson, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

The graduation program will take place, weather permitting, in the dell area of the campus starting at 10 a. m. Should the weather prove unsuitable, the exercises will be moved to the Alumni Auditorium-Gymnasium.

Recipients of the honorary degrees are Secretary Benson, who will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree; John L. Tivney, president of the Harrisburg Center for Higher Education, honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree, and Mrs. Shirley Watkins Steinman, author from Lancaster, honorary Doctor of Letters degree.

All degrees will be conferred by President A. C. Baugher. Dean Roy McAuley will present the members of the graduating class their diplomas and then read the citation for Secretary Benson.

Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will read the citation for Mr. Tivney. Mrs. Steinman's citation will be read by Dr. Louise K. Kelly, chairman of the English Department.

The hoods for Secretary Benson, Mr. Tivney and Mrs. Steinman will be adjusted respectively by Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, of the Sociology Department; Dr. H. E. Raffensperger, of the Trustee Board, and Dr. Bessie Apgar, of the Biology Department.

The Baccalaureate service will take place Sunday (May 29) at 3 p. m. in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, adjacent to the campus. Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon, "Ways and the Way."

Alumni Day activities next Saturday include class reunions, a meeting of the Alumni Council, a baseball game, and the Alumni-Senior Dinner in the College Dining Hall. Dr. Ernest W. Lefever, Class of '42, an International Affairs Consultant for the Ford Foundation, will be the main speaker for the dinner. His address is entitled "Scholars and Politicians."

Music for both the Baccalaureate and Commencement programs will be provided by the College choir, directed by Prof. Nevin W. Fisher.

Faculty Women's Club Elects 1960-61 Officers

Officers for the 1960-61 academic year have been named by the Elizabethtown College Faculty Women's Club.

They are: Mrs. Paul Greene, president; Miss Betty Holsinger, vice-president; Mrs. Donald Vosburgh, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Ethel Heaton, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The organization, composed of women on the staff of the College and wives of faculty members, meets monthly during the school year.

THE YEARBOOK ARRIVES . . . Dottie Hyde, editor of 1960 CONESTOGAN, proudly reviews her year's efforts as yearbook is distributed to students under elm tree outside Alpha Hall Monday. Members of staff help as fair weather permitted rapid dispersion.

As we see it...

A Lifetime Before Us

We're in the midst of senior year, second semester final exams at last! Not that we have longed for the exams, but the meaning which is behind them—that of a bachelor degree and the beginning of our adult lives—is something we have looked forward to for four years.

College has meant a great deal to all of us; not only have we acquired knowledge and maturity which will be of necessity as we leave here, but we also have had fun (remember the cars in the dell and the discordant signs brought on campus). We've come a long way from dink-topped frosh!

Disappointments and achievements have both been ours during these four years, but they both were needed to help us find ourselves. Now, as we head for sundry vocations and locations, each of us hopes to contribute something of significance to society. It may not always be recognized, but it will help to establish us as a mature part of that society.

And so we say, it has been a fruitful four years. Now, let's hope for sunshine on May 30!

Was Trip Necessary?

The shooting down of an American plane over Soviet Russia on the eve of the summit conference should be considered from two prime viewpoints: (1) the military value of the flight and (2) the diplomatic consequences of the incident.

Militarily, the flight can be justified as an attempt to gain vital intelligence data. After all, what better time could the Reds find to launch a surprise attack than on the eve of a conference to ease international tensions?

Diplomatically, the incident gave Nikita Khrushchev a propaganda windfall that many observers insist weakens the U. S. position at the summit. Hence, it was a blunder of the first magnitude, these observers insist.

Which factor is strongest? Who can say without knowing all the facts involved in making the decision to send the plane aloft at such a strategic time?

Perhaps the most interesting thing to come out of the affair was the disclosure that similar flights over Communist territory have been a matter of routine for four years.

Mr. Khrushchev was loud and sarcastic in commenting on the fish he caught. But he said nothing about the ones that got away.

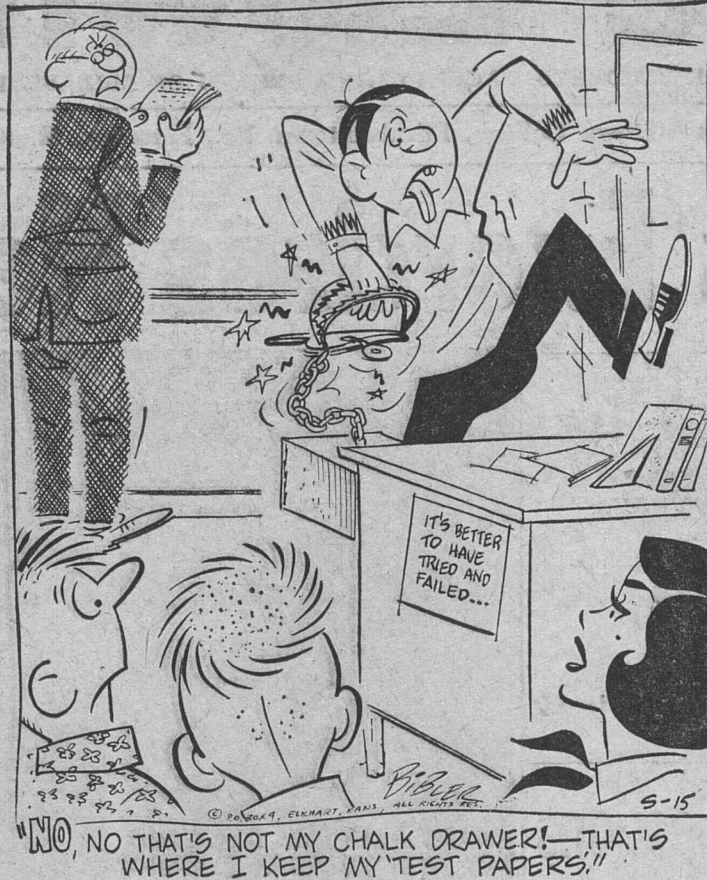

The Last of 18!

The close of another school year, the end of meeting deadlines, dummied ETOWNIAN pages and proof-reading. As Issue No. 18 goes to press the editorial staff of this paper wishes to express its appreciation and thanks to all those who took a hand in its publication throughout the year.

It has been a most wonderful and rewarding year of work and fellowship for the ETOWNIAN staff, and we thank all those who were a part of the finished products.

As this editor steps forward to other journalistic endeavors, she wishes the incoming "chief" and her staff a year full of success. It's a challenge, but it's well worth the effort!

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

ALSO BEATNIKS FOR RENT

Life Among the Moderns Includes Christmas Trees in March Plus Sauerkraut and Pickles

Among the many varied pieces of mail that filter into the College Public Relations Office is an off-beat tabloid known as the Village Voice, the "newspaper of Greenwich Village."

The paper's main course is a steady diet of reviews of literature, motion pictures, television and music plus various columns dealing with life among the moderns.

A recent issue carried the writings of one Bill Manville in his column entitled "Saloon Society."

Manville tells of his conversation with a frustrated husband whose wife, April, refuses to take down the Christmas tree despite the fact that March is already on the scene, man.

The groping breadwinner delved into the secrets of a successful marriage:

"Frankly, I don't like April. I love her, I'm excited about her, but I don't like her. Most people will tell you that it's more important to like than to love."

Then he bewailed the fates that made his wife bring him to the "Village" in the first place:

"I like the scene, you understand, but I never get used to it... I ought to be working in a bank, and April, she's got me taking bongo lessons, man."

A couple of pages deeper in the paper one encounters the observations of Mimi Sheraton in her column, "Dining Out." Sample:

"A trio was playing Gypsy, Rumanian and Jewish songs, waiters were rushing about serving big bowls of sauerkraut and pickles, trays of sour rye bread, and everyone seemed to be having a very good time."

The back page, under the heading "What's On," carries a listing of the various entertainment features currently available.

And down at the bottom of the page is an advertisement plugging the fact that "genuine beatniks (badly groomed but brilliant)" may be rented as lecturers or photography models by writing Box 490 in care of the Village Voice.

Khrushchev Appears To Be Machiavelli Of 20th Century

Nikita Khrushchev, the 20th century's answer to Machiavelli, should be a prime candidate for an academy award as a result of his feigned horror over the admission by the United States that the downed U-2 plane over Russia was on an espionage mission.

A master of political and diplomatic intrigue, Khrushchev is certainly aware of the broad extent of intelligence activities throughout the world, where faith among nations has been trampled in the rubble of broken treaties.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover described Soviet espionage as "a deadly efficient profession, skillfully directed from Moscow, with well-trained agents supplied with money, modern technical equipment, and experience."

Spying and counter-spying are facts of life, which must be faced, distasteful though they may be, in the grim struggle for survival in the nuclear era.

And let there be no mistaking of the fact that this is indeed a struggle for survival, whether we wish it or not.

Lenin made no bones about it. He said:

"As long as capitalism and socialism exist, we cannot live in peace: in the end, one or the other will triumph—a funeral dirge will be sung either over the Soviet Republic or over world capitalism."

Khrushchev's incredibly crude performance at the summit underscores Lenin's remarks.

MAY QUEEN, 1960 . . . Carol Beard stands before Women's Residence after being crowned queen of May Day last Saturday. Student program held in the dell was followed by various athletic events and exhibitions of faculty and student creative talents.

1300 Visit Campus For 14th May Day

With an estimated 1,300 students and parents looking on, Carol Beard, senior from Lancaster, was crowned Queen of May here last Saturday in the campus dell. The weather, threatening in the morning, cleared sufficiently to enable the ceremonies to be held outdoors.

A student-produced program of music and dancing followed the crowning. After the dell exercises, campus visitors had their choice of a showing of slides on College life, an exhibit of student and faculty art and photography, an organ recital, a baseball game, and a tennis match during the afternoon.

The Women's Auxiliary served during a punch hour at center campus. The evening was climaxed by the Junior Class production of the musical "Call Me Madam."

College Development Director Resigns

J. Albert Seldomridge, director of development at Elizabethtown College since April, 1958, has resigned his position to return to the field of business, according to Dr. A. C. Baugher, College president.

No announcement of a successor has been made by the College. Seldomridge, a 1952 graduate of the College, was a member of the sales staff of the Campbell Soup Company prior to his appointment as development director.

With the College, he coordinated all phases of the Ten-Year Development Program of the institution. His fund-raising efforts were designed to provide the necessary financial support for additional buildings and other needed campus facilities.

Two New Profs To Join Staff

Two new faculty members will join the staff of Elizabethtown College for the fall term, President A. C. Baugher announced today.

They are Ben B. Hess, Souderton, who will become an instructor in history, and David P. Willoughby, Cincinnati, who becomes an instructor in music. Both will fill new positions on the faculty.

They were added because of the rapidly expanding student enrollment, Pres. Baugher explained.

Hess is a graduate of Elizabethtown College (A.B., 1952, cum laude) and the Pennsylvania State University (M.A., 1953). He is currently pursuing further graduate work in history at the University of Pennsylvania.

Willoughby took undergraduate training at Elizabethtown College from 1951-'52. He is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College (B.S., 1955) and Miami University, Oxford, Ohio (M.E., 1959).

He has had experience as a choir director and as an arranger of instrumental music.

Mrs. Gertrude Meyer Retires from Faculty

Pres. A. C. Baugher has announced the retirement of Mrs. Gertrude Royer Meyer, instructor in music, from the faculty of Elizabethtown College.

An informal tea was given in her honor last Thursday.

Trustees to Meet

The Board of Trustees of the College will meet next Saturday, May 28, in the Brinser Lecture Hall for their annual spring session, Chairman Joseph W. Kettering announced.

A Master Campus Plan Will Be Presented.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

A post-season check of the Blue Jays' tennis score book indicates that Milt Smith turned in the best performance in singles competition over the campaign. Smith emerged victorious in seven matches while losing four. He was the only member of the squad to post a winning log.

Gene Gordon, who played in the number one slot for the Jays, had a 4-7 record in the singles. Dick Lantzy, Lloyd Nyce and Roy Erb notched 3-8 logs.

In doubles play, the combination of Gordon and Lantzy proved to be the Jays' most potent duo. They won six, lost five. The team of Nyce and Smith won three, lost four. These duos were the only ones to win more than one doubles engagement during the campaign.

Team-wise, the Jays won 12, lost 20, and tied one in singles. They were 22 up and 44 down in doubles.

While we're talking about tennis, let's pass along a word of congratulations to the Jaygals for their fine performance during the year. Coach Julia Risser and her squad won five of six meets.

* * *

Turning to baseball, with two games left on the schedule, the Jays have a team batting average of .282 through the first 14 games in Middle Atlantic competition. MAC opponents have a composite average of .200.

Top hitters for Ira Herr's nine are Bill Pensyl at .364, Red Bortzfield at .327, and Carroll Hershey and Ken Fasick at .313.

Among the pitchers, lefty Ray Diener is tops with four wins against one defeat. His earned-run average is a straight 1.00. In 52 innings on the mound, Diener has struckout 86, walked 36, and allowed only 21 hits.

Ken Fasick, a valuable asset both in the outfield and on the mound, has a 3-1 log in MAC play. In 24 innings he's struck out 11, walked 13, given up 14 hits, and compiled an ERA of only 1.8.

The Jays have done well this year. There's little cause to moan. But we like to think of how far we would have gone had Warner Cheeks not been injured early in the season and Bob Geiger had not come down with a sore arm.

Women's Tennis Team Defeats Dickinson Here; Close Season with 5-1 Record

The women's tennis team, under the coaching of Miss Julia Risser, earned a 4-3 victory over Dickinson College on the home courts Tuesday afternoon to bring their season to a close with a 5-1 record.

In the make-up game, originally scheduled for Thursday, May 12 but postponed because of rain, Linda Eshelman, No. 1 player for E-town, lost her singles match, 2-6, 3-6, to Miss Cross, while the other four singles matches were won by E-town.

Barbara Schlickemaier, No. 2, defeated Miss Morehouse, 7-5, 6-1; Shirley Lantzy, No. 3, trounced Miss Morris, 6-0, 6-1; Betty Markley won over Miss Walter, 6-0, 6-2; and the fifth singles was won by default.

Shirley and Naomi Lucabaugh, playing the first doubles match against Miss Cross and Miss Morehouse, lost 4-6 1-6, and Pat Usinger and Molly Moerschbacher lost the second doubles match to Dickinson's Miss Morris and Miss Walter, 4-6, 4-6.

In a match with Millersville Tuesday, May 10, on the E-town courts, the Jay Gals earned a 6-1 victory, with the second doubles match being the only loss.

Results of that match were: Linda over Miss McLain, 6-1, 6-2; Barbara over Miss Kaylor, 6-2, 6-2; Shirley over Miss Kramer, 6-1, 6-3; Pat over Miss Langley, 6-2, 6-3; Diane Corbin over Miss Berger, 7-5, 6-4; Linda and Betty Markley over Miss Keylor and Miss McLain, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; and Naomi and Bette Holman losing to Miss Langley and Miss Much, 5-7, 1-6.

Miss Risser, commenting on her team's performance, said the season turned out to be every bit as successful as she expected.

"We had a well-balanced team, and I was pleased with our brand of tennis and with the progress many of the girls made throughout the season," she commented.

The team will lose two players through graduation — Shirley Lantzy and Bette Holman—and one because of specialized training—Barbara Schlickemaier.

With six freshmen on the team this year, Coach Risser reported that the outlook for next year is promising.

The Cloverly Colts captured the intramural softball tournament with a 6-1 victory over runner-up West Hall.

Although the Cloverly Colts, named for a section of Harrisburg where some of them live, provided stiff competition in basketball and football, this is their first league championship.

Witmer Residence, under titles of Fraternity, Club 16, and the Bombs, produced the best all-around teams. They finished second in both football and basketball and were semi-finalists in the recent softball tourney.

New Residence intramural teams are leading in competition for the Women's Athletic Association intramural trophy. Mary Epply, WAA intramural chairman, announced present totals are New Residence 55, Fairview 35, MAD 20.

New Residence piled up points with first places in the volleyball, table tennis, bowling and softball contests. The mixed doubles badminton tournament is still under way with four rounds to be completed.

WINNING SEASON CERTAIN

Jays Take 3 of 4 Before Exam Break

Another winning season assured, the Blue Jay baseball squad took time out for the final examination period. The Herrmen return to action Friday at Albright and then conclude the season here against Scranton next Saturday, Alumni Day.

Netmen Defeat MSC and G-burg For 4-7 Year

Victories over Millersville State College and Gettysburg and a loss to Juniata in the last three outings wrapped up the 1960 campaign for the Blue Jay tennis team. Coach Don Smith's club finished with a record of four victories, seven defeats.

In the season's finals here Monday, the Jays squeezed by Millersville, 5-4, on the strength of two victories in the doubles by Gene Gordon and Dick Lantzy and Lloyd Nyce and Milt Smith. Singles wins were recorded by Gordon, Nyce and Smith.

M-ville had downed the Jays earlier in the year, 5½-3½, at Millersville.

JOLT GETTYSBURG

Sweeping five of the singles and the three doubles, the Smithmen ran roughshod over Gettysburg here last Saturday, 8-1.

Gordon, Lantzy, Roy Erb, Nyce and Smith were victors in singles matches. The duos of Gordon-Lantzy, Francis Hurley-Dale Kilhefner, and Erb-John Arndt earned points in the doubles.

LOSE AT JUNIATA

At Juniata two weeks ago, the Jays dropped a 6-3 verdict to the Indians. Nyce and Smith were singles winners for E-town. The lone doubles victory was chalked up by the team of Gordon and Lantzy.

The match at Dickinson last week was cancelled because of inclement weather.

In the semi-final round Green and Meyers put down Lynn Saylor and Miss Risser while Spannuth and Prosser thwarted Ray Diener and Cindy Kratzer's climb to the top.

The Jays have a record of nine wins against six defeats as they prepare for the final games.

At Moravian Monday, wildness on the part of Coach Ira Herr's hurlers proved devastating as the Jays blew a 13-1 lead after two innings and lost to the Greyhounds, 15-14. Three E-town moundsmen gave up a total of 20 free passes as Moravian almost literally "walked off with the game to snap the Jays' win streak at three.

Bob Geiger started for Herr's crew and gave up 10 walks in two and two-thirds innings. Geiger has been bothered most of the season by a sore arm. Relievers John Sabbi and Ken Fasick gave up three and seven passes respectively. Fasick took the loss.

The Jays out-hit Moravian, 15-9. Carroll Hershey, Red Bortzfield and Fasick each had three hits to spark the E-town assault.

NIP LEBANON VALLEY

A three-run splurge in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Jays an 8-7 May Day victory over Lebanon Valley here last Saturday. Ken Fasick, who relieved starter Ray Diener, picked up the win.

Woody Kerkeslager's bases-loaded single produced the tying and winning runs.

The Jays' third baseman delivered the decisive blow while unknowingly suffering from a broken thumb, which he sustained while sliding into third base earlier in the game.

DEFEAT DICKINSON

Kerkeslager also wielded the big bat at Dickinson last week as the Jays turned back the Diplomats, 7-4. Bob Geiger, who hurled the first six frames, earned the mound victory.

John Sabbi, Ken Fasick and Bill Pensyl finished up the pitching chores.

The Jays' 10-hit attack was paced by Kerkeslager's three safeties. Four sixth-inning runs gave E-town a lead the home-sters could not overcome.

UP-END JUNIATA

Trailing 7-0 after seven innings, the Blue Jays rallied at Juniata two weeks ago and came home with a 10-inning triumph, 11-9.

Carroll Hershey's two-run homer gave the Jays their winning margin in overtime. Outfielder Ken Barrett and Catcher Bill Pensyl each banged out three hits to lead the E-town offense. Ken Fasick, in relief of Ray Diener, got the win.

Dr. A. C. Baugher to Retire Next Year

Benson Scores Kremlin Threat In Speech Here

Ezra Taft Benson, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, warned of the threatening advance of Communism and called upon Americans to place greater stress on their blessings as free citizens during his Commencement address here May 30.

(Highlights of Secretary Benson's address are on page three.)

Benson spoke before an audience of more than 850, including 110 members of the graduating class, in the Alumni Auditorium after threatening weather forced the ceremonies indoors.

Honorary degrees were presented to John L. Tivney, president of the Harrisburg Center for Higher Education; Mrs. Shirley Watkins Steinman, journalist from Lancaster, and Secretary Benson.

All degrees were conferred by President A. C. Baugher.

After calling attention to the Communist menace, Secretary Benson outlined the restrictions placed on the lives of people living under the Communist philosophy, which has "neither conscience nor honor."

Referring to the breakdown of the summit conference in mid-May, he remarked that "the behavior of Chairman Krushchev in Paris . . . was anything but reassuring."

He called for a reaffirmation of patriotism, rededication to God, and a realization of the blessings of freedom enjoyed by citizens of a country where "the office boy shaves with the same kind of a razor as the president of the company."

The Secretary received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the College. The citation accompanying the degree praised him for his "exemplary combination of public service, intellectual and practical achievement, and religious devotion."

Tivney was cited for his humanitarian, cultural and educational interests. He received an honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree.

Mrs. Steinman, who was granted an honorary Doctor of Letters degree, was recognized for her journalistic work, including the writing of several books and newspaper experience.

Five students were graduated with cum laude honors: They were: William L. Adams, Millersburg, B.S. in Science; Samuel M. Brubaker, Elizabethtown, B.S. in Science; M. Louise Horning, Rheems, A.B., in Liberal Arts; Barbara M. Ulmer, Middletown, A.B. in Liberal Arts, and Frederick Zimmerman, Fredericksburg, A.B. in Liberal Arts.

Miles Horst, from Lebanon, former State Secretary of Agriculture and an aide to Secretary

34 Students Gain Dean's List Honors

Thirty-four students earned mention on the Dean's List of Honor for the second semester.

The List includes nine representatives from each of the three upper classes. Only seven freshmen gained recognition.

Students named on the List follow:

Seniors—J. Earl Dibert, M. Louise Horning, Stanley Neyer, James Raver, Barbara Ulmer, Robert Wise, Barbara Yohe, Frederick Zimmerman and Dorothy Zlobik.

Juniors—Helmut Baer, Carol Heilman, Donald Hosler, Patricia Jackson, J. Kenneth Kreider, Joan Lank, Joyce Miller, Louise Miller and Mona Wyles.

Sophomores—Robin Bonier, Janet Espenshade, Mary Gladfelter, Linda Hollinger, Francis Hurley, Linda Itzoe, Patricia Shetter, E. Virginia Wills and Jean Zettlemoyer.

Freshmen—E. Paul Dick, Marjorie Ferster, Judith Good, Lois Herr, Kathryn MacGregor, Joan C. Smith and Larry Smith.

In order to be named on the Dean's List a student must earn at least a 3.5 grade-point average. A perfect average is 4.0.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Pres. A. C. Baugher, Dean Roy McAuley, Administrative Assistant Robert S. Young, and Admissions Director Paul Greene will represent the College next week at the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren at the University of Illinois.

Benson, was a platform guest.

Dr. Carl Zeigler, of the Bible Department, offered the invocation. The benediction was offered by Dr. Galen C. Kilhefner, of the Board of Trustees. Mrs. Gertrude Royer Meyer played the piano for the formal academic procession.

Music for the program was provided by the College choir.

This Is First Summer Edition

This edition of the ETOWNIAN marks the start of an expanded publications program for Elizabethtown College. Heretofore the ETOWNIAN was published only during the regular academic year, September through May.

Under the new plan being initiated this year, two summer issues will be published: the one you are reading and one in mid-July.

The broadened program is being undertaken as a service to students, alumni, and friends to bridge the news gap over the summer months.

Trustees Schedule Dorm Dedication, Accept Campus Plan

In addition to formally accepting the retirement plans of President A. C. Baugher, the Board of Trustees voted to accept a campus master plan and announced that the New Men's Residence would be dedicated September 21 during their spring meeting here two weeks ago.

The dedication ceremonies will take place as part of the first chapel service of the fall term.

The proposed campus plan will be used as a guide in future location of buildings and other facilities as the College develops.

No action was taken on the proposed naming of the New Women's Residence.

In other business, the Board approved a bond issue to finance the new men's and women's dormitories through the Housing and Home Finance Agency. Reports were presented by President Baugher and Treasurer Earl Kurtz.

President Ready to Assume 'Lighter Harness' in June

President A. C. Baugher, who has guided Elizabethtown College since 1941, announced his plans to retire at the end of the next academic year on June 30, 1961.

The announcement was made May 28 during a joint meeting of the Board of Trustees, the faculty, and the Alumni Council in the Brinser Lecture Hall. Asked about his post-retirement plans, President Baugher indicated he wanted "a lighter harness."

Baccalaureate Speaker Calls For New Faith

Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary, pointed out that "the world today needs the internal buttressing born of God, faith, and spirituality" during the Baccalaureate sermon May 29 in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

Speaking before an overflow audience of more than 600, Dr. Baughman stated that "man does not have within himself the powers requisite for the good life."

"Our chief reliances today seem to be humanistic and materialistic," he added.

Dr. Baughman concluded: "Our way of life is like an impregnable fortress, which cannot be taken unless by failure from within."

"The enduring forces of life are spiritual forces."

President A. C. Baugher presided during the services. Doctor Frank C. Carper, Palmyra, offered the invocation and benediction. Prayer was offered by Dr. Nevin H. Zuck, pastor of the local Church of the Brethren.

Music for the services was provided by the College choir, directed by Professor Nevin W. Fisher. J. Atlee Young played the organ prelude and recession.

Two Profs Spending Summer in Europe

As this ETOWNIAN went to press Dr. Henry Hood, of the History Department, was very likely browsing through the Oxford University Library in England and Mrs. Austin Fellenbaum, of the Education Department, was getting her sea legs at the start of a three-month jaunt through Europe.

The two faculty members will spend the summer in Europe; one primarily for historical research in England, the other mostly for sightseeing on the continent.

Dr. Hood flew out of Philadelphia by jet last week. He announced plans to do research at Oxford on 17th and 18th century English history. His exact plans are uncertain, although he plans to spend some time on the continent.

Mrs. Fellenbaum sailed from New York yesterday enroute to Southampton, England. She and two traveling companions plan to motor through the British Isles, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal and France.

She also hopes to do some research in Spain on Juan Luis Vives, a "little known but most influential educator."

The Trustees approved a resolution in which they "acquiesced" in President Baugher's wish and cited his efforts in developing the College as "most significant in a number of areas."

Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, chairman of the Board, reported that the Trustees would begin looking for a successor immediately. The search will be conducted by the Executive Committee of the Board, which is composed of Noah S. Sellers, Lineboro, Md.; John G. Hershey, Lititz; Dr. Horace E. Raffensperger, Elizabethtown; and Samuel S. Wenger, Lancaster.

Advisory committees have been named to represent the faculty and the Alumni Council. Members of the faculty group are Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, Dr. Charles S. Appgar, and Prof. Edgar T. Bitting.

Alumni representatives include Clifford Huffman, Lancaster; Norman D. Reber, York; and Mrs. Christopher Papson, Lebanon.

President Baugher began his association with the College as a student in 1914, when the institution was still an academy. His formal employment by the school began two years later, when he became a hall proctor and Dean of Men.

He was named Dean of Instruction in 1928. The Trustees elected him President in 1941. During many of the years he held administrative offices he also served as Professor of Chemistry.

After the College was approved by the Department of Public Instruction in 1922, President Baugher was the first student to be granted a legal degree by the institution.

The Trustees' resolution praised Dr. Baugher for his efforts in four specific areas: (1) gaining official accreditation for the College, (2) boosting financial support, (3) increasing physical facilities, and (4) broadening the academic prestige of the institution.

The College was accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1948. The accreditation was renewed last year.

In the field of financial support, President Baugher was cited for initiating a Development Program and for boosting support from the Church of the Brethren, with which the College is affiliated, from $3,555 in 1941 to $43,275 last year.

The increase in physical facilities during his administration includes the expansion of the campus from 50 to 75 acres and the addition of four new buildings: a library, science wing, and two dormitories.

Academically, the College advanced from a small, local school to the point where it is "recognized in an increasingly large community as a strong Christian institution and as a liberal arts college which needs take second place to no institution of similar size."

As we see it...

Education's Needs Grow More Acute Each Month

With every passing month the crisis in American education becomes more acute. This is true at every level: primary and secondary, which we hear most (and do least) about, and at the higher levels too, where colleges and universities are more hard-pressed between rising demands, rising needs, and rising costs than ever before in American history.

For the next decade a minimum of $600 million in additional funds will be needed annually for operating costs alone in higher education, while for capital expansion the minimum figure is set at $15 billion for the entire period, making a rock-bottom total of $21 billion in new money to be obtained and spent during the next ten years to meet the requirements of college and university training.

Clearly money is not the only commodity needed. Brains and talent are the basic raw materials; and suffusing everything else, there must be insistence on quality, what the Rockefeller report succinctly described two years ago as "the pursuit of excellence." These are the ingredients for the future, but it is the present that must supply them.

New Men's Residence Will Do Us All Proud

Students returning to the campus in the fall are going to be treated to a newly-finished dormitory that need not take a back seat to any building of its type in the area. Walking through the halls of the New Men's Residence one can hardly escape the feeling that, when finished, the newest building on the campus is going to do the College mighty proud.

The individual rooms should be a source of comfort from the smartly tiled floor to the ample closets, to the private book shelves, to the wide windows complete with draw curtains.

The two distinct wings linked by a columned lobby boast simple but dignified lines.

This building is a brick and cement monument to the fact that, when faced by the challenge of needed expansion, Elizabethtown College did not falter. With the help of the Church of the Brethren, the alumni, and friends, the College is moving to an increasingly prominent place in the field of higher education in this part of the country.

And the end of our growth potential is not in sight.

Another Flower Cut

Mao Tse-tung, in an expansive mood, in 1957 invited criticism of his Chinese Communist regime. He said:

"Let a hundred flowers bloom, let a hundred schools of thought contend."

Dr. Ma Yin-chu, American-educated president of Peking University, took him at his word. He said in February:

"I will never capitulate to those critics who are bent on bringing others to submission by force and not by reasoning."

In mid-April, Dr. Ma was removed from office without ceremony.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

NO MORE 'GENTLEMAN'S C'

College In Michigan Giving Year Off To Students Not Working To Capacity

(ACP)—Satisfaction with the once-fashionable "gentleman's C" appears to be giving way to serious thoughts about the "under achiever," reports the Alma College (Mich.) Almanian.

A new policy is currently in operation at Amherst College which seeks to solve the problem of said "under achiever." According to the Almanian, Pres. Charles W. Cole of Amherst explained in his 1959 report to the board of trustees that the college has decided to grant these students a year's leave of absence "in hope that some months in another environment would give them enough added maturity and perspective so that they might return here and perform at a higher level."

Fifty sophomores and juniors were suggested as possible under achievers in the middle of the last academic year. These students were informed of the college's new policy, conferences were held with faculty, administration and parents, and the students' performances were watched throughout the spring semester.

Of these, 12 were granted leaves, 14 began to work up to capacity, 12 were found to be not laggards but students with limited intellectual ability, 9 will have their record studied further and three withdrew voluntarily for one year.

Although seniors were not included in the mandatory leave program, since the college felt it was too late to take action for them, it was noticed that about two-thirds of the seniors who had been coasting had definitely better records after the new policy was announced.

BENSON SAYS

U. S. Farm Problem Mired in Politics

Agriculture Secretary Benson, no stranger to controversy in his grappling with the enigmatic farm problem, made several pertinent comments during his press conference on the campus prior to the graduation exercises.

Some of his statements made during the meeting with the area press follow:

"There are potential markets abroad for American farm products, particularly for livestock and feed grains. Western Europe wants more livestock products as the trend is to improve their diet. West Germany and the Near East are markets for poultry and beef.

"Forty percent of the total Russian labor force is required to feed their own people. They have all they can do to provide for themselves.

"High, rigid supports have resulted in lost markets, piled up surpluses, and cost taxpayers—and the farmer is a taxpayer—tremendous amounts of money. Ninety percent support and acreage control is almost a religion with some people.

"The economics of agriculture is simple—it's politics, that's the problem."

Campus Prayer

Our Teacher and our God, teach us again the parable of the talents. As American college students we have been greatly blessed. Thy gifts to us are to be used for purposes acceptable to Thee; if not, they become a curse. If misused they lead to exploitation of others. If misused they become a source of frustration and an undefined feeling of uselessness. Help us to use our abilities to meet the needs of those around us and thereby create those relationships which are the source of enduring meaning. Amen.

In Appreciation

Dr. and Mrs. N. Franklin Stump express their kind appreciation for the remembrances and flowers from the students and faculty during Dr. Stump's recent illness.

Commencement Address Highlights

(Ed. Note: The following are selected highlights from the Commencement address of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson.)

"Our heritage of freedom is not man-made. It is God-given. Free Agency is an eternal principle. Next to life itself, we should be most grateful for this gift of Free Agency. It is more to be prized than any earthly possession.

"A deadly conflict between good and evil is constantly going on in the world. Some people may try to gloss it over, but the fact remains that one-third of the world's people live in the grip of a political and philosophical system that is truly diabolical.

"That is the Communist philosophy. It is totally irreconcilable with American ideals.

"Internationally, Communism seeks to isolate us from the rest of the free world. Here at home, Communism ceaselessly pursues the disintegration of the American way of life. It strives to use education, science, literature, art, even the churches, to undermine our free society.

"We must understand that basic American beliefs, principles, and attitudes are threatened today as never before—threatened not only from abroad but right here at home.

"We have seen in the past quarter century a tremendous shift from individual to governmental responsibility in many phases of economic and social life. We have seen a rapid shift of responsibility from the States to the Federal Government.

"There are many who do not see the danger to freedom that is inherent in deficit spending, government controls, and more and more centralization of power in government—and there are some who do see the trend and do not care.

"Freedom is not always lost on the battlefield. It may also be lost through the acceptance of false ideologies and unwise economic policies. A nation can hang itself on the Gallows of fiscal irresponsibility—and we are no exception.

"Finally, we must rededicate our lives and our nation to God. It is my firm belief that the God of Heaven guided the Founding Fathers in establishing it for His particular purposes. But God's purpose is to build people of character, not physical monuments to their material accumulations.

But while change is, and will continue to be, all about you in the physical world, never forget that there are certain Heaven-sent verities, principles and values which are eternal. These never change. Be sure you do not sacrifice these eternal values—for nothing will ever be found to take their place.

"America needs leaders. YOU can become those leaders! Who can better fulfill this need of our times than YOU who have been so favored by heritage, home, church, and the blessings of this great character-building institution?

"The greatest measure of your success will be what you achieve in your own home. No nation can rise above its homes. The good home is the rock foundation—the cornerstone—of civilization. If this our nation is to endure and prosper, the home must be safeguarded, strengthened and restored to its rightful importance."

MEETING THE PRESS . . . Secretary Benson (right foreground) answers questions from members of the area press during a pre-Commencement press conference in the Alpha Hall lounge. Discussing the farm problem, he called attention to potential foreign markets for American farm goods, described the soil bank as a "colossal failure," and said there will always be a place for the well-managed family-type farm. Senate Plans New School Year Events

A schedule of the principal social activities for the 1960-'61 school year was outlined by George Lott, vice-president of the Student Senate, at a meeting held recently.

An orientation week program also was given by Lott, who said that the committee has been busy making plans for the incoming freshmen.

In other business of the Senate, discussion was held concerning the E-town-Lebanon Valley joint dance being planned. It was reported that student opinion forms returned showed interest in the activity.

President David Correll announced that Lott will head the student Lyceum Committee for next year, while Tom Collins has been named to the Parking Committee with Galen Young. Chairman for the Radio Committee is Paul Dick, who will have Dan Speicher working with him.

Seniors Fare Well In Record Exams

Seniors who took Graduate Record Examinations late last month generally scored "very well" in comparison to other graduates taking the tests across the country, Dean Roy McAuley reported this week.

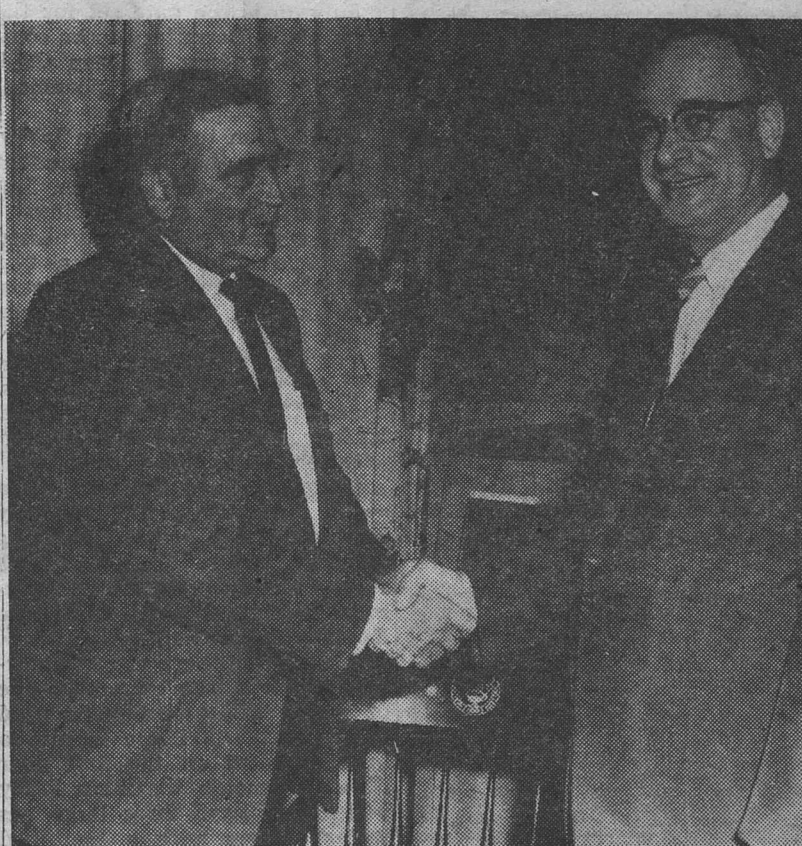

One Elizabethtown student — William L. Adams — scored on the 93rd percentile in the field of Chemistry. He earned the highest percentile rating among the 35 students who took the tests here.

Dean McAuley pointed out in reviewing the results that the examinations "will aid various departments in making improvements." He added that the College hopes to increase the coverage of the examinations on campus next year.

The examinations are of a comprehensive nature and are designed to give the student an indication of how he compares with other graduates in his field across country.

Many Americans Not Prepared for Three-Pronged Challenge Of Communism, 'Rising Expectations,' and New Technology

CONGRATULATIONS . . . Ira R. Herr (left), athletic director here since 1928, is congratulated by Alumni Secretary Clarence G. Enterline following the recent Alumni dinner. Herr was given the annual Alumni Chair Award for his service to the College.

Dr. Ernest Lefever, foreign affairs consultant for the Ford Foundation, warned that too few in the United States are prepared to recognize and deal with the three-pronged challenge facing the Free World today.

Lefever, a '42 alumnus of Elizabethtown College, was the featured speaker here May 28 during the annual Alumni Day dinner. More than 350, mostly alumni, attended the affair.

The three aspects of the problem confronting the Free World, according to Lefever, are (1) world Communism, (2) the "revolution of rising expectations" in Asia and Africa, and (3) modern technology, which should be used to wipe out hunger and poverty.

He pointed out that too many people are "more interested in private indulgence than public responsibility."

Praising politicians as "the thin red line between mankind and catastrophe," Lefever said that the American people have better people handling national affairs than generally thought or deserved.

"Our representatives in Washington are better than our apathy and disinterest deserve," he remarked.

Lefever also cited the role of the scholar in today's world. He praised America's small liberal arts colleges as centers of excellence and "bearers of values."

NEW OFFICERS

Other highlights of the evening included the introduction of new officers of the Alumni Association. They are: Clifford Huffman, Lancaster, president; Norman Reber, York, vice-president; Dr. Ralph Weirich, Elizabethtown, and Mrs. Charlotte Garman, Lancaster, council members; and Mrs. Christopher Pappson, Lebanon, Alumni representative on the Board of Trustees.

Ira R. Herr, athletic director at the College since 1928, was awarded the Alumni Chair, an annual presentation to a person making an outstanding contribution to the growth of the College.

Harold Bomberger, Harrisburg, Alumni Association president, acted as toastmaster. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rothrock, Salem, Ore., members of the Class of '07, were recognized as having traveled the greatest distance to attend the meeting.

Survey Reports Marriage Plus College Good, But...

Marriage for college students is good, but . . .

That's the general consensus of opinions compiled by four members of the class in Marriage and the Family during a survey of 111 students here this spring. Students making the survey, a term project for Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, were Nancy Baugher, Lucille Hendricks, Lorraine Leppo and Martha Reese.

In conducting their survey, they distributed forms requesting, among other things, opinions on the best time to marry, where to seek financial aid, the academic stimulus of marriage, and the biggest problems involved.

Of those responding, 38 were single, 38 were engaged, and 35 were married. The respondents, 60 men and 51 women, represented the four college classes.

Seventy-four indicated that marriage while in college was generally a good thing although many disadvantages were involved. Eight thought the marriage plus college experience was "ideal."

Ten would not recommend it. Of these, seven (six of them men) were single.

Among the 35 already married, 25 reported their marriage was "very happy." Eight others stated they were "happy." Two indicated "average happiness."

Financial worries were listed as the biggest problem confronting married students. Next came unsatisfactory living arrangements and postponement of building a family.

Regarding the matter of accepting financial aid from parents, the majority of those engaged to be married announced that help should not be accepted from either partner's parents. Those already married were more evenly divided on the question.

On the value of marriage as a stimulus to better academic performance, 11 (all but one engaged or married) felt that post-marriage performance in the classroom was "much better." Fifty-three (18 married, 20 engaged, 15 single) thought the performance was "somewhat better." Thirty-one saw no difference. Eight (five single) announced that performance was "somewhat worse."

Harnwell Speech in Pamphlet Form Available

"Choosing to Learn," an address delivered during Charter Day-Convocation exercises marking the start of the 1959-'60 academic year here, has been printed in pamphlet form for distribution.

Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania, presented the address.

Anyone desiring copies should contact the Public Relations Office, ground floor of Alpha Hall.

Pres. Baugher's Retirement Statement

(Ed. Note: The following is the statement read by President Baugher May 28 to a joint meeting of the Board of Trustees, faculty and Alumni Council.)

Dear Colleagues:

After having been affiliated with Elizabethtown College for more than forty-five years as student, teacher, dean, trustee, and as President, I wish to officially inform the Board that I plan to retire from the Office of President at the end of the next academic year on June 30, 1961.

It is my studied opinion that in terms of the great financial resources of both the Church and the Community, the high and rapidly growing population in the area, and the generally advantageous geographic location of Elizabethtown College, the possibility of future growth looks bright. It is my firm conviction that these favorable factors coupled with a creative imagination and a dynamic program, will make it possible for Elizabethtown College to continue to grow into almost any size institution which those who guide its future may think desirable.

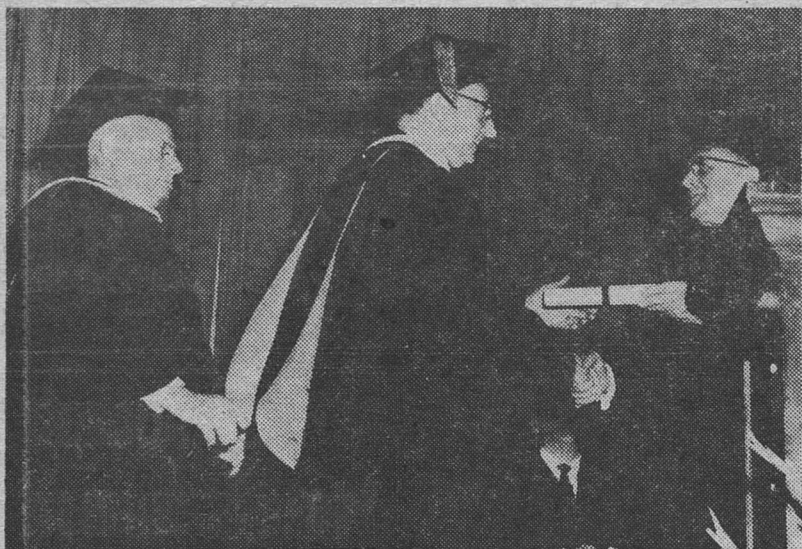

The future calls for a creative imagination, alert professional leadership and guidance for the maintenance and the expansion of the distinctive type of education for which Elizabethtown College has become known.

It is my earnest hope born out of many years of study and prayer and service to Elizabethtown College that the Board in the pursuit of their responsibility to find a president, will carefully study the needs and the unusual opportunities for Elizabethtown College during the immediate years ahead, and that they will look with prophetic fearlessness into the challenging coming decades.

It is my fervent prayer that the Board may find the individual whose qualifications through training and experience and dedication will match the opportunities for a Greater Elizabethtown College in the field of Christian Higher Education.

Educator Suggests Stamps For Class Attendance, Grades

(ACP)—A dean at Henderson State Teachers College (Ark.) has come up with a new system of getting students to attend class, says the Henderson Oracle. The dean suggests that schools begin giving stamps for class attendance. Upon filling a book of these stamps, students would be awarded gifts from stores downtown. The dean also suggested that stamps be given for grades. The Oracle comments: "While this seems very improbable at

Conference Held Here

A one-day conference on "The Emerging Community" was held here last week under the sponsorship of the Rural Life Association. Prime purpose of the conference was to consider some of the changes taking place in society at the community level. present, several schools have had certain systems in awarding special letters or awards to students with special scholastic ability. One school in the northern states (unidentified) used the same lettering system as the athletic department in all departments. If a student made top grades in math classes, he received a sweater and letter signifying that he had lettered in math."

Schedule Completion Date of Men's New Dorm for July 15

July 15 is the date set for the New Men's Dormitory to be completed, according to Dean Crill, director of student personnel services. In addition to the main lobby, there will be four student lounges, one each on the first and third floors of each wing. The rooms are to be furnished with two beds, two desks, two book shelves, two built-in closets, one dresser, and one lounge chair. The color schemes of the rooms will be divided into five series, spaced throughout the two wings, each one consisting of 21 rooms. Other than the conveniences mentioned above the new dorm will contain an infirmary equipped with seven beds, a nurse's office and diagnosis room, a sun porch, and a basement in Wing B which will house five student rooms. In addition, there are two storage rooms in the basement, one of which will probably be used for recreation. There is also a laundry room on the first floor directly beneath the main lobby which will have three large gas water heaters with a combined capacity of 2000 gallons. Three oil furnaces will furnish the heat needed for cold weather. All the hallways will have acoustical tile while the whole third floor will be supplied with acoustics. Finally, a couple will be employed as head of residence. They will live in a three-room apartment just off the lobby in Wing B.

Phares S. Hertzog Donates Specimens To Biology Dept.

The Biology Department has announced donations by Prof. Phares H. Hertzog of specimen woods, mounted animal skins and study skins. Richard P. Markowitz, Class of '59, who is on the sales staff of Merch, Sharp and Doehme Co., also donated, through the courtesy of the company, five plastic demonstration human hearts. Over 125 pieces of specimen wood given to the department are select pieces of wood, cut and highly polished to show grain and structure. Many of the pieces are from foreign lands. The mounted animal skins are three bats and one kangaroo rat. Study skins are unmounted or un-stuffed skins used for general study of animal structure and color. The skins were prepared by Prof. Hertzog himself.

Jays End Season With 10-7 Record

Closing down the season with a tight 4-3 victory over the University of Scranton here on Alumni Day, the Blue Jay baseball squad earned a final record of ten victories against seven defeats.

The Scranton win came after the Jays had absorbed a sound 15-5 thrashing at Albright the day before. Righthander Bob Geiger, plagued all season by a sore arm, picked up his third victory by going the route against Scranton. He struck out 11 and allowed only two hits as his mates pushed over the deciding tally in the bottom of the eighth inning after the Royals had rallied to wipe out an early E-town lead. Coach Ira Herr's club moved out to a three-run bulge in the third frame on Lynn Saylor's double, two walks, and three Scranton errors.

The winning run came on Bob Teufel's single, which scored Bill Pensyl, who had reached base on an error. In all, the visitors committed eight miscues and literally threw away the game with errant heaves. The Jays had only five hits.

Blue Jay Teams Compile Winning Record for Year

A recapitulation of the intercollegiate athletic program for the past academic year reveals that the Blue Jays fared well with an overall record for eight sports of 52 victories, 44 defeats, and five ties.

If the log of the women's tennis team, an unofficial entry this year, is added, the totals jump to 57 wins, 45 losses, and five draws.

Five of the eight teams in E-town's intercollegiate program finished with winning records: soccer was 9-1-2, cross country 7-3, field hockey 4-1-3, women's basketball 6-5, and baseball 10-7.

On the debit side were wrestling at 4-6, basketball at 8-14, and tennis at 4-7.

The women's tennis team, playing an informal schedule, won five and lost only one.

LOSE AT ALBRIGHT

The Albright Lions battered three Blue Jay hurlers and scored in every frame but one as they trounced E-town, 15-5, at Reading, May 27.

Lefty Ray Diener worked the first four innings and took the loss, his second against four victories. John Sabbi and Ken Fasick finished up.

The Jays opened with three first-inning runs, but a four-run outburst by the Lions in the fourth sealed the issue.

Fasick's three hits led the Jays' attack. Carroll Hershey and Bill Pensyl banged out homeruns.

FIVE IN .300 CIRCLE

Fasick, Diener Lead Jays In '60 Season Statistics

Senior Ken Fasick, who divided his time between the outfield and the pitching mound, led the Blue Jay baseball team in hitting over the past season with a .359 mark.

He also topped the club in slugging with a .515 average and in runs-batted-in with 17. He tied for most hits (23) with Lloyd Bortzfeld, senior first-baseman.

Coach Ira Herr's team, winners in 10 of 17 games, had five regulars in the select .300 circle. Behind Fasick came Infielder Carroll Hershey at .330, Bortzfeld at .324, Catcher Bill Pensyl at .324, and Infielder Woody Kerkelager at .304.

Shortstop Lorenzo "Shorty" Archer just missed with a .296 average.

Bortzfeld was close behind Fasick in the slugging department with a .507 mark.

Other team leaders: Hershey in runs scored (23), Bortzfeld in times at bat (71) and extra base hits (8), Outfielder Ken Barrett in walks (20) and stolen bases (9).

Hershey handled 44 putouts and 32 assists without an error at second base. Barrett handled 18 chances in centerfield without a miscue.

Among the pitchers, Lefty Ray Diener took most of the honors. Diener, a 6'5" freshman, appeared in ten games, worked 56 innings, allowed only 26 hits, struck out 85, and walked 39 as he won four and lost two. He pitched four complete games.

Fasick, a left-hander, won three and lost two. Bob Geiger was three up, three down.

Master Campus Plan Traces Future Growth

The Master Campus Plan, which was unveiled here a few weeks ago, is designed as a "basic but flexible" guide to be used in the long-range development of the College. It takes in the full 75 acres of the campus and offers suggested locations for a number of new buildings to be added as the student body swells.

When the various facilities outlined in the plan become realities, the College will be capable of handling an enrollment between 1,500 and 2,000. Millions of dollars will be needed for construction of the new dormitories, classroom buildings, and other facilities included in the plan. There is no set time schedule for completion of the building program. Estimates of how many years will be required for all the projects involved ranged from 20 to 50.

Indeed, the plan, as presented, is not final. Several revisions are currently under consideration. But the basic ideas of the plan were accepted by the Board of Trustees.

As originally presented, the plan calls for the following new facilities: eight additional dormitories (four each for men and women), three classroom buildings, new wings for the Gible Science Building and the Zug Memorial Library, a chapel-auditorium, a health and physical education building, a student union building, and housing for faculty members and married students.

The campus will be highlighted by a tree-lined mall with paved walks. The various athletic fields will be re-located, and a quarter mile running track will be added.

The three facilities listed for immediate consideration, according to current needs, are a student union building, a women's dormitory, and a classroom building.

At present, of course, the new facilities are merely lines on paper. But the campus plan indicates (1) that there is opportunity for growth by the College and (2) that the trustees are moving to take advantage of the opportunity.

AAUW Standards Met

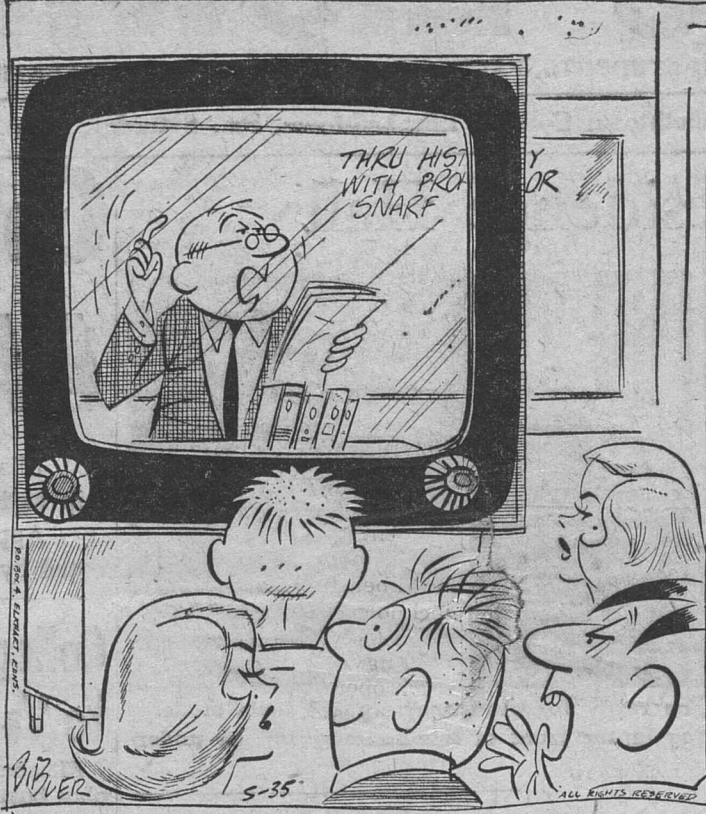

Elizabethtown College has joined a select circle of more than 400 colleges and universities across the United States by gaining membership in the American Association of University Women.

The membership was offered only after a careful analysis of the College and its program by AAUW representatives, who found that the high standards established by the association had been met.

The prime points of judgement by the AAUW in weighing the College were (1) the rating of the Middle States Association (regional accrediting agency), (2) the provisions for basic general education, (3) provisions for women students, (4) the professional opportunities for women as faculty members and administrators, and (5) the maintenance of academic freedom.

The College was not found wanting in any of these areas.

Steady Upward Spiral Noted in Faculty Salaries, Student Costs in Recent Years

A general upward spiral in faculty salaries and student costs in four-year undergraduate colleges over the past few years has been reported by the U. S. Office of Education.

Average salaries for full-time faculty members in four-year colleges (both public and private) rose 10.6 percent during the past two years to an average of $6,810 for the 1959-60 term.

The average salary for full-time faculty was $6,490 in 1958-59 and $6,160 in 1957-58.

For all higher education institutions, the rate of salary increase has averaged slightly less than five percent in each of the past two years. However, during this period, increases have been greater in private institutions than in public ones, 13.5 percent to 8.2 percent.

U. S. Commissioner of Education Lawrence G. Dethrick said the average salary in four-year public institutions for the 1959-60 academic year was $7,040 compared to the $6,510 average for private institutions.

Reports indicate a slow but perceptible increase in costs for full-time students in both public and private institutions of higher education, Commissioner Dethrick added.

For example, resident students in private schools paid an average tuition and fee of $615 during the 1959-60 term, an increase of 16.9 percent over the 1957-58 average of $526.

Average charges for dormitory room and board in private colleges and universities during the past academic year were $602 for men and $651 for women.

These figures are national averages and subject to fluctuation depending upon general living costs in various parts of the country.

Another Office of Education report indicated that costs for day-to-day operation of America's colleges and universities are on the rise. A survey indicated that expenditures for routine activities (salaries, general operation, maintenance, etc.) rose 29 percent from $3.5 billion for 1955-56 year to $4.5 billion for the 1957-58 year.

A Squelcher Grows In Brooklyn

Brooklyn Technical School, breeding ground for top scientists, is a showplace to which the U. S. State Department routes foreign visitors.

The students there are bright, enthusiastic, hardworking, and seldom at a loss for words. An English-speaking Soviet scientist, one of a group of Russians touring the school recently, found that out when he cornered a student with the following question:

"Did you know," the Russian asked, "that the Constitution of the Soviet Union provides more freedoms than your country does?"

"Why, yes," the boy answered blandly, "but do you practice them?"

Campus Prayer

Dear Lord, we ask Thy guidance as we enjoy the current summer months in anticipation of another academic year. Help us to remember Thy presence as we continue to mold our social values. Help us to remember our Christian obligations to all those around us. We pray in Christ's name. Amen.

MISS ETHEL M. B. WENGER, DIRECTOR

Baltimore Authority Named to Lecture For Annual Special Education Workshop

Dr. Harrie M. Selznick, director of Special Education for the Baltimore, Md., public schools since 1955, will be the principal lecturer for the Fifth Annual Workshop in Special Education at Elizabethtown College, according to Dr. Roy McAuley, director of the College's Summer Sessions.

The workshop, to be held from July 18 through July 29, is being supervised by Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, education specialist from Lebanon. It is designed for teachers seeking certification for work with mentally or orthopedically handicapped children.

Elizabethtown is one of the few colleges in the Commonwealth approved by the Department of Public Instruction to grant teacher certification in special education.

Dr. Selznick, an authority in his field, earned his doctorate at Northwestern University in 1951. His doctoral dissertation dealt with special education practices in the midwest.

Prior to assuming his position in Baltimore, he served as State Director of Special Education in North Dakota from 1951-55. Before that he headed programs for the socially and emotionally disturbed at a clinic at Northwestern University and for the U. S. Navy in California.

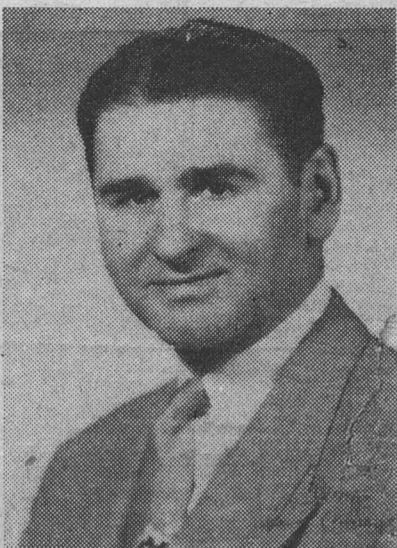

He is President of the State Council for Exceptional Children in Maryland.

Dr. Selznick is one of several guest lecturers scheduled to speak during the ten-day workshop, Miss Wenger announced.

Others include Mrs. Shirley Lemon, special education teacher from Manheim Central Schools, and Miss Kathleen Elliott, professor of Education at Pennsylvania State University.

An innovation this year is the teaching of a demonstration class in special education to be observed by workshop students as a part of their study program.

Miss Wenger is a former consultant for the Department of Public Instruction, former Director of Special Services for Cumberland County, and Educational Director of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children.

ALMOST $200 MILLION IN 1958-59

Alumni Gifts Listed As Top Source Of Voluntary Support Of Education

Alumni gifts to their alma maters climbed to almost $200 million in 1958-59, according to the latest report of the American Alumni Council.

The total of $199,882,799, up four percent over the previous year, is based on reports from 1,143 colleges, universities, and independent secondary schools.

Gifts from alumni continue to be the greatest single source of voluntary support for education. Total gifts from all sources reached $863,157,250, of which alumni gave 23.2 percent.

About one alumnus in five responds to his alma mater's need for funds, the report stated. The average gift in 1958-59 was $114.94 from 1,739,404 donors. This average is swollen, however, by inclusion of very large gifts for buildings, endowments, and other special purposes.

Alumni giving through regular annual funds averaged $32.86 per donor, a slight increase over the previous year.

Baughers Observe Wedding Anniversary

President and Mrs. A. C. Baugher celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary last month at a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Steinman, Pequea.

The Baughers were married June 12, 1920. Mrs. Baugher is the former Ella Cassel Booz, Vernfield.

FROM 'DOWN BEAT' TO 'CHEMICAL ABSTRACTS'

Future Frosh List 92 Magazines As Regular Reading Material

The reading habits of the next year's freshman class run the gamut of 92 periodicals dealing with almost everything from Hi-Fi, high fashion, and hot rods to current events, contemporary fiction, and Christian theology.

The list of 92 magazines was the result of a survey of the application forms submitted by students accepted by the College for the fall term. A total of 339 applications were screened.

Magazines listed most often by the future frosh are Reader's Digest, with 147 readers, and Life, which is read by 144.

Rounding out the top ten choices are Saturday Evening Post (96), Time (61), Look (52), Newsweek (47), Seventeen (35), National Geographic (30), Sports Illustrated (22), and Ladies' Home Journal (20).

Others with significant clusters of readers include U. S. News and World Report, Sport, Popular Mechanics, Coronet, and (look out, men) Good Housekeeping.

Thirty-five other publications received at least two mentions. Forty-two were listed by only one member of the Class of '64. The latter were more specialized in content and included such periodicals as Chemical Abstracts, Down Beat, Pennsylvania Game News, and Literary Cavalcade.

THOMAS D. HARRISON, JR.
Joins Library Staff

Name New Assistant Librarian for Fall

Thomas D. Harrison, Jr. will join the faculty as assistant librarian starting in September, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced this week.

Harrison, a native of Brunswick, Ga., is a graduate of Emory University (A.B., A. M., 1948) and Villanova University (M.S., 1960).

He taught English at Ohio State University (1949-51) and then served as assistant production manager for the Crucible Steel Casting Company (1951-60).

Harrison, who will hold the rank of instructor, is a member of the Modern Languages Association and the American Library Association.

His A.M. thesis dealt with the novels of John Pendleton Kennedy.

Several Profs Taking Summer Graduate Work

Several members of the faculty are engaged in summer studies at various universities.

Miss Zoe Proctor, of the Chemistry Department, is enrolled for graduate work at Montana State College. Treasurer Earl Kurtz will take further work in College business techniques in August at the University of Omaha.

Prof. Hubert Custer, of the Physics Department, and Mr. J. L. M. Yeingst, director of Public Relations, are doing research and graduate work in physics and journalism respectively at Pennsylvania State University.

McAuley to Head Study Dealing With Alcohol

Dean Roy McAuley will head the Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies to be held at Juniata College, Huntingdon, July 25-29.

The five-day school will consider such areas as alcohol in the family, alcohol education in the church school, and alcohol education in the public school.

The Collegiate March of Events

The Florida State University staged a so-called "Legislative Appreciation Day" not too long ago. However, one Florida state senator didn't appreciate the move at all.

He reported to police that during the "Appreciation Day" observance someone stole his car.

Who says college people have lost their initiative?

Three freshmen at the Mississippi State College for Women recently made first-rate starts toward careers in the business world.

With an eye toward supplying a demand, the coeds caught 12 grasshoppers hopping around their campus.

Then the girls sold them to Zoology students for 30 cents each.

Oh, incidentally, the Michigan State University Agricultural Information service has issued the following news bulletin:

"The eunymus scale is now attacking the various species of eunymus plants and pachysandra."

In short, it's time to spray for bugs.

Check this item from the University of California newspaper.

"Recently a student asked the library to put a 'hold' on a book, in this case a request that the book be returned to be reloaned. In the student's mail two days later was found a request from the library requesting the return of the book to the library which had been requested by the student so that the library could lend the book to the student from whom they now were requesting the return of the book."

And from Duke University comes word of an anthropologist who is threatening to start the whole evolutionary business over again. The prof told his class recently that, if a certain candidate were elected president, he'd begin searching for some intelligent chimpanzees.

It seems the faculty member wants to take his animal friends, set out for the moon, and "start all over again."

A dentistry student at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., has gone from the depths of human mouths to mountain peaks. He recently finished climbing alone 54 of Colorado's peaks, all over 14,000 feet, in 53 days.

Asked why he did it, the student said, "It's a child-hood hang-over." The trees and jungles of his youth were molehills that turned into mountains.

Pres. A. C. Baugher was the first student to receive a degree from Elizabethtown College.

NEW STORE, SNACK BAR, CLASSROOMS

Major Renovations Underway to Provide Better Facilities; Some Offices Moved

New students checking into the College for the first time next fall are not the only ones who will need time to get oriented. Those returning to campus will have to be acclimated again because of an extensive program of office moves and renovations now in progress.

Chief focal points of the renovations are North, South, and Center Halls. There, workmen are busy tearing out the former dormitory facilities to make room for several new classrooms, faculty offices, a wrestling team practice room, and complete store facilities, including a small snack bar.

The new classrooms and the wrestling room are going into what was formerly North Hall. Center Hall will house the new store facilities.

Faculty officers are listed for South Hall.

The old dormitory space became available for other uses with the building of the New Men's Residence.

Alpha Hall is also scheduled to undergo some changes. The biggest of these involves the movement of the Business Office from its present first floor location to what was formerly the classroom (Room D) on the ground floor.

Miss Vera Hackman, as dean of women, will move into what is now the Alumni Office. Mr. Clarence G. Enterline, the alumni secretary, will move into the former faculty office (Room F) in Alpha.

Treasurer Earl Kurtz and Director of Admissions D. Paul Greene will exchange offices. The former business office space will be given over for use in the admissions program.

The space formerly occupied by the College Store will probably be used for a mailing center, machines room, and perhaps a seminar room or student lounge. Plans for this space are not firm at present.

Renovations, including painting and general repairs, are also under way in the various dormitories and honors houses in order to get them in the best possible condition for next year's record student body.

And, of course, while all of this is being carried out, the maintenance staff of the College, aided by a number of student assistants, is involved in the endless task of trimming grass and keeping the campus presentable.

Political Parties Need Young Blood

Too many people sit watching the political arena just for amusement when they should be mixing in politics themselves, according to Arthur H. Motley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

This is particularly true of the younger set in our society, especially college students.

The forthcoming presidential elections give promise of being close, exciting races. Both parties will put forth maximum efforts. Why not contact the party of your choice and start plugging?

Herr Heads Rotary

Ira R. Herr, director of athletics, was elected president of the Elizabethtown Rotary Club. He took office during installation ceremonies at a recent meeting.

EC Coed Second In Miss Penna. Competition

Eleanor Johnson, a member of the Class of '63, was first runner-up in the recent Miss Pennsylvania Contest at West Chester.

Miss Johnson, from nearby Rheems, competed as Miss Lancaster County, a title she won last year. She was a winner in both the talent and swim suit phases of the competition.

For her talent demonstration she presented an acrobatic dance which was interrupted by applause several times, the only act so honored. Miss Johnson received a trophy and a $300 scholarship as first runner-up.

A '59 graduate of Elizabethtown Area High School, she is enrolled in the Liberal Arts curriculum here.

Foreign Students Hit Record High

More foreign students studied in the United States during the 1959-60 academic year than ever before, according to a survey by the Institute of International Education. The 48,486 foreign students in American college classrooms continue to represent the largest foreign student population in the world.

The largest number of foreign students (17,175) continued to come from the Far East. Next is Latin America (9,428), Near and Middle East (7,110), and Europe (6,362).

Engineering, which claimed 11,279 foreign students, continued to be the most popular field of study. The humanities, with 9,246, was again second.

Armstrong Co. Gives Balances to College

The Armstrong Cork Company, of Lancaster, has presented six analytical balances to the College for use by the Chemistry Department. Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, department chairman, announced.

The balances came from the Research Department at Armstrong.

INCLUDING ASSEMBLY PRESENTATIONS

Cultural Programs Taking New Approach Next Year

A new approach to the Cultural Program Series—including several arts programs during the Wednesday morning assembly period—has been planned, according to Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, chairman of the Lyceum Committee.

Under present plans, four programs recommended by the Association of American Colleges will be presented before the entire student body either in the Alumni Auditorium or the Church of the Brethren, depending upon the nature of the program.

In addition, the committee is planning an evening program to be presented in the Elizabethtown High School Auditorium early in the first semester. This offering, according to Professor Fisher, will be a "major attraction" and will be opened to the public in the same manner as the former Community Cultural Programs.

The committee is trying to arrange an appearance by a major symphony orchestra or a well known vocal organization for the program at the high school.

Programs to be offered as part of the arts series have been scheduled as follows:

October 4-5, Hollis Summers poet-novelist; November 16, Alirio Diaz, classical guitarist; February 15-16, Robert Speaight, actor-critic, and April 18-19, R. V. Schoder, artist and archaeologist. In addition to their appearance

IN ONE OF THOSE NEW-FANGLED CARS

Mrs. Meyer Left Close Family Circle To Join Faculty Here 40 Years Ago

She left a tight family circle, came into a strange area in one of those new-fangled automobiles, fell in love with her new work and surroundings, and spent the best years of her life serving her students.

The woman in question is Mrs. E. G. Meyer, who retired from the faculty this spring after 40 years of service as a teacher of piano and music theory on the campus.

"When I first came here in the fall of 1920, my friends back home in Westminster, Maryland, said I'd get homesick and leave within two weeks. But I stayed and grew to love every blade of grass on the campus," Mrs. Meyer said recently.

THINGS WERE DIFFERENT

"Things were a lot different when I first set foot here. Alpha and Memorial Halls were the only buildings, although they were building Fairview.

"Miss Hackman, who now is dean of women, was a second-year student here when I arrived," she added.

Mrs. Meyer's musical roots can be traced to her family. Her father owned a music store, and each of her six brothers and sisters played some musical instrument.

"I began teaching when I was 15 because my father offered free lessons with the purchase of a piano or organ. That's how I started."

After attending Western Maryland College and Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, Mrs. Meyer devoted all her efforts to teaching.

ENTER R. W. SCHLOSSER

"I was completely wrapped up in my work. Then, one day, Ralph Schlosser from the College came to our church to preach a revival service. He stayed at our house and talked to me about coming to Elizabethtown to teach. "Later, H. K. Ober came down and tried to persuade me to join the faculty. This went on for several years.

STILL PLAYING . . . After more than 51 years of teaching piano, including 40 on the campus, Mrs. E. G. Meyer, still hasn't grown tired of the keyboard. She retired earlier this year. That's Mr. Meyer turning the pages. They met on campus while both were members of the Music Department.

(Both Drs. Schlosser and Ober later served as presidents of the College.)

"Finally, I made the move. I was the first to leave home, and it was quite a strain on all, but I've never been sorry I came here."

Mrs. Meyer met her husband while he was a student and assistant teacher of music. Later, Mr. Meyer organized and directed the College choir. Mrs. Meyer did all the accompanying. They were married in 1924.

"We got to know each other very well. Everybody did a lot of walking in those days. There were no cars, you know," she smiled.

During her 40 years of service Mrs. Meyer has taught under five administrations on the campus. Now that she's retired at the age of 66, she plans to carry on as busy a private teaching schedule as possible.

After 51 years of teaching she finds the habit hard to break.

MR. AND MRS. IRA BRANDT
House Parents for New Men's Residence

Alumni Named To Supervise New Dormitory

Two alumni of the College have been chosen to supervise the operation of the New Men's Residence and to serve as house parents for the 230 students who will live there starting in September, Pres. A. C. Baugher announced this week.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Ira (and Martha) D. Brandt, who currently reside in Selinsgrove. Both are 60 years of age.

Mr. Brandt took work on the campus here between 1919 and 1924 after which he went into the ministry. His first charge was the Swatara Hill Church of the Brethren, where he served from 1927-41. He became pastor of the Oriental Church of the Brethren in 1953 and has served as moderator of the Lost Creek congregation since 1948.

He also owned and operated a grocery store from 1937 to '41.

Mrs. Brandt is a graduate of Elizabethtown High School (1918) and Elizabethtown College (1922). She also took summer courses at Millersville State Teachers College and then taught two years in area schools.

Like her husband, she is interested in church work.

The Brandts will live in the New Men's Residence in an apartment adjacent to the main lobby.

Elizabethtown College is a member of the Association of American Colleges, the American Council on Education, and the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which is the chief accrediting agency in this area.

Brethren Youth Plan Conference Here Next Month

Several hundred young people of the Church of the Brethren are expected to attend the annual Eastern Regional Youth Conference here next month.

The three-day meeting (Aug. 26-28) is designed for young people from 15 to 24 years of age, according to Conference Director Robert Hess, a sophomore at Elizabethtown College. The theme of the conference will be "Encounter With God."

Projects to be carried out include the preparation of seed packets and sewing kits for use in Nigeria.

Featured speakers will be Rev. Louis J. Baptiste, Johnstown; Rev. David Rogers, Oakton, Va.; Rev. Murray Wagner, Quarryville; Rev. John Hilficker, Elizabethtown, and Dr. Nevin Zuck, Elizabethtown.

Other highlights include a film, "Teenage Challenge," and a play entitled "Papa Was a Preacher" by the Westmont Church of the Brethren youth.

Rev. Robert S. Young, administrative assistant at the College, will welcome the group to the campus at the first general assembly Friday evening, Aug. 26). Registration will begin at 4 p.m. Friday.

College students serving as officials for the conference in addition to Hess are Sophomore Dale Good, registration director; Senior Donald Hosler, chief usher, and Junior Sylvia Hixson, publicity director.

Women's Auxiliary Planning Bazaar

Plans for the Homecoming Day bazaar, the annual luncheon meeting in February, and other projects of the Women's Auxiliary of the College were made during a June 30 meeting of the Executive Board of the organization on the campus.

The bazaar will be held during Homecoming Day on the campus October 15. The annual luncheon will take place February 11.

In other actions, the board discussed the current membership drive of the organization and announced plans to purchase a portable switchboard to provide lighting facilities for dramatic productions.

Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, Rexmont, president, had charge of the meeting. Others present were: Mrs. Margaret Lehman, Mrs. John Minnich, and Mrs. Stanley Dotterer, from the York area; Mrs. Mildred Musser, Columbia; Mrs. Franklin Cassel, Lititz; Miss Anna Schwenk, Carlisle; Mrs. Ruth Baldwin, Palmyra, and Mrs. A. C. Baugher, Mrs. Paul Grubb, and Miss Vera Hackman, Elizabethtown.

Byerly to Attend Church Conference

Dr. Robert A. Byerly, chairman of the Bible Department, will take part in a five-day conference (Aug. 15-19) dealing with the "Nature and Function of the Church of the Brethren" next month at Manchester College, Indiana.

The meeting, first of its kind, will feature discussion by selected representatives, who will attempt to give some direction to the future course of the Church in regard to mission and theological concepts.

Others attending from the area include Mrs. Nevin W. Fisher, Elizabethtown, and Dr. Frank S. Carper, Palmyra, a member of the Board of Trustees. Alumni Warren Kissinger and Franklin Cassel will also attend.
